Hospital Can

Mr. Rodger added that study is being prepared on the nursing situation and that it would be analysed in the next couple of weeks.

Fixed Costs

Mr. Makem said that the number of patients in the hospital affected the costs of hospitalizing a patient. "There are certain fixed expenses and if 15 or 20 per cent of the facilities are not being used it is going to put up the charges."

Council attended the meeting in a body, and Mayor Max Swanston commented that the obvious solution was to do "a selling job for the hospital" to get more patients. A business man can't be prepared to operate at 90 per cent capacity and do 60 per cent and stay in business very long," he said.

Hospital Superintendent John Hornal replied, "The only thing we can do is to treat everyone the best and do our utmost to provide the best service." Mr. Hornal said that some moves had been made along this line and it was hoped they would bring results.

At present, the report said, monthly financial statements reflect purchases, rather than usages of supplies and recommended that total stocks be controlled through the general or subsidiary ledger.

Check On Duties

An organization chart, illustrating the authorities and responsibilities of the various deparments was included in the report, along with two housekeeping forms, suggested as "an effective means of checking performance of various duties."

A condensed monthly statement was another feature of the report. This form, explained in detail, would give at a glance any differences between the costs per patient in any given month, and the estimated costs of caring for patients. It would also indicate where the differences occurred.

Finally, there is a table, showing a breakdown of the cost per day of keeping a patient in hospital when 62, 68.2 and 75 per cent of the beds are occupied. The cost is $13.59 per patient per day when 62 per cent are occupied. When 75 per cent of the beds are filled, the cost per patient drops to $12.51 per day.

With 62 per cent of the beds occupied, he report says the hospital should aim at breaking even, providing 20 per cent of revenue comes from other than patient charges.

To date this year, 21.2 per cent of the Civic's revenue has come from other sources than patients with only 78.8 per cent being received from patients.

In conclusion, the report states: "We are confident we can assist you to achieve this result," which would require monthly reductions of $1,840 in costs in addition to the $1,020 suggested by the report.

The completion of the survey report of the two department ends the company's contract for which it received $3,000 from the hospital board.

Frederick Rishea

Funeral was held today from the Duffus Funeral Home to the Sacred Heart Church for the late Frederick Rishea of 127 Pearl St., Rochester.

Solemn requiem mass was sung by his nephew, the Rev. Leo Rishea. Deacon of the mass was the Rev. C. W. McCarney and subdeacon, the Rev. G. Gaughan.

Pall - bearers were Elmer Clancey, Frank Neary, Norman McConkey, Clinton Heath, William Moher and Vernon O'Dette. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan and burial was at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Mr. Rishea, an employee of the Eastman Kodak Company, died in a Rochester hospital on Sunday following a lingering illness. He was born in Peterborough 67 years ago, son of the late Harry Rishea and Delima Barrette. He moved to Rochester from here 31 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Leada Ranger. There are two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Ranger (Mary Louise) of Peterborough and Mrs. L. Jones of Toronto and a brother Amie Rishea of this city. Mr. Rishea was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Rochester.

Four Veteran MPP's Rturned

TORONTO, Nov. 23 (CP). — Four veteran members of the Ontario Legislature will still be in their seats when the next Legislature assembles.

Harry Nixon, dean of the House, Agriculture Minister Kennedy, Farquhar Oliver of Grey South and George H. Challies, vice-chairman of Ontario Hydro, all retained their seats in Thursday's election.

Mr. Nixon, 60, was re-elected Liberal member for Brant, which he has represented since 1919 — a continuous record of service which passes the unbroken 30-year term of former Premier George S. Henry.

Thomas Laird Kennedy, 73, also first elected in 1919 in Peel, would have an election record matching that of Mr. Nixon except for a three-year period from 1934-37, following a general election defeat of the Progressive Conservatives.

Mr. Oliver at 47 has a continuous 25-year record as representative for Grey South—first as a United Farmers of Ontario member and since 1941 as a Liberal. When first elected in 1926 he was 22 years of age—the youngest member ever elected until Reid Scott at 21 became a CCF member for Toronto Beaches in 1948.

When Harry Nixon was nominated as a candidate in the 1919 election his father told him he was crazy and asked: "Just tell me where you'll get one vote."

Harry replied he would start off with three sure votes — his own, his wife's and his father's.

Changes Three Times

His political affiliation has changed three times—from United Farmers of Ontario to Progressive to Liberal Progressive to Liberal. He was provincial secretary for 12 years and in 1943 he was Premier for three months.

Col. Kennedy, the farmer from Dixie, was also Premier of Ontario for seven months from October, 1948, to May, 1949.

He was Agriculture Minister in the Henry government from 1930 to 1934 and returned to the post in 1943. He still holds the portfolio.

George H. Challies, 67, has been member for Grenville-Dundas since 1929 and at present is vice-chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Scientists Try Improve Leaky Tanks

OTTAWA (CP)—Has your hot water tank sprung a leak lately. Are you troubled with rusty hot water?

The National Research Council which studies everything from plant life to cosmic rays, thinks Canada's householders — those with galvanized tanks—have a problem—and it took it up recently.

Today it came up with results of a survey of 5,200 tanks of all ages up to nine years, 300 of which failed during the first six months of the survey. Council scientists subjected 55 of the corroded tanks from 15 different Ontario localities to a minute examination.

Their findings:

1. Tanks with thinner protective zinc coatings—anything less than about 3½ thousands of an inch—tend to leak quicker.

2. Under certain conditions of temperature and water composition steel exposed to the water corrodes and pits even though covered by a zinc coating.

3. Large hand-operated tank heaters are better than smaller, automatically - operated heaters which provide hot water all the time.

However, the scientists think that the leaky tank problem can be licked. The answer, they believe, lies in a method of adding a corrosion inhibitor to the water just before it enters the tank.

A simple device for doing this now is undergoing tests.

Red Guns Compete

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—Guns from behind the "iron curtain" are competing with Swedish, British, American and Belgian products in South Africa. Czech sporting guns from airguns to heavy rifles are imported on a big scale and sell rapidly.

Charged With Refusing To Work, Help Family

Charged with being able to work and maintain his family and refusing to do so, Rudolph Alec Dunn, 31, of Trent River, appeared in police court today.

His request for an adjournment was opposed by crown attorney John A. Bradshaw.

Magistrate W. R. Philp remanded Dunn until November 28 with bail fixed at $500.

Board Chairman Dies

HALIFAX, Nov. 23— (CP). — G. MacGregor Mitchell, chairman of the board of directors of G. P. Mitchell & Sons Ltd., and a director of the Royal Bank of Canada, died here Thursday night. He was 78. He was a director of the Foundation Company of Canada, International Power Company, Nova Scotia Light and Power Company, and several other firms.

3 Prisoners Escape

FLORENCE, Ariz., Nov. 23 (AP).—Three prisoners escaped from the Arizona State Penitentiary, but one was recaptured a few hours later. The three are Fredrico Guana, 37, serving a life term for murder; Joseph Kinley, 45, and Naco Garcia, 37. Kinley was picked up Thursday night at South Tucson.

Retail Group Fights Abolition Of Resale Price

OTTAWA, Nov. 23 (CP). — A proposal that resale price maintenance practices be abolished was attacked by the Canadian Retail Federation today on the grounds that such a move "could undermine the basis of Canadian democracy."

The federation, in a brief presented to Parliament's special commitee on retail price-fixing, said the MacQuarrie recommendation against price maintenance would :

1. Restrict competition.
2. Raise distribution costs.
3. Abolish a principle of freedom that a man may offer his goods or his services to whom he pleases.

The proposal already has been attacked and condemned by Canadian beauty aid manufacturers and druggists.

Today the retail federation urged the parliamentary committee to reject "this dangerous recommendation" against a practice which has "done much to maintain the position of the small retailer in this country."

Stabilizing Effect

Though only a minority of products were sold under prices predetermined by manufacturers and suppliers, resale price maintenance had a stabilizing effect on the economy.

Minimum resale prices also tended to become maximum prices. Consumers had the assurance they would not be subjected to excessive prices that might otherwise be charged in areas where distributors might have a monopoly.

Moreover, a manufacturer who put inventive genius, production skill and promotional advertising into an article should have some protection against the possibility that his reputation could be debased by loss leader selling at below cost.

The federation argued that the MacQuarrie commitee created a "basic misconception" when it stated in its report that resale price maintenance, to be effective, must be enforced by a "private system of law."

"Nothing could be further from the truth. The very legislation which the committee recommends is a removal of the basic freedom which the individual now receives under our statutory law. It would eliminate the democratic right of a corporation or an individual to offer their products or services to whom they please."

Illegal Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 23 (AP). —Five thousand workers at the American-owned Swift packing plant at La Plata, 40 miles southeast of here, Thursday staged what the Government called an illegal strike. The strike was called to protest a management decision to employ women instead of men in one section.

25 Left Homeless

CHELSEA, Mass., Nov. 23 (AP). —Twenty-five persons were left homeless Thursday when fire raged through a tenement house. Firemen estimated damage at $75,000. At about the same time, 125 persons were driven from 35 apartments in a Quincy, Mass., fire.

Mrs. Mary McTeague

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary McTeague who died Tuesday, were held from her late residence 782 George St., to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. R. J. Garvey. Graveside prayers at St. Peter's cemetery were said by the Rev. G. J. Weis.

The Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, the Rev. John Mankey and the Rev. John Hickey were seated in the sanctuary.

Mrs. McTeague's six sons acted as pallbearers. They were: William A., Patrick J., Neal Francis, Joseph R., James A., and John C. McTeague, all of Peterborough.

Youth Pleads Guilty After Rooftop Capture

A 23-year-old Aylmer St. man arrested on the roof of a downtown business block Wednesday night pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge in police court today.

The man, Douglas Chapman, appeared in court Thursday and was remanded in custody until today.

On the recommendation of crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, Magistrate W. R. Philp placed Chapman on suspended sentence for one year. A condition of the sentence was that Chapman placed himself in charge of Major H. Everitt of the Salvation Army.

Chapman agreed to report to Major Everitt as often as the major may require, and signed a bond of good behaviour for the one year's duration of the sentence.

In addition, Chapman was ordered to pay $2.50 in court costs.

Metropolitan Opera To Bring Big Stars

The Metropolitan Opera of New York is planning to move up to Canada next Spring for a three-day festival to be held May 26, 27 and 28 in Toronto under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

Announcement has been made that the greatest Met stars will be on hand, that three conductors are coming, and that the company of hundreds will include full chorus, ballet and orchestra, plus corps of technicians. Officials of the opera and the Maple Leaf Gardens are already in consultation on accoustics, so that good hearing will be assured.

This little season will open with a performance of Aida. Because a huge stage is being erected, it will be possible to produce Aida in majestic settings never possible in Canada before. Puccini's La Boheme and Bizet's Carmen are to be the other two bills.

A total of 40,000 seats will be available for the three productions, and parties to attend the festival are already being organized in Peterborough, Fort William, London, Guelph, Stratford.

The Catholic Case against Margaret Sanger

Why is the Catholic Church eternally hostile to birth control in any form? Why did the Pope recently make another pronouncement on this red-hot topic?

In December Reader's Digest, now on sale, read the Catholic side of the controversy—in letters and articles evoked by the Digest's story of "Margaret Sanger, Mother of Planned Parenthood."

Reds Reject West's Arms Plan

Refusal Speech Made Without Anger, Vishinsky Declares

PARIS, Nov. 24. (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia today rejected the western disarmament proposal as a plan "studiously designed to circumvent" arms reduction.

In a speech to the 60-member United Nations' political committee—a speech he claimed was made "without anger"—Vishinsky denied the contention by US State Secretary Dean Acheson that acceptance of the plan would mark a turning point in history.

Proposals "Incomplete"

"We say let us settle all questions and you say let us settle some questions," Vishinsky said, charging that proposals submitted by the United States, France and Britain are incomplete.

The Soviet Foreign Minister said the plan is the same as previous western peace plans and does not mark a step forward, as claimed by the western speakers.

In an oblique reference to the opening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Rome today, Vishinsky said:

"To submit proposals for reduction of arms and, at the same time, to engage in strengthening aggressive blocs and build new ones such as the mid-east command, means that an attempt is being made to cover up one's own aggressive plans."

US Judges Split Over Split Infinitive "All Right To Now And Then Split One"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24 — (AP) — Superior Judge Ben Scheinman agreed today that it's all right to sometimes split an infinitive.

Purist grammarians have long contended no word should separate the preposition "to" from its verb.

When Judge Scheinman found the phrases "to completely disregard" and "to so treat such a situation," in the book "Approved Jury Instructions," he demonstrated with the author, his fellow Los Angeles jurist William J. Palmer.

Cited Authorities

Palmer promptly wrote an opinion. He cited various authorities, in numerous grammatical texts, to bulwark his decision.

Judge Scheinman capitulated today. In another letter to Judge Palmer he wrote: "To always split an infinitive. I think, would be to sadly torture the English language. But it probably is all right to now and then split one."

Senior Alderman To Head 1952 City Council, Swanston Refuses To Run

Name Nine Candidates for Five Council Posts, Four Run for PUC Commissioner, Six Seeking Five Seats on Board of Education

Senior member of the city's aldermanic board, Ald. Hugh F. Waddell was elected by acclamation Peterborough's mayor for 1952 at the municipal nominations Friday night. With the turn into the new year he becomes successor to Mayor Maxwell J. Swanston who has presided over the council for the last three civically eventful years. Nearly a month ago Mayor Swanston announced his intention of retiring. Nominations listed nine prospective candidates for five vacancies in the aldermanic company; six for five places on the Board of Education; and four aspirants for Utilities Commissioner.

The names submitted to City Clerk Outram at the city hall Friday night were as follows:

For Mayor

Maxwell J. Swanston, manager, proposed by A. H. Lewis and Norman G. Graham.

Hugh F. Waddell, manager, by M. J. Swanston and William G. Ovens.

For City Council

Grenville B. Lathangue, toolmaker, by Douglas H. Vaisey and Ken C. Billings.

T. Douglas Miller, contractor, by M. J. Swanston and George A. Macdonald.

George P. Brock, retired, by William J. Whibbs and Fred Holmes.

John A. Dewart, manufacturer, by C. S. Cummer and G. A. Gillespie.

William J. Beggs, millwright, by W. E. Thomas and T. R. Anderson.

Patrick J. Anglesey, funeral director, by John E. Sullivan and M. J. Swanston.

Ernest C. Braund, merchant, by M. G. Hardill and R. G. Maniece.

H. Stanley Longhurst, accountant, by J. A. Dewart and C. H. Huffman.

Sydney J. Black, merchant, by L. L. Tremblay and Gordon H. Munro.

For Board of Education

Arthur Pitchford, department manager, by M. J. Swanston and William G. Ovens.

Mrs. Ann Rowell, housewife, by G. A. Gillespie and Mrs. Gladys Calvert.

Stanley R. Adamson, accountant, by Frank H. Jobbitt and James E. Girven.

G. Wilson Craw, managing editor, by Dr. R. E. Honey and F. H. Jobbitt.

Edmund Humphrey, maintenance mechanic, by W. E. Thomas and George Logan.

Charles H. Huffman, contractor, by G. W. Craw and Dick Raine.

For Utilities Commission

Charles Kenneth Hurst, civil engineer, by H. T. Rehill and John Nornabell.

Gordon R. Langley, retired electrical engineer, by E. H. Howson and Charles H. Ackerman.

James Juby, retired, by Malcolm McIntyre and Herbert J. McCannan.

George A. Macdonald, superintendent, by J. E. Sullivan and C. S. Cummer.

By eleven o'clock this morning all four candidates had qualified for Utilities Commissioner; the nine named for city council had also entered the field and six Education had fyled their nomin- for Board of Education had fyled their nomination papers.

Members of the council whose two-year terms are expiring at the end of December are: Aldermen H. F. Waddell, T. D. Miller, P. J. Anglesey, J. A. Dewart and Ernest C. Braund.

Members of the Board of Education, who are also elected for two years, now requiring renomination, are: Mrs. Ann Rowell, G. Wilson Craw, Stanley R.

St. Laurent Denies Claxton Pledged $100,000,000 For Airfields In Europe

OTTAWA, Nov. 24, (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent yesterday gave the Commons a denial from Defence Minister Claxton that he had said at Rotterdam Canada would spend $100,000,000 on airfields in Europe. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, promptly challenged the Prime Minister's explanation of a Rotterdam news story quoting Mr. Claxton at a press conference there Wednesday. The exchange was a continuation of an incident that began in the House Wednesday night when Mr. Drew took the Defence Minister to task for his reported announcement that Canada would foot the bill for four or five airdromes to accommodate Canadian squadrons in Europe.

Mr. Drew contended such announcements should be made first to parliament.

Wouldn't Own Property

The Prime Minister, after getting in touch with the defence minister in Rome, today told the House it had been generally known that Canada would have 11 squadrons in Europe and would need accommodation for them. It also had been indicated to the House, he said, that airfields were not available for them now in Europe.

Also known, the Prime Minister said, was that the cost of construction would have to be met and that Canada would have to bear her share. This was to be done in such a way that Canada would not own the property.

Mr. St. Laurent said the defence minister advised him that he did not give $100,000,000 or any other figure at the press conference.

In fact, he said, no new information had been given out there except the number of bases that would be needed. That had been arrived at by dividing the number of squadrons by the capacity of the airfields.

Mr. Drew said another thing that made it difficult to accept the minister's statement was that a similar statement had been carried by the British United Press, by the United Press in the United States and by the Associated Press in the U.S. and throughout the world.

Ridgway Reveals New Total Of Slain POW's

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—A newly-disclosed report from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander in the Far East, has raised the possible total of United States prisoners slain by Communists in Korea to 8,800. That is 2,000 more than previously indicated.

The new atrocity report was to the United Nations, and covered the period through July 20. C. Herschel Schooley, chief of the Washington military press section, told reporters about it last night.

It was described as saying exact evidence of executions, obtained through July 20, numbered about 400 killings, the 8,000 figure was the sum of unconfirmed reports from various sources and in various forms.

This report was apparently made days—or even weeks—before Lt.-Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the Eight Army's war crimes investigation section, said —on Nov. 14—that the Reds had slaughtered about 5,500 American and 290 other allied prisoners.

Six days after Hanley gave out his figure in Korea, Ridgway said the total might be as high as 6,000, of which 365 were confirmed atrocity killings.

There was no immediate explanation of these lower figures, given—apparently—at a later date than that of the supreme commander's report to the UN. Ridgway's Nov. 20 statement did not definitely say what period the figures covered.

Ridgway's summary of a possible 8,000 prisoner killings apperently reached the American delegation at the UN general assembly in Paris about Nov. 12. It may have inspired the tone of State Secretary Dean Acheson's speech, on Nov. 13, against seating Red China in the United Nations. Acheson described the Chinese Communist regime as far below the "general level of barbarism."

The UN report said Ridgway's headquarters is investigating the atrocity reports. It added that more than 100 suspected atrocity killers were in custody.

'Dead' Woman Says Try At Suicide Silly

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24 — (AP). — The widow who "died" talked about it yesterday.

She was full of apologies for trying to take her life—"a stupid silly thing to do." She feels like one newly-born. She wants to live. She's going to finish a book she was writing.

This woman was pronounced dead by a doctor November 8. Her seemingly lifeless body was sent to a morgue. There her jaw moved slightly.

A continent which read about the medical battle that saved her knew her under a name which cannot be used now.

The 60-year-old woman, meeting the press in a hospital office, explained:

Silly, Foolish Thing

"I must be known only as T. K. Butler. After that you may say Mrs. Butler. My New England kin are conservative, old-fashioned. I did a silly, foolish thing. It's sensible not to burden them."

The initials and the last name actually are hers. But she made all interviewers promise not to use her first or middle names.

And does she remember anything when she was deep in the land of shadows? No. Nothing until she neared consciousness a week after taking 50 sleeping pills.

"My first conscious impressions were of perfect geometric patterns of all colors and shapes sailing along as though in water.

"I think it may have been prisms of light trying to break through before I could open my eyes. The light seemed to hurt. I could hear all that was being said around me. But my eyes were like a baby's. It was like starting all over again."

Cease-Fire Line Agreement Moves Slowly

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 24 (AP) —Hope faded today for final approval of the Korean buffer-zone issue this weekend as staff officers reported agreement on only one-half of the 145-mile cease-fire line.

The officers poured over maps for five hours and 10 minutes on Saturday, comparing United Nations' and Communist versions of where the line of battle contact is located. They will meet for the third time in Panmunjom Sunday at 10 am (8 pm EST Saturday).

The official UN command communique said only that they agreed on approximately one-half of the line. It did not designate sectors still in dispute.

There had been some expectation that the staff officers could finish mapping the cease-fire line Saturday.

Lt.-Col. Howard Levie, UN command spokesman, had expressed hope that if the buffer zone section were adopted speedily the delegates could move on immediately to the next item on the agenda—supervision of the armistice.

Presumably final approval of the clause cannot come before Monday now.

Under terms of the agreement worked out by the sub-committees, the cease-fire line agreed upon will become the final demarcation line if an armistice is signed within 30 days.

Levie said the staff officers worked over the eastern half of the battle line during their morning session and ironed out some points of disagreement, but others remained unsettled.

Pat On Back

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Nov. 24. (CP)—Thirty Canadian soldiers today shook hands with Vice-President Alben Barkley of the United States when he made a brief visit to the Commonwealth Division. A sergeant and six men from each battalion and representatives of other units paraded under Capt. Bob Berube of Montreal. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander who accompanied Barkley, said: "You Canadians are doing wonderful work."

Youngsters Mob Santa, Rip Suit

GREEN BAY, Wis., Nov. 24 — (AP). — Santa Claus could not take it with his beard half torn off, he fled 2,000 youngsters who mobbed him on his arrival on Friday.

Santa arrived in town in a railroad caboose. He shouted "Ho, ho, ho," and waved at the excited moppets.

He stepped down with a bagful of candy and that was the end of the organized program.

The children pounced upon him, tugging at his clothes and grabbing for the candy. A child snatched at a candy box and part of Santa's beard went with it.

Perspiring and harried, Santa jumped into a parked car and threw candy at the onrushing children as the car drove away.

Later, old Santa (Blaine Walsh) commented: "I'd rather be thrown into a lion's den than go through that again."

TCA Passenger Throws Scare Into Air Police

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—(CP)—Trans-Canada Airlines officials said Friday a passenger changed his mind about going to Toronto Tuesday, and thereby threw a bomb scare into airport police.

The man, about 35, refused to allow his name to be used. He told the TCA stewardess just before take-off that he wanted to get off the plane.

"I am supposed to go back to Toronto tomorrow instead of today," he was quoted as saying. "I'll have to get off right away."

Left Suitcase

When the portable ramp was rolled back, the man refused to take his suitcase. He said he would get it when he arrived in Toronto.

The plane's crew and ground officials who had been told of his action recalled the tragedy of two years ago when 23 airline passengers were killed when a man left a bomb on a plane.

The aircraft, 15 minutes in the air, was directed to return. The suitcase was removed, carried away from the buildings until police arrived, then was opened.

It contained nothing but personal effects.

TCA said the passenger left by train Wednesday for Toronto.

Unkindest Cut

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 24 (AP)—Peter G. Montville, 47, of Oxford, got a divorce Friday after testifying his wife was cruel and abusive. Montville said she drank his liquor and then made up the difference by filling the bottles with water.

Surplus Climbs To $604 Million

OTAWA, Nov. 24—(CP)—The federal budgetary surplus climbed another $91,500,000 in October to bring to $604,700,000 the total for the first seven months of the current fiscal year, which began April 1.

In his budget speech last spring, Finance Minister Abbott forecast a surplus of only $30,000,000 for the year, ending next March 31.

The monthly Treasury report, released Friday, showed that the $91,500,00 increase in October compared with an increase of $11,200,000 in September.

Revenues in October totalled $354,600,000 compared with $253,-600,000 in the corresponding month of 1950. In the seven-month period revenues totalled $2,159,900,000 compared with $1,535,100,000, an increase of $624,800,000.

Income tax payments by individuals were $187,200,000 higher at $561,900,000 for the seven months. This, said the report, was due in part to higher personal incomes and to the defence surcharge imposed in the last budget.

Corporation tax receipts in the period totalled $612,800,000, up $241,200,000 as a result of higher earnings and increased taxes. Custom import duties were up $59,000,000 to $208,900,000. Excise tax collections were $179,400,000 higher at $501,700,000, due to increased consumer spending and to higher taxes.

Gardiner Tells FAO Ease Farming Risk

ROME, Nov. 24 (CP)—Canada's agriculture minister, J. A. Gardiner said yesterday that unless farmers' fears of being unable to sell their products are removed, it will be difficult to raise agricultural output.

Gardiner was speaking to the conference of the United Nations' food and agricultural organization.

The Canadian minister said the risk element in farming, which affected wheat production in Canada and elsewhere, must be given more consideration.

27 Die In Typhoon

MANILA, Nov. 24 (AP)—Late reports today put at 27 dead, four missing and 10,000 homeless the toll of a typhoon which ripped through the central Philippines Wednesday. Unofficial estimates put damage at about $1,500,000.

Reds Leave Canadians Alone, Concentrate On Other Areas

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Nov. 24 (CP)—Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea has lately been reaping dividends which haven't made headlines.

Enemy attention has been strictly on a barge-pole basis. And, naturally, shelling. Mainly he busies himself elsewhere.

The situation stems directly from his program earlier this month when he felt out United Nations lines throughout the sector and was rigidly stone-walled by the Canadians. Following a logical pattern, he has concentrated since on areas indicated then as more likely to be profitable.

Nightly the enemy moves near miles upon miles of wire strung out in front of the Canadians. His guns shower concentrations of shells and mortar bombs upon them. Sometimes he comes in just far enough to contain the Canadians while a major attempt is made elsewhere.

"Why Here?"

At one nearby headquarters one night a higher formation bleated: "Why do they always come here? Why don't they bother the Canadians once in a while?"

Division headquarers answered blandly: "Probably because the Canadians handle them properly."

Indeed, for Brig. J. M. Rockingham's troops it's mainly a question of absolute quiet, holding their fire, and stern discipline in hugging their foxholes while the shells are dropping. It's a case of just sitting there and taking it.

Naturally, the artillery supporting the Canadians is dishing it out on a more lavish scale than they are receiving, and a bluish haze is constantly rising above the gun valley behind them, is indicative of the support they are getting.

Also, Canadian and British soldiers perched on ridgetops ahead of the main positions take on enemy targets and maintain a constant harrassing fire.

One hill which changed hands about six times recently now is a mere mass of pummelled rock, sand and shrub growth, so heavily has artillery from both sides rained on it.

SEEKING RE-ELECTION TO COUNCIL this year will be (left to right): T. Douglas Miller, John A. Dewart, Patrick J. Anglesey and Ernest C. Braund. They were nominated Friday night at the city hall along with newcomers, William Beggs, George B. Brock, H. Stanley Longhurst, Sidney J. Black and Grenville B. Lathangue. Hugh Waddell and Max J. Swanston were nominated for mayor but Mr. Swanston withdrew.

Newfoundland Citizens Vote After Lively Campaign

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 24 — (CP) — Candidates made last-minute vote-getting calls today as the campaign for Monday's Newfoundland election came to a close.

The campaign, short but spirited, wound up last night with radio broadcasts and public meetings. A Progressive Conservative meeting scheduled for tonight was cancelled.

German Brought In

The meeting was arranged to hear Dr. Lothar Sennewald, German optical scientist who was flown here by the party after he said he had proof of "suprising manipulations" behind establishment of the province's new industries, a big plank in Premier Joseph Smallwood's election manifesto.

Gordon Higgins, federal member who has been organizing the PC campaign, complained of what he called "police state tactics" by the Liberals in Sennewald's case. He said a German speaking civil servant had been sent to Gander by RCAF plane to talk to Sennewald before he reached St. John's yesterday morning.

Later, Mr. Higins said, Sennewald spent several hours in the office of the province's director of economic development. "He gave me the impression," Mr. Higgins said, "of what it must be to have been interviewed by the Gestapo."

More Industries

Premier Smallwood, meanwhile, was sepaking at a St. John's West rally. He reviewed the development programs of previous Liberal administrations in the province and said his government was continuing to provide more industries. His government had "vision and faith." Young people had to leave the province because there were no jobs. The Liberal government was trying to bring in new idustries to make jobs for 20,000 men.

Twenty-three of the 28 seats in the House are being contested in Monday's voting.

Liberals won four by acclamation and voting in Labrador has been deferred because weather conditions made it difficult to distribute election boxes and ballots.

McConkeyToRun Against Stewart InOtonabeeTwp.

KEENE, Nov. 24 (Staff).—Two and possibly three candidates will be running for reeve in the Otonabee township municipal election December 3.

Councillor Norman J. McConkey will be opposing the present reeve Richard R. Stewart. There is also a strong possibility H. R. Reid, a former reeve and deputy reeve of the township with 22 years' experience in Otonabee councils will make it a three-man fight.

Five nominations for reeve were posted when nominations were officially closed at 2 pm by clerk-treasurer James McCarthy at the township hall in Keene Friday afternoon.

Roy Spears, a former deputy reeve withdrew his name from the reeve slate but said he "may be running for deputy."

Candidates have until 9 o'clock Saturday night to qualify.

Later Qualified

Mr. McConkey was nominated for reeve deputy reeve and councillor. At the meeting, Mr. McConkey said he wanted time to consider which post he would seek. Later Friday evening he qualified as a candidate for reeve.

Councillor P. J. Mather, also nominated for reeve, deputy reeve and councillor said pressure of business prevented him from running for either reve or deputy reeve but he would stand for council.

The present deputy reeve, D. N. McIntyre, was unable to be present at the nomination meeting but he has announced he will be seeking re-election and he was nominated.

The three retiring members of the five-man Otonabee township area school board, chairman Harry Stewart, Allan Davis and Thomas Hope were returned by acclamation for another two-year term.

Whether there will be an election for deputy reeve and council will not be known definitely until after the deadline for qualification Saturday evening.

For Council

Two members of this year's council, Mr. Mather and William Chambers allowed their names to stand and have thrown their hats in the ring already. A third nominee, Charles Edwards of Lang, has also qualified for the council.

Both Gavin Shearer Jr. and Thomas Weir permitted their names to go before the meeting as prospective council candidates but by Friday night, they had not indicated whether or not they intended to run. If either Mr. Shearer or Mr. Weir qualify, there will also be an election for the three council seats.

If Mr. Spears decides to oppose Mr. McIntyre, the present deputy reeve who is standing for re-election, there will also be an election for deputy reeve.

In announcing he would stand for re-election, reeve Stewart said he regretted there were not more ratepayers present. "Out of about 1,000 there are only 60 here," he commented. Mr. Stewart said he was "proud that warble fly control had been introduced this year and that Keene streets had been paved at a cost of $4,900.

Street Lights

Keene will have street lights soon, Mr. Stewart said, as work is being started on installing them in the next week or so. Mr. Stewart said that a $500 safe had been bought to protect valuable township documents which "had been scattered all over the council chatobes and this building is a bit of a fire hazard."

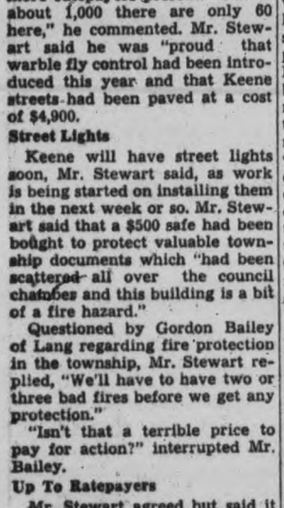
Questioned by Gordon Bailey of Lang regarding fire protection in the township, Mr. Stewart replied, "We'll have to have two or three bad fires before we get any protection."

"Isn't that a terrible price to pay for action?" interrupted Mr. Bailey.

Up To Ratepayers

Mr. Stewart agreed but said it was up to the ratepayers to take action. He said that the problem had been discussed with the fire marshal two or three years ago who assisted together with the Peterborough fire chief in surveying the township. When a ratepayers' meeting was called to discuss fire protection only two or three showed up, Mr. Stewart said.

There are only two or three widely scattered built-up areas in the township and it would be costly to provide the necessary protection he added.



Declaring he was "one hundred per cent behind equalized assessment," Mr. Stewart said he was convinced that old-fashioned methods of assessing property was "one of the most detrimental things those administering townships and counties had to deal with during the last 15 or 20 years. The difference between local and equalized assessment amounts to $450,000 in the township," he said. "Equalized assessment will bring equality within the township and county and will be fair to everyone."

Mr. Stewart predicted taxes will be higher in Otonabee this year due to the building of the new high school in Norwood but then "there will be a tapering off."

Councillor McConkey criticized county council for permitting the farm in connection with the county home for the aged to operate at a deficit. "When you have a farm operating at a deficit you try to make improvements so it will get out of the red." Mr. McConkey said the weed sprayer was a sound investment and advocated purchasing of ditching equipment, to drain wet land and turn unproductive land into workable fields to boost assessment.

Roy Spears told the meeting he had not yet decided whether or not to run for depupty reeve but he criticized the hiring of a county assessor and money spent on reforestation.

William Patterson a former assessor, said he would not be running for council but he blasted equalized assessment as being wasteful and costly. "It's costing too much for what we are getting," he charged.

Reeve I. McCoy Is Returned

MARMORA, Nov. 24 (ENS)—Reeve Irwin McCoy and his 1951 associates on Marmora and Lake township council were given acclamation at the well-attended nomination meeting held in Marmora township hall on Friday afternoon under presidency of township clerk Thomas Bateman. At the same time, the three retiring members of the Marmora school area trustee board were re-elected to office. The newly elected are Reeve Irwin McCoy, Councillors John Wilkes, Arthur Sheridan, George Fox, Gordon Jones. School trustees, two-year period: Percy Carman, Wilbert Jones, Raymond Bonter.

The customary speech-making period folowed, lasting but 50 minutes.

Reeve McCoy thanked ratepayers and township officials for their co-operation during the year. He said he believed that the holding of 33 meetings (regular and special) constituted a record for the township council. The two things which occasioned the large number of meetings were the purchase of the new bulldozer and negotiations that were necessary with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. He reported that company paid $28,000 for a road allowance. This is the first time he pointed out, that a mining proposition has been of benefit to the taxpayers as a whole. Hitherto, mining propositions have been of benefit to individuals. He understood that seven houses were to be erected next spring on the property his company had acquired west of Crowe River Bridge. There would have been a reduction in taxes of four mills this year, he said, but for the high school needs. The school rate had been increased to absorb what would have been a tax reduction. No money had been paid out for the killing of sheep by dogs. The council had reopened the question of a provincial highway from No. 14 Highway to Coe Hill and a resolution asking for support of the same had been sent to municipalities involved.

The Reeve also commented upon efforts to get a reforestation area near Cordova and said there was a suggestion for a second area to be established near Shanick.

Councillors John Wilkes and Arthur Sheridan discussed township roads. The former said that the early fall had been responsible for the bad shape the roads were in. Councillor Wilkes also mentioned the grant of $500 that the council made to the Recreation Centre.

George Fox asked ratepayers to be patient about the snow plowing. Everybody wanted the snow plow at the same time.

Stratford Man Heads OMHA Second Year

TORONTO, Nov. 24 (CP). — Herbert G. Parker of Stratford has been returned as president of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association by acclamation, the association announced Friday.

Only one position on the executive will require a vote at the association's annual convention here Dec. 1. R. Kinchsular of Whitby and Fred Norman of Simcoe will contest the second vice-president's seat.

Returned by acclamation were: O. Mike Weichel, Elmira, first vice-president; A. E. Hick, Lindsay, third vice-president; J. L. Christie, Toronto, secretary; and Dr. Leon Hipwell, Toronto, treasurer.

Marmora Reeve Acclaimed, 8 For Council

MARMORA, Nov. 24 (ENS)—An election is imminent for councillors for Marmora village council for the ensuing year, there being [illegible] nees for the four seats at Friday evening's nomination meeting held in the town hall. The four retiring councillors Ritchie Wells, John Reynolds, Fred Johnston and Arnold Walker were among the number.

The new aspirants are Harold Price, Carl Heath, William Lavender and Athur Park. Reeve V. M. Lynch was given acclamation as also were Public School Trustees Donald Marett, Roy Wright and Thomas Bateman for the two year period.

Thomas Bateman will be the one new member on the School Board replacing W. Lavender who is offering his services as a candidate for the council.

There is a possibility that there will be an election also for Hydro Commissioner for two years since ex-Reeve R. E. Neal was nominated for that position as well as the retiring Commissioner F. R. Wells.

E. C. Prentice, village clerk, who presided, called on the reeve-elect and the other municipal officers and candidates as well as Reeve Irwin McCoy for speeches as the nominations closed.

CORRIDORS IN MONTREAL'S CRIMINAL COURT were crowded to overflowing recently with accused and spectators as more than 100 "found-ins" appeared before Judge Eugene Lafontaine. All pleaded guilty to charges that they were found in the Cote de Liesse barbotte game when the place was raided by Quebec Provincial Police.

Aussies Have Technique For Making Artificial Rain

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 24—Australian scientists claim discovery of a new and better way to produce rain artificially. And they make it sound simple.

All you have to do, one of them says, is spray low-hanging clouds with water.

Particularly effective on the warm, low-hanging clouds characteristic of Australia and other South Pacific areas, the system should be capable of producing 1,000,000 tons of rain from one ton sprayed on the base of a cloud formation, the Australians say.

Dr. E. G. Bowen, a physicist member of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Research organization, described the new technique Friday in a speech at the California Institute of Technology. With it, the Australians hope to convert their vast desert into fertile farmlands.

Up to now, clouds have been seeded with dry ice or sliver iodide crystals to make it rain. Dr. Bowen said the water method is more effective, especially under conditions encountered in his country.

"We could carry five tons of water in a medium-sized bomber," he explained. "That should be enough to make some 5,000,000 tons of rainfall. But I wish to emphasize that thus far in our painstaking research we have used only a few hundred pounds of water at a time."

He said two more years of basic research may be necessary to learn all the facts and possibilities of the water spray system, but added:

"Results of these experiments are most promising. I'm convinced that similar results could be obtained in the United States."

Pakistan Strike

HONG KONG, Nov. 24 (AP)—Sixty-eight Pakistani deportees from the United States staged a successful sit-down strike aboard the liner President Cleveland on Friday and Saturday and refused to transfer to a Calcutta-bound ship. The Cleveland sailed for Kobe, Japan, today with the Pakistanis still aboard. The deportees mostly seamen, who jumped ship in the United States, balked at landing in Calcutta and demanded direct air passage from Hong Kong to Karachi.

Minnesota Hunter Kills Two With One

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Nov. 24 — (AP). — Eldor Teufer said Friday he saw one deer, shot it, and discovered he had killed two deer with the one bullet.

The story was verified by Fran Torres, International Falls business man.

Teufer said he downed a doe 150 yards away with a single shot. And then, Teufer said, the bullet kept going. The .35-calibre cartridge struck a second doe 25 feet behind the first, and lodged in the backbone.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24 (CP)—All prices took on a lower trend Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Weaknesses on United States grain and commodity markets influenced the trade here. Selling and hedging were increased, while commercial demand was not too aggressive. The Korean war situation also was a factor in the trade.

Export loadings of wheat were confined to 715,000 bushels to the United Kingdom. Class 2 wheat and IWA prices were unchanged.

He turned professional with Ottawa Senators in 1922 at the age of 18 and went to Toronto Maple Leafs in 1930 in exchange for $35,000 and two Toronto players. Former chief referee of the NHL, he now coaches Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League.

US Plane Lost Russia Blamed

PARIS, Nov. 24 (CP) — The United States today charged Russia with intercepting and attacking an American plane without warning over international waters near Korea.

The US made the charge in a note transmitted by the American delegation to Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

The charge was based on a report from the UN field commander in Korea.

The note said the route of the plane did not approach closer than 40 miles to Russian territory, and that the pilot had been briefed not to approach closer than 20 miles to Soviet terrain under any circumstances.

Russia notified the US in a note Nov. 7 that an American plane had violated Russian territory and said Russian planes had fired upon it.

The US Navy confirmed yesterday that a two-engined P2V Neptune patrol plane was missing with three officers and seven enlisted men. The announcement said the plane was missing since Nov. 6 and is "presumed to be lost."

Centuries Required Achieve Free Speech

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 24 (AP)—The hopelessness of achieving world-wide acceptance of freedom of information was sounded here Friday by an expert of the subject, George V. Ferguson, the editor-in-chief of the Montreal Star.

Mr. Ferguson, speaking to staff and students of the University of Western Ontario, said he felt it would be centuries before the tradition necessary for such freedom could be developed.

"The trouble is," Mr. Ferguson said, "we have overlooked that we in the west have come to the conclusion that this freedom of press, radio and films of ours is something we have been fortunate to have achieved and that other countries would attempt to emulate."

This is the wrong approach, he said. Some nations do not recognize our system as "free"; others hate it, and some do not want it, Mr. Ferguson said.

Mr. Drew read from the AP report in the New York Herald Tribune, quoting Mr. Claxton as saying Canada would build four or five new airstrips and as estimating the cost at $100,000,000.

He thought the similarity in the stories was a "strange coincidence."

"It would be remarkable," he said, "if at a press conference, representatives of several of the best-known press agencies introduced statements not made by the minister."

Mr. Drew also was critical of another statement attributed to the minister Tuesday by Howe from the Hague, quoting him as announcing Canada plans to erect permanent quarters for the 27th Brigade in West Germany, with construction to start in the next few months. The story said the barracks were expected to cost between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Mr. Drew said that was "a very definite statement of policy" not covered by the statement Mr. Claxton had made to the House on European plans Oct. 22.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Nov. 24—(CP)—The American dollar today opened at 4 11/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/32 from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.04 11/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.92⅛, down ⅛ from Friday.

Teachers Ask Raise

TORONTO, Nov. 24—(CP)—Toronto's secondary school principals, whose present average salary is $6,545, Friday asked the Board of Education for a raise which would boost their pay over a three-year period to $8,250 a year.

Rev. Robt. Barr To Conduct Teaching Mission In City

The Rev. Robert Barr, M.A. of Knox Presbyterian church, Toronto will conduct next week on four evenings and two afternoons a teaching mission in St. Paul's church. His theme will be "The Challenge of the Cross to the Canadian Heart".

Mr. Barr was educated at Stirling High School Scotland where the spirit of Henry Drummond is still a living memory and inspiration. After the First World War he entered the ministry and served in the mining town of Hamilton for four years and then in Glasgow. He accepted an invitation to Cape Town, South Africa in 1928, where he served in Mowray Presbyterian church. There he developed a large work among the Europeans and also a very extensive work among the natives and colored people. He was moderator of the Presbyterian church in South Africa and Rhodesia for one year during the Second World War. He is the author of several books: Born King; In Sweet Remembrance; The Flowers Speak of Him. He has also issued several books of poems.

Accepting an invitation to the historic Knox church in Toronto, he is at present ministering there to a large constituency. He is described as "a born-again minister with a consuming passion for Christ and a burning zeal for souls".

The evening services will start at eight o'clock and the two afternoos at three o'clock. His subjects are:

Tuesday evening: Jesus and the Sinner.
Wednesday evening: Jesus and the Solitary.
Thursday evening: Jesus and Separation.
Friday evening: Jesus and the Spirit.
Wednesday afternoon: Jesus and the Believing Grandmother.
Thursday afternoon: Jesus and a Woman who Longed for Exile.

The services are open to all in the community and district and everyone is invited.

Thomas R. Rose

Funeral service for the late Thomas Robert Rose, 55, of 593 Homewood Ave., who died in hospital on Wednesday following a prolonged illness, was held on Friday from the Kaye funeral home to the Salvation Army Temple. Senior Capt. D. Sharpe officiated and pallbearers were W. Boorman, S. Richardson, M. Carr, W. Taylor, G. Patterson and M. Clysdale. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Engineering Job Progresses On Iron Ore Land

MARMORA, Nov. 24 (ENS). — Engineering work on the new iron ore property at Marmora is progressing satisfactorily, a company spokesman said yesterday. The equipment has been ordered and delivery is expected during the early part of next year. Arrangements are being made with the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario for establishing the necessary power line for the project. The property of Marmoraton Mining Company Limited will be operated by Bethlehem Mines Corporation, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Harold O. Olsen is general superintendent of Bethlehem Mines Corporation. It is understood that the grading of the ground for a railway siding will start at an early date and that next spring a lot of construction and other development will be under way.

Mines Explode, 18 Danes Die

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 24 (AP).—At least 18 firemen and sailors died Friday night when exploding half-ton mines blasted the Danish navy's arsenal into a charred tangle of death and wreckage.

Others possibly were blown into the harbor or still may be lying under the tangle of concrete and metal debris. Seventy-five others were injured. Sabotage is expected.

Unofficial estimates set the damage between 75,000,000 and 100,000,000 kroner (about $1,100,000 to $1,400,000).

The violent chain reaction of fire and explosion, which destroyed five buildings and heavily damaged other navy installations, shattered windows throughout Copenhagen. It set off hundreds of burglar alarms and knocked people out of their beds as far away as Sweden, 30 miles across the straits.

Fire in a gasoline tank behind the heavy concrete arsenal touched off seven of 10 mines which naval source said had just arrived from the United States. The blast made a crater about 10 yards deep and 30 yards wide and disintegrated the workshop where the mines had been taken for inspection.

Firemen who first were called to battle the fire were caught by the blast. Only one was able to tell what happened. The other 22 were either dead or in the hospital.

Average Wages Rise To Record Of $50.61

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 — (CP) — Industrial employment, payrolls and average weekly wages and salaries rose to peak levels at Sept. 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported.

The general index number of employment, on the base 1939 equals 100, was 165.0 compared with 184.3 at Aug. 1, and 174.1 at Sept. 1 last year. The payrolls index moved up to 399.1 against 394.0 a month earlier and 328.0 at Sept. 1, 1950, while the average weekly earnings amounted to $50.61, an increase of 45 cents from August, and $6.44 above a year ago.

Tory MP Resigns

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Nov. 24 — (Reuters) —Brendan Bracken, a leading economist and minister of information in Winston Churchill's wartime cabinet, has decided to resign from parliament because of ill health, it was announced Friday night. His resignation means the first by-election in the new parliament.

Garage Workers Get Increases In Agreement

A standard agreement between 11 city garage owners and their employees was signed Friday night, giving employees wage increases varying between 10 and 35 cents an hour. About 110 employees were affected.

Individual agreements were signed by Local 234, Industrial Union of Automotive Employees (CCL), with the following garages: J. K. Hughes, Duffus, Cliff Towle, Gray's, Deeth and White, Gillespie, Irwin-Godson, Williamson Bros., McWilliams, Reuben Wilson and Lillico Motors.

The individual contracts, effective for a year and retroactive to Nov. 1, give an increase of 10 to 35 cents, bringing the minimum hourly rate up to $1.20. Maximum is $1.35.

A cost of living bonus is also included. There is a one-cent-an-hour boost for each 1.3 rise in the official cost of living index.

The normal work week is 48 hours, though some garages work less.

Management pays 50 per cent of the cost of buying and 50 per cent of the cost of cleaning work clothes.

Guaranteed Rate

Painters, mechanics and body men get the guaranteed rate of $1.20-$1.35, or 45 per cent of the custom charge on each job.

Other contract items: eight statutory holidays with pay, double time for working on holidays. A week's vacation after one year's service and two weeks after five years. Overtime is calculated on a daily, not weekly, basis.

Agreement was reached after Local 234 had applied to the OLRB for their conciliation services. Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer for Ontario, had a hand in bringing the parties together.

The 11 contracts were signed Friday night with James Hutcheon, OLRB conciliation officer, officiating.

L. A. Johnston is president of Local 234. The union was assisted in negotiations by Jim Murray, CCL conciliation officer.

Myna Bird's Jabbering Frightens Burglars

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 24—(AP)—A little black bird named Frisco is a hero today after frightening away burglars at the Hoffman Motor Co.

Frisco, a myna bird, does a lot of jabbering and sometimes comes forth with understandable English.

George Hoffman believes it was this mastery of some expression that scared away the burglars, who had heaped up their loot before they were scared off.

At the motor company offices Frisco was the centre of attention.

"Frisco's a good boy," the bird announced.

Several times he interrupted Hoffman's story of the attempted burglarly with woff calls and shrieks.

Then he announced:

"I'm a clever boy."

Hoffman agreed.

One Secret of Happy Livng Is Knowing How To Share

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Look at that selfish child! He won't let anyone else have a turn with his dump truck!" a mother said to her friend as they watched a little group of pre-school children playing in the back yard sand pile.

"He's a big boy for his age—I'm sure he is just two. Perhaps he's a little young to want to be generous," the other mother suggested.

"A child is never too young to learn to share," the first mother said flatly. "If he was my child, I'd stand over him and make him give that little girl in the red sweater his dump truck!"

Young Child Individualist

What about sharing? Is it reasonable to expect a very young child willingly to give up a prized possession for a time to a playmate? What happens if he is forced to take turns?

The child two years or younger is a real individualist. He doesn't care very much about another child's feelings. If he is not watched, in a moment of anger in his play, if the other youngster should snatch a toy from him, he will likely hit the other child or chase him in an effort to recover his possession.

Parents are setting too high a standard if they expect their two-year-old to gladly share his toys. He is quite happy playing by himself, or engaging in "parallel" play in which an individual plays actively alongside the other child but not needing any give and take. Only as he gets to be three or four does he enjoy playing with other children so much that he can see the point of co-operating by taking turns.

Many mothers are inclined to give too much supervision to children's play. Unless a child is being hurt or in real need of adult assistance, better leave the small ones alone to work out their own way of getting along together.

May Become Resentful

If mother insists too often that Junior share his toy and at too early an age, what happens? Junior is confused and resentful. He may become the sort of child who doesn't know how to stand up for his own rights. Or he may turn into a "cry-baby" or "mother's boy."

On the other hand, if mother is always rushing out of the kitchen into the yard to take her little darling's part, Junior fast becomes very unpopular. The children depart to another yard so as to avoid the unpleasant mother who is frequently interfering on behalf of her son.

Persistent bullying cannot be allowed, it is true. The treatment of the bully is the same as the treatment of any other anti-social child—he is excluded from the group until he is willing to take turns and play happily.

The only child has a much harder time learning to share than the boy or girl with brothers and sisters. In a family, children quickly see that better times are enjoyed by everyone if there is fair play and everyone has his or her part.

Playing With Other Children

A child of three or four should have the opportunity to play with other children his own age. It is not so hard for him to learn to take turns at this stage in a small, intimate neighborhood group or at nursery school. But the kindergarten or first grade child who has led a very solitary life in the company of adults, finds it extremely difficult to substitute "ours" for "my" or take turns gracefully with play equipment.

As the child's world gets larger, he knows more people, and he learns of folk in far away places. His sympathetic response to need is quick. It is good for children to assist in service projects by contributing to the "Save the Children" Fund or helping with the Junior Red Cross, or a church mission band.

Not long ago a group of older public school girls purchased a dozen dolls. They made pretty, inexpensive clothing for them. Through the Red Cross the little convalescing patients from several European countries in a Swiss rest home received these dolls. How happy they were to have a dolly to play with during their long hours in bed! But the Canadian girls were glad, too—they had learned from their own experience one of the secrets of happy living. As one girl said: "It's fun to share."

Havelock Elects E. J. Leeson Reeve For 1952

HAVELOCK, Nov. 24 (ENS)—E. J. Leeson received an acclamation for the reeveship of the village of Havelock at the municipal nomination meeting on Friday night.

Three were nominated for reeve, E. W. Seeney, E. J. Leeson and W. E. Griffith. Mr. Seeney and Mr. Griffith withdrew, leaving Mr. Leeson to fill the office for 1952.

Reeve E. W. Seeney came back into municipal affairs of the village when he captured the reeveship for 1951 after a retirement of five years. In all he served the village for 18 years, 11 as reeve and seven as councillor. Mr. Leeson is also a veteran with six years as reeve and seven as councillor to his credit, first entering council in 1927. Mr. Griffith, the oldest veteran in municipal affairs, withdrew to contest the reeveship in Belmont and Methuen townships.

E. J. LEESON was elected reeve of the village of Havelock for 1952 at the nomination meeting held on Friday evening. Mr. Leason returns to the council after an absence of one year.

Twelve were nominated for the council as follows: B. A. Curtis, Bert Jewell, William Longmuir (members of the 1951 council), Fred A. Rogers, Henry Ellis, B. M. Bell, William Ketchen, Richard Sanderson, Wesley Steenburgh, Jack Davidson, B. E. Johnson, Andrew Buchanan. Those who will be in the contest are B. A. Curtis, B. Jewell and B. M. Bell, while those who did not state definitely their intentions were: Henry Ellis, William Ketchen, Richard Sanderson, and William Longmuir. Those who withdrew their names were Jack Davidson, B. E. Johnson, Andrew Buchanan, Fred A. Rogers. Mr. Steenburgh was not present.

Four were nominated for three seats on the public school board, R. B. Sayers, Fred McKenzie (1951 members who will stand again), Lloyd Parnell and Oliver Pomeroy. Two were nominated for Hydro Commissioner, E. D. Chiles and E. W. Seeney.

Reeve E. W. Seeney

Reeve E. W. Seeney reviewed the work accomplished by the council this year, and noted the increased attendance, which showed that more ladies were taking an interest in municipal matters. He was dissatisfied with a portion of the year's work in that the paving of George St. had not been done. The Department of Highways, he said, cancelled the paving on No. 30 Highway and this had resulted in none being done on George St. He mentioned the new sidewalk on George St. which had cost more money than had been expected, and expressed regret that the council had been unable to meet requests from citizens for new cement sidewalks in front of their homes. Had the council known that the George St. paving project would not be done this year, more sidewalks would have been built.

The condition of the park when he became reeve with its tree tops, lumber and logs was mentioned by Mr. Seeney. He also told of the deteriorated signs at the entrance to the village which would lead the traveller to think that Havelock was anything but a progressive village.

Another problem which had arisen was that when the 1949 council found it necessary to acquire more land from the township of Belmont, a licensed surveyor had not been engaged and the plan that went to the regis-

Luxembourg, Make-Believe Land Of Castles, Medieval Ruins

If you would like to draw back the curtain of the past and visit a tiny, make-believe land which is a mixture of Graustark and the Shubert operettas, then Luxembourg should be put at the top of the list.

Luxembourg is only a dot on the map but thousands of years of history have failed to rub it out. One of the most fortified places in Europe, Luxembourg attracted a succession of military men, Vauban, Marshal Crequi, Louis XIV, Duke of Marlborough and Napoleon.

At one time the City of Luxembourg was an almost impregnable fortress known as the Gibraltar of the North. Today its ancient rampants and 14 miles of subterranean passages are still to be seen. The rest of the small land is packed with old castles and medieval ruins. Cathedrals in Gothic and Renaissance periods dot the city and nearby is the cemetery where General George Patton is buried. Just a few miles north is the Ardennes where the Battle of the Bulge made history.

In Luxembourg city, there is the cathedral built in 1618, the Pont du Chateau, the Three Towers and the Pont Adolphe bridge which has one of the most famous stone arches in all Europe. The Passerelle viaduct connects the modern section of the city near the railroad terminal with the centre of the city which is built on rocks. In the inner part of the upper town is the Grand Ducal Palace, a Spanish Renaissance building.

Not Expensive

In the capital city there are some good hotels including the Grand Brasseur, the Alfa, the Continental, the Cravat and the Rates are about $5 double with bath.

Food in Luxembourg is magnificent and very inexpensive. People can get an enormous meal for about a dollar. Many go to the Schintgen or to the restaurant Stug where the hors d'oeuvres are astonishing. The Wampach is good too. Coffee and cigarettes are high, but everything else is reasonable.

Among the delicious food specialities are Ardennes ham, jellied suckling pig; veal glace in pie-crust, crawfish and magnificent pastries which are known all over the continent. The wines are fine too. Particularly a native, sparkling Moselle. Black currant wine is native too. Absinthe, oddly enough, is legal here. Beer is good and cheap.

The Duchy of Luxembourg with a population of 292,000 is an independent duchy crowded between Belgium and Germany. On the south it borders France. The city of Luxembourg is about 175 airmiles northeast of Paris or 110 airmiles southeast of Brussels. The country is governed by a chamber of deputies elected by universal suffrage.

Can Buy Tickets In Canada

Luxembourg is not difficult to reach. From Canada, you can fly direct to Paris. Then it is only a short trip by train or car. There are four fast trains on the Paris-Germany line. From Paris on the French National Railroads, you can leave the Est Station at 8 am and 6.50 pm arriving at Luxembourg via Metz at 1.49 pm and 11.37 pm. There is a change of train at Bar-le-Duc and Metz and the cost is $9.76 first class. Or you can leave the Est station in Paris at 8.20 am or 6.20 pm and arrive in Luxembourg at 2.32 pm or 12.03 am (midnight). This is a direct Paris-to-Luxembourg service, and costs $9.02 first class.

For the traveller who wishes to avoid wasting time in railway stations, tickets can be purchased from Mr. Jules Hone of the French National Railroad Office, 5717 Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal. These tickets are payable to him in Canadian funds.

Outside Trips

There are several interesting trips outside the city of Luxembourg. These include Mondorf les Bains, south of the capital and which is the spa of the Duchy. The wine cellars in the town of Remich (southeast of the capital) are interesting and if visitors are around at Easter time the local wine fair at Grevenmacher (northeast of Luxembourg) is worth seeing.

The town of Echternach with 4,000 people is northeast of the capital. Sitting on the banks of the Sure you will see the Old Benedictine Abbey founded in the seventh century by St. Willibrod. It comprises, four wings 230 feet long enclosing a big, square inner courtyard. The Basilica, a remarkable religious centre, was severely damaged during the war. It houses a sumptuous sarcophagus of white marble containing the remains of the Saint. The crypt, extending underneath the choir is decorated with frescoes dating back to 1100.

The great Holy Day is that of the annual dancing procession on Whit Tuesday. It is unique and attracts tourists from all over Europe. This church is considered to be the oldest Christain sanctuary of the region. The Town Hall is a remarkable historic monument dating from the 12th century. There is a youth hostel here with a 100-bed accommodation.

Vianden is a small canton of 1200 with a vast feudal castle erected in the 9th century. It is one of the most remarkable of medieval buildings. The Parish Church (old church of the Trinitarians) was built in 1248 in Gothic style and is one of the most venerable monuments in the country. There is also a Victor Hugo museum—the house where the poet lived during his visits. Here too is a youth hostel with 80 beds. These hostels are excellent—clean and cheap.

There aren't many night clubs in the Duchy, but in the city of Luxembourg there are the Cameo or Charlie's. Taxis are plentiful, but come high.

Lovely Country

The northern section of Luxembourg is wild and rugged. Ruins of fortresses and castles brood on craigs. There are wide rivers where the fishing is good and there are deep ravines. The middle country is farm land, rolling and smiling, and to the south is the vineyard country. There are mines and steelworks in the southeast of the Duchy.

Wild boar hunting and deer stalking are two popular winter sports. There are cyclists everywhere. Rivers are a paradise for canoers. The best time of year for the average visitor is between May and October, though cheaper air rates sometimes extend from October to the end of April.

The monetary unit is the Belgium and Luxembourg franc, worth about 2 cents. Belgium francs are accepted in the Duchy, but Luxembourg francs are not accepted in Belgium.

DDT Dangerous

C of E Asks Radio Time For Christian View

TORONTO, Nov. 24—(CP)—The Church of England Friday gave its full support to freedom of speech on the air but asked CBC radio time to counter anti-religious broadcasts with the "Christian position on controversial questions."

The executive committee of the church executive drafted its statement at a meeting Thursday night which had as chairman Archbishop W. F. Barfoot of Edmonton, Primate of all Canada.

The statement apparently resulted from discussion before the Commons radio committee at the CBC's broadcasting of unconventional or unpopular views on ethical and other controversial problems—including matters involving Christian doctrine.

Some members of parliament have criticized CBC broadcasts by such speakers as philosopher Bertrand Russell and Dr. Brock Chisholm, psychiatrist and director of the World Health Organization.

Cars Crash Head-on, Four Seriously Hurt

MONTREAL, Nov. 24—(CP)—Eight persons were injured, four seriously, in a head-on automobile collision Friday night at La-Prairie, Que., across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

The two cars, driven by Therese Rochette of Montreal and Rev. Howard MacCasland of Champlain, N.Y., collided at a point where a two-lane highway becomes one. One car burst into flames.

Seriously injured in hospital are: Jeanne LaFontaine, 28, of Champlain, N.Y., fractured skull; Claude Pinard, 19, Outremont, Que., fractured skull; Gloria Caspine, 20, Champlain, N.Y., both legs fractured; and Mrs. MacCasland, in serious condition, suffering from undetermined injuries.

Miners Back On Job After 26-Day Strike

TIMMINS, Nov. 24—(CP)—A strike that started 26 days ago at the Delnite Mines Limited was settled Friday night.

The 245 gold miners who walked off the job Oct. 29 agreed to return to work Monday.

Settlement terms provide for general increase of eight cents an hour, plus inclusion of a seven-cent-an-hour cost-of-living bonus in the basic pay rate. The rates will be $1 an hour for underground workers and 94 cents for surface workers, including the bonus.

The Shifting Urban Vote

After an election it is sometimes instructive to make an analysis of the local vote, in order to discover the relative strength of the competing parties, and especially to discover how many votes are influenced by issues and personalities. Political allegiance is not so firmly fixed nowadays as it was half a century ago, and it is observable, as we pointed out yesterday, that great numbers of people all across Canada obviously vote one way in provincial elections and another way in a Dominion contest. An examination of figures in Ontario leads us to believe that this shifting vote, open to influence and reason, exists chiefly in cities and towns; rural voters appear to stand pretty closely by party allegiance except when some strong local issue—a bridge, a new road or something of the kind—temporarily changes the complexion of the contest.

* * *

Some conclusions may be drawn from an examination of the figures relating to the vote in the city polls in this constituency during the last three elections. In the provincial election of 1948, Peterborough city voted as follows:

Progressive Conservative	6,134
Liberal	4,584
C.C.F.	4,428
Total	15,146

In the Dominion Election of 1949, these were the city figures:

Progressive Conservative	8,047
Liberal	8,173
C.C.F.	2,187
Total	18,407

The figures in the provincial contest last Thursday were:

Progressive Conservative	9,078
Liberal	4,982
C.C.F.	1,825

* * *

It is clear enough that the party with the largest number of unchanging supporters is the Conservative; the party with the fewest unfailingly reliable voters is the C.C.F. In Thursday's contest the C.C.F. lost a good many votes which went, presumably, to the Liberal candidate; Mr. Walter Thomson's hospital scheme was borrowed in some respects from the C.C.F. plan which operates in Saskatchewan, and it attracted voters of a similar type of mind here. But what the C.C.F. lost to the Liberals was very little compared with what the Liberals appear to have lost to the Conservatives; many Liberals and people whose political thinking lies on the border between Liberal and Conservative were annoyed by Mr. Thomson's manner of campaigning and by the nature of his promises, and perhaps as many as two thousand of them voted for Mr. Scott in order to show it.

* * *

A study of these figures casts doubt on the widely held belief that Peterborough is a Conservative city and that nothing can change it. There is a sufficient shifting vote here to change the political allegiance of the city at any time that a first-rate candidate, with a good organization behind him, seeks to do so. But as we have said many times, the man who wants to represent Peterborough at Ottawa or at Queen's Park cannot make himself known to the public as a political aspirant five or six weeks before an election. Mr. Scott, it will be said, did not enter the field early in 1943, but it must be pointed out that Mr. Scott had a strong organization behind him. Until the local Liberals have an organization of equal strength and determination, they can expect to be defeated. If they are contented in defeat, of course, nothing more need be said on the matter.

Relative Stability In Ontario?

The Ontario Bureau of Statistics says in its current economic review of the Province that the value of cheques cashed is usually considered to be a good indicator of the volume of business transacted. If more cheques are being cashed now than a year ago, then business is booming; if less, business is "relatively stable." Accepting these hypotheses, we can say that Peterborough is in a period of relative economic stability. The latest figures which the Bureau gives are for September. In that month $26,000,000 worth of cheques were cashed in the Peterborough area. In September 1950, $28,000,000 worth were cashed. This is pretty much the trend in the province generally. The value of cheques cashed in Ontario during September dropped 9.9 per cent. over the year and 6.6 per cent. over the month.

The Ontario Bureau of Statistics sees other indications that the level of economic activity in the Province is levelling off (to flatten the jargon further). There has been a reduction in the volume of retail trade, particularly in industries directly affected by the credit restrictions and increased taxes imposed last spring. The overall dollar value of retail trade was 9.3 per cent. nigher in August this year than last, but there was a 14.9 per cent. increase in retail commodity prices. Thus the actual volume of business transacted was less. The sales in Ontario of new motor vehicles dropped 36.3 per cent. in September from the sales in September, 1950.

Employment in the leading industries of the Province in September was still six per cent. above September 1950, but this increase has been dwindling steadily since. (However, payrolls continue to remain at some 20 per cent. above last year's levels.)

Construction is still playing a large part in the Province's economic activity. The total number of building contracts awarded in the Province in September was more than double the 1950 figure, but there has been a shift in the kind of construction. Industrial and engineering contracts were the biggest contributors to the increase. Residential contracts declined 36.7 per cent. in September from September 1950, and business contracts declined by 21.5 per cent. In the first nine months of last year, housing made up forty per cent. of all contracts; this year in the nine months ending September, housing accounted for only 20 per cent. of the total.

The preface to the current Bureau report concludes thus:

"It would appear that, short of any substantial increase in the rate of defence spending, we are likely to experience a period of relative stability over the next few months. Unemployment will increase still further (it now stands at 2.9 per cent. of the total labour force of the Province) because of seasonal influences. Wholesale prices which declined in August and September may remain fairly steady and gradually influence retail prices in a similar manner. No appreciable drop in economic activity may be expected, however, as long as income continues to increase and the propensity to save does not increase substantially."

It all boils down to this: The Provincial experts, keeping their fingers crossed and their 'if's' loud, think that the Province will go along pretty well at the present rate, that prices may go down slightly (what, with Christmas coming?) and that there won't be any great frenzy of business and industry nor any frightening decline in these buzzing activities.

We have a wondering respect for the detachment of these economic experts who can say that conditions will be fairly stable "as long as income continues to increase and the propensity to save does not increase substantially." It seems that they are viewing with some tension any increase in "the propensity to save." The boys in Toronto ought to get together with the chaps in Ottawa who are loudly urging everybody to save, especially by buying Government bonds.

Central Ontario Rural

The Ottawa Journal remarks that "it will not be long before Canadians from different parts of the country will reveal their home territory by their accents"; it then goes on to say that Mr. Leslie Frost has a Central Ontario rural accent.

We do not pretend to rival Bernard Shaw's great phonetic genius, Professor Higgins, in this matter, but we are keenly interested in accents, and agree with the Journal's placing of Mr. Frost's speech. We can, under reasonably favourable circumstances, place a man from the Ottawa Valley, a Torontonian, a man from the London-Chatham district, and of course such sitting birds as Maritimers and Newfoundlanders. And, understandably, we know the Peterborough speech, with its strong reminiscences of Southern Ireland and also of Ulster.

There is a very wide variety of speech in Canada, and Ontario alone presents an array of accents. What astonishes us is that many people seem to be quite unaware of these differences. We talk of an "Ontario accent" (which means nothing). There are scores of English accents, and sometimes appears that we think we, in Ontario, speak the only, pure, undefiled English. As a matter of fact we have so many accents that almost any business convention is a positive Babel of speech variants, and they range from slight deviations from academic or dictionary English to speech as strange to the ear as the speech of Glasgow or Devon.

A linguistic map of Canada has been in progress, under the direction of American and Canadian scholars, for some time. We do not know if it is complete, but if it is, we should like to see it on view in our Ontario public libraries. Speech is a fascinating study, and it would be a good thing if the people of Ontario took a greater interest in their own. Good Canadian speech—something we have often discussed in these columns—is a pleasure to hear. Deviations from it are interesting curiosities. It is time that we listened to ourselves more attentively.

BIBLIOMANIA

Remarkable Marquand

MELVILLE GOODWIN, USA, by John P. Marquand (McClelland and Stewart, Toronto).

WHAT A PLEASURE it is to pick up a novel by Marquand. Even before one begins to read, one knows that it will read well, for Marquand is, like Maugham, a craftsman. He knows how to tell a story. He knows that people like to like what they read, so he pleasures them. By the time one reaches page two of Melville Goodwin, USA, one is engrossed—and Marquand does not lose his reader in any one o fhis 596 pages.

The continuing output of major novels, from "The Late George Apley" through "So Little Time" to "Point of No Return" and now this novel, is impressing those academic critics who believe, a priori, that no good can come of any novelist who did not begin with highbrow, eclectic prose. Marquand began with penny-dreadfuls and the slicks, and incurred the sin of being popular. That is how he stayed alive for Melville Goodwin, USA, and developed his novelist's skill. Marquand is now being tentatively considered as a significant writer. This latest novel leaves no room for doubting his importance.

* * *

MELVILLE GOODWIN, the hero of the novel, is a product of the American democracy and the American military system. (USA in the title means United States Army.) He is the son of a New England, small-town druggist. He went to West Point for his conditioning, won his wounds as a lieutenant in the last months of the Great War, and was Major-General in command of a D-Day division in the recent war. Associated with him in these enterprises and the doldrums between the wars, are his wife and the malleable steel of American infantrymen. The day after being commissioned from West Point, he married, as an inexperienced lover, a boyhood friend sufficiently pretty and astute to stage the diplomatic officer-scramble backgrounds for his rise to gold braid. His vade-mecum is the infantryman, whom he loves as a master-smith who can wield and weld as the sparks of battle fly. Melville Goodwin is not a desk man.

He achieves post-war notoriety through a small incident in Occupied Germany when his own conditioned soldierly action ends a border incident which might have developed into a serious clash with the Russians. The army sees an opportunity to capitalize on this—the army in feud with the other two American services and wanting Congressional appropriations. He is flown home and the propaganda stage is set. Almost the entire novel is unfolded as Major General Melville A. Goodwin tells his life's story to press and radio men in the Connecticut home of a famous radio news commentator. Through skilful flash-backs from this static setting the author encompasses thirty years of the American army and one of its officers, without stumbling into either verbosity or a mire of inaction.

* * *

THE RADIO NEWSMAN is called Sidney Skelton. He has a palatial office in New York, a vast expense account, three cars, and a country estate in Connecticut. Skelton is a former reporter, a civilian soldier who was a public relations officer during the war. He rose to prominence and big money after the war when a promoter sensed that he had a voice of 'integrity'.

As a younger and very junior officer to Goodwin—that was before his radio exaltation—he met the General in Paris. Skelton is intelligent, well-read, self-questioning. It is through his eyes—and in his narrative—that Major General Goodwin emerges. Skelton is the devil's advocate in the novel and becomes, as much as his character will allow, the hero-worshipper. The hero is Goodwin, the representative of the American military mind and the best type of general field officer. One of the feats of the novelist is to present Goodwin as a person, and yet to enshrine him as a type.

A generation ago C. S. Forester wrote a book called "The General". It strongly reveals the British mind at General Staff level. This novel does for the American army now what "The General" did for the British before the last war. It shows the army system and its generalship, and a hero of the people, as nakedly and realistically as Forester, but on the whole more sympthetically, in greater detail, and from more points of observation. A Canadian cannot read Melville Goodwin, USA without getting a reassuring, respectful impression of the American army and its soldierly capacities. And at the same time, through the portraiture of Skelton,—the civilian, commercial contrast to Goodwin, he must feel that a country that can produce Goodwin and Skelton is both an exciting and an admirable nation.

The novel is a masterpiece of synthetic writing and reporting. (Marquand's knowledge and understanding of the military at low and high level, on the field and in the Pentagon, has an amazing authority.) For all its scope, its vitality and its authenticity, this novel is not a masterpiece of art. It is a diagnosis and masterly report—a colourful, exact and interpretative drawing by a skilled painter of microscopic slides or anatomical illustrations.

It is an engrossing study of American generalship, the flesh and bone and brain whose soul is never realized. Perhaps generalship has no soul. Anyway, soul is not the sort of thing a reporter, even the finest of reporters like Marquand, professes to know anything about. Perhaps Marquand's limitations as a novelist may be the limitations of his own race in this somewhat important transubstantial sphere. T.J.A.

THE SPOILS OF TIME, by Philip Gibbs (Ryerson).

THIS is our yearly treat from the pen of Sir Philip Gibbs. In "The Spoils of Time" the author has stepped back into his own memories and given his hero a newspaper editor for a father—the editor of 'The Times' in fact, which even in Edwardian days must have carried a degree of glamour but not for Alison Haviland, his wife. She deserts him and her three children to go to Italy with a painter who has done her portrait and to Val, the eldest boy and the chief character in the story, this alienates him from his father whom he wrongly feels drove her away. The father remarries but allows the children to visit their grandparents and it is there at the country home of his mother's people that Val, in his 'teens, meets Elizabeth Seymer, whom he loves for years before he eventually marries her after the First World War. The book follows their lives until Elizabeth is terribly injured in the bombing of her home during the Second World War, and Val finds his success too late to share it with her. Not only is their love story beautifully told but the lives of the younger, wilder brother Frank, who becomes an actor, and of the baby sister Olivia are also followed closely. Many interesting people visit the Haviland house during Val's childhood and some of Sir Philip Gibbs' own remniscences must surely have conjured up the pictures of Lloyd George and the youthful Winston Churchill, of W. B. Yeats and the great actor Forbes-Robertson. This is a quiet book with humour to balance the sadder side and a not unnaturally happy ending. S.S.T.

FOLLOWING our custom of printing something of unusual literary interest at the end of this column, we offer this comment on poetry by one of the notable poets of our time, the late A. E. Housman: "Poetry indeed seems to me more physical than intellectual. A year or two ago, in common with others, I received from America a request that I would define poetry. I replied that I could no more define poetry than a terrier can define a rat, but that I thought we both recognized the object by the symptoms which it provokes in us. Experience has taught me, when I am shaving of a morning, to keep watch over my thoughts, because, if a line of poetry strays into my memory, my skin bristles so that the razor ceases to act. This particular symptom is accompanied by a shiver down the spine; there is another which consists in a constriction of the throat and a precipitation of water to the eyes; and there is a third which I can only describe by borrowing a phrase from one of Keat's last letters, where he says, speaking of Fanny Brawne, 'everything that reminds me of her goes through me like a spear'. The seat of this sensation is the pit of the stomach".

An American Opinion: A CURIOUS BEGGAR

Protecting Whisky From Perfume

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

LUCIEN PEROTTET has been fined $1,400 and ordered to pay the Scotch Whisky Association of Edinburgh, Scotland, a further sum of $1,000. And you wouldn't have to go as far as Scotland to find many people with the point of view that it served M. Perottet right, although perhaps not right enough. For in Paris, Lucien was producing a liquid labelled "genuine blended Scotch whisky, made in France," a concoction which a chemist told the court was composed of: "Two per cent. grain, 38 per cent. pure alcohol and 60 per cent. water." For colouring caramel was used while the bouquet was achieved by the introduction of "perfumes".

Marketed under the name of "Halson's blended whisky" this nostrum naturally attracted some notice, probably from English and Scottish, perhaps even Canadian visitors. This was a serious matter and it was brought to the attention of the Edinburgh body which laid the complaint leading to the exposure of the fraud.

None will deny the excellence of French perfumes, but the water of France is notoriously bad, and that constituted 60 per cent. of "Halson's". In any event, a man doesn't need to be an inebriate to entertain the point of view that if whisky is going to be sold at all it should be placed before the public in the purest possible form.

Divorce Laws And Fraud

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

SENATOR W. M. Aseltine, of Saskatchewan, who is chairman of the Senate's committee on divorce, has urged the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the whole subject of divorce in Canada. In April 1950, in the House of Commons, Mr. David Croll of Toronto-Spadina tried unsuccessfully to have a special committee of the house set up to consider amendments to Canada's divorce laws with a view to enlarging the grounds for divorce. Like Mr. Croll, Senator Aseltine, feels that the present laws in this regard are "very much antiquated." He thinks, however, that a much more thorough study could be made by a royal commission than by a parliamentary committee.

This difficult question came before the Senate in 1938, when a bill was actually passed containing essentially the same grounds for divorce that were recommended 12 years later by Mr. Croll. In addition to adultery, the Senate bill would have included desertion (after six years), cruelty, and incurable mental disease after treatment for at least five years. At present, the only legal ground for divorce is adultery, except in Nova Scotia, where a pre-Confederation statute of 1866 also recognizes cruelty.

When moving his resolution (which he later withdrew when it was given little support), the member for Spadina drily observed that in practice there are two grounds for divorce in Canada—adultery and perjury.

This week, Senator Aseltine expressed the same view, that "perjury, collusion and connivance are common" when husbands and wives seek to get divorced.

The fact that collusive practices do make a mockery of the courts—and of Parliament itself, as a divorce court—has been recognized by some judges and lawyers as well as parliamentarians. In 1946, the Canadian Bar Association passed a resolution recommending that the grounds for divorce be widened to include desertion for more than three years, gross cruelty, and incurable mental disease for five years. This resolution was endorsed by the Manitoba legislature.

Mr. Justice Adamson of Manitoba some years ago observed that under the law as it stands at present:

> Respectable persons who neither commit adultery nor perpetrate a fraud upon the court are without relief. The law gives relief to persons when one spouse commits adultery or engages in fraud; the law thus puts a premium on adultery and fraud.

It is not to be supposed that an enlargement of the grounds for divorce to the extent proposed by either the Senate or the Canadian Bar Association would do away entirely with frauds before the courts, but it might be expected to reduce them materially. A thorough study of the whole question by an impartial body is warranted.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies; who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's....

For as the heaven is high above the earth, so great is his mercy toward them that fear him....

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all. Bless the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word. Bless ye the Lord, all ye his hosts; ye ministers of his, that do his pleasure.

Bless the Lord, all his works in all places of his dominion: bless the Lord, O my soul. (Ps. 103: 1-5, 11, 19-22.)

'Nobody Obliged To Drink'

(Ottawa Journal)

Mr. Duplessis remarked in the Quebec Legislature the other day that "reform of people who drink" is the chief reform called for in the provincial liquor system. "Nobody," he observed, "is obliged to drink."

It is the modern fashion for government in their various classification to take infinite trouble to protect the people not only from misfortunes and vicissitudes but from temptations. Thus we see, as a small example, Ottawa's Exhibition board deciding to "clean up" its midway show, to put more clothes on the girls and to save the suckers from exploitation. And we have the Premier of Quebec's retort to those who urged that he enforce the liquor laws more rigidly and reduce the number of places permitted to sell. Nobody is obliged to inspect the girls or to risk his money on games of chance.

No doubt it is a good thing that we should save others—and ourselves—from the temptations to drink too much, to gamble our money away, to do things that are deplorable even if amusing, but one wonders if there is much virtue in refraining from immoral courses not through strength of will but because governments may have made it inconvenient and inordinately expensive to sin.

The modern trend of custom, law and usage, inclines more and more to save the individual from the necessity to accept responsibility for his own decisions—as it tries to save him from the need to provide himself for his old age. Government to a large extent has become our public conscience and it is futile to protest that it is sinful to drink liquor or smoke cigarettes or play cards when one government sells liquor, all governments share in the profits, and one takes a heavy tax on every cigarette sold, on every pack of playing cards sold.

Laws are made, actually, for the weakest members of the community—weakest, that is, in the sense of moral standards and strength of will. There are hosts of persons who would not drink, or drink any more, if there were a saloon on every street corner, who would not risk their savings in gambling no matter what opportunities were created.

BOWMANVILLE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS represents a successful experiment in the re-education of problem boys. Established in 1925 by the Ontario Government, it is set on 300 acres of good farm land. The buildings are in pleasant cottage grouping. There is no forbidding atmosphere of harsh, stone-walled reform school about it. As shown in the photographs above, the School gives instruction in a variety of crafts and has ample recreational facilities, as well as providing formal schooling. All grades up to Grade 10 are taught at the School. The boys range for 14 to 16 years of age and are generally sent to it from the Juvenile Courts. The School accommodates a maximum of 180 boys, and since 1925 more than 4,000 boys have passed through Bowmanville.

Eating Blackstrap Molasses On Rice Lake A Century Before Hausser's Diet

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT.

There is no new thing under the sun, said Solomon, in fact, said he, "Is there anything whereof it may be said, See, This is new? It hath been already of old time, which was before us."

And on Rice Lake and the Trent River, the crew of the old steamer, Forester, were eating blackstrap molasses and whole wheat bread every day of their lives, as far back as 1854, never dreaming they were a century ahead of Gaylord Hausser and his diet.

Built at Gore's Landing in 1844, the Forester, with its carved figurehead of a wooden forester with his axe, was sold by William Weller, and in the winter of 1853-4, after losing the race between Gore's and Peterborough to the Otonabee by about 55 min. was being overhauled by its new owners, Henry Fowlds and his sons, who intended to do their own towing from the Otonabee river to Healey's Falls, and for anyone else who needed that service.

The new engineer, Christopher Boyde, boarded at the Driscoll hotel for 42 days at 50 cents a day, and by May 14th the boat was fitted up. Perhaps some details will be interesting.

AT McDONNEL ST. AND WATER

(At the corner of these streets are three arrows on a shield. Two point to the west . Ottawa and Lindsay; the other arrow points straight up to the clouds and says Port Hope.)

They shouldn't try and kid the folk.
Indeed! They shouldn't oughter:
Erecting funny highway signs at McDonnel St. and Water.
For after some musing I'll admit
it's confusing
When trying to get to Port Hope;
For I've always believed in the straight and the narrow
And I'll end up in heaven if I follow this arrow.

FRED HORN.

Beds were bunks with straw ticks for which 21 yards of ticking at a shilling was charged to the steamboat account. Candles furnished the light and were ordered by the dozen at 1/3. One lamp and oil may have been provided headlights but oil was still expensive at 5/- per gal.

Coffee Mill

A coffee mill at 2/6 was the first item on the order sheet and coffee beans cost 1/3. Tea was dearer at 3/6 to 4/6 per lb. but both were used daily, a milk jug at 9d. indicates the use of that beverage, but was probably bought along the route as well as a supply of eggs. Meat was limited to mutton in the summer at 5d. and except for one order of half a dozen herrings in the summer of 1854, the crew seems to have subsisted on fish—50 lbs at 4¼d. being supplied. No doubt they lived off the lake and river for fish and game, which were still plentiful. Butter at 9d. to 1/3 was cheaper than the tallow used for greasing the machinery and was supplied in large quantities by the late school teacher at the Rapids, Mrs. Werden, whose husband also repaired the pump. The cost was 10/-.

Dishes included a pepper shaker at 7½d. Pepper cost 1/3 for a quarter of a pound. Mustard was a staple at a shilling a pound, and was apparently used at every meal. Potatoes were charged only once at 2/- a bushel but may have been purchased locally. Bread was really the Staff of Life, and, since the old Crooks' mill had been made over into a first class flouring mill, Frank Shay of Gore's Landing, the cook, got a supply at 17/6 for 25 lbs. of the real whole wheat with the grits left in. From it he made soda bread with saleratus at 8d. per lb. That was a common custom for years was more troublesome. Occasionally he made the boys a pudding, probably one of the sort that were christened "Boiled Baby" or "Spotted Dog" by troops in the first war—a batter pudding with currants in it. But they cost 1/5 a lb. and were not asked for often. Rice cost 12. a lb. and is the only vegetable listed unless purchases were made elsewhere. Allspice at 1/2 for ½ lbs. is the only variation from the every day salt, pepper and sugar, although vinegar was ordered once at 7½d. a quart.

Molasses At All Hours

Molasses was supplied regularly as it took the place of jam or marmalade with bread for breakfast and supper, and, because it was not a fad, it came in by the hogshead and cost the consumer about a dollar a gallon. In fact there was a saying, "As slow as molasses in January," as indicative of some people's speed. So, with both of the so-called miracle-working foods, the crew of the Forester seem to have been pretty well fed.

Besides the cook, there were the engineer, Christopher Boyd, Charles Oakes, who also sold 58½ cords of wood at 5/-which was probably piled on the river bank at Oakse's Point, as it was locally known. Thomas Armstrong also a wood supplier, John Menor and John Cunningham, engineers, firemen, etc. Jediah Westgate, Robert Boyd, and others. A man named Boreland supplied 2 cords of wood which he threw in the water; as it sank, he was not paid for it. William Rishor did carpenter work on the boat.

The Forester took a picnic on June 23, 1855, probably to Cameron's Pt. and for a 5/-fare John Wallace, William Lobb, Andrew Henderson, George Matthewson, Thomas Pomeroy had a day's outing.

Lumbering was the main business of Henry Fowlds and his sons, and in Dec. 1854 they paid Dennis Ryan £12-10-0 for making 400 traverses and for 200 more to be used as lashing poles, they were also called toggles, the long thin saplings used for tightening the traverses which held the square timbers in the cribs.

The Forester

The cribs were towed as far as Healey's Falls by the Forester from as far west as the Otonabee; from the old bridge above the present railway bridge the logs were run over the timber slide while the cribs passed through the locks. Andy Brady was a Seymour pilot who guided the cribs through the rapids and Gil Patrick performed the same duty on the Nine-Mile Rapids at Chisholm's. The Forester towed for Boyds of Bobcaygeon, Samuel Dickson of Peterborough and the Gilchrists of Keene and other lumbermen and for E. W. Myers of Trenton a charge of 30/-was made for towing his raft for 8 hours.

George Jackson and his brother also took in the June picnic in 1853 and two other brothers remained with their mother, who had moved into their newly completed house on Front St. now the home of Sidney Barrett of Toronto and better known as the home of the late Mrs. Grover Kerr. William Tucker had his threshing machine taken to the head of the lake in November, 1854 for £1-5-0. His brother-in-law, William Hill, paying half the cost. Robert Cannon, Thomas Buck, Mrs. Hurley and James Quinlan all paid freight.

Does man differ from the other animals? Only in posture. The rest are bent, but he is a wild beast who walks upright.

Philemon: Fragment, c. 310 B.C.

Making masts was another branch of the lumbering business and Frank Stewart of Percy Township spent 4 days at that job. Robert Beattie ran their rafts to Percy Boom in 1854. Slide and lock dues were collected there and charged against the owners.

John Gilchrist, Jr. paid 30/ for taking his men back to Harwood, and from the mouth of the Otonabee to the old bridge the usual charge for towing was 30/-.

Other activities of the Forester included occasional trips to Peterborough for the settlers and their wives, but the old boat was not speedy, and the late Col. R. E. Birdsall said its distinguishing feature was its loud grunts that could be heard for miles.

William Fowlds and William Gidley were captians at various times and "Watty" Boswell was Weller's representative before the sale to Henry Fowlds.

Puffy Little Forester

You'd really think the bits of boats on Rice Lake and the Otonabee River, a century ago, were regular ocean liners to read the fulsome acounts in the local press of that day. This paean from the Gazette of April 25, 1846, is a sample.

"The beautiful steamboat, Forester, commenced her daily trips on Monday last, having undergone all the requisite reparations and refittings rendered necessary by the 'wear and tear' of the last summer's work. We have watched her for 2 or 3 days successively as she 'walked the water' like a thing of life on her return through Little Lake, and, unless we are much mistaken, her speed and power has been considerably increased. We cordially wish Capt. Weller a successful season."

The Forester had been built at Gore's Landing in 1844 for William Weller of Cobourg and Richard Birdsall was a passenger on her first trip down Rice lake in August, 1844. The Hon. James Crooks hailed the advent of a vessel of such speed and general usefulness on the lake, as hitherto he had been compelled to ride from Cobourg to Percy Mills (Warkworth) on his way to his property at Crook's Rapids, now Hastings.

But getting back to reality, it comes as a shock to read on and find out that the same steamboat was carried bodily over the dam below the locks at Peterborough and beached there on April 22, 1851, thereby causing the public great inconvenience and interrupting the transport of lumber and flour. The passenger service and mail delivery was also cut off.

It took a month to get the ship back on an even keel and in the interval the Royal George, owner, Capt. George May, got all the business. By the end of May the Forester was again afloat and running her regular trips under Capt. Clarke's command but ill-luck dogged her steps on the water, so to speak, and on June 12th. she was in trouble again; this time a boiler burst and in the explosion fireman James Weatherhead was killed and a whole cargo of William Cluxton's flour was lost. This was getting beyond a joke and a meeting was held at Keene for the purpose of forming a company to build a steamer to ply between Keene and Rice lake. This may have been the genesis of "Short's boat" with its red funnel, but whether that was the old Otonabee, I do not know.

Remember the old-style advertising displays on George St., long before the cold bright neon light era?

The shiny wooden horse at the door of Ben Shortley's Harness shop.... The Golden Lion of Robert Fair's drygoods store.... The meat racks in Jopling's butcher shop lined with as many as 20 deer carcasses and deer meat selling in popular cuts by the pound....

They have disappeared.

The only thing of its kind that remains is the stuffed black bear outside Lech's fur store. And the man who shot is it still very much alive, William George Heard.

DEAN OF HUNTERS, W. G. "Bill" Heard, of Bridgenorth, is 88½ years old. He got his deer this Fall with one shot, in the neck, a doe that dressed 117 pounds.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

I TALKED to Mr. Heard in Bridgenorth this week. He told me that he was 88½ years of age but you wouldn't believe it. He has a full head of white hair, a healthy tanned face, ready smile and sound laugh. His blue eyes twinkle behind gold-rimmed glasses, especially when telling a young punk like me about the deer he shot last week. It was up at his old camp on Copper Creek, west of Apsley.

In the first place, it was a four-mile hike from car to camp. William took it in his stride. He also stood his watch on the first morning and didn't have long to wait before a doe bounded into his sights. He brought it down with one shot, in the neck.

His son-in-law, Sandy McManus, made the mistake of coming along shortly after and asking the old man where he had hit the animal.

"The ONLY place to hit them," said he shortly.

THIS DEAN of district deer hunters has been shooting successfully for the past 78 years. He really doesn't count the first two when he messed around as a stripling of ten potting partridge. The remaining record years were spent in Fall deer camps and game fell to his rifle regularly. Still does.

Mr. Heard regrets missing four years during all this time, well, three, let us say. There was once when his wife died and he drove to his camp in a buggy to break the sad news to his sons and bring them home. "But I shot a deer while they were packing their gear ...." he remarked off-hand.

Though most of his shooting has been done around the district he shot for a few seasons up Paxley way, east of Sudbury. His proudest shooting record was ten deer with 11 shots. Another time he shot two out of a group of three and, having stunned the third, finished it off with his hunting knife.

MR. HEARD is as fond of good camp fellowship as of the chase. He recalled one city slicker who came into camp one Fall with a terrific grouch. Taking him in tow, they went to a watch, declared themselves lost and spent the night by an open fire. Though they were only two miles from camp, by the time they reached it next day the slicker's bile had been frozen out of him.

As the interview ended and my eyes were bulging in wonder at this spry oldster, he remarked:

"Yes, sir, we Heards are old-time hunters. Take my brother Ben at Young's Point. He was out at a camp at Burleigh Ranch Club. And he is 85: He didn't get HIS deer this year, though."

HE LAUGHED so loud and long at his brother's misfortune that his pipe went out. I was too amazed to laugh with him.

Here were two hunters whose ages totaled 173½ years, still shooting their deer and getting a whale of a bang out of it. Neither one could estimate the number of deer they had shot; it didn't matter to them. All William was interested in when I left his house was that there were only 361 days till next Fall's shoot, if the dates were the same in '52. There's a youthful outlook, if you ever heard of one.

And when I listen to my fat wheezing middle-aged friends who complain that the sport kills them, well ....

Age No Object

An item to revive Mr. Heard's earliest hunting experiences.

Young Norman Windover, age 11, of Rockcroft on the south shore of Lake Catchacoma, shot three deer this season. The first two on the first Saturday of opening week and the third on the last day of the hunt, one of them a ten-point buck.

He did it without assistance, too. His father, Don Windover, owner-guide of the hunting camp, was all tied up with the hounds during his first day's luck and on the last, Norm was sitting it out alone, on his own runway.

No other hunting district but the Kawarthas can boast of such an age hunter-range. Bill Heard, 88½, and Norm Windover, age 11, and both going strong.

Bowmanville Boys' Training School Has Passed Out 4,000 Since 1925

Bowmanville Training School for Boys was established in August, 1925. The achievements of the school in its 26 years, represent a successful experiment in the re-education of problem boys. The history of the institution is not only a tribute to its founders and to all those who were associated with it since 1925 but also a vindication of a new approach to rehabilitation of youths based essentially on sympathy and understanding.

The establishment of the Bowmanville Training School was the outcome of a great deal of serious thought on the part of Juvenile Court Judges, Social Workers, Children's Aid Societies and Service Clubs. It was felt that there should be a modern school in a rural setting to care for boys who, by removal from their homes for a period of intensive training, might be re-directed so that wayward tendencies would not lead to criminal careers.

Admission By Application

The nucleus of the new school population was found in a group of sixteen boys who were under the care of the Toronto Rotary Club at Opportunity Lookout, Weston. Until December 1, 1934, boys were admitted by application only; but, since that year, the great majority of the school population comes from the Juvenile Courts. They range from 14 to 16 years of age. The first Superintendent of the school was Dr. G. E. Reaman; he was succeeded in 1932 by Mr. A. R. Virgin who is now Director of Reform Institutions at Queen's Park. When Mr. Virgin assumed this latter post, his succession was taken by Mr. W. J. Eastaugh.

During the 26 years of existence of the institution, it has been the constant policy of the Provincial Government, which operates it, and of the staff of the school to make it as attractive as possible. Spacious grounds, attractive dormitories, wholesome meals and modern equipment prove a most interesting setting for the boy at Bowmanville. And the program which is offered to him is most appealing: it is healthy, vigorous, even exciting.

Cottage System

The cottage system which operates at Bowmanville groups thirty to forty boys in a house under the supervision of Housemaster and staff. Everything is kept neat and clean and the finest of spirits prevails in those little fraternities.

Naturally, boys of that age must go to school. All grades up to Grade Ten are taught at Bowmanville. The curriculum, and methods are subject to the same inspections by the Department of Education as any other school in the province. To complement this academic program, there is an extensive vocational training program.

The fine equipment with which the school is provided makes it possible to give instruction in the following voational subjects: Carpentry, Machine Shop, Cabinet Making, Sheet Metal, Shoe Repair, Typing, Auto Mechanics, Horticulture, Laundry, Cooking, Barbering and Pressing. Farming must not be omitted: with 300 acres of good farm land, a registered Holstein herd, horses, poultry, pigs and modern farm machinery, there is ample opportunity for many boys to gain experience in agriculture.

Naturally, the school cannot aim at graduating finished tradesmen. So the stress is on development of hand skills and good work habits. It is hoped thereby to interest the boy so that he will choose and follow a trade as a result of his training in the institution.

Recreational Opportunities

As can be expected, recreation occupies a very important part in the program of the school. It embraces a wide field so it can catch the interest of each boy. At least part of every day is given over to athletics. Skills and sportsmanship are taught in baseball, swimming, boxing, track and field, soccer lacrosse, rugby, hockey, basketball, volleyball, horseshoes, floor hockey and gymnastics. The boys have the best of equipment at their disposition, as visitors can testify when they visit the gymnasium, the beautiful swimming pool and the spacious playgrounds of the school.

Boys are also taught to respect their own church and religious affiliation. They participate in a daily Chapel Service, attend weekly at the Sunday morning church service, participate in the evening devotion periods and share in a boy-conducted Sunset Service each Sunday evening in the School auditorium.

The personnel of the institution is very carefully selected, and comprises the supervisors, housemakers, teachers, instructors, nurses and administration workers. They are very enthusiastic about their tasks and their relation with the boys is one of understanding and friendship. The school accommodates a maximum of 180 boys, and each youth gets a lot of personal attention.

Since 1925, more than 4,000 boys have passed through Bowmanville. The graduates of the school can be found in all walks of life and with some exceptions, are law-abiding citizens who prove to be assets to society

DEBILITY IN CHILDREN PREVENTED BY A SIMPLE PRECAUTION

A very frequent cause of depressed vital power, is the sleeping of children with aged persons. Dr. Copeland was consulted about a pale, sickly, thin boy, about four or five years of age. He appeared to have no specific ailment, but there was a slow and remarkable decline of flesh and strength—what his mother very aptly termed a gradual blight.

Upon enquiry into the history of the case, it proved that the child had been very robust and plethoric up to his third year, when his grandmother, a very aged person, took him to sleep with her; that he soon afterwards lost his good looks, and that he had continued to decline progressively afterwards, notwithstanding medical treatment. He was treated with simple tonics, change of air, etc., and directed to sleep apart from the aged person—the recovery was rapid.

The explanation is a physiological one, connected with the abstraction of vital energy from the younger ... Young females married to very old men suffer in a similar manner, a... them to so great an exten...

That was a very natural, but a very ludicrous remark of a venerable lady, now in her 100th year, on the death of her daughter, who had attained the good old age of 80. The mother's grief was great; and to a friend who came to console with her, she could only say, "Oh, dear! Oh, dear! I knew I should never be able to rear that child!

MAN THE ANIMAL

Man, with all his noble qualities, with sympathy which feels for the most debased, with benevolence which extends not only to other men but to the humblest living creature, with his God-like intellect which has penetrated into the movements and constitution of the solar system—with all these exalted powers—man still bears in his bodily frame the indelible stamp of his lowly origin.

Eagles Take Over Top Spot In Senior Group Race Beating the Hawks, 3 To 0

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 24.—Peterborough Eagles' and Belleville Hawks' tempers and sticks flying as high as their hockey feathers staged the most bolsterous senior "B" game of the season here last night with the Eagles shutting out the Hawks 3-0 to take over top slot in the group standing.

Strangely enough the Hawks had a margin in territorial play throughout the game, especially in the last period when they had practically all of the play with the Eagles playing defensive hockey to successfully stave off the desperate Hawk attacks.

Young Jim Milne, Eagles' netminder, was the hero of the piece as he thwarted every Hawk attempt to score when they got by the hard-hitting Eagle defence. Lefort in the Hawks' nets also drew stars as his defence faltered at times to allow Eagle snipers through alone. The stocky French Canadian outguessed at least five Eagles who sortied in to his doorstep.

Scored Early

All the scoring was done in the first period. It was lightning fast hockey with both teams going all out in flashy offensive rink length drives. The Hawks nearly scored on the first play of the game as big Vernon Goyer, held pointless for the first time this season, was outsmarted by Milne after combining with MacDonald and Moher to take the puck to the goal mouth.

Moher drew a slashing penalty and the Eagles drove in hard to draw first blood with Vitarelli hitting the mesh.

He was assisted by Mortimer and Hill. Two minutes later after the Hawks had stalled off the Eagles attacks with Semark in the hoosegow, Greenlaw put the visitors two up, batting in Stewart's pass from close in. F. Mortimer on a fine passing play with Munro scored the third and last goal of the game while the Eagles were shorthanded with D. Mortimer resting for tripping. That was it as far as the scoring goes.

Feeling High

Feeling was high throughout the game with Referee Bill Reason handing out 14 penalties, nine of them going to the Hawks. The game was held up several minutes in the second period when irate fans littered the ice with programs in protest against what they thought were cheap penalties. A bottle crashed on centre ice and after the surface had been cleared twice, Reason announced he would award the game to the Eagles if the crowd continued to toss their programs.

Big Vern Goyer drew a misconduct when he protested too vehemently to Reason against a penalty given to Moher. The Hawks were two men short but the Eagles were playing canny hockey in an all-out effort to protect that three-goal lead.

In fairness to the Hawks it must be said they were lacking the fire and dash that has characterized their former performances. Their passes were not clicking and they were especially impotent when around the Eagles' goalmouth. They strayed from their positions too much and the Eagles grabbed every opportunity that came their way.

It was hard fast rugged senior "B" hockey, and a battle of the goalies. Lefort had no choice on any of the trio that beat him while Milne rose to heights at times with his uncanny thwarting of desperate Hawks attempts. The Eagles nearly mobbed him when the siren shrilled the end of hostilities. The paid attendance was 1632.

The MacDonald, Barrett, DesJardins line was the most effective for the homesters and all three narrowly missed goals. The Eagles defensive tactics to hold their three-goal first period attack was the chief victory factor, with Montgomery and Mortimer standing out. Dootch Vitarelli, Greenlaw, and F. Mortimer looked the best for the Eagles.

Belleville—Goal, Lefort; defence, Schrieder, Semark; centre, Goyer; wings, MacDonald, Moher; subs, Jones, Barrett, Desjardins, Doran, Wardhaugh, Day, Bastedo, Trumble.

Peterborough—Goal, Milne; defence, Mortimer, Montgomery; Munro, Wootton; forwards, Legrow, Brydges, Crowley, Vitarelli, Hill, Brabin, Stewart, Greenlaw, F. Mortimer.

Referees — Bill Reason, Kingston, linesman, Bill Holway, Belleville.

Summary:

First Period

Eagles—Vitarelli (Montgomery, Hill) 2:37
Eagles—Greenlaw (Stewart) 11.45
Eagles—F. Mortimer (Munro) 18:30
Penalties—Moher, Semark, D. Mortimer.

Second Period

No score.
Penalties—Semark, Moher, Goyer (misconduct), Wardhaugh, MacDonald, Brabin, Mortimer, Vitarelli.

Third Perido

No score.
Penalties — MacDonald, Schreider, Montgomery.

LA Negro Poses New Threat To US Heavies

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP). — Clarence Henry, 24-year-old Los Angeles Negro, is the newest threat in the heavyweight division after his sensational knockout win over Jumbo Bob Baker of Pittsburgh Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

What next?

That's the big problem for Henry who flattened Baker with a stunning left hook in 2:14 of the eighth round.

"I want to keep on going up the ladder," said Baker. "This guy was ahead of me. Now I'm No. 4. I want Rocky Marciano, Ezzy Charles and Joe Walcott."

Instead of one of the "big three" Henry probably will be offered a Garden date with Archie Moore, the perennial "uncrowned light heavy champ."

Tried Rematch

Jack McGinley of Pittsburgh tried to rematch Henry and Baker for an indoor bout at Duquesne Garden. That may be the answer. Baker is willing but Henry, giddy with his upset win, wants time to think it over.

It was a fine victory for Henry who weighed only 185 to Baker's 209½. Apparently beaten by the hulking Pittsburgh lad who was undefeated in 26 previous fights, Henry dropped Baker with a devastating left. Sliding through the ropes, Baker landed on his backside with his legs up in the air while referee Ruby Goldstein counted ten.

The sudden ending came as a shock to the small chrowd of 3,515 that paid $11,236. The judges had Baker on top 5-2 and 4-3 and Goldstein saw it 3-3-1. The AP card showed Baker ahead 4-2-1.

It was Henry's 12th straight win and his 29th win and 16th knockout in 32 starts.

"WE'LL KICKEY-DOODLE 'EM" — That's what pretty Mrs. Glenn Dobbs, wife of Saskatchewan Roughrider's star quarterback, said when asked the outcome of Saturday's Grey Cup dominion football final. Mrs. Dobbs arrived in Toronto Friday morning along with two special trains of western fans for the big game with Ottawa.

Nurses, Lindsay Notch Wins In 2nd Halves

One and two-point victories featured the weekly doubleheader of the Girls' Basketball League Friday night at the YWCA.

The Civic Hospital Nurses overcame a nine-point deficit accumulated by the CGE in the first half with a complete reversal of form to win 25-24. In the second game, practically a twin with the first, the Lindsay Grads came from behind in the second half to nose out Blacks 23-21.

Pat Nixon's three field baskets coupled with points by Dot Jackson, Mary Waye, Jennie Luther, Barbara Luther and Madge Jones gave the CGE lasses a 16-6 score at half-time in the first game. Anita Davis and Bev Pringle counted the Nurses' points.

Four Each

Anita Davis and Betty Jaquith romped the Nurses to a second half drive as they each sank four baskets, other points coming from Bev Pringle and A. Matthews. Meanwhile the best the CGE girls could add up was only eight points by Dot Jackson, Barbara Luther, and Madge Jones.

Anita Davis easily led the scoring with 12 points followed by teammate Betty Jaquith with eight, and CGE's Pat Nixon with eight also.

With a barrage of points by Carol Ferguson, M. McIlvena, Joan Krogh, Reta Naylor and Marilyn Hollingsworth, Blacks jumped to a 12-5 first-half lead in the second game against Lindsay Grads. Marj Owen accounted for the Grads' five points.

But the Grads found the basket in the second half and sank 18 points against Blacks' nine. Practically all the Lindsay team scored, Ruth Beard, Marj Owen, Dorothy Copp, M. Vanstone, Shirley Algar, B. Green, Marj Owen, and Lois Cullis. Carol Ferguson, Joan Krogh and Rosie McInroy were Blacks' scorers.

But Blacks' Carol Ferguson led the scoring with nine points, followed by Lindsay's Vanstone with six and Owen for seven.

WESTERN FANS ARRIVE—Two special trains pulled into Toronto's Union Station Friday morning with over 500 western football fans from Saskatchewan wearing white stetsons, plaid shirts and blue jeans. Here a group prepare to leave their coach. They hope to see the Roughriders carry off their first Grey Cup in the Saturday classic against Ottawa.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The old Manassa Mauler is coming to town. In Toronto to check on a heavyweight boxing tourney, Jack Dempsey agreed to drop down here Tuesday night to referee the main pro mat bout between Lou Newman and Zorra. In their last clash, the refereeing was terrible so a change was sought for the rematch. There'll be no nonsense with the former world's heavy boxing champ in the ring to keep order. He is generally rated as the greatest fighter of this century, making ring history for many years with his bobbing, weaving style and carrying a kayo punch in either hand. A terrific fighter and always a popular and colorful figure. His first appearance here. Bobo Brazil meets Stan Mayslack in the semi-final, as Sonny Kurgis takes on Mike Padousis in the prelim.

It might be the roar of the cataract or the spray thereof—in any case we've found that the scribes cry easily down in the Niagara district, especially in the lacrosse season. Evidently some coaches there do, too, as witness this in St. Kitts sheet: "The mighty roar of the Niagara River has been temporarily eclipsed by the flow of tears from Doug Austin ever since Stamford Collegiate suffered a 22-1 lacing from Peterborough in the COSSA senior football final. Doug claims the officiating was horrible, incompetent, unfair and unkind to the Stamford team. Hornets had 125 yards of penalties called on them, and by a Toronto referee, no less." Hah, the poorly-coached Stamford squad were well beaten, so they decided to rough it up instead of play football.

A Bit About Bowling

Four bowling alleys in Peterborough are bursting with activity these days and nights, the YMCA, Knights of Columbus, Duffus' and Playfair. Hundreds of girls and men go regularly all winter in a raft of leagues on these lanes. Bowling is the big indoor sport in Canada. There are now 1200 bowling alley places in the country, with about 400 a year being added since the war till recent restrictions slowed building down. There are 800 cities and towns in Canada with one or more bowling establishments. The game is played considerably in the States, throughout Europe and in Japan. Both five- and 10-pin varieties.

* * * * * *

Indoor and outdoor bowling was enjoyed in England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. But it dates back to ancient Egypt about 5200 B.C. Was first mentioned in the States in "Rip Van Winkle". Alleys are made from maple and pine, costing about $3,000 each. Hard maple goes into the pins, while modern balls are made from a special hard rubber composition. Those used in five-pins weigh three and a half pounds. Experts say the hook ball is most effective for getting strikes, and that most bowlers shoot for spots. Anyway, it's a fine sport indoors of a winter's evening.

Goose Egg For Hawks

Red Doran's high-flying Hawks were shot down in Belleville last gloaming 3-0 by the scrappy Eagles, directed by Ned Vitarelli. The first loss so far this season for the ex-Redmen, and they didn't go down without a battle which saw some starry Eagles' goaltending, and defensive work by all hands. The Doran dudes really roll on their own big pond, but the Eagles were flying in this one, too, and serving notice that—even without Joe Rochetta—they're not the cripples they were last spring by any means. Right now they lead the race with 10 points, Belleville being next with eight, Petes having six and Kingston none so far. Some standing changes will be made o'er the weekend if the Queen's games are thrown out, as is likely. A dandy win for Eagles against the Quinte crew, whole squad shining.

* * * * * *

More than 800 fans saw the junior puck joust at Civic last gloaming and got an overtime session for the same price as Johnny Godfrey's local IOOF-ers played to a 6-6 draw with Belleville Hawks. A fine, crowd-pleasing tilt, even most of the way, rough in spots and pretty fair hockey dished up for this time of year. Hawks came from behind to sew it up in the third and both clubs were leg-weary in the scoreless extra inning. Two goalies sparkled often, and Oshawa's Ted DeGray was among the Quinte stars. Red Robinson clicked for three goals for Oddfellows, with Heffernan, Coyle, Buckton, Floyd, Twist and Morrow all keen on the attack. Armstrong and Bigford turned in a neat blue-line chore. So, it'll be Lindsay juniors here next Wednesday.

Boxer Loses License After Kicking Referee

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP). — Rocco (Rocky) Compitello, the middleweight boxer who punched and kicked a 63-year-old referee last week, lost his boxing licence Friday.

Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission threw the book at the 24-year-old Brooklyn fighter.

"I advise you to get other means of livelihood," Christenberry said. "As long as I am commissioner you never will be permitted to box in the State of New York."

Thus ended the career of the young prelim fighter. His licence had been suspended indefinitely after his Nov. 15 bout at Broadway Arena with Tony Recce of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Referee Jack Appel said he warned Compitello four times to break cleanly. On the fifth warning, Rocco hit him on the bridge of the nose. When he sent the fighter to his corner and disqualified him in the third round, Appel said he was kicked in the groin.

Marlboros Topple St. Mikes For 16th Straight Victory

By The Canadian Press

"Toronto St. Michael's," some fans suggested, "would put an end to Toronto Marlboros' unbeaten streak once they meet." St. Michael's, however, will have to wait another day. In the first meeting of the two Ontario Hockey Association junior "A" teams Friday night, the leading Dukes toppled their city rivals 3-1 in a rugged encounter at Maple Leaf Gardens.

It was the 16th straight game without a loss for the Marlies.

Second-place Guelph Biltmores kept four points behind the Dukes by thumping Galt Black Hawks 7-2. Other games saw Kitchener Greenshirts down Waterloo Hurricanes 6-3 and St. Catharines Tepees defeat Barrie Flyers 5-3.

Kitchener's win brought them into a three-way tie for third place in the standing with Galt and St. Michael's.

Tigers Tamed

The OHA Senior A League race tightened considerably as the leading Hamilton Tigers were dumped by last-place Brantford Redmen, 6-3, Sarnia Sailors eked out a 5-4 win over Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and Stratford Indians trounced Owen Sound Mercurys 7-1.

Centre Ron Wallace scored the Majors' only goal, giving them a short-lived 1-0 lead in the second period. Danny Poland with the first of his two goals, evened matters before the frame ended. Rookie Louis Bendo and Poland gave the Dukes two goals in the final and the triumph.

Dean Prentice sparked a strong third-period Guelph rally, scoring three goals. Other Bilt scorers were Ron Murphy, Ken Laufman, Danny Blair and Ray Ross. Pete Conacher and Tony Poeta tallied for Galt.

A four-goal effort by Gary (Duke) Edmundson gave Kitchener the nod over the Hurricanes. Other scorers were Orv Tessier and Joe Ingoldsby, for Greenshirts, and Johnny Wood, Bob Mader and Joe Connelly for the losers.

Buddy Boone, with a pair of markers, paced the Teeps. Other goals were had by Brian Cullen, Jimmy Robertson and Hank Ciesla. Barrie snipers were Doug Mohns, Chuck Wood and Don McKenny.

Kicked Out 43

Goalie Keith Woodall, who kicked out 43 shots during the night, sparked Brantford to their win. Joe Holota and Don Oberhaltzer scored twice for the winners, Wally Hnatiuk and Jim Olinski getting singletons. Ron Kemp accounted for two Tiger counters with Dunnette adding the other.

Ted Garvin, with his second goal of the night, gave Sarnia their well-earned win over the Dutchmen, who got goals from Ed Stankiewicz, Bobby Schnurr, Art Hurst and Bill Mitchell.

Stu Cousins fired the other three counters for the winners.

Billy Flick was the big gun for Stratford, scoring three goals and assisting on others by Mickey Roth, Dinny Flanagan and Bill Walsh. Jack White added the other tally.

Mike Buchacheski scored the Mercs lone goal.

All six senior teams swing back into action tonight with Brantford visiting Hamilton, Stratford and Owen Sound and Sarnia meeting the Dutchmen in Kitchener.

Only two junior games are scheduled tonight, with Barrie journeying to Waterloo and Oshawa Generals at home to Windsor Spitfires. Two more are slated for Sunday afternoon. St. Catharines play St. Michael's and Guelph meet Marlboros, both at oronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

Local Girl Pitches University To Victory

University College of the University of Toronto girls' indoor softball league recently captured the loop title, defeating St. Michael's College in two out of three finals. It was the first time in a number of years for University College to capture this annual competition, and the winning pitcher in both final games was Mary Craw of Peterborough.

A former pitcher for Queen Alexandra in the local Public School Softball League, and later with Ashby's in the Girls' City League, Mary Craw has not been pitching for several years, going in for basketball while at Collegiate. She started at University College this fall semester.

M Flynn Leads Singles

Madeline Flynn had high single of 298 and Lola Thackeray best trio of 812 this week in the Mercantile Bowling League for girls. Don Penrose rolled men's leading single of 276 and Ted Crowe top three of 719. Neill's led teams with 3137 pinnage. Other high scores for lasses were: Zita Spencer 258, Madge Mycroft 289, L. Thackeray 282, H. Lacey 239; men's: Jack Martell 265, T. Crowe 266, Bill Cribis 272 and Jack Gimblett 255.

Braund's No. 1 blanked Braund's No. 2, and Neill's dabbed whitewash on Austin's, as 3-1 victories went to Prudential over A & P, Utilities against Bond's, and Loblaw's over Crowe's. Some good trundling was served up in a number of games.

Jack Wade Leading

Jack Wade of McGillis had the leading threesome of 863 this week in the men's City Bowling League at Duffus', while Vern Ferguson of Anthony's led in the singles with a neat 350. Madill & Post took top pinnage of 3,593, and added a single game of 1,311. With a third of the season gone, Jack Wade still leads in averages with a fine 248. This capable veteran of nearly a quarter of a century bowling in this loop is setting a blistering pace to date.

De Laval got the only shutout over the luckless Kawartha crew, as 4-2 wins went to Madill & Post, Clapper's, McGillis and Bond's respectively over Bassel's, Sunocos, Anthony's, and Ted Moore's.

Good scores were: V. Ferguson 822, George Phillips 815 (305), Ross Hopkins 815 (312), Bert McCarrell 807 (291), as Claude Cornwell had a single of 308 and J. Wade 311.

IOOF Juniors and Hawks Draw In Classy Struggle

Oddfellows and Belleville Hawks battled to a 6-6 overtime draw Friday night at Civic Arena, in a roaring junior "B" hockey struggle before over 800 fans. It was the first appearance of Johnny Godfrey's smart young club before the home fans this season and the boys turned in a fine effort.

Hawks came from behind in the final frame to tie the score after Links held a 5-3 edge at the end of the second. Two brilliant goals by Ted De Gray and Hec Lalonde turned the trick but neither team could tally in the hectic overtime session; though both goalies rose to sensational heights robbing marksmen from all angles, to save the day.

Links held a 3-0 margin in the first after outplaying the rugged Quinte crew when Gord Coyle combined with Kevin Huffman and Don Bigford for a neat start, and Brian (Red) Robinson tallied twice on brilliant plays with Ab Buckton as Oddfellows played like champions. Hawks flew back hard in the rough second frame however, to outscore Links 3-2 on sparkling thrusts by Jacklyn, Carey and Strahan while Red Robinson, whose play glittered, potted his third goal and Ken Floyd crashed through the defence late in the frame to poke one past Barclay after a face-off to end the roughest session of all. Referee Dit Rowden meted out nine miscues in the mid-frame, including majors to Lalonde and Wilson of Belleville, Armstrong and Morrow of Oddfellows for fighting as play sustained a furious pace with little to choose between these strong rival playing in mid-season form.

Close Playing

Henry Therien fire a passout from Wilson past Wasson at the nine-minute mark in the third to close the gap but Gord Coyle again came through to score on a whistling drive from short rightwing, following a rink-length solo rush after forking in Darky Bigford's pass behind his own blue line. It was a great effort and called for a big hand. Undaunted, the Quinte lads continued battling tooth and nail and Ted DeGray, the Oshawa boy, fired in a straight pass in front of the net from Duke Doran near the 13-minute mark to give his team new hope; Twist and Brown were sinning at the time in the stew box.

Late in regulation time Hec Lalonde fired a Strahan pass through a maze of legs from 18 feet out that found the mesh, to equalize the scored. Seconds later, Red Wasson saved the game with a miraculous save off Lalonde from point-blank range and the game went into overtime.

Action galore colored the scoreless extra session, though both teams tired under the gruelling strain of the continual two-way grind. Only superb net-minding at either end kept marksmen pointless. While Brian Robinson shared individual honors with his sorrel-topped mate, Wasson, the work of the entire Oddfellow brigade was praiseworthy as they played their finest game to date. For Belleville, the Houle-Carey-Doran line worked most effectively with Strahan good and Barclay staunch in the cage.

Belleville — Goal, Barclay; defence, Wilson, Green; centre, Houle; wings, Carey, Doran; alternates, De Gray, Therien, Jacklyn, Lalonde, Gilmour, Strahan, Munroe, Brown.

IOOF — Goal, Wasson; defence, Clapper, Armstrong; centre, Robinson, wings, Hayfield, Buckton; alternates, Twist, Coyle Heffernan, Floyd, Sullivan, Bigford, R. Wilson.

See Record Crowd Of 27,500 Attending Grey Cup Game

By JACK SULLIVAN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Nov. 24 (CP). — Probably a record for the greatest crowd in the colorful history of football in Canada, and certainly one for the largest gate receipts of any event on the Canadian sports calendar will be set this zany, but wonderful, Grey Cup day. Everything about the classic is built on a whopping scale.

About 27,500 somewhat-delirious fans are expected to be shoehorned into Varsity Stadium — that's a 400-fan increase over the 27,100 crowd figure set last Grey Cup day. They'll pay a top of $5 a seat, plus tax, for a total of almost $131,000, and nothing in the country's sports can compare with this.

Hundreds of fans have followed the principals, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Ottawa Rough Riders, into this city and they've brought back those rousing, rollicking scenes of 1948 when Calgary Stampeders blew into town and knocked Ottawa over 12-7 in one of the most drama-packed Grey Cup finals on record.

The western fans have made downtown Toronto their range, mixing it up in good-natured banter with Ottawa enthusiasts. The chuckwagons and flapjacks of the 1948 cup sideshows are missing but the gaily-costumed westerners have drawn more rubber-necking Torontonians to the downtown hotels to watch them put on their act.

For the teams it is the finish of months of tough competition in eastern and western Canada. It will all be over in about 2½ hours with the winner getting the 42-year-old trophy donated by Earl Grey, former Governor-General of Canada plus the glory and adoration of thousands of football enthusiasts.

Ottawa Riders are favorites at 7-to-5 and 8-to-5 odds over the injury-riddled western Canada champions whose attack is built around triple-threat Glenn Dobbs, their six-foot-four-inch passing and kicking star.

Saskatchewan supporters are hoping that a good taping job might allow outside Jack Russell to start. The glue-fingered American import is one of the best pass-receivers in the west and his absence would hurt considerably.

There's a question mark about half Del Wardien taking his place and Canadian Rugby Union regulations have ruled out the possibility of Bob Sandberg taking his backfield berth. Two or three others have an assortment of bruises while Ottawa will be minus speedy Ted McLarty and probably outside Alton Baldwin.

The field is in good condition with weather forecasts calling for a cool and cloudy day with the possibility of light snow. The CRU's tarpaulin protected the field from rains earlier in the week and fans are optimistic they'll see the well-ballyhooed Dobbs and Ottawa's Tom O'Malley in a passing duel.

The title-hungry westerners are banking on Dobbs flinging them to their first Dominion championship in eight trips east. Ottawa has won the cup twice—once by default.

The game will be broadcast over the CBC Dominion network to 58 stations and recordings will be made for the first time to be flown to Europe and Korea for the benefit of Canadian servicemen.

Jack Stewart To Play In Surprise Return

DETROIT, Nov. 24 (AP). — Black Jack Stewart, one-time king of hockey's body checkers, will make a surprise appearance on the ice at Detroit's Olympia Stadium tonight.

He will make an experimental return to the Chicago Black Hawk lineup against his former Detroit Red Wing teammates. Early this season, the 34-year-old star from Pilotmound Man., suffered a concussion and was hospitalized for two weeks.

After his release, he reported to the Blackhawks' Galt farm club and sought to skate himself back into condition.

The return to the big leagues tonight will determine the degree of his success, and possibly, whether or not he will retire. A 14-year veteran, Stewart was named to three NHL all-star teams.

Art Ross Asks Immediate Poll Of NHL Clubs On Overtime

By The Canadian Press,

The question of tie games in the National Hockey League was brought up again Friday.

In 53 games played this season, 13 games have resulted in ties. General manager Art Ross of the fourth-place Boston Bruins yesterday asked president Clarence Campbell to take an immediate telegraphic poll of the NHL clubs on the restoration of overtime play.

Ross, in a wire to the NHL president asked that the poll be taken and that sudden-death overtime periods not exceeding 10 minutes, start Dec. 2.

The Bruin executive suggested the teams should commence overtime play without changing goals to avoid needless delay. They offered a similar suggestion a year ago.

Campbell could not be reached for comment late last night.

Two Games

Two games are slated for tonight. Montreal Canadiens, three points behind the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs, meet the Leafs in Toronto and the pace-setting Detroit Red Wings are at home to Chicago Black Hawks.

The Leafs-Montreal clash will be third meeting of the teams this season. Leafs won both games, 1-0 in Toronto and 4-2 in Montreal, but it was Canadiens' Maurice Richard that grabbed the headlines.

The league's top goal-scorer picked up two majors, a game misconduct and $50 penalties.

The Rocket gestured unkindly with his stick at two rail-seat subscribers in Toronto and at Montreal displayed a wicked knockout punch in dropping Leaf defenceman Bill Juzda.

A Montreal win would bring them to a single point of the Leafs.

Family Fellowship Sunday Planned For Trinity United

The Rev. Dr. William John Johnston, Eglinton United Church Toronto, will be the guest minister when Trinity United Church celebrates Sunday its Family Felowship Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, Trinity church, said today that Dr. Johnston's pulpit ability, human sympathy and humor have won him a host of admirers and have made him one of Canada's leading ministers.

This visit will be his second to Peterborough, two years ago visiting Trinity church on its anniversary.

A second appearance in Trinity church will be made by guest soloist, Victor White, He is soloist of Knox Presbyterian church, Toronto, soloist for the Canada Packers Operatic Society, soloist in the Royal Conservatory Opera school and a student of the senior school, Royal Conservatory of Music.

Dr. Johnston has ministered at the Eglinton church, which has a membership of 2,400 for the past 21 years. He came to Canada when a young man from Northern Ireland and worked for a number of years on the mission fields of the Methodist church in Western Canada. Before coming to Toronto he ministered in Montreal for 11 years.

Dr. Johnston's interests are many and varied such as past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, past grand chaplain of the Massonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario. He is a past president of the Toronto Conference of the United church and a past president of the Ministerial Association of Toronto.

True Spirit Of Worship Transcends Ritual, Form

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The history of religious worship among all peoples provides an array of strange, amazing, incongruous, and even tragic facts.

It has been marked by all manner of superstitions and corresponding devious practices, even among cultured peoples.

It has been accompanied by cruel human sacrifices. In areas of pagan culture, both ancient and modern, obscene practices have been sanctioned within the precincts of the temple.

Among the Jews worship began and continued upon a higher plane. Abraham, who turned from idolatry of his home in Chaldea under divine prompting quickly renounced the impulse toward human sacrifice. Animal sacrifice was long associated with Jewish worship, and I suppose it underlies the kosher requirements recognized among Jews today.

But early in Israel all such sacrifice became a symbol of the sacrifice of a devout heart.

The insistence upon true worship was repeatedly declared. The prophet Amos was not alone in the intensity of his declaration, when he represented God as saying, "I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies." "Let judgment," He said, "run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."

Other prophets lifted their voices in the demand for social justice and righteousness as an evidence of the sincerity of worship. In the individual the highest form of true worship found expression in experiences of which the 139 Psalm is typical: "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

Such a spirit in worship, wherever it is manifest, transcends all rituals and forms; and rituals and forms have reality only when they are the symbols and accompaniments of such earnest quest of God and of the way of truth and right.

It is obvious that worsihp with many in all branches of religions is a formal matter, little related to righteousness and zeal in daily life. If it were not so, churches would be more powerful.

It is true, of course, that vast numbers today do not attend religious services, or practice worship at all. But does any one imagine that the forces of gambling, political corruption, drinking, and debauchery have been, or are, confined to the churchless and irreligious?

Against disparagers of the church it has always been my contention that it is in the churches that the best people in the community will be found—always allowing for some good sheep that are not of the fold.

Worship is meaningless unless we remember that: "God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and in truth."

That is the everlasting word against all pretense and formalism.

Seven Boys Arrested, End Thefts

Series of Thefts From Cars Believed Solved

With the roundup of seven boys police believe they have put an end to a series of thefts from parked cars in the south end of the city.

This week police received several complaints from car owners in the Lock-Romaine-Park St. district that blankets, flashlights and other articles were taken from their cars.

The gang were apprehended Friday night after some detective work by PC Douglas Farthing. The trail led to the gang's clubhouse on Perry St., where the loot was hidden.

Loot

Ten blankets, each valued at $10 were found. There was also several hammers and car tools, flashlights, boat light and mast, plastic raincoat, battery, several car door handles, and some signal detonators taken from a CPR shack.

The loot was valued at $200, at least.

Names of the boys, all juveniles, are being withheld.

The break came Friday night about 10 pm while PC Farthing was cruising around in the area.

He noticed two boys going north on Lock St. Both were riding bicycles and one had a carrier with three blankets in it.

"Where are you going?" demanded the constable.

"To the clubhouse," replied one of the boys.

"OK, I'm coming too," said the constable.

When the three of them got to the shack, at the rear of 138 Perry St., Constable Farthing found seven more blankets and the rest of the loot. The blankets were lining the walls and were being used as covers for the table and for seat covers.

Three of the boys were believed to be the ringleaders.

They said all the thefts were made this week and they had forgotten everything they had stolen.

One of them, a carrier boy, had operated with a companion as he delivered his papers Friday night. On the one round they stole three blankets, three flashlights and a pair of gloves.

Constable Farthing's alertness drew praise today from Chief Constable John Thompson.

"A good piece of work," he said.

Assessment Appeals Rejected By Court

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 24 — (ENS)—The court of revision met immediately after the council meeting on Friday evening. Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, a member of the court, was named chairman in the absence of Councillor A. Kingston. Only two appeals had come before the board and after going over these two cases the court decided to let the assessment stand at the figure quoted. The town assessor explained that the assessment was actually low in both cases and said that he could see no way in which it could be reduced further.

The court was discharged of their duties and the sitting ended.

Scott's Total 14,393

With the results of poll 98, Post's school, Chandos township, received by returning officer Douglas J. Lawrie today the final total of the vote in Thursday's election can be announced. H. R. Scott, Progressive Conservative 14,393, P. J. Burke, Liberal, 7,644, and William Grant, CCF, 2,608. In the County of Peterborough Mr. Scott polled 5,262; Mr. Burke 2,638 and Mr. Grant 778, while in the city Mr. Scott polled 9,131, Mr. Burke 5,006, and Mr. Grant 1,830.

Assessment Down $5,000 On Bowling Alley

A $5,000 reduction in the assessment of Strikes Ltd., bowling alleys at George and Perry Streets, and dismissal of the appeals of 52 property owners on Arndon Ave., completed the present sessions of the Court of Revision Thursday night.

Mr. Walter Howell presented the appeal against the department's valuation of the bowling alleys property, and Mr. Robert Carley submitted the case for the Arndon St. appellants.

Edward Boote, 553 Steele Ave., had previously been granted a reduction of $100 in his assessment.

Assessment department's valuations as the basis of the 1952 tax roll were approved by the Court with the exception of $5,100. There may be some further change by appeal when the Court deals in January with the progress assessment on buildings under construction from Sept. 30 to Dec. 31.

Appeals Dismissed

Arndon Ave. house-owners had objected to an increase of 10 per cent in the assessment on their block of properties. The Court reported: "It is the unanimous decision of this Court that the 52 assessment appeals in question from residents of the Arndon subdivision be confirmed, and that the appeals, therefore, be dismissed."

Application of Cherney Bros. for a reduction on their annex building on King St., immediately west of their store at George and King streets, on the basis of vacancy was granted. The sum has not yet been determined. Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis explained yesterday that this allowance is 10 per cent for three months, and 5 per cent for additional months of vacancy.

Old Opponents Return To Battle In Twp. Vote

Norman Wilson, Apsley, and Norman Bolton, Burleigh Falls, qualified Friday for the election of reeve for Burleigh-Anstruther township at the nomination meeting in the Apsley Legion hall.

Percy Thompson, Woodview, was nominated for reeve but withdrew.

Mr. Wilson has been reeve for the past seven years while Mr. Bolton, a former township councillor, was Mr. Wilson's opposition last year. Mr. Wilson won out by only one vote.

Three councillors were nominated and qualified, Albert Bolton, Earl Trotter and Gordon Lean. Andy Young, Apsley, the other member whose term expires this year was not nominated.

Sidney McCauley, Apsley, and Douglas Dunford, Burleigh Falls, two newcomers, were nominated for the council and both qualified.

There will be only four places vacant on the council.

Donald Fowler, Mount Julian, was elected by acclamation for the only position open on the school board for the school district of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos townships.

Election day is December 10 and the eligible voters will vote at three polls, in Apsley at the Legion hall, the Mount Julian school and at Fred Hull's house, at the head of Stony lake.

Lillicrop Family Hit Jackpot In Radio Quiz

A month and a day early, Santa Claus came to the Lillicrop family of 46 Alfred St.

Wednesday night friends telephoned them to ask if they knew they had won a radio quiz program's giant jackpot.

"Really I was stunned when I heard it," said Mrs. Lillicrop. "I'm still going around in circles. It's hard to believe it."

Shock wasn't the only sensation Mrs. Lillicrop felt. She said she was very happy about winning the prizes, valued at about $3,200.

One of the prizes is an electric refrigerator. "I've always wanted a refrigerator. For years I've wanted one," said Mrs. Lillicrop. Her husband, John, and her 23-year-old daughter Doris, are just as happy as Mrs. Lillicrop.

Congratulations

A letter came Friday from the woman who drew her name on the radio program, Mrs. Gladys Keating of Halifax. Mrs. Keating said she had thought about it so much that she wanted to write Mrs. Lillicrop and congratulate her.

Here is a list of the prizes: a washing machine, electric sewing machine, refrigerator, diamond ring, floor polisher, electric range, radio-phonograph, portable typewriter, service of sterling silver, electric toaster, sterling tea and coffee set, bedroom suite, set of copper-bottomed cookwear, a wrist watch, a library of recordings, station wagon coat, broadloom rug, sleeping robe, and a case of soap.

Next week, the gifts will be on display at an electrical appliance store downtown.

Separate School Board Acclaimed

The Separate School Board followed a 44-year-old custom Friday night when it's six vacancies were filled by acclamation in a one-hour nomination meeting in the board room of St. Mary's Convent.

If there had been an election this year, it would have been the first since 1907.

The Rev. J. F. Houlihan, secretary-treasurer, said today that elected for another two-year term were: (ward following the name), Fergus O'Connor (Claraday); Victor Mattucci (South); R. S. Hull (North); Dr. J. R. Epping (West); W. H. Toal (Centre); D. W. Hull (East).

MAKING TOUR

The Oshawa - Peterborough branch of the Industrial Arts Teachers Association met in Peterborough today. The day's agenda included a tour of the Quaker Oats Co. and the city hall. A luncheon and business meeting was held at Mr. J. L. McColl, the president's home. Approximately 25 members attended.

Norris Whitney May Oppose W. E. Griffith For Reeve In Belmont-Methuen Twps.

Norris Whitney, councillor for the last four years, Friday was nominated for the reeveship of Belmont-Methuen township. If he stands he will oppose the present reeve, W. E. Griffith who stated that he would seek re-election. Seven, including all of the 1951 council, were nominated for the four vacancies in council.

The three trustees in School Area No. 2—Everett Toms, E. W. Van Steenburgh, and Carmen Ellis—were returned by acclamation. Five were nominated for the three trustee vacancies in School Area No. 1.

Might Withdraw

In his nomination address, Reeve Griffith hinted that Belmont-Methuen might withdraw from the county roads system. The municipality paid $3,211 into the county roads system, he said, yet got back only $1,000 of work on its roads.

"I contend we would be better off out of the county roads system," he said. "It's certainly worth looking into."

He said that the four northern municipalities not in the system—Galway - Cavendish, Chandos, Harvey and Burleigh-Anstruther Townships—all used roads in the system when going to Peterborough. Yet they pay not a cent toward the upkeep.

On the other hand, residents of Havelock and most of those from Belmont-Methuen don't use the county roads when going to the main centres, but have to pay for their upkeep.

He got enthusiastic support from the 1950 Reeve, Ross Barrons, who was not a candidate this year.

"I'll back Mr. Griffith 100 per cent if he comes out of that county roads system," said Mr. Barrons. "I understand some $3,200 was paid out, but we got back only $1,000."

Cordova Road

Centre of the criticism was the state of the 12-mile Cordova road. It was described several times by speakers as a "disgrace" and what to do about it occupied most of the time at the nomination meeting.

Seventy-five men and women packed the small township hall at Prenaveau to pick their candidates for 1952. If there is an election it will be December 3.

Mr. Whitney did not definitely commit himself to contest the Reeveship with Mr. Griffith, but he did ask for the support of the ratepayers if he decided to stand.

He offered no criticism of the present Reeve, but he too felt that the roads were in poor condition. He said the grading was not done properly, and he would like to see twice as much gravel put on them.

Supports Assessment

He suported the equalized assessment and said he thought it brought equitable and fair taxation to all the ratepayers.

While there has been some criticism of the equalized assessment in Belmont-Methuen, none was voiced at Friday's meeting. County Assessor Stewart Sparling was praised for his help in getting a cheque for $2,932 from the government.

This was the municipality's share of half of one per cent of the profits of the Nepheline Mines. It was obtained under a section of the Mining Act and was in lieu of business tax.

Mr. Sparling advised Grant Dafoe, township clerk, and the council on how to go about applying for their share of the profits.

Nominated for council were George Newton, senior member of the 1951 council with 12 years' municipal experience; Robert Wrightley, five years; Gardner Gawley, completing his first year; and Mr. Whitney, four years.

Mr. Whitney must make his choice between running for Reeve or running for council.

Nominees

Other nominees for council were George Wilde, a telephone commissioner and newcomer to municipal politics; Randal Quackenbush, former trustee and unsuccessful candidate in 1951; and Burrell Keating, newcomer.

Five were nominated for the three vacancies on the School Board in School Area No. 1: Max Post, Warden Quackenbush, Clarence Pollock, E. J. Pollock, Isaac Anderson.

It is expected that two of the nominees will decline to stand and so avoid an election.

Returned by acclamation were the three trustees in School Area No. 2: Everett Toms, E. W. Van Steenburgh, and Carmen Ellis.

Nominees will have to 9 pm tonight to qualify.

Population Up 6 to 54 Per Cent

Cities and towns of the district stretching from Oshawa to Campbellford showed population increases from six per cent to 54 per cent in the recent Dominion government census.

Second from the top in the percentage increase was Peterborough whose population of 38,166 represents an increase of 51 per cent since 1941.

Only Oshawa showed a bigger percentage jump. Its population is 41,359, an increase of 54 per cent.

Lowest increase was shown in Campbellford whose 1951 population of 3,203 showed only a six per cent increase over 1941.

Here is the list of the towns and cities with their population and their percentage increases over 1941:

Oshawa, 41,359 (54); Peterborough, 38,166 (51); Lindsay, 9,587 (14); Cobourg, 7,439 (25); Whitby 7,230 (22); Port Hope, 6,542 (29); Bowmanville, 5,407 (31); and Campbellford, 3,203 (6).

FISH AND GAME

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association will hold its nomination meeting Monday at 7.30 pm in the Public Library. Norm Bradley is believed to be interested in organizing a wolf hunt.

Market Using City Garage, Waits Approval

Market use of the sanitation department's garage on Townsend St., at least temporarily during the Christmas season, has not yet received the sanction of the council.

Approval of the department of health was reported to the council by Ald. J. A. Dewart Wednesday night, but certain other considerations have to be scanned.

Ald. H. T. Rehill commented that publication of the health department's assent should not be construed as the last word.

Both the board of works and its subsidiary sanitation branch are using the former horse barn as garage for their trucks.

Employees do not work on Saturdays, and if the building was assigned for market purposes, these men would have to get around early Saturday and move the vehicles out into the yard. Then, in the afternoon they would be required to drive them in again under cover.

Concrete Broken In Places

The floor has been left as it was when the stalls were taken out. The concrete is broken and rough under foot, and could possibly be the cause of accidents if the public was permitted to use the building. Liability for any such mishaps would devolve to the city.

If some temporary flooring was laid, it might have to be broken up for the final flooring in the ultimate disposition of the former barns.

A suggestion some time ago that the market might be transferred to accommodation at Morrow Park for the winter is going to be discussed Monday afternoon by representatives of the Exhibition Board and the council.

The directors rent the big hall to several trucking firms, and the smaller building might not be large enough for market service.

Opinion Of President

Norman McConkey, president of the Exhibition, told the Examiner today, expressing personal attitude, that if the main building was suitable for market purpose he would like to help the farmers to that extent.

"Morrow Park was given for agricultural purposes," Mr. McConkey said, "and if it would be a satisfactory place for the farmers who are looking for protection against the colder weather, I think it should be placed at their disposal, if we can do so. However, that is only my own opinion. I don't know what the directors think about it, but there may be something definite Monday."

Nothing has come so far of city council's proposal to meet a delegation from the county council to consider provision for a permanent market.

Local view of the problem intimates that if the county was not interested in this question, the city council could hardly be expected to rush into it. During the last three years or more, Peterborough has been expending large sums on capital investments of the city.

One of the projects that have been deferred is the building of an auxiliary fire station south of Lansdowne St. Other borrowing elbowed it out of the 1951 commitments of the council, but the need remains, and it is of serious concern to an increasing number of property owners.

Max J. Swanston Finishes As Mayor Of City Was 'Great Honor' To Serve

Hands Over Gavel To Hugh F. Waddell After Three Years As Head Of City, Gives Summary Of Peterborough's Growth

Mayor Swanston figuratively handed the gavel of his office to Ald. Hugh Waddell, mayor-elect, at the close of a comprehensive review of civic business of 1951 at the nomination meeting Friday night. His Worship and Ald. Waddell were no exception to the roll call of nominees in the hour of addressing the assembled citizens. They spoke in the order of nomination. Mayor Swanston confirmed his previous announcement of intention as follows: "I have had the honor of serving as your Mayor for the last three years, and it is an honor for one whose forefathers settled here in the early 1830's, but with members of the Council quite capable to fill the office and assume the increased responsibilities of civic business, I feel that I should not qualify for re-election."

Summary

The summary of civic affairs presented to the meeting by Mayor Swanston was impressive in the variety of works done, with provision for their financing, particularly in the departments of streets and parks, and in their affairs of the whole complement of committees.

It was the factual presentment of the supervisor, omitting any divergence to sentiment. Possibly that mood remains for the last meeting of the council itself next month.

The text of Mayor Swanston's valedictory to the people who elected him follows:

"It has been a great privilege to serve the citizens of Peterborough as mayor during the past three years, during which time I have endeavored to fill this office to the best of my ability and with the welfare of the taxpayer and the city as my chief interest. During this period we have had a number of important events taking place; such as: the celebrating of Peterborough Centenary Year, building and opening of the Civic Hospital and the building and formal opening of the New City Hall. Also, Peterborough has progressed from the industrial standpoint quite satisfactorily during this time.

Expenditures

"It is not my intention to review all these facts; however, I might make a few comments on the progress of the present year 1951. We note that in the recent Dominion Census that Peterborough stood among the highest in the percentage of population increases, and naturally with this expansion it is necessary to increase all our facilities which we have tried to do. During 1951 debentures have been or will be issued for school purposes of $715,000; for Utilities Commission purposes, such as: electric light and water expansion of $225,000, and for local improvements, sewers, pavements, sidewalks etc., for $315,000. This is a total of some $1,255,000, against which we have paid off during the year an amount of $802,800 matured debentures, so that the net increase in the city total debt was not too large. I believe that we can feel justly proud of our various facilities which rank among the best of any city its size and it will be necessary to still keep pace with its expansion with further capital works in the future.

"The building and opening of the new city hall gives Peterborough one of the finest municipal buildings in the country and I know it will be enjoyed by many in the coming years and I shall watch with interest the fine services which will be rendered within its walls by future councils and officials.

"We were very pleased to have His Worship Mayor Chamberlain of Peterborough, England officially open the building and several thousands of our citizens attended the open house held for two days to give them a chance to view the new city hall.

"For many years our citizens have been deprived of the full use of our Little Lake but with the completion this year of the sewage disposal plant and the sewer across the lake from Point St. Charles, should be a great asset to Peterborough.

"The completion of the Park

Municipal Vote Takes Spotlight Through Country

As the provincial election fades into the background, municipal elections take the spotlight. Friday in Peterborough county, four townships and one village held nomination meetings.

At one—Chandos township—the reeve and four councillors were returned by acclamation. They are: Reeve Clive Hoard, and councillors Theodore Post, Louis Post, Albert Hall and George Tanner.

The four other municipalities for which nomination meetings were scheduled were: Belmont-Methuen, Burleigh - Anstruther, Otonabee, and Havelock. Election day for these municipalities is December 3, except for Burleigh-Anstruther, when ballots will be cast December 10.

In alphabetical order, these are the townships and villages, their nomination and election days, the number of councillors and school trustees:

Asphodel (Dec. 31, Jan. 7), reeve, four councillors, three trustees; Belmont-Methuen (Nov. 23, Dec. 3), reeve, four councillors, three trustees; Burleigh-Anstruther (Nov. 23, Dec. 10), reeve, four councillors, three trustees; Chandos (Nov. 23, Dec. 10), reeve, four councillors (all acclaimed), two trustees; Dummer (Nov. 26, Dec. 3), reeve, four councillors; Douro (Dec. 28, Jan. 7), reeve, deputy reeve, three councillors, five trustees for each school area; Ennismore (Dec. 31, Jan. 7), reeve, four councillors; Galway-Cavendish not available; Harvey, not available; North Monaghan (Nov. 26, Dec. 3), reeve, 4 councillors; Otonabee (Nov. 23, Dec. 3), reeve, deputy reeve, three councillors; Smith (Dec. 31, Jan. 7), reeve, deputy reeve, three councillors, three public school trustees; Lakefield (Dec. 3, Dec. 17), reeve, four councillors, three public school trustees, one hydro commissioner; Norwood (Nov. 30, Dec. 3), reeve, four councillors, two trustees; Havelock (Nov. 23, Dec. 3), reeve, four councillors, three trustees, one hydro commissioner.

Fired Four Shots Bagged Four Deer

MARMORA, Nov. 24—(ENS)—Manley Lavender, who is the ice man for Marmora village, caretaker of the Dr. Hamilton Crawford arena, and has other local business interests, was one of a party of eight hunters who hunted at Otter Creek near the old Airhart place in Marmora township this past season. The other members of his party have given him the name "One Shot Lavender" as a result of the unique record which he made. He only fired four shots, each of which accounted for a deer.

Wary of Treatment

BELFAST — (CP). — A father who refused to let his nine-year-old daughter receive special treatment for an eye complaint was warned that he might be prosecuted. The man said he had suffered from the same complaint, had received the same treatment and believed it to be harmful.

Bathe House Plant Leaves With Soapy Spray, Rinse

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The old gardener's advice to spray the leaves of house plants with soapy water is excellent, but it should be accompanied with a warning to follow this weekly bath with sufficient clean warm water to remove the soapy solution.

The purpose of the bath is to cleanse the breathing pores in the foliage of grime and leave them free to function properly.

Of course, wisterias won't flower outdoors until next May, but that's no reason for not looking into the possibilities of "standard" plants of them as genuine garden features.

They're really like miniature trees, having been grown and pruned so that they stand up without support. A few growers have them for sale at prices which, considering their merit and the time required to produce them, are entirely reasonable.

It may not be a fact that all the forms of disease which cause mummified apples and other fruits will carry through the winter on those mummies or in them.

A word to the amateur who contemplates pruning his fruit trees this winter. Pruning young apple and other fruit trees is not something to be done in any hit-or-miss fashion, for the simple reason that it may almost literally make or break the future success of the tree.

It is during the earlier stages of growth that the branch placement and the whole structural "frame" are determined and unless these are correct there is more than likely to be trouble in later years.

So by all means study—and understand—one of the several good books on the subject before you even pick up the pruning saw or shears.

Dahlia stakes and other kinds of plant supports aren't helped a bit by being left out in the weather long after their work for the season is finished. If they are worth anything at all, they deserve being cleared of soil and stored safely under cover until spring returns.

Winter pruning of spring-flowering shrubs is one of those things which just aren't done, except in cases of real necessity. To be sure, old dead wood can be removed with a clear conscience but cutting off the active young branches now, with the buds which they are carrying, would simply mean losing that much more bloom next year.

The right time to prune these shrubs, if such a thing really has to be done, is immediately after their flowers fade.

Hits Referee Loses Licence

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (CP). — The New York State Athletic Commission today revoked the license of middleweight boxer Rocco (Rocky) Compitello for hitting and kicking a referee in a bout last Nov. 15.

The action results from Compitello's antics after he was disqualified for fouls in the third round of a fight with Tommy Reece of Niagara Falls.

Compitello was suspended indefinitely after the fight at the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn.

Referee Jack Appel said he warned the boxer four times to break cleanly and on the fifth warning was struck on the nose by the boxed. He said Compitello walked over and kicked him in the groin after he had been sent to his corner.

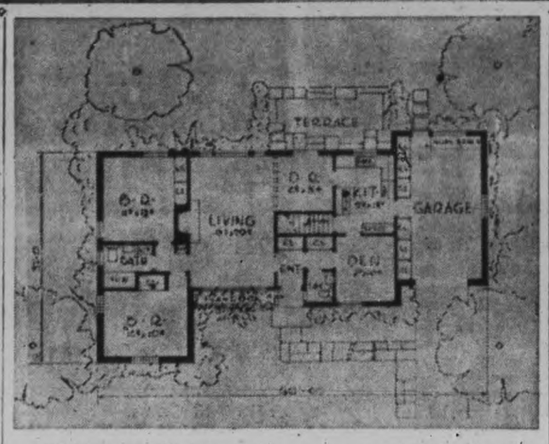
Admitting he was warned, Compitello said he told Appel, "Let me fight. I ain't doing anything wrong. I just fight that way."

The Commission gave Compitello the purse for the fight, held up pending the hearing.

Gardening Questions

Q—What is the winter care of a strawberry barrel? Ours was more ornamental than productive —but sufficiently satisfactory to warrant attempting another season or two.—C. D.

A—Plants in strawberry barrels cannot usually be relied upon to survive each winter, and it is really better to start out with a fresh planting in the spring. However, some of the plants by mulching the top with a covering of straw as well as packing straw around the sides and holding it in place with burlap. This covering should be put on after the first hard frost. Before this it is most important to see that the barrels are kept well watered before freezing sets in.



Q—Please recommend low-growing evergreen for foundation planting.—J. M.

A—The various forms of Japanese yew, taxus cuspidata, as a group are just about the hardiest and most fool-proof of comparatively low-growing evergreens. They are adaptable to a wide variety of garden uses, too, so one can hardly have too many plants. Also worthwhile are the many varieties of Japanese holly, ilex orenata.

Q—Our Cleome bloomed beautifully this summer. How should we store and when should we plant the seed we gathered.—D. J.

A—Cleome and similar seeds are best stored in moisture-proof containers, such as glass jars, and placed in a cool, dry room for the winter. Plant early next spring.

14 Pay Fines Bancroft Court

BANCROFT, Nov. 24—(ENS)—Fourteen people paid a total of $364.20 in the semi-monthly magistrate's court in Bancroft on Wednesday afternoon. Magistrate J. B. Garvin, of Kingston, presided, and the Crown was represented by S. G. Robinson, KC, Assistant County Crown Attorney for Hastings.

George Childerhouse, of Maple Leaf, paid the highest sum, $100 and costs of $47.20 for driving while faculties were impaired by the use of alcohol. He was defended by Malcolm Robb, of Belleville.

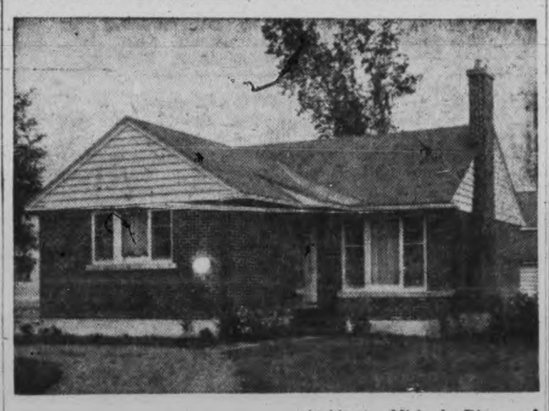
Roy White, of Fort Stewart, paid $25 and costs for having inadequate brakes.

Royce Sarginson, of RR 8 Belleville, was fined $15 and costs for obtaining liquor while being a minor; Stanley Byles, of Ottawa, $15 for having liquor in a place other than a residence; Herbert Crittenden, of Willow Beach, $15 for having liquor in a place other than a residence; Wm. A. Baldwin, of Toronto, $15 for having liquor in a place other than a residence; and Ronald Sarginson, of RR 3, Belleville, $15 for obtaining liquor while being a minor.

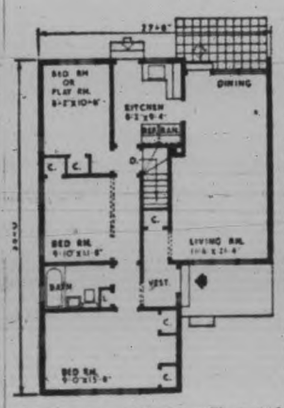
In the $10 and costs bracket were: Herbert Mountney, of Bancroft, for failing to share the road; Patrick Rody, of Kirkland Lake, for causing a distrubance in a public place; Daniel Newman, of Maynooth, for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive; Murray Sexsmith, of Bancroft, for careless driving; Neville Douglas, of Maple Leaf, for consuming in a public place, and Robert Munro, of Turriff, paid this amount twice, for careles driving and failing to file a change of address.

Raymond Kissich, of Monteagle, paid $5 and costs for careless driving.

Retailers Divided On Price-Fixing Ban



OTTAWA, Nov. 24—(CP)—Canadian retail merchants are split on the government's proposal to ban retail price-fixing, it became known Friday.



As officials of the Canadian Retail Federation supported price maintenance before the parliamentary committee on retail price-fixing, committee chairman James Sinclair (L—Coast-Capilano) read a telegram received from a director of the Federation opposing the views set out in the Federation's submission.

The telegram came from M. A. Robinson of Toronto, a representative of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., on the Federation's executive, who declared he had just seen the brief and that it did not represent the views of all the Federation's members "many of whom are strongly opposed to price maintenance."

As the committee continued its study of the government proposal to make resale price maintenance illegal, Justice Minister Garson declared that the consumer is not interested in how much profit the shopkeeper makes, but how to reduce prices. He suggested figures be produced to show the difference in price between an article that was price-maintained and one that was not.

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

Architect, Michael Dixon of Ottawa, who has designed several NHA houses, fashioned this modern, roomy bungalow for the living comfort of the average family—parents and two children.

The master bedroom and the children's bedrooms are confined to one side of the house for privacy with the bathroom conveniently located to serve all three. As suggested in the floor plan, one of the smaller bedrooms may be used to advantage as a playroom until it is required for sleeping accommodation. There are two clothes closets in the master bedroom, one in each of the children's bedrooms, and a linen closet beside the door to the bathroom.

The living-dining room, extending along the entire right side of the house, is well lighted by the large windows at both the front and rear of the room. The dining section adjoins the compact kitchen for ease in serving meals. The Ottawa owner of the house illustrated changed the location of the chimney from the position shown in the original house plan to include a fireplace on the right wall of the living-dining room.

For estimating purposes, the area of the bungalow is 870 square feet and the cubic contents measure 16,720 cubic feet.

Working drawings for this plan, known as Design No. 50-19, are available from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Home Nursing Demonstrated

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 24 (ENS)—The Bailieboro Women's Institute sponsored a euchre party in Centreville Hall on Wednesday evening with 13 tables occupied. Prizes went to Mrs. Orville Younge, Mrs. Harold Deane, Messrs. Herb Syers, Herb Dean and Harold Dean. The next euchre will be on Nov. 30.

Institute Meets

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the basement of the Anglican Church on Tuesday afternoon. The school children of the village were present. Miss Ray, health nurse for Northumberland and Durham, gave a very interesting and instructive demonstration on "Home Nursing."

It was decided to send $20 as a donation for needy children in Greece. Also to donate five dollars toward the tractor that the Women's Institute of Ontario are sending to Europe.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Gray and will be the annual Christmas party when gifts will be given to the Children's Aid Society of Port Hope.

Mrs. W. C. Jewison, of Bailieboro, is a patient in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Mrs. Stewart Thompson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ross Taylor, of Peterborough.

Insufficient Height Cause Of Poor Chimney Drafts

Cold mid-winter days bring into use thousands of wood-burning fireplaces, and each night a shower of sparks goes upward over thousands of homes.

A wood fire builds up a strong draft, and good-sized sparks and pieces of burning paper will often be drawn up through the chimney. To prevent these from flying out and igniting the roof or piles of dry leaves, a screen should be placed over the top of the chimney.

The screen should be given an occasional cleaning in order to prevent clogging and the reduction of the necessary draft.

A common cause of poor chimney drafts and smokestained fireplaces is unsufficient height of the chimney.

Chimneys should be of sufficient height that the air currents are not cut off by the roof of the building or by adjoining and nearby buildings. Home owners may take advantage of summer weather to alter their chimneys.

Good Fireclay Flue

If your house has a potential fire hazard, the chances are that it lies in the details of the chimney construction. Make sure that there is a good fireclay flue lining inside the brick-work or masonry, and extending from at least 12 inches below the smoke inlet, continuously the entire height of the chimney. The lining should project at least four inches above the top of the chimney to allow a two-inch wash or play of cement mortar and a two-inch projection of flue lining. In the case of smaller flues, two flue linings may be set together without a brick partition.

An equally important restrition —the violation of which causes hundreds of fires each year—is to have no wood within 12 inches of any chimney wall, and no wood within 4 inches of the back wall of any fireplace.

Make Sure of The Following

Chimneys shall not rest upon or be carried by wooden floors, beams, or brackets, or be hung from wooden rafters.

Chimneys shall be built upon concrete or masonry foundation properly proportioned to carry the weight imposed without danger of settlement or cracking.

All spaces between chimneys and wooden joists or beams shall be filled with loose cinders, loose mortar refuse, gypsum block, or other porous incombustible material to form a fire stop.

The incombustible material shall be supported by strips of sheet metal or metal lath set into the brickwork and nailed to the wooden-beams, forming a bucklet flexible joint between, or by similar strips of metal nailed to the woodwork with the inner edge close to the chimney.

No wooden studding, furring, lathing, or plugging shall be placed against any chimney or in the joists thereof. Wooden construction shall either be set away from the chimney or the plastering shall be directly on the masonry or on metal lathing or on incombustible furring material. Wood furring strips, placed around the chimneys to support base or other trim, shall be insulated from the masonry by asbestos paper.

Tuberculosis Hits Eskimos At High Rate

COLDSPRINGS, Nov. 24 — (ENS).—The incidence of tuberculosis among Eskimos is as high as 65 per cent in some areas.

This statement was made Wednesday night by Dr. R. S. Robertson, Cobourg, dental surgeon, who was guest speaker at the open meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute held in the Hamilton township hall. Approximately 250 attended the meeting.

Dr. Robertson was commissioned by the Canadian government to make a survey along with medical and eye specialists of northern areas.

The guest speaker showed colored slides illustrating life among the Eskimos—their habits and homes.

Affects Teeth

He referred to the great increase of disease among the natives. Due to the highly commercialized fur trading in the summer, the Eskimos don't take time to store the primitive carnivorous foods. As a result they have to live on the starch diet stored by commercial interests. This causing a rapidly increasing incidence of dental decay.

Dr. Robertson explained that the government ship travelled 15,000 miles in the six-month trip.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Keith Harper, president of the Coldsprings WI.

She also announced the entertainers of the evening. These included Donald Harvis who played a piano solo; Mrs. S. Wallace who gave a reading, Licences and Permits; Mrs. Albert Willis who sang The Sunshine of Your Smile, accompanied by Mrs. Reg. Willis; a ladies chorus of Mrs. M. Dines, Mrs. P. Harris, Mrs. K. Harper, Mrs. C. Timlin, Mrs. N. McIntosh and Miss Lorene Timlin who sang a medley, Looking for the Lost Chord, accompanied by Miss E. Hoskin.

A vote of thanks to Dr. Robertson and all taking part in the program was moved by H. McKinley.

Lunch was served. Mrs. C. Timlin was convener of the program.

Canadian Soldiers' High Pay Creates German Problem

By DOUGLAS HOW

WITH THE CANADIANS IN GERMANY, Nov. 24—(CP)—It certainly doesn't represent opulence by Canadian standards, but the Canadian soldier's pay is so high relatively over here that it already is causing official headaches.

This applies mainly to single men since deduction for married soldiers and officers bring their available money more in line with comparable standards.

The single Canadian private, with overseas allowance, makes $99 a month, about equal to the pay of a British sergeant and nearly double what many German people in this Hannover area would consider a good salary for a family man.

Enforced Saving

Problems arising from this situation are twofold. The disparity in pay—even bigger than in the last war—might be a factor in relations with the British, in whose area the Canadian are, and with the Germans. It could also tend to drive prices up wherever the Canadians go and could lead to squandering when the soldiers have an excellent chance to save and still live better than they have been.

It is more than likely that some method of enforced saving will become effective soon.

British troops have shown exceptional courtesy and friendship to the Canadians, but to a man they consider the Canadian pay scale fabulous. The Canadians, in turn, feel the British pay is low rather than that their own is high.

Germans Get Wise

It is only beginning to dawn on the Germans that more highly paid troops are moving in and officials expect the inevitable reaction.

So far the Canadians find prices surprisingly low. The official NAAFI canteens sell a pint of beer for 12 cents, British cigarettes 20 for 15 cents, a lunch of steak, potato chips, beans, buns, and tea for about 30 cents. The soldiers also will be able to order cigarettes from home at one-quarter of the cost over there.

Both British and Germans consider German prices more than adequate, but Canadians pay 65 cents for a meal, that would cost twice that in Montreal.

The Canadian draws his money in two forms—British pounds, shilling and pence, special paper vouchers nicknamed "bafs" and German marks worth 25 cents apiece.

The paymaster will change his bafs into marks but not vice versa. This is one of the major methods the British use to control black marketing.

However, there are methods by which foreign soldiers in Germany can swap both bafs and cigarettes to Germans to their profit through methods the authorities frown on but are powerless to stamp out entirely.

Congressman Criticizes UK Attitude

STRASBOURG, France, Nov. 24 (Reuters)—A United States congressman today hit out at Britain for her negative attitude towards European unity.

He urged Europe—and Britain in particular—to "get down to brass tacks and do this job of European unity."

Congresman Howard Smith (Dem. Va.) said he had come to Strasbourg to hear how European unity could be achieved. But the American and European parliamentarians debating the subject had only talked of how it could be done.

Selecting Britain as his main target, he said that though Prime Minister Churchill had inspired the movement for European unity his government had said "we cannot go into the proposed federation of Europe."

"Then there was the Schuman Plan (to pool Europe's coal and steel)," Smith said. "Great Britain says no. We cannot go into that.

"And then there was the European army idea — and Britain again says no."

Smith was speaking on the last day of the week-long debates in the council of Europe—unofficial European parliament—between 14 congressmen and members of European parliaments.

Young People Hold Banquet

PLAINVILLE, Nov. 24 (ENS)—The annual Young People's banquet, held Tusday evening in the church basement, was the usual high success. About one hundred members and friends sat down to the attractive table.

After supper, the president of the YPU, Leighton Westington, acted as master of ceremonies and proposed the toast to the King. Numbers on the program included solos by Miss Myrna Larke. She sang "Forgotten" and "The Garden of Memory." Mrs. Glen Cole sang "The Cornish Dance." Misses Jean Herriott and Donna Brisbin sang a duet. Miss June Lander gave her talk on "Conservation," which she had presented at the public speaking contest. Mrs. Jack Buttars gave a reading. The special speaker for the evening was the minister of the church, the Rev. A. Y. Robertson. His address was in response to the toast to the church proposed by Jack Buttars. "Courage" was the theme of his address. The evening closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and the benediction.

Canadians Soon To Train Near Notorious Belsen

By DOUGLAS HOW

BELSEN, Germany, Nov. 24—(CP)—Canadian troops will soon be training beside the remnants of one of Nazism's darkest scars—the notorious Belsen concentration camp where tens of thousands of Hitler's victims lie buried in communal graves.

The 27th brigade's armored and artillery units are being based at Hohne camp, in the midst of the best tank training ground in western Europe and just a mile from Belsen.

The Belsen of 1951 is a place of strange and almost sacred peace. Its quiet is so pervading, so complete, the buildings, the torture chambers, the barbed wire, the SS troops of the war years so completely gone, that the mind has to keep telling itself that barbarism reached its depths here where now there is a religious hush.

But memory has not been left entirely to the mind, for Belsen has been turned into a mass cemetery, a formal memorial to its dead.

Simple Monument

A 50-foot monument, a straight, simple pile of concrete, towers over the acres of mass graves, evergreen trees, brush and countryside which in its appearance is not unlike the land around Petawawa military camp in Ontario.

At its base are marked the years of Belsen's infamy, one by one. Behind it is a wall of concrete which commemorates the dead in a number of languages. Nearby is a large wooden cross.

A hundred feet away is a Jewish memorial which says "Israel and the world shall remember the 30,000 Jews exterminated here at the hands of the murderous Nazis." Nearby are the few single graves in this place of many dead.

The mass graves now are trim, grass-covered mounds, fronted by small wooden signs numbering their dead. One sign says "5,000 bodies lie buried here."

Where the huts of terror and misery once stood there is only earth with trees and shrubs.

Off By Itself

Belsen is off by itself in the countryside. The only signs of life are a small clump of huts and shacks at its edge, survivals of the places where the SS garrison lived before its soldiers were forced at bayonet point to bury the piles of dead found at Belsen's liberation.

In these huts live refugees from the iron curtain. Children play here, geese waddle, hens scratch, dogs seek food.

In the hut nearest Belsen's graves lives a refugee from East Germany. He was asked how it feels to live in such a place. His reply was the reply the allies have found among many Germans.

"I have no feelings about it," he said. "They are dead. I had nothing to do with it."

Bears At Large

HARRY'S HARBOR, Nfld (CP)—Bears are plentiful in the country-side around this village near Grand Falls, and several have been shot lately. John Rideout ran into a whole group of bears near his home at Three Arms and shot one while the rest escaped.

Auxiliary Names 1952 Officers

HASTINGS, Nov. 24—(ENS)—Mrs. J. G. Thompson opened her home for the November meeting of the Evening Auxiliary. The president Mrs. R. Burnham, called the meeting to order.

Worship service was under the leadership of Mrs. Walter Peck assisted by Mrs. Cliff Scriver. Miss M. Scriver and Mrs. R. R. Burnham. The committee in charge then gave a chapter of the study book, "Lakes to Northern Lights." Miss J. Lamb gave the temperance reading. Friendship convener Mrs. J. G. Thompson reported she had made two calls. Miss M. Scriber reported she had sent the Christmas parcel overseas. The Evening Auxiliary are to be responsible for the speaker for the WMS service on Dec. 30.

Mrs. E. Hess, card convener, reported $98.81 on hand and a motion was made to give a donation of $20 to the Mission Band, $5 of this to give the president of the band a life member.

Next meeting is to be held in the Sunday school rooms on Dec. 12 with the following committee in charge: Mrs. J. G. Thompson, Mrs. Alton Thompson, Mrs. W. A. Thomas, Mrs. Harvey Youngs, Mrs. R Burnham, Mrs. J Baker, Miss M. Webster.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers: president, Mrs. R. Burnham; first vice-president, Mrs. O. Orr; second vice-president, Mrs. L. W. Humphries; secretary, Mrs. Alton Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. F. Crate; christian stewardship, Mrs. Harvey Youngs; christian citizenship, Mrs. C. Oliver; friendship, Mrs. J. G. Thompson; supply, Mrs. W. Peck; literature, Mrs. W. A. Thomas.

Mrs. A. Orr and Mrs. F. Crate were appointed to look after a suit for Santa Claus.

Mrs. Burnham led in prayer for the auxiliary's missionary, Miss C. Wagar.

Find Roadshows Growing Theatre Problem

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (AP)—Glancing at the week's news in movietown:

The president of the Theatre Owners of America has declared that one of the biggest problems of film house owners today is "more and more roadshows".

In the Los Angeles area, seven ordinary films are being advertised at premium prices.

The principle of the road show has long been attacked by some observers who argue that movie patrons are expected to take the good with the bad throughout the year. Then, when a superior picture comes along, the patrons are required to pay extra for it . . .

Idle Royalty

How times change. A couple of years ago, you would never expect the king of one studio and the queen of another to be off salary. But that's true today. Betty Grable and Clark Gable are not drawing their weekly stipends from 20th-Fox and M-G-M, respectively . . .

Eye-opener on the cost situation was offered by figures on "The Fourposter." The picture was filmed on one set with two players—Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer. Cheap, you think? The bill came to $800,000.

Best news of the week was the announcement that Toronto-born Mary Pickford will be returning to pictures. Today's youngsters may not have seen her on the screen, but their parents remember her as a symbol of a pleasant era . . .

Coldsprings News

Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. G. Buttars, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Jamieson, attended the 62nd wedding anniversary celebration for Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staples, which was held on Tuesday evening, at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Staples, Cobourg.

Miss Margaret Avery, student nurse, Oshawa, spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Avery.

LADIES:

It's awfully important to protect your Summer Garments RIGHT NOW!

Miss Betty Bear Says . . .

Remember how relieved you felt when your winter garments were safe in our storage vault?

Keep the same peace of mind at this season of the year. Your summer garments are just as important. They should be stored in mothproof vaults. Entrust your out-of-season wardrobe with us.

Silver and Christmas Colors Highlight OES Tea Room

Silver with the gay Christmas tea room decorations for the Order of the Eastern Star on Friday was in honor of the 25th anniversary year of the Peterboorough Chapted. And this festive setting seemed to be setting off sparks of joy and friendliness throughout the large crowd gathered in the YWCA Green Room for this annual event.

It was a delightful tea table with bright red garnations and candles in silver holders and the beautiful cloth was of hand-made lace medallions. There were shining balls hanging from Christmas tree branches and evergreens entwined with silver and red streamers on mantel and piano top were highlighted with candy canes and Christmas candles.

Truly wonderful things were found on the bazaar tables. The home-made candy did not look a bit home-made but it was. There were chocolate covered marachino cherries and more chocolates with various fillings when done up in pound boxes looked exactly like, and more delicious than the commercial variety.

For little girls there were smocked organdy dresses, dainty organdy and practical gingham and flannel dresses as well as aprons and embroidered pillowcases on the needlework table. Flannel housecoats styled for boy and girl were other unusual items noted. There was a wonderful variety of knitted goods, including sweaters and jumpers, displaying intricate patterns.

The home cooking table was well supplied with good things. Homemakers also found some nice plants for sale.

Draw tickets were selling on an ecru crocheted set that would be very useful in the home, and also on a quilt which is to be drawn for later on.

General convener of this affair was Mrs. O. R. Kidd with Mrs. H. Green and Mrs. A. J. Newton the co-conveners. Convener of decorating was Mrs. R. Hutton with Mrs. Evelyn Bailey and Mrs. A. G. Metheral her assistants.

Worthy matron Mrs. W. M. Ward and past worthy matron, Mrs. P. D. Windrem received at the door and Mrs. Wm. Beggs and Mrs. G. Ireland were hostesses in the tea room.

Five charter members poured tea. They were Miss Rose Sexsmith, Mrs. Wm. Anderson, Mrs. Wm. Greenslade, Mrs. George Nimmons and Mrs. George Moore.

The servers were:

Mrs. A. Walby, Mrs. W. Dyer, Mrs. A. Watkins, Mrs. R. Hutton, Mrs. C. Emberson, Mrs. D. Worboy, Mrs. E. Edminson, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. F. Parsons, Mrs. A. Knott, Mrs. C. Alexander, Mrs. R. Goodfellow, Mrs. W. A. Cross, Mrs. A. Twnsend, Mrs. L. E. Thibadeau, Mrs. C. Ferguson, Mrs. G. Northey, Mrs. J. M. Hewitt, Mrs. J. McGovarin, Miss Cora Bailey, Mrs. V. Salt, Mrs. Wm. Beggs, Mrs. H. Youngs, Mrs. F. Deller, Mrs. F. C. Darwin, Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. H. Allison, Mrs. W. Smillie.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. G. Harris, convener, Mrs. P. Moore, Mrs. G. Webb, Mrs. M. Moncrief and Mrs. H. Bromley.

Mrs. R. Hendry and Mrs. A. Munro convened the bazaar tables and assisting with the sales were Mrs. P. Frankish, Mrs. C. C. McIntrye, Mrs. O. Williamson and Mrs. F. Hardwick. Conveners of the bake table were Mrs. W. Butcher and Mrs. K. Armstrong and the assistants there were Mrs. D. Hillier, Mrs. S. Richardson, Mrs. E. Beatty, Mrs. E. Watson, Mrs. A. Spencley and Mrs. J. Baird.

The candy was sold by Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. G. Metheral, Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. A. Pink.

Mrs. W. Saunders and Mrs. A. Lashbrook sold tickets on the crocheted set and Mrs. E. T. Johnson and Mrs. R. Merrett the quilt tickets.

Mrs. John Miles was taking the tickets to the tea.

Colored Slides Of Africa Shown

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 24. (ENS)—The Rev. Charles Richmond, rector of Christ's Church, Omemee, was guest speaker on Wednesday evening when the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of St. John the Baptist held their missionary thank-offering meeting in the parish hall.

President, Mrs. Charles Stenner welcomed the guests and led in the opening prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. S. E. White and Mrs. John Twist was pianist for the evening.

Beautifully colored slides taken by Rev. Richmond while in Africa, where he spent 16 years, were shown during his talk, which was very much enjoyed by all present. Mr. Richmond was introduced by Rev. Lloyd Delaney and thanked by Mrs. B. Q. Dench on behalf of the Auxiliary.

The thank-offering was received by Mrs. A. Eaton and Mrs. W. Chappell and was then given to Rev. Richmond to be used by him for work in Africa.

Tea was served by members of the society under the convenership of Mrs. S. E. White.

Personals and Social

MARRIED 50 YARS AGO, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday and Sunday. For more than 30 years, the Monks have been active as members of the laity of Bethany United Church. Mr. Monk, a shoemaker, has been burned out of his business twice since he came to Bethany. They have four sons and seven grandchildren.—Parks Studio Photo.

Mr., Mrs. Alexander Monk, Married 50 Years Ago

BETHANY, Nov. 24 —(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk of Bethany are this weekend celebrating their golden wedding anniversary with a family re-union at their home.

The actual date of the wedding was November 27, 1901 when Alexander H. Monk of Fleetwood and Ethel M. Howden, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Howden of Bethany were united in marriage by the Rev. Thomas Brown, senior minister of the Bethany Methodist circuit.

The ceremony was performed at the bride's home, with Miss Luella Howden, her only sister as bridesmaid and Arthur Mayes of Lindsay as groomsman. A reception and dinner followed, the dining table centred with a three tiered bride's cake which was made by her aunt, Mrs. Edward Kerr of Lorneville.

Stormy Day

Recalling their wedding day, Mrs. Monk says it was not without it's moments of anxiety. It was cold and stormy and snow piled high in drifts. For a time it was feared the groom, who was driving the six miles from Fleetwood by horse and cutter, might not be able to get through, and the train carrying guests from Lindsay and Omemee was delayed with the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Monk established their first home in the vicinity of Fleetwood where they shared a farm. Later they moved to Bethany where Mr. Monk was employed as fireman in the sawmill operated successively by Ross Staples, Frank Galbraith and Lan Hartly. Mr. Monk can tell many interesting tales about these days, but is impressed most by the fact that seventy five cents was then considered a good day's wage.

In 1910, Mr. Monk went into business for himself. Taking advantage of an apprenticeship practiced in England before coming to Canada in the spring of 1896, he opened a harness, boot and shoe repair shop and has carried on this business to the present day, though it has not been without temporary set-backs.

Looking back over his more than forty years in business, Mr. Monk cannot forget the night of November 3rd, 1911, when his new shop was burned. The Chittick block in which his shop was located burned to the ground. That night, the entire centre block of Bethany's business section on the south side of the main street, was swept by fire.

He then purchased, with the aid of friends, the harness business of John Blakely and moved to the north side of the street. Here he carried on until the night of July 17, 1933, when fire, which began in an adjacent bakery, again claimed everything. For the third time, Mr. Monk began business; this time in a cement block building built on the old site by the Manvers Telephone Company, owners of the property.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Monk have been constantly active in church and community work. Although Mrs. Monk has been a great help to her husband in conducting their business, she has also found time to be a member of the Women's Institute of which she was for a time, president and secretary. She is a life member of the Women's Missionary Society and president of the Women's Association of the United Church.

Preached Sermons

Also active in church work, Mr. Monk has been widely known as a local preacher. He has been Sunday school superintendent for more than 30 years and a Bible class teacher in the Bethany United Church. For several years he served on the local school board of secretary-treasurer, and was also secretary-treasurer for the Independent Order of Foresters, Court Manvers, before it amalgamated with Court Chemong, Peterborough.

He was a popular member of the Bethany brass band during the years it was in demand for Orange parades, garden parties and Sunday evening concerts. For years, he has been truant officer for the public schools of Manvers Township, and since the establishment of a bus line through the village in 1945, he has been agent for the Colonial Coach Lines.

Four sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Monk. Bertrand, the eldest, lives in Windsor. Harold, the second son, has been manager for 25 years of the Grand River branch of a Detroit hardware company.

A veteran of the Second World War, he served for three years with the American army in Africa and Italy. Roy, the third son, chose farming and is engaged with Mr. Talmage Brown on his dairy farm near Sunderland. Karl, the youngest son, chose radio for his vocation and has thus been engaged for fourteen years. He is at present, manager of the Sarnia radio station.

Mr. and Mrs. Monk have five granddaughters and two grandsons. Perhaps their greatest sorrow was the untimely death, at the age of 21, of their eldest grandson and namesake. Gnr. Alex Monk, in a canoe accident at the YMCA camp on Lake Chicot, Quebec, May 27th, 1950. At the time, he was in training with the Canadian army.

Looking back over their fifty years together, Mr. and Mrs. Monk say "It seems no time at all. It is true that we have seen many changes and some difficult times. But, it is our belief that by taking one day at a time and doing your best, through faith you can overcome many of life's obstacles."

Woman Member Of Council In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—All-male rule on the Edmonton city council came to an end in this year's elections when Mrs. T. H. Field became the first woman to win a seat at the aldermanic table in five years.

Not since 1945 has a woman been on the council, said Mrs. Field: "a woman's viewpoint will be a definite asset to the council which, I feel, needs the balance a woman can give."

The new "alderwoman's" contributions to the community have been many and varied. She is immediate past president of the Women's Canadian Club; former president of the board of directors of the Victorian Order of Nurses; former chairman of the northern Alberta division of the Navy League and former chairman of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, plus participating in a host of other activities.

No Promises

Mrs. Fields made no pre-election promises, but after winning her aldermanic seat said: "always I will endeavor to give my utmost to Edmonton and to make a worthwhile contribution to the administration of government in this rapidly-growing city."

Wife of the late Dr. T. H. Field, prominent Edmonton surgeon, she is the mother of two children—a daughter now married and a son who is a student at the University of Alberta.

Mrs. Field came to Edmonton 26 years ago from her former home in London, England.

Lakefield W.A. Host To Groups

LAKE[illegible]

The members of the Women's Association of the United Church were hostesses to members of the Women's Missionary Society and the Missionary and Service Club for their November meeting held this week in the Sunday school rooms. The vice-president, Mrs. Sherman Northey welcomed the guests.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. H. Andrews with Mrs. Elwood Dunford reading the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Frank Darling led in prayer and the lesson thoughts were read by Mrs. John Murphy. Mrs. J. R. Hull sang "The Prayer Perfect" with Mrs. Harry T. Hill accompanying her.

A very informative talk, dealing with the missionary work being done by the United Church of Canada in Northern Canada, Africa, Korea and other centres of the globe was given by Mrs. P. H. Darling.

Following the meeting, afternoon tea was served from a table laid with a lace cloth and centred with a bowl of flowers. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Murphy and those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. E. J. Millage, Mrs. E. Dunford, Mrs. H. J. Brown and Mrs. J. R. Hull.

Prize-Winning Wood Carvings Farmer's Hobby

MILVERTON, Ont.—(CP)—A farmer-artist, 39-year-old Roy P. Jacobs, who lives on the outskirts of this Western Ontario village, exhibited his wood carvings for the first time this summer and won international recognition.

At the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, his seven pieces took top honors and won for him a bronze medal and a trophy donated by Dr. M. B. Ryckman, of St. Thomas.

His work is finely finished. Smooth and highly-polished it is different to the more familiar French - Canadian wood - carving which presents a "chiselled" effect.

Mr. Jacobs has always been interested in "making things." As a boy, he and his brother made a steam engine large enough to carry them around.

He began carving as a boy and has shown steady development both in technical skill and in sense of proportion and grace. He carved his first large piece, a "Tom Thumb" circus, in 1931 as he lay in bed recovering from a broken leg.

Likes Animals

Since that time he has been most interested in carving animals. Four of his prize-winning pieces in Vancouver were horses.

He still consideres his hobby as a spare-time activity and only works at it when the duties of his 100-acre farm don't interfere.

But not all of his spare time is given to carving figures. He combines leathercraft, using designs created by his wife, with his woodcraft. However, he considers that the wood carving requires "more of the innate artist."

Not all of his work is given to purely decorative items. His wife proudly shows visitors a polished maple bedrom suite that Mr. Jacobs made from the last maple trees on their farm. He has made several other pieces of furniture as well as several boats.

A 15-year-old son, Kenneth, already is showing promise as a wood carver and seems certain to follow in his father's footsteps.

Giardino-New

In St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Port Hope, Mary Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John New, Port Hope, became the bride of Anthony Giardino, son of Mrs. C. Giardino of Peterborough and the late Mr. Giardino. The Rev. Father Gillogley performed the ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. M. Jansen with Mrs. M. Collins Peterborough, soloist. The church was decorated with white and bronze 'mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white satin, made in off-the-shoulder effect with nylon yoke embroidered in seed pearls and with a full length train. Her veil of embroidered net was full length, falling from a headdress of orange blossoms and seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white cala lillies, bouvardia and a sprig of Scotch heather.

Miss Margaret New, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing lavender tissue faille. Bridesmaids also wore gowns of tissue faille, made in strapless style topped with short capes with mandarin necklines. They were Miss Joan Robson in rust shade, Miss Carmen Giardino in medium green, Mrs. A. Caravaggio in yellow and Miss Gloria Jean Collins in pale green. All wore matching mittens and braided bandeaux with side arrangement of bronze and yellow 'mums and they carried matching cascade bouquets.

Mr. John Giardino was groomsman and ushers were Guido DeCarlo, Junior Longo and A. Caravaggio.

At the reception in St. Lawrence Hotel the bride's mother wore a dress of grey silk ottoman with black accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore black crepe with a hat a grey velvet and her corsage was also of pink sweetheart roses.

On a motor trip to United States the bride wore a two piece suit of light blue tissue faille under a fitted black coat with black accessories and orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Giardino will live at 502 Parnell St., Peterborough.

Selwyn Institute Hears Mrs. Mann

SELWYN, Nov. 24—(ENS)—The Selwyn Branch of the Women's Institute met on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. A. B. Mann, of Bridgenorth, was guest speaker. She gave her travelogue on her trip to England, Ireland and Scotland.

The WI decided to sell tickets on a 15-pound turkey, also a home-baked Christmas cake. A committee, consisting of Mrs. Blewitt, Mrs. B. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Irvin Tully, Mrs. M. Crapp, will make the arrangements. Mrs. William Elliott gave a report of the convention in Toronto. Mrs. Irvin Tully moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Mann.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. George McIlmoyle, Mrs. Guisel, Mrs. Reg. Bell and Mrs. N. Blewitt.

The next meeting will be the Christmas exchange of gifts with Mrs. Karl Wilson and Mrs. R. Bell in charge.

MR. ANTHONY GIARDINO and his birde, the former Miss Mary New, were pictured leaving St. Mary's Church, Port Hope, after their marriage.

Crystal Ball At PCVS Uses Blue, Yellow Theme

A blue and yellow theme characterized the decorations of the second annual PCVS Key Club Crystal Ball held in the collegiate gymnasium Friday night.

Approximately 150 couples danced to the music of The Commodores, a Belleville orchestra brought to Peterborough for the occasion.

In the centre of the dancing floor and beautifully illustrating the dance's name was a large revolving crystal ball, with colored spotlights playing on its mirrored surface.

Blue and yellow streamers draped the balcony and continued down to over to the walls at each side.

One corner of the floor was arranged in cafe style with tables and chairs for refreshments, with the specialty of the menu, homemade pies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hancock and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huffman acted as hosts and hostesses for the evening.

Chairman of the dance was Douglas Hancock, president of the Key Club. Rod Delaney was chairman of the refreshment committee and Bob Hutchison, chairman of the decorations committee.

LOSES POUND OF POISON

BOSTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Police searched the market district Friday night for a one-pound package of deadly poison lost from a delivery truck. Truck driver Victor Schraffa told police a container of potassium cyanide disappeared from his truck. Police said a mere taste of the poisonous substance, resembling coarse white sugar could cause death.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Of Faithless Husband Needs Prayer And Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: It would be a wonderful thing if you could give some sound consoling advice to the many, many women, including myself, who have gone through the agonizing heartbreak of finding their husbands to be unfaithful. Of all the grief in married life, I think this is the most tragic, because it touches the deepest roots of a woman's soul.

I have been married fourteen years and have a child of 12. My husband, though 50, is very attractive and I have always been considered an attractive person myself. I am nine years younger than he. From the beginning of my marriage I have suspected infidelities, and for the past six months they have been obvious. He has finally promised never to see the girl again and begs me to have faith in him. He has given flimsy excuses for his philandering—such as being starved for companionship (which has certainly never been denied him at home), doubting my love (also a subterfuge), etc. Now I feel I can never trust him, and am torn between the desire to preserve my home and taking the drastic step of leaving.

BETTY K. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is little consolation anyone can give to women in your position. What good are words in mending a broken heart, salving wounded pride, putting together the shattered pieces of a broken ideal? This is truly a problem in which only God can give comfort. Pray for the courage to carry on your life in its normal pattern, as nearly as possible, for the restoration of the faith you once had in your husband and for complete, sincere repentance and amendment on his part.

There's No Answer

How a husband can so surely hurt the woman he loves—and most of them, inspite of infidelities, do continue to love their wives—is a mystery for which no one has a solution. Perhaps the world at large, and their families in particular, are too easy on straying husbands. Then, too, there are many women who are so attracted to married men that they refuse to contemplate romance unless it includes another woman's broken home.

Sometimes a man settles down after just one extra-marital love affair; sometimes the straying is continuous. In the former case, a wife's best bet is to forgive and forget; in the latter, hopeless instance, she is better off alone.

Give your husband at least one chance to prove himself repentant. Even though you still have doubts, don't show them. Let him believe in your faith. Above all, don't nag!

Get yourself interested in some aspect of church or community life that will occupy your mind and time, leaving less room for brooding. In time the heartache will become less intense and life will once again seem worth living.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: There is a certain boy I like very much. He's the only boy I've ever gone with that I really liked. One Saturday night recently he stood me up and I got so mad I told him not to come back. Now I'm sorry I ever said that. I have tried to forget him but it isn't easy. He knows I would go out with him again if he asked me. Should I?

DAISY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: First of all, Daisy, did he have any reason for breaking the date, or offer any excuse? While it is a very rude thing to do, and your anger was certainly justifiable, circumstances do alter cases. If he is sufficiently contrite, and does ask you to go out again, go ahead! Since you are so fond of him, he's worth taking another chance with. However, if the same incident occurs again, then call it quits for good.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have just read your column concerning the serviceman and whom he should see first when he comes home — mother or girl friend. I am the latter, and cannot see how any young girl can be selfish enough to expect him to see her first. His mother probably has only a few years left to see him at all, whereas the other parthy will have him completely for years to come.

Girls, please use some good old-fashioned common sense and wait now for your time to come. The mother definitely ought to be the first even if it is not her son's choice.

A GIRL FRIEND

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Here is a young girl who will never have in-law trouble. She has learned, at an early age, the consideration and thoughtfulness for others that it takes many people a lifetime to asquire—and some never do. Follow her good advice, young ladies.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Say, I see by the "Windsor Daily Star" that you are the person who looks after the recipe for cakes and pies, etc., so I would like to hear from you about a recipe for Pineapple Pie with grated cheese, as I have heard of it but have never had a chance to taste and get the recipe of it, so if you have it will you please let me have it. Mrs. Chas. F.

ANSWER:

Pineapple Pie With Grated Cheese

One can of crushed pineapple, ¾ cup of sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup flour, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, grated cheese. Mix butter, sugar and flour together thoroughly. Sprinkle half of this mixture in the bottom of a 9 inch unbaked pastry shell. Place pineapple in shell. Cover with remainder of crumb mixture. Pour lemon juice over apples. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes and then reduce temperature to 375 deg. Fahr. Continue to bake for 35 minutes. Grate cheese over halfway through baking.

QUESTION: I wish to say how much I enjoy your column and how much help it affords me. My problem is a strange one but I wondered if you could help me. I have grey hair and at times in spite of a good rinse it shows signs of yellow. My hairdresser tells me it is too much acid in my diet. Can you advise me as to which foods I should avoid? I would like to have your calorie chart. Thanking you, Mrs. L. B. C.

ANSWER: I am not familiar with the theory your hairdresser believes. However, whether your white hair is tinged with yellow or not a too-high-acid diet is very inadvisable. Your whole physique suffers.

A blanket sure-all for this is to eat fresh fruits and vegetables instead of carbodhydrates. The chief offenders among the carbohydrates are breadstuffs made with white flour, desserts such as pies, puddings, cakes adn cookies because these are acid foods as they contain white flour and sugar. Substjtute fresh fruit for your desserts. Bananas may be included. If you are not overweight eat 1 banana, 1 orange, 1 apple or grapes, grapefruit, pears for variation every day. Eat a raw vegetable salad every day. I think direct sunlight yellows white hair. I have sent the chart.

QUESTION: I enjoy reading your food column in our local paper very much. I find it both interesting and instructive. Would you please send me your calorie chart? Also how many calories are required by the average housewife? by children of various ages, and also bya working man?

Mary S.

ANSWER: The average moderately active housewife requires approx. 2,400 calories. Children 1-3 years, 27 lbs. approx. 1,200; 4-6 years, 42 lbs. approx. 1,600, 7-9 years, 58 lbs. approx. 2,000, 10-12 years, 78 lbs. approx. 2,500. The average physically active man requires approx. 3,000 to 3,500 calories or if on very heavy work approx. 4,500 calories.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION SCHOOL

Mr. Alex Tait, secretary-treasurer was chairman for the Parent-Teacher Association meeting at Immaculate Conception School in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Leahy. A capacity crowd heard two interesting lectures.

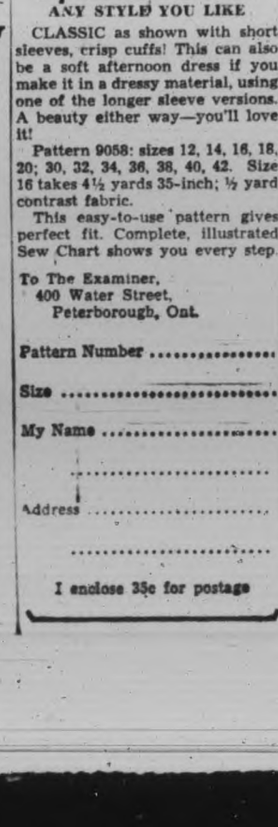
Sister Vincentia, music supervisor, demonstrated the new record-player and explained to the parents her technique in producing appreciation for and understanding of music by the pupils listening.

Guest speaker, Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick was introduced by Mr. J. Byrne. Dr. Fitzpatrick discussed the various children's diseases, making special reference to the use of toxoids which produce immunity to certain ones. The speaker carefully outlined how far medicine has progressed to prevent each disease and to treat it when contracted.

The thanks of the association was spoken by Mr. L. Lefave to the speaker.

Principal Sister Dominica expressed the gratitude of the school for the purchase of the record played and a refrigerator.

Parents of Grade 4-5 pupils won the attendance prize for that room.



The new social convener, Mrs. A. McCabe, served a tasty lunch.

Lady Pastor Serves Large Parish

PORCUPINE, Ont., — (CP) — This three-charge parish in northern Ontario's huge Cochrane Presbytery of the United Church of Canada received its first woman minister recently—and the miners, bush workers, farmers and their families like the idea.

The minister, the Rev. Kathleen Christopher, 30, is the daughter of Henry Christopher, a miner at Conlaurum mine and was raised at nearby Schumacher. She entered the ministry because "it was the one spot in life for me."

Sunday is one of her busiest days, with morning service here at 11 o'clock, Sunday school at 2 p.m. and then a 12-mile drive east to Hoyle to get Sunday school started there. Next come regular services at Hoyle and a drive back to Golden City for supper. Later she again sets out to drive 20 miles for the evening service at Connaught.

Albert Dyrland, the parish's clerk of session, says things have gone "marvellously well". He said Miss Christopher is a wonderful worker and men, women and children have taken to her and to the idea of a woman in the pulpit.

Miss Christopher, one of three women graduates of Emmanuel College, Toronto, who were ordained last spring, says she never felt she was "under judgment," as it were. Everything went smoothly from the first.

What's Right?

You want to get rid of gum you have been chewing.

WRONG: Throw it down on the street or sidewalk.

RIGHT: Wrap it in a bit of paper before you get rid of it, and then find a better place to dispose of than by throwing it down on the street or sidewalk.

6—In Memoriam

BROOK—In memory of Jimmie Brook who passed away Nov. 24, 1943.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by Dad.

BROOK—In loving memory of Jimmie Brook, who died eight years ago today, November 24, 1943.
God called him home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love him still,
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Sadly missed by Lillian, Walter, June and Phyllis.

BROOK—In loving memory of my dear son, Jimmy Brook, who was killed eight years ago, November 24, 1943.
In my heart your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear Jimmy
That I do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by his mother.

DUFFUS—In loving memory of Mr. M. J. Duffus who passed away November 25, 1947.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Sadly missed by the family.

DUFFUS—In loving memory of our dearly beloved husband and father, Michael J. Duffus, who passed away Nov. 25, 1947.
We are just a sunset nearer
Each time the daylight fades.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

DWYER—In loving memory of Roy Dwyer, who passed away Nov. 24, 1944.
Today recalls sad memories
Of our dear son gone to rest,
And the ones who think of him today
Are the ones who loved him best.
—Ever remembered by his mother, sister and brother; also Mr. Ketchum.

STEWART—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William E. Stewart, who died Nov. 24, 1949.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Always remembered by his wife and family.

WHITE—In loving memory of my dear mother, who died three years ago, and dad.
And with the morn
Those angel faces smile
Which I have loved
Long since and lost awhile.
God has them in His keeping
I have them in my heart.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by their daughter Rose.

Havelock Elects

trar's office had not been approved and the people who have bought property there wonder where they should pay taxes. This means extra expense in getting a licensed surveyor. He pointed out that the total assessment for the village equalled the amount of the county's equalized assessment.

Assessed For County Roads

He also said that while Havelock had no county road through the village, yet they are assessed for county roads. He had tried this year to get George St. and a part of Quebec St. taken over as a county road. In retiring he thanked the citizens for their support and co-operation.

Reeve-elect E. J. Leeson gave only a short address, although he said there was much he could say, but he thought it best to leave matters that way.

W. E. Griffith said that Havelock was fleeced to a finish by the amount they were required to pay for county roads. He said $1,000 had been spent on the Cordova road this year and it was in such a shape that cars were being pulled out all along it. Next he mentioned the overdraft of $3,300 hanging over Havelock which, he said, had not been dealt with at all. This amount was raised on a bank note over the signature of ten members of the rink board for certain unpaid balances incurred in building the arena. He drew atention to a motion on the town books two years ago made by Councillor George Kennedy and seconded by Councillor Jack Davidson, that when the money raised by the village on debenture, the government grant and donations to the fund were spent, the committee was to go no further until authorized by council. In regard to taxation, he warned that unless the local valuation was increased the tax rate for 1952 in his opinion would not be under 90 mills.

The Rink Note

Fred A. Rogers, a member of the rink committee who signed the note for $3,300, spoke about the extra costs they had encountered and said he was disappointed that more money had not been subscribed and that more volunteer labor had noth been forthcoming. Ten names are at the bottom of that note and one had stated he would go to jail before he would pay his share of it. He thought the village should assume this responsibility. At this point he was challenged by Mr. Griffith about the resolutions in the town minutes regarding further expenditures.

B. M. Bell gave a detailed account of the work that had been done by the council under his supervision on the drains and catch basins which Reeve Seeney had complained about. He said he was interested in municipal matters and if elected would do his best for everyone in the village, especially mentioning the pensioners.

Richard Sanderson said it was 3 years ago that he first was a candidate for council. He congratulated Mr. Leeson on his election by acclamation. He spoke at some length on the new hydro system installed throughout the village and the expenditure in this connection. He said 50,000 had already been spent and quoting the late H. Gordon said it would cost Havelock eventually $70,000. Poles had been cut that had been recently replaced and quoted the price charged for poles in comparison to the price they could have been purchased for locally.

Short addresses were given by B. Jewell, H. Ellis, W. Longmuir, B. A. Johnson, W. Ketchen.

In retiring, Jack Davidson said he was one of the fellows whose name was at the bottom of the rink committee note. He said it was for outstanding debts that they had expected to pay out of the operating expenses but the rink went in the red last year. He and Mr. Griffith had a controversy over the note. Mr. Davidson charged that Mr. Griffith was making the people pay an extra $8,000 on the new area school.

Squaws Get Vote

BRANTFORD, Nov. 24 (CP)—For the first time in centuries, Indian women of the Six Nations Reservation near here are going to vote next month to elect councillors. A revision of the Indian Act is returning to them a right they held long before the white man came to North America.

Max J. Swanston

St. drain should make Park St. one of the finest sections in the southern portion of the city.

Busy Year

"Our Board of Works has had a very busy year, having completed by contract 12,381 feet and by the Department of 6,792 feet, a total of 19,173 feet of sidewalk. 6,663 feet of new paved roads and 1,940 feet of roads resurfaced. 3,434 feet of sewer was constructed by the city under the Local Improvement Act and 2,857 by contract under the Local Improvement Act, making a total of 6,291 feet of sanitary sewer. 7101 feet of storm drain constructed by the board of works under the Local Improvement Act and 2,153 feet completed by contract, making a total of 9,254 feet of storm drain.

"The board of works is also responsible for snow removal, repairs to sidewalks, and roads and maintenance of same, including oiling of our dirt roads, issuing of building permits and inspection of new buildings. The building permits to the end of October was $3,999,662.00, a substantial increase over last year.

"Our parks department has cared for and maintained 183.6 acres of park land as well as erecting and operating open-air rinks in the winter. Some 67 large picnics were held in our parks the past summer.

"Two hundred and seventeen trees were removed, about 600 trees trimmed and 415 young trees planted during the past summer.

"The entire cost of this work is slightly more than $1.25 per citizen.

"I feel that this is one of our best public relations departments.

Sanitation Department

"The work of our Sanitation Department has increased with the growth of our City and it has been necessary to install more and better equipment in order to maintain the fine service given by this department.

"In fact, all our works departments have had to expand in order to properly look after the needs of our citizens.

"Our fire department had one serious fire which took the lives of four brave men, three of our firemen and one civilian volunteer. A fund was started to help these four families and over $60,000 was received in donations from people throughout Canada and the United States.

The legal and reception committee, and welfare committee have also carried out their work in a very satisfactory manner.

"The manufacturers committee have been keeping touch with industries interested in locating in Peterborough and ones that would fit in with our very fine local industries.

Move Market

"Some years ago the council at that time purchased the Allin ice property on George and Townsend Streets, keeping in mind that at some future date the market could be moved to this site. The move would relieve traffic congestion in the centre of the city and release the old market property for other purposes. This year the market was moved and the old square metered for parking purposes.

"I think time and the co-operation of our rural friends and county council with civic officials will prove the move was quite in order. I know that the market property has been a worry to our property committee.

At last the long discussed location for the Memorial Centre may be settled by locating the building on the exhibition grounds.

Housing

"Rental housing is still a problem but a special committee on housing has been set up and this committee is working with the Department of Planning and Development of Ontario, whose representatives are at present making a survey as to location and number required, and an announcement should be made in the near future regarding rental houses.

"Regarding our financial position, it is too early to forecast the results for 1951; however, you all realize that it has been a year of rising costs in which municipal government costs rise just the same as any other business and it has been difficult to keep costs anywhere near estimates made in the early months of the year, and for this reason it is more likely that 1951 may end with a small deficit; however, everything is being done to avoid this as much as possible. In these days of increased demands for all kinds of services, future councils are going to have their own difficulties to keep tax rates within reason, and I would like to impress upon appointed boards and commissions the necessity of keeping their future requirements as low as possible in order that councils whose responsibility it is to set rates, may be able to keep these rates as favorable as possible to the taxpayer so that orderly expansion may result.

"I wish to thank the citizens of Peterborough for their fine co-operation with the council during my term of office—the members of the other civic elected and appointed boards and commissions who have given freely of their time and energy to help make our city a better place in which to live.

"Also the heads and personnel of our civic departments who have carried out the policy of the council and given the citizens fine service in all branches of city work.

"The 1951 council has started and finished many projects and have spent many long weary hours in planning and looking after the city's affairs and I think you will agree they have accomplished many things this year that will have a great bearing on the future of Peterborough, and anything that should not have been done, or was not done, was my responsibility.

"Full credit for what has been achieved this year should go to the members of the council, civic staffs and our citizens, as it was through their efforts my term of office has been pleasant and I think successful.

"If at any time our citizens or the council feel that my experience of 11 years' service can be of any assistance, I will only be too willing to serve."

Morley Vanstone Acclaimed Reeve

BOWMANVILLE, Nov. 24 — (ENS) — Taxpayers overflowed the council chambers at a municipal nomination meeting here last night as previously untried candidates aired their views on the inception of municipal garbage collection, zoning, and the advisability of parking meter installation.

Morley Vanstone, deputy-reeve in 1951, was acclaimed reeve. All other offices will be contested. Three members of the public school board, including chairman William G. James were returned to office by acclamation.

Aspirants to municipal office are: mayor—Reeve Frank Jamieson and Sydney Little; reeve—Morley Vanstone (accl.); deputy reeve—Melville S. Dale, Norman Allison; councillors—Wilfrid Carruthers, Jack Niddery, Abbie Darch, Norman Scott, Fred Cole, Jack Brough, O. F. Robson, Bernard Kitney, Jim Nokes, Walter Degeer, Nelson Osborne, George Buchan.

Carruthers, Niddery, Darch and Osborne were members of the 1951 municipal council.

Acclaimed to the public school board were—Wm. G. Jones, Keith Jackson and Ben Kitson.

Election Date Changed In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 24 — (ENS)—The Campbellford town council met in special session on Friday evening, to pass a bylaw calling for a municipal election on December 3. Elections in the town have previously been held on New Year's day, but in order to place the town on a standard with other towns, and to seek a time when many of the inhabitants are not absent from the town, the town fathers decided some time ago that something should be done about changing the date of the election.

Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason presented the bylaw, which received its third reading. The election this year will call for a mayor, six councillors, a reeve and deputy reeve, two commissioners to the public utilities board, (elected for a period of two years), and three school trustees, elected for a three-year period.

Nominations will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 pm on November 26 in the Masonic Temple.

In view of the fact the council meeting falls on election day, council decided to set the date for the next regular meeting at Monday, December 10.

Polling subdivisions were named and also deputy returning officers and poll clerks. The polls will be as follows: Ward 1, Floyd Adams' Service Station on Front St.; Ward 2, Council Chambers, Meyers building, Front St.; Ward 3, Tripp's Store; Ward 4, Campbellford Cloth Company office.

DRO's and poll clerks were named as follows. Names of DRO's appear first, clerk's second:

Ward 1A—D. R. Nicholas, Mrs. Ruth West.

Ward 1B—Stuart Nelson, Mrs. Beatrice McGuire.

Ward 2—Mrs. Stuart Pottle, Mrs. Harold Petherick.

Ward 3A—Mrs. Maud Tripp, Mrs. Walter Lowe.

Ward 3B—Forest Dennis, Mrs. Ella Abar.

Ward 4—Mrs. C. Jewell and Mrs. C. McNaughton.

1,862 Names On List

Clerk J. F. McGregor told council that there were 1,862 names on the municipal voter's list this year, made up of 538 names in Ward 1, 446 names in Ward 2, 468 names in Ward 3 and 410 names in Ward 4. As no individual poll may exceed 450 names under the election act, wards 1 and 3 of the town must be split up into two subdivisions.

The question of rental allowance for voting premises came up for discussion and Reeve Ralph Locke suggested that the amount be increased from $6.00 to $9.00. Councillor Wm. Nicholas thought however that the amount should be set at $8.00, and council agreed to this. The rates of pay for DRO's and poll clerks, formerly $6.00 and $5.00 respectively, were raised to $8.00 and $6.00 respectively.

In the absence of Mayor J. E. Ayhart, Reeve Ralph J. Locke was named to take the chair. Councillors Kingston and Rutherford were also absent from the meeting.

Telegrapher Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 24—(CP)—William J. Telford, veteran Canadian Pacific telegrapher who worked for many years in the press boxes of Canadian race tracks, died Thursday. He was a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

TORRENTIAL RAINS swelled the turbulent flood waters of the Po River and small tributaries today as rescue workers estimated the number of persons rendered homeless in Northern Italy at 200,000. Here are two graphic scenes from the main areas affected. At top Italian firemen carry refugees to safety in a rubber boat. At bottom soldiers, sailors and civilians pile sandbags atop a dyke in an effort to stem the rising waters, but the dyes are being constantly breached by the torrents.

Veterans Groups Watched In Germany

By JOHN EARLE

BONN (Reuters) — German's main veterans' organizations are competing hotly to sign up the millions of West German ex-servicemen.

The winner in this recruiting campaign may determine whether the former soldiers, organized as such, will be a major force in are, whether they will back the West German politics; and, if they Bonn Republic or the Nationalist Right.

The three main veterans' groups are:

1. The union of German soldiers a loosely-knit grouping of old comrades' associations such as the Agrika Korps, the "Green Devils" paratroopers, the SS men. Formed in September to include all local organizations, it pledged support to the Bonn Germany but claimed that otherwise it would be non-political.

2. The Stahlhelm (steel helmet), an avowedly "anti-Bolshevist" political organization.

3. The Kyffhaeuser League, which limits itself to welfare work.

Run Into Difficulties

The union of German soldiers soon ran into difficulties with the Bonn government. Its provisional president, Col.-Gen. Hans Friessener, 59, publicly condemned the July 1944 plot against Hitler's life and defended the German soldiers who in 1939 invaded Poland. The government rebuked the union's leaders for breaking their undertaking not to take part in politics.

Since then there have been signs that the union has met further trouble in its own ranks.

Local paratroop branches have complained that it is not democratic enough and that too many generals are in senior positions. There have been calls for Gen. Friessener's removal.

Fights Bolshevism

The Stahlhelm works less publicly. Its headquarters—on the patched-up top floor of a bomb-damaged building in Cologne, adorned with imperial German flags—have a "cloak and dagger" atmosphere.

Its program, avowedly political is couched in vague, semi-mysterious terms. A spokesman, who asked that his name not be disclosed, said: "Our practcial task is to fight Bolshevism. We would not stand idly by if the state were threatened by Marxism."

Stahlhelm is a re-foundation of the Nationalist, para-military force absorbed into Hitler's SA (Brownshirts). Claims that it has over 130,000 members are doubted by Allied and West German officials.

With an eye to the future, it aims at attracting youth. Its spokesman says that the "young Stahlhelm" has 7,000 members, whom they would like to put in uniform and equip with small arms.

The "Kyffhaeuser League" is led by a former Prussian guards commander, Gen. Wilhelm Reinhardt, who says: "We reject politics. Our task is social."

Dissolved By Hitler

The league, founded in the last century, numbered 3,000,000 members, paying 30 pfennigs (about 7 cents) dues a month, when Hitler dissolved it in 1943.

Its activities were to maintain a chain of homes in Germany for veterans and their dependents in distress, to provide financial help for the sick — cancer sufferers could have operations paid for—and to encourage the spirit of old comradeship at home and aboard.

Hitler confiscated its property as well as its 40,000,000 Reichsmarks assets — "funds gathered from the pennies of poor people," Gen. Reinhardt says.

Today, the league, trying to reorganize in face of rivalry, finds itself involved in expensive legal wrangles over the return of its homes from the state government.

Market Sees Gain Slip Away In Broad Slump

By DICK BAIDEN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Stock market investors this week saw four months' gain slip through their fingers in the broadest market movement since late May.

The [illegible] to Stock Exhange's index of 20 selected industrial issues dropped more than 11 points to the level of late-July.

Six consecutive days of steady decline produced little agreement among professional observers.

Optimists interpreted the movement as a technical consolidation or "shake-out". Prices should resume their climb next month — a traditionally-bullish period — they claimed.

Pessimists blamed a number of factors. Reports of agreement on Korean peace terms and the resulting possibility of reduced defence contracts were cited. Poor third quarter earning reports and decreased dividends were considered important.

A third consideration strengthened the pessimists' stand. Selling pressure was extremely light early this week and stocks drifted lower because of generally weak support. Toward the weekend, however, selling pressure increased and spread the list of issues traded from about 475 a day to more than 500.

Toronto opened the week with slow, irregular trading. Prices edged downward as the session progressed, however and closed lower. In Montreal, papers and industrials weakened.

Rally in Toronto

Prices rallied weakly in Toronto Tuesday but slipped toward the close. Industrials steadied in Montreal but papers eased. Toronto's downward trend carried over into Wednesday's trading as all divisions drifted lower. Papers and industrials continued to slip in Montreal.

Dispirited traders watched Toronto prices slip Thursday to their fifth consecutive decline. Montreal papers and industrials slipped steadily. Friday saw Toronto prices dip in the most active session in more than a week. All sections weakened in Montreal.

New York prices drifted downward Monday in the dullest trading in more than four months. A last minunte recovery Tuesday trimmed losses. Stocks made little headway Wednesday in mixed trading. The market was closed Thursday for Thanksgiving. The market ran into a severe case of nerves yesterday and declined sharply.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 11.20 at 332.28, golds down .73 at 80.81, base metals down 6.83 at 185.28 and western oils down 4.82 at 119.52.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .08 at 29.57, utilities down 1.2 at 84.6, industrials down 10.1 at 213.7, combined down 7.1 at 170.7, papers down 32.38 at 737.33 and golds down 2.05 at 65.57.

In New York The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $1.60 to $94.90.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Past and present football greats league and team officials from Edmonton to Montreal Friday night paid tribute at Toronto to 24-year-old Johnny Black who faces the prospect of spending the rest of his life in a wheel-chair, victim of a playing-field accident.

More than 800 fans, coaches, league presidents and men who made their names on gridirons across Canada, sat down to a $10-a-plate dinner, proceeds to go to the Oakville, Ont., player who suffered a broken neck and back while making a tackle two years ago. Johnny played for the intermediate Oakville, Ont. Braves in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The dark-haired former player sat at the head table at the event, an annual get-together of football enthusiasts on the eve of the Grey Cup. Proceeds from last year's dinner went to the widow of Ross Trimble, former Ottawa Rough Rider and Toronto Balmy Beach coach.

Black, unable to move either arms or legs, acknowledged the cheers of the gathering with a nod of his head. He is to be a special guest at the Ottawa-Saskatchewan Grey Cup final at Varsity Stadium today.

Two more attempts to bribe Scottish soccer players have been reported to the Scottish Football Association. The St. Mirren Club of Division "A" of the Scottish Football League told the association Thursday that one of its players, centre half Willie Telfer, was offered $560 to throw last Saturday's match against Partick Thistle. Goalkeeper Johnny Lynch was also approached but the amount of money was not mentioned, the club reported.

Marty Marion, Mr. Shortstop of another year, was eased out as a manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in a surprise move Friday. Owner Fred Saigh wouldn't say why the rookie manager was given the gate but it generally was believed Saigh felt Marion lacked aggressiveness, despite the club's third-place finish last season.

University of British Columbia's eight-man rowing crew will make a bid for the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki, Finland. Athletic director Bob Robinett said Friday that the Varsity crew will be sent to St. Catharines, Ont., next June for the Canadian Olympic trials.

Hamilton Panthers, the city's football team with the best record on the field and poorest at the gate, left Friday night for Montreal and their game today with the Royal Montreal Regiment for the eastern Canada intermediate grid title.

Frank McCormick, former Cincinnati Reds' first baseman, and most valuable player in the National League in 1940, Friday returned to the club as a scout.

Sunderland, a first-division English League club, paid £30,000 Friday for George Aitken, a wing halfback of Third Lanark, a Scottish League club. It was a record amount for a Scottish footballer and the second highest ever paid in Britain. The record is £34,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—(AP)—A total of 132 persons died in accidents during the United States Thanksgiving Day period—99 of them in traffic mishaps.

Lady Astor Asks Fund For Shaw

LONDON, Nov. 24—(AP)—Lady Astor, a close friend of the late George Bernard Shaw, Friday urged the formation of a "Society to save Shaw from his friends."

Lady Astor spoke at the launching of a world-wide £250,000 Shaw Memorial appeal.

She told a gathering of writers and artists something should be done about breaking Shaw's "ridiculous will." But Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard Butler, who was in the gathering assured her that the government's legal advisers report the will is iron clad.

Lady Astor then revealed that before Shaw's death a year ago she had "tackled him on his will. I said leave me some money. In generations to come people would say 'that was the woman he loved!' " She added:

"He was a most provocative but a satisfactory man. I loved him dearly. I loved him because he was such a great Conservative and great aristocrat. Nobody has been more misrepresented. I think we should have another society to save Shaw from his friends."

But, she said, "he never gave anything to the people he loved. Here am I in wretched circumstances. I cannot forgive him for that wretched will."

Shaw left the bulk of his estates of £301,585, less taxes, to a fund for promoting a phonetic 40-letter alphabet which was one of his pet projects during his later years.

His few private bequests did not include one to Lady Astor, who is not exactly in the "reduced circumstances" she described.

Are you in the know?

What helps smooth out too-curly locks?

☐ Softening ☐ Stretching ☐ Brushing

If you're a frizz-kid, don't fret. Have your locks shaped and thinned out. After each washing, use a softening rinse; apply wave-set to s-t-r-e-t-c-h hair while putting into pin curls. And you'll find constant brushing can help smooth those problem tresses. Of course, you can smooth away problem-day cares—with the comfort of Kotex to keep you at ease. Because Kotex is made to stay soft while you wear it. Gives softness that holds its shape.

When leaving a vehicle, which is correct?

☐ Ladies first ☐ Ladies last ☐ Look before you leap

When you leave a bus, street car, taxi or jalopy—ladies last is the rule to remember. That's so your squire can assist you to a safe landing. Why tempt fate or thwart his gallantry by leaping to the street a'fore him? Why take risks at any time? Side-step problem-day "accidents" with that special safety centre of Kotex. You get extra protection. And those flat pressed ends of Kotex really prevent revealing outlines! Your secret is safe.

3 ABSORBENCIES: Regular, Super, Junior

More women choose KOTEX* than all other sanitary napkins!

*T.M. Reg.

How to prepare for "certain" days?

☐ Circle your calendar ☐ Buy a new belt ☐ Perk up your wardrobe

Before "that" time, be ready! All 3 answers above can help. But to assure extra comfort, buy a new Kotex sanitary belt. Made with soft-stretch elastic—light-weight Kotex belt's non-twisting. Stays flat even after many washings. Dries pronto! So don't wait... buy a new Kotex belt now. (Why not buy two—for a change?)

P.S. Have you tried Delsey? Delsey* is the new bathroom tissue that's safer because it's softer. A product as superior as Kotex: . . a tissue as soft and absorbent as Kleenex*. (We think that's the nicest compliment there is.)

Senior Alderman

Adamson, Murray Irwin and Dr. Russell Morgan.

Mr. Irwin and Dr. Morgan have retired from the field of trusteeship.

George A. MacDonald is seeking re-election for the three-year term as member of the Utilities Commission.

Room Crowded

The main committee room at the city hall was crowded when the hour for nominations opened at 7.30 pm. A score or more of men had to stand in the corridor, outside its three doors.

This was the first time the civic headquarters were used by citizens in their preliminary step of proposing prospective candidates for the election positions. All the nominees who were present remained to the end of the subsequent session which affords them a hearing.

Mayor Swanston remarked in compliment that it was the largest attendance in his experience. His valedictory address is published in another column.

"I wish to acknowledge the great honor that has been conferred on me in my nomination for mayor," Ald. Waddell said. "I thank those who have proposed me. I have served a period of three busy terms as one of your aldermen. They have been years of remarkable growth, and as Peterborough grows so do the problems and responsibilities of your city council.

"I would like to say a word about the work done by Mayor Swanston. The citizens and the council owe him a debt of gratitude for his untiring efforts in the discharge of his heavy duties. It takes two to do this, and I would like to include Mrs. Swanston for her interest.

"If I am elected, I will give the position the very best I have."

Candidates' Addresses

At the close of the hour for nominations, City Clerk Outram was appointed chairman for the customary period of addresses by the prospective candidates. They were called in the order in which their nomination papers were presented.

Charles Kenneth Hurst recalled the flash fire at the Aylmer St. substation of the Utilities Commission, and said that the ensuing inconvenience to the citizens stressed the importance of electric power to the community. Electric power and water were both everyday necessities, and the gas department had more than 2,000 domestic and industrial customers. Administration of these public utilities should have a sound business basis, Mr. Hurst said, should have a member with engineer background.

Mr. Outram reported that Dr. Gordon R. Langley was prevented from attending the meeting by a recent accident, but had sent a certificate of his wish to be nominated.

Grenville B. Lethangue, toolmaker at Western Clock, said this was the second time he was offering his service as candidate for council. "The citizens have had one year to consider whether I am to be elected. Some of my friends have told me that I have the qualifications. Personally, I feel qualified to do the job. I am not making any rash promises, but I know that my experience with the Junior Chamber of Commerce has been good training and should go a long way in helping me in the work of the city council."

T. Douglas Miller said he was completing four years in the aldermanic service. He was two years chairman of the fire, water and light committee, and was this year chairman of the finance committee.

"I consider it a great honor to be chairman of that committee, and I assure you that it is a real responsibility. If I am again elected, I will serve the city to the best of my ability."

Tribute To Mayor

Ald. Miller said he joined with Ald. Hugh Waddell in his motion of appreciation of the record of service rendered by Mayor Swanston, and also in his tribute to the interest of Mrs. Swanston in the civic affairs.

Said George Brooke: "If elected I shall do my best for one and all. My general policy will be: justice for all and privilege to none."

John A. Dewart said it was a pleasure to see so many people attending the nominations meeting. "Their intelligent interest is needed to make democracy function successfully. In these last two years I have felt it a high honor to serve in the capacity of a member of the council."

Ald. Dewart said the leadership of Mayor Swanston had been an inspiration to the council. The expansion of Peterborough entailed additional costs which the council had tried to keep at a reasonable level.

"If there has been any mistake or errors they have been in judgment rather than in intent. If I am elected again to the council I shall consider it a great honor to serve the city, for we all realize that Peterborough is one of the best cities in Canada."

Labor Representative

William John Beggs, nominee for council, said that as a representative of Peterborough and District Labor Council, if he was elected he would keep the interest of the people first. Peterborough was a growing city, and Labor was an important part of the community. Mr. Beggs said he would be especially interested in its industrial progress.

"I have been on the council during these last four important years," said P. J. Anglesey, "and I think the training I have received will stand me in good stead in the administration of the city if I am elected for another two-year term."

Ald. Anglesey complimented the citizens on their large attendance. "I htope this augurs well for election day, and that there will be a large turnout of the people to vote. That is one of the interests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who co-operate with the citizens in featuring the importance of exercising the right to vote."

Arthur Pitchford said he wished to include in the tributes to Mayor Swanston an appreciation of the good relations during his term between the council and the Board of Education. It was evidence of teamwork that was well done indeed.

"I offer the citizens sincerity of service," Mr. Pitchford said. "I gave four years on the Board of Education. That was interrupted two years ago. I am deeply interested in educational matters. Growth of the city call for additional school rooms, and that means additional cost. The trustee of our schools has to try to satisfy the taxpayer that his money is not being squandered. So, you have to try to arrive at a balance, keeping in mind what is best for the children of our schools.

Utilities Commission

James Juby expressed his thanks to his former colleagues of the council, Malcolm McIntyre and H. J. McCannan, for their sponsorship. "I tried to do a good job as a citizen when I was a member of the council for four years. I was forced to give it up at that time on account of ill health. I am glad to say that with rest I have regained my health. If I am elected to the Utilities Commission I will again do my best in the service of the people, to do a job and do it right."

Two years on the Board of Education, Mrs. Ann Rowell said, had been a pleasant experience, "and that appreceniticeship should make my work more valuable if I am re-elected. I am deeply interested in the education of our children, and in the good relations between the Board and our teachers. I believe that a happy teacher makes a better teacher. If you elect me I shall do my very best to serve you."

Stanley R. Adamson expressed his appreciation of his election to the Board of Education two years ago. "I would like to see some long range planning for new schools, the improvement of our older buildings and also in the matter of salaries. Such a plan would be based on the assumption that Peterborough will continue to grow. I would consider the optioning of desirable property likely to be required, rather than having to make hurried decisions later on. The Board should be prepared to discuss such a plan with the council and with the people. It would necessarily be based on the support of the people."

Similarly a salary plan should be laid out over a long term, Mr. Adamson said, recognizing that adequate salaries should be paid "to retain and improve the excellent staffs of teachers we now have."

A long range plan would include the gradual improvement of the older school buildings, and the undertaking of new schools as they became necessary until the job was done. "It would avoid considering what we should do in any one year just to extricate ourselves from problems. I earnestly solicit your support if I qualify."

G. W. Craw said the privilege of being a member of the Board of Education carried an equivalent responsibility. "It has been my privilege to be a member of the Board for 12 years, and I trust that I have been able to accept some of the corresponding responsibility."

School Attendance

In those years Peterborough's Public Schools have increased in attendance from 2,639 to 4,554 last month.

"We have in part been able to meet this through annexation, whereby we took in three greatly overcrowded schools, and also through a building program."

On the basis of 40 pupils to a classroom, those extra 1,915 pupils meant that 48 extra rooms were required. "We have had an extensive building program, but even with this, we have not been able to keep ahead of the demands on the Board from increased attendance."

Assessment figures show that increased numbers of pupils can be expected in the next few years. To relieve that congestion was not only the responsibility of the Board, but was also the responsibility of the people of Peterborough, to see that there was adequate accommodation.

"We have gone as far as we can with additions to present school buildings. New schools farther out in the ever-growing circle of Peterborough's expanding growth are necessary. They are not going to come all at once, but through a well planned building program."

As present chairman of the finance commitee on the Board, Mr. Craw said that although the general tax rate was going up, the Board during the last five years had tried to keep down its expenditures.

He said that in 1944 the monies required for the operation of the Public Schools of the city was 26.4% of the total tax rate as compared with 2.19% of that total rate this year.

And Collegiate costs were down in that same period from 12 per cent to 7 per cent this year, which was the lowest since 1939 in operating costs. Capital charges were lower, Mr. Craw said, than for the last five years.

The problems of the Board will continue for the next few years, Mr. Craw concluded. "I intend to qualify, for I think I have something to offer in trying to solve these problems."

George A. Macdonald

George A. Macdonald said that in all the references to the expansion of Peterborough, it was only fair that the Utilities Commission should be recognized for its contribution of essential services.

"The members of the Commission feel that the job has been well done, and it has been a big job to keep pace with the increasing needs of the larger population."

In the electrical department new substations had to be built to transfer some of the load from the Aylmer St. transformers. In 1947 a 3000 kva. substation was built on Romaine St. to serve industries and new residential areas to the south.

In 1949, the Commission erected a 3750 kva. substation on Clifton St. in Ashburnham to meet the requirements of the growing load in that part of the city. In the following year a 750-kva. station was constructed on Water St. at the Auburn dam.

Work this year, Mr. Macdonald said, completed a 3750 kva. unit on High St. at Third Ave., required by the western growth of the city; and a second substation has been built on High St., just north of Lansdowne St. For the present it is equipped with 1800 kva. capacity, but equipment for a 3750 kva. unit as planned, will be delivered next year. New switchgear has been ordered for the Aylmer St. substation on account of the new circuits from the R. L. Dobbin station at Lily Lake.

Waterworks

Problems had also been tackled in the waterworks department Mr. Macdonald said. Two pumps with a capacity of 7.8 million gallons a day were installed at the waterworks in 1947 by Dominion Bridge; and another electrically driven centrifugal pump was set up in 1950 with a capacity of 6 million gallons a day.

Plans have been prepared this year for a new three-million gallons a day addition to the filter plant.

As to new water mains, Mr. Macdonald recalled the 24-inch line built on Bethune St., from the pumphouse. At its south end that main was reduced to 18-inch, and completed in 1949 to improve low pressure, especially in the west end of the city. Then, there was the 12-inch main laid across the Otonabee river at Burnham's Point.

"In 1950 we had a total of 81.99 miles of water mains in the city," Mr. Macdonald said. "Of that total, 17 miles were laid in the years from 1947 to 1950. We also installed a booster pump and a 50,000 gallon elevated tank to serve Civic Hospital and domestic consumers in that area. These are some of the things the Utilities Commission has been engaged in doing.

"If you elect me on December 3, I will be honored, and I'll do the best I can to serve you, as I have done in the past."

E. C. Braund

Ald. E. C. Braund briefly said that he had grown up in Peterborough, and was deeply interested in its good government. "I was elected to the council two years ago. You know my record, and if it is satisfactory I hope you know what to do on election day."

Stan Longhurst said that people had been urging him to let his name stand for the council. "If my name gets on to the ballot, I'll appreciate your vote."

"If I were a member of the council I would try to deal with the city's business as I would my own," said Sydney J. Black. "The city's business has grown to more than $2,000,000 a year, and that's big business. I feel that the citizens should elect men who will sincerely look after those things. If I am elected I promise to do my best. That's all any man can do. I have been in business 29 years on Charlotte St., and I am keenly interested in the welfare of our city."

Adult Education

Edmund Humphrey, maintenance mechanic with A. Wander Co., said that any citizen challenged with responsibility such as the Board of Education should be willing to accept it. "I have been particularly interested in adult education, because I think that if we could educate adults sufficiently the problem of child education could be reduced, especially as regards delinquency."

Mr. Humphrey said he had spent seven years in army technical education. His classes were composed of young people coming from the schools, who had to be trained in quite a range of technical sujects.

"I think such experience would be a help on the board," he said. "If I am elected I shall endeavor to promote the education of our children to the best of my ability," he said.

It was announced that Mr. C. H. Huffman had to leave for a Kiwanis Club social.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Canadians Halt Big Red Drive In 4-Day Battle

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Nov. 26. (CP)—A daring United Nations patrol today carried the fight to the Chinese enemy who has besieged their barren ridge-top position almost incessantly for four days. At least for the present, there was a lull in enemy activity. The last Chinese attack was made Sunday night. It was beaten off with artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire. The UN troops used the respite to spell one another for sleep — for many the first in four days.

An eerie battleground silence was broken only by occasional shelling.

(As was the case Sunday, censorship apparently would not let Boss identify the UN troops involved. The few details of location he was able to cable indicated the action was a continuation of one he reported Saturday involving the Royal 22nd Regiment under Lt.-Col. J. A. Dextraze of Montreal.

Shattering Defeat

(The Van Doos action began Friday afternoon when the Reds captured a hill to the right and slightly behind the Van Doos, perched on a barren ridge.

(Today the Canadian army in Tokyo said the struggle centred "over possession of a dominating hill in the area."

(There was circumstantial evidence today that the Van Doos have had a part in imposing a shattering defeat on an attempt by up to 24,000 Chinese Reds to capture "Little Gibraltar"—four dominating peaks.

(AP Correspondent John Randolph at Seoul reported this defeat today. He did not identify the battlefield exactly but there are facts of time and geography in his cable which indicate the Van Doos fight was part of the "Little Gibraltar" action.)

Ready For New Attack

UN troops busied themselves preparing positions to meet possible further attacks.

They were filthy dirty, their faces were black with muddy beards, and their uniforms were tattered by shrapnel.

But they were peppy despite their ordeal and exuberant over their successful defence of a position which it vital to holding a broad sector of the front.

"UN forces, under continuous attack for a week, had backed up to the foothills surrounding this main feature," the Canadian release said. "For the last three days the intensity of the battle increased as waves of Chinese infantry threw themselves against the stonewall defence put up by a UN formation."

No Sleep For 72 Hours

"This UN formation, fighting without sleep for 72 hours, at times found itself fighting off attacks from three directions."

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, the statement said.

Couple Die Of Poisoning On Dance Date

MATHESON, Ont., Nov. 26 — (CP)—A trip to find a Saturday night dance ended at noon Sunday in death for one young couple and illness for another.

Police are holding three district men as material witnesses in connection with the deaths, apparently from poisoning, of Viola Durham, 18-year-old switchboard operator, and Robert Ford, 17, Ontario Highways Department employee.

Held are Howard MacIntyre, 28, of Shillington; Harold Dillman, 24 of Matheson and Roy Pettifer, 25, of Hooker Creek.

Fourteen - year - old Barbara Emith, the surviving girl, said she and the two victims and Carlyle Wilson, 16-year-old bank clerk, the fourth member of the foursome, had two drinks each from a bottle of wine in a restaurant at Ramore, a few miles from here, where they had gone after Wilson's old-model car went into a ditch.

The dance they had hoped to find at Bourkes, 30 miles south of here, had not been held.

Start On Ride

She said that in Ramore they met MacIntyre and Dillman and started on a ride through the district that lasted until noon. Police believe that about dawn the car was parked along a district road. At a lumber camp, shortly before noon, the six met Pettifer, who is reported to have driven the car part way back to this northern Ontario asbestos-mining centre. The survivors say MacIntyre drove the rest of the way.

When they reached Matheson, they found the Durham girl and Ford were dead.

Barbara Smith later told how death came to her two friends on the backwoods road.

"They kept on moaning until sunrise, then they were quiet."

Investigators said they would not know for sure what caused the deaths until an autopsy was performed today. Dr. R. C. Wood, who examined the bodies, said the cause might have been wood alcohol, food poisoning or carbon monoxide poisoning.

Snow To Last For Few Days

TORONTO, Nov. 26 — (CP) — Two inches of snow covered most of Ontario Sunday night and snow was still falling today in Toronto and eastern parts of the province. Windsor and London areas received freezing rain.

The Dominion public weather office said some areas, including Toronto, would have snowflurries late in the afternoon. The temperature would be about 35 during the day but drop to 20 tonight.

"The snow is expected to stay with us for a few days," a forecaster said.

The drop in temperature tonight was expected to result in slippery roads and highways.

US Accepts Private Arms Parley

Asian-Arab States Submit Resolution For Big Four Powers

PARIS, Nov. 26. (AP)—The United States agreed today to get together with Russia for private disarmament talks as suggested by a group of Asian-Arab states, but expressed doubt as to the usefulness of the move.

Iraq, Pakistan and Syria submitted a resolution to the 60-member United Nations Political Committee asking that the Big Four—Russia, the United States, Britain and France — meet privately under the presidency of Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico to try to reconcile the Western and Russian disarmament plans.

US Ambassador Philip Jessup later told the committee the US was ready to do this if the committee voted it. He pointed out, however, that the deputy foreign ministers of the four countries had tried for 14 weeks last spring to reach such an agreement without success.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky told reporters he has not decided on an answer to the Asian-Arab move aimed at easing East-West tension.

Urge "Study Group"

India's Sir Benegal Rau led off the Asian-Arab peace drive with suggestions for a "study group" to try for a permanent end to the Korean War and for an Assembly sub-committee to try to reconcile the Western and Russian disarmament proposals.

Pakistan's Sir Mohammed Zafrulalh Khan then introduced a formal resolution in the 60-member political committee to establish a conciliation group to negotiate in private on disarmament.

This group's private sessions would substitute for the public debate which has been raging in the United Nations for the last three weeks.

Syria and Iraq joined Pakistan in sponsoring the resolution submitted by Zafrullah Khan.

The proposals came as many UN delegates, studying Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal Saturday to tack numerous amendments on the Western disarmament plan, saw little chance of an East-West compromise.

Earthquakes Jolt Formosa Second Day

TAIPEH, Formosa, Nov. 26—(AP)—Earthquakes jolted Formosa for the second straight day today. At least 15 persons were killed and more than 200 injured by shocks that jarred the eastern and south-western coasts Sunday.

A sharp shock was felt in Taipeh this afternoon but caused no damage or casualties. Sunday's quakes damaged the east coast railroad at seven places in the 75-mile stretch between Hualien and Taitung.

Hualien, hard hit by quakes that killed about 100 persons Oct. 22 and 23, suffered no casualties Sunday.

The rail towns of Yuli and Fuli, 50 and 60 miles south, bore the brunt of the Sunday tremors.

Car Rolls Over 2 Killed, 1 Hurt

BOWMANVILLE, Nov. 26 — (Staff).—Two Bowmanville men were killed and a third seriously injured early Sunday when their car went out of control on Highway 2 and rolled over three times. The accident occurred a mile and a half west of Bowmanville.

Dead are Fred Ellis 21, and Floyd Brough, 19. Wilfred Lorne Ellis, 18, brother of Fred, received head injuries and a badly crushed right hand.

The trio were driving east on the highway after visiting friends near Maple Grove. The car failed to make a sharp turn in the highway and skidded sideways for 100 feet, then rolled over three times and ended up in the ditch.

All three were thrown from the car.

Fred Ellis is believed to have died instantly from a broken neck and fractured skull. Brough died nine hours later in Bowmanville Memorial Hospital, also from a fractured skull.

The only survivor Wilfred Ellis, is in Bowmanville hospital.

Parents of the Ellis brothers are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis of Donaldson, PEI. The dead youth has been a resident of Bowmanville for 15 months and was employed at a rubber plant.

No Fun Left

LONDON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The price of a cup of tea—Britain's national beverage went up 20 per cent in London today. Leading tea shops announced a hike of half a penny a cup to three pence. The old price of two pence halfpenny had held steady since 1939.

Post Canadians In Spot To Stop Russian Invasion

WITH THE CANADIANS IN GERMANY, Nov. 26 (CP).— The Canadians have been earmarked for posting to key soil fronting the German industrial heartland in the Ruhr, Western Europe's strategic prize of prizes.

By the fall of 1952, the 27th Brigade is expected to be a fully operational formation based at or near Soest, a quaint old Westphalian city. This would place its 5,500 men directly in the path of any Soviet surge for the Rhine through such important cities as Dortmund, Essen and Dusseldorf.

The significance of the decision to post the Brigade to Soest is fairly apparent to anyone who looks at a map of Germany. Vital Ruhr cities cluster like a group of strategic plums in the 60 miles between Soest and the Rhine.

Soest, too, is in an area where the Canadians would be involved in battling any Russian attempt to break into the great North German plain through one of the main gateways through the hills to that plain.

It iss ignificant in another way, too, that Canada is preparing to pour $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 into new barracks for the Brigade at Soest, because Soest is well east of the Rhine. Thus this capital investment becomes another sign both to the Russians and the Germans that the Atlantic Pact powers intend to fight any aggression east of this great water barrier.

Use Radar To Guard Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Nov. 26 (Reuters)—Buckingham Palace, London home of the Royal Family, is being fitted with special radar-type warning apparatus as protection against intruders, the Sunday Express said Sunday.

The paper says his "most revolutionary step ever taken to protect Royal residence" followed urgent conferences between Scotland Yard, the Home Office and the Ministry of Works.

16 Killed and 60 Injured As 2 Streamliners Meet Head-On In Alabama

WOODSTOCK, Ala., Nov. 26. (AP)—Sixteen were killed and 60 hurt as two deluxe New York-New Orleans streamliners met head-on on a railroad trestle Sunday 29 miles southwest of Birmingham. Most of the dead were in the first car of the Southerner, all-coach train northbound from New Orleans. It was crushed like an eggshell. The Southerner pulled into the path of the onrushing southbound Crescent, which was using the Southern tracks here because a bridge was out on the Louisville and Nashville lines near New Orleans, 320 miles away.

"We were slammed back 90 feet," said George Newton, Seminary, Miss., a passenger in the third coach of the northbound train. "Everybody was running through the train screaming."

The southerner stopped after pulling out from a siding. The Crescent rounded a curve and slammed into it.

Normally the Crescent operates over the south to Atlanta, over the West Point route to Montgomery, Ala., and thence to New Orleans via the L. and N.

All Dead on One Train

All of the known dead were on the Southerner. Fifteen were Negroes, most of them in the ill-fated "Mississippi," a combination baggage-passenger coach with 22 seats.

K. C. Shults, division superintendent of the Alabama Great Southern (a division of the Southern Railway) said there was no indication that safety signals which should have stopped the Southerner on its siding were not working.

The northbound train had gone into the siding to allow its southbound companion train to pass. The 13-car Crescent probably was running at about 65 miles an hour when it hit.

Seven cars of the Crescent left the tracks, with four plunging off the 40-foot embankment. Almost miraculously no one was killed in the cars which dropped to the ground.

Private Session On UK Finances

ROME, Nov. 26 — (AP).—Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. Butler, met in closely guarded privacy today with US Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder to seek new American help for the shaky British economy.

Spokesmen for the two top officials said the hour-long session at the US Embassy was completely private, with neither aides or advisers around.

The idea was to allow Butler and Snyder to range over the whole field of Anglo-American economic relations as freely and as frankly as possible.

Officials on both sides were pretty certain one question came up in the discussions — whether Britain intends to waive the estimated $75,000,000 interest payment on the 1946 American loan. That payment falls due December 31.

Britain has the right to waive interest payments if her economic position is weak.

Britain also hopes to get two new forms of American help soon.

Thorough Inquiry Into Atrocity Charges

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 26 (AP) —Confidants said today President Truman is making a thorough inquiry into the handling of the Korean atrocity charges.

An atmosphere of official silence, however, enveloped his investigation.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short refused to comment but other White House aides, unquotable by name, said Truman is reserving a statement on the atrocity charges until he has all the facts at his command.

In his only public comment on the atrocity charges, Truman termed the charges horrible and said if true it was the most uncivilized thing that has happened in the last century.

Voting Said Brisk

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 26 — (CP)—Returning officers reported a brisk turnout of voters as polls opened in Newfoundland's provincial election today. Twenty-three of the 28 seats in the legislature are being contested. Approximately 150,000 voters are eligible to go to the polls.

Poor Santa Claus Comes Off Second Best As Parade Broken Up In Small-Scale Riot

TIMMINS, Nov. 26—(CP)—Santa Claus came off a poor second-best Saturday in his bout with Timmins' children. His float in the annual parade was broken up and his loudspeaker put out of commission in a small-scale riot.

At one point pop-eyed youngsters—3,500 of them—watched Saint Nick, his white beard angrily blowing, strike out wildly at teen-agers mobbing his float for bags of candy.

About half the kids didn't get any goodies after the float halted to allow youngsters to walk up steps to greet Santa.

The press became so great that those on the float became alarmed. They began heaving the candies into the crowd to ease off the pressure. That made it worse. A dozen fist fights broke out at once when knots of boys strove to get the candy.

When the scene cleared the yard was strewn with children's gloves, rubber, candies tramped into the earth and torn bags, the streets were full of irate mothers going home with weeping, empty-handed youngsters.

Helmet-less Chinese Women Leading Troops In Battle

TOKYO, Nov. 26 (Reuters). — Raven-haired Chinese women, helmetless and unmindful of shattering gunfire, are leading Communists into battle in Korea.

Frontline Canadian officers report four of the strange women warriors have been encountered so far, all wearing black dungaree coveralls over regular Chinese winter uniform.

Two of the women in black were killed and two wounded last night west of Yonchon.

Cpl. Butch Bouchard of Jonquier Que., who killed one on Sunday and wounded another with his machine gun, said:

"I could tell they were women. They had long black hair reaching their shoulders. Searchlights on the battlefield made it easy to see them. One was running ahead of the Chinese shouting. Bullets almost cut her in two."

Artillery fire prevented removal of the dead woman in front of Bouchard's position.

Another Allied unit west of Yonchon believed it had also killed a woman in black.

One of the wounded women was being treated at a casualty clearing station for leg wounds. Sgt.-Mapor George Dagnias of Montreal said he saw the other wounded woman at a forward clearing station. She was "young, quite pretty," he commented.

Fanatically fearless, the Communist maids stood and cheered their men on—apparently indifferent to gunfire. Allied troops actually came across the first woman in black 11 days ago. A wounded Allied soldier saw her waving a pistol and blowing a whistle as she led charging Communists into heavy mortar and artillery fire.

United Nations forces have been aware for some time that Chinese women were permanently attached to some Communist combat units.

Major R. Liboiron of Ponteix, Sask., said Chinese women stretcher bearers had been seen with burial parties. Several times they were seen carrying bodies off the battlefield, he added.

Korean Race Now Begins To Get Truce Signed Before 30-Day Deadline

Only Signatures Needed For Settlement Of Cease-Fire Line, Formal Adoption of Clause Mere Formality

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 26. (AP)—Allied and Communist staff officers tonight agreed on the exact location of a 145-mile line across Korea where the shooting will stop if an armistice is signed within 30 days. Only signatures of the truce negotiators are needed to complete settlement of the second item on the armistice agenda—fixing a cease-fire line. The sub-committees will meet in Panmunjom Tuesday at 10 am (8 pm EST Monday) to approve the proposal. The full five-man armistice delegations will open a plenary session one hour later. Formal adoption of the buffer zone clause is expected to be a mere formality.

Then in a race against the 30-day deadline and while the fighting goes on, the negotiators will work on three other points that must be agreed on before a full armistice can be signed.

There still is a possibility of an armistice in Korea by Christmas, but no one in an official position at the UN camp would risk a prediction that a truce can be negotiated by then.

Ratification of the buffer zone clause Tuesday would start a 30-day negotiating period ending Dec. 26.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, offical allied spokesman, would say only that the UN command is "hopeful" that the negotiators will be able to agree on a truce by the deadline.

The staff officers pinpointed the last sector of the cease-fire line at 6.30 pm (4.30 am EST) after a marathon session lasting almost 7½ hours.

The official UN command communique said minor differences cropped up after the officers reached general agreement on the line of battle contact. All were ironed out and the line was drawn on two sets of maps which both sides initialed.

The cease-fire line approved by the negotiators will be the centre of a demilitarized buffer zone 2½ miles wide if an armistice is signed within 30 days of the approval expected Tuesday.

The fighting will continue until an armistice is reached, and if the negotiators fail to reach agreement within the time limit, the line will be redrawn just before the truce goes into efffect to cover battle changes.

Britain Rejects US-Led Naval Command

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP)—Qualified sources reported today that Britain again has turned down a proposal to set up an American-led North Atlantic naval command immediately.

They said also Prime Minister Churchill's government so far has refused to accept the American .30 Garand as the standard rifle for the Atlantic allies.

Britain is still arguing in favor of adopting its own .280 rifle as the standard allied rifle.

These developments emerged after allied defence ministers met this morning in a special session with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military committee, made up of 12 chiefs of staff.

The defence ministers accepted a plan to create a separate British-led naval command in the English Channel and the southern North Sea to guard the approaches and the ports in these vital waters.

Needs Approval

The plan needs the approval of the Atlantic Council as a whole before it can be adopted. That approval likely will come later today or sometime Tuesday. Earlier Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a 30-minute address to the military committee said peace without fear will come to Europe only if the west builds a strong defence line far to the east of the Rhine.

Loaded Doughnuts

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 26. (AP) — Loaded doughnuts have landed Mrs. Raymond Shaw in the same jail with her husband. Mrs. Shaw was arrested Saturday when she entered the Lowndes County jail to visit her husband carrying a bag of doughnuts loaded with pistol bullets, sheriff J. L. Futch said. Earlier in the day, said Futch, he and Jailor Joe Brantley had taken a pistol from Guy Cooper, cellmate of Shaw.

Truck Hits Bus Four Lose Lives

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Nov. 26 (CP). — Four persons were fatally injured today when a 37-passenger bus, en route from Drummondville, Que., to Montreal in a blinding snowstorm, was sideswiped by a heavy, Drummondville-bound truck.

Three of the dead, unidentified women, were brought to the morgue here. The fourth, Georges Bellecourt, 50, Drummondville, died in hospital shortly after admittance.

Police said 12 other persons were injured but none was believed in serious condition.

St. Hyacinthe is some 40 miles east of Montreal.

Reporter, Gen. Kurt Meyer Both Surprised At Interview

OFFLEBEN, Germany, Nov. 26—(CP)—Kurt Meyer, German major-general sentenced to life imprisonment for war crimes, said Sunday—in the midst of his first freedom in seven years—that he went to Canada as "a fanatical German" and came back to Germany "convinced that all nationalism is dead."

He was interviewed by a Canadian Press reporter within easy sight of the Russian zone in a meeting that was a surprise to both of them.

The imprisoned former SS leader came to his mother's home in this coal-mining village only two days ago under a system which he said allows war prisoners to go home alone on leave from time to time.

This reporter went to Offleben to interview Myer's wife and was amazed to step into a room where Meyer himself was romping with three of his five children. Neighbors kept a casual watch in nearby homes in case Communists tried to take him behind the iron curtain—only 300 yards away.

The man who is serving a life sentence because he was found responsible for shooting 18 Canadian prisoners-of-war in Normandy in 1944 said he'll return Saturday to Werl prison where he was transferred recently from Canada.

Ironically, Werl is only a few miles from Soest, where Canada's 27th Brigade is going to be posted in 1952.

These are Meyer's key words: "I went to Canada a fanatical German. I came back convinced from all I could read and gather from talks that nationalism is dead, whether it be German, British or any other. A United Europe is the only answer."

He was told some Canadians think the Canadian government eventually will release him and was asked whether he expects to get his freedom. He said he has had no official word about a release, but this reporter's impression of his reaction was that Meyer entertains considerable hopes of one.

Growers Vote To Continue On Wheat Board

WINNIPEG, Nov. 26 (CP). — Manitoba grain growers voted overwhelmingly Saturday to continue marketing their oats and barley through the Canadian Wheat Board.

In a provincial referendum, more than 34,000 of 51,803 eligible farmers went to the polls despite bitter cold weather. Almost 90 per cent. wrote "yes" on a ballot that asked: "Do you wish to continue to sell your oats and barley as at present?"

The heavy affirmative vote—34,320 to 3,820—threw out the possibility of the Canadian Wheat Board being discarded as the marketing agency for coarse grains.

The Provincial Government promised farmers that if the vote was "no," it would repeal its legislation making marketing through the board compulsory and ask the Federal Government to do so also.

The referendum was ordered by the Provincial Government after it received petitions asking that compulsory marketing of coarse grains be thrown out and farmers be allowed to sell on the free market. The Federal Government introduced the compulsory system two years ago when the Prairie Provinces passed complementary legislation.

Little campaigning preceded the referendum and in many quarters a light vote was expected. The Provincial Government remained neutral throughout.

Large Vote

Charland Prudhomme, chief electoral officer, reported all 47 constituencies had turned in results. An overwhelming majority vote was recorded in all but two small divisions. By Sunday night, only a dozen or so of 420 polls had not returned results.

Premier Douglas Campbell said he was greatly impressed by the large vote. He congratulated farmers for their response to the opportunity of making their own decision on a policy of great importance.

"This is what the government hoped and asked for," he said. "I would like to sincerely thank all voters for this encouraging demonstration of public responsibility."

The supporters of board marketing stressed the advantages of a stable market and steady price. Opponents claimed farmers could make more money selling coarse grains themselves through the grain exchange.

Mortars of the formation fired over 5,000 rounds in less than 24 hours at one period of the battle.

The release added:

"A platoon of this same formation, faced with an attack by an estimated 300 Chinese, fired their small mortars until they were red hot and then moved the weapons back into shell holes and continued to fire until the attack was completely broken up.

"The commanding officer of this formation has already received congratulations from a senior commander on the 'fine show' of his unit."

1,500 Killed

The Little Gibraltar fight from Friday into Sunday was fierce.

An allied officer said the combat effectiveness of an entire three-division Chinese Red army corps (about 20,000 troops) was destroyed in allied defence of Little Gibraltar's four dominating peaks west of Yonchon. He estimated that 1,500 Reds were killed and more than 3,000 wounded.

Red prisoners said they had been told the war would end soon if they took the peaks.

Allied officers described United Nations losses in the fight as low despite some of the most intense Red mortar and artillery fire in weeks.

There is a growing belief on the western front that Russian satellite officers have taken command of Chinese artillery. Red artillery has increased markedly in effectiveness since November and one allied radio man said he had heard "pure Russian" artillery orders.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 26 (CP) — Most grain prices moved up under fairly aggressive buying in early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Part of the buying was stimulated by strength on United States markets. United States interests were buying oats, while shippers picked up barley and flax. Trade in rye was local.

11 am prices:

Oats—Dec. ⅝ higher 1.00B; May ¾ higher 97⅜B; July 1 higher 91⅝A.

Barley—Dec. ¼ higher 1.38¼B; May ¾-½ higher 1.31¾; July ⅜ higher 1.25⅝B.

US Man Wins Wheat Crown

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (CP). — For the first time in 22 years Canada today was without a wheat king at the International Hay and Grain Show.

The record reign of Canadian wheat growers, which began in 1929, was broken Sunday when Harold Metcalf, 31-year-old farmer from Fairgrove, Mich., was crowned the 1952 wheat king.

Metcalf, father of four small girls, won with a sample of "Yorkwin" which weighed 60½ pounds to the bushel. He was the first American to win the wheat title since C. Edson Smith of Corvallis, Mont., won the premier honor in 1928.

The new wheat king won in his first try. He was working on his 80-acre farm when he received word of his victory by telephone. "This is the greatest day of my life," he said.

The 1952 reserve wheat championship also went to an American, Lee D. Ferden of Chesaning, Mich. His "Vaga" variety of soft red winter wheat, weighing 61½ pounds to the bushel, was judged second best.

Of the five entries in the wheat finals only one was Canadian. S. J. Allsop of Red Deer, Alta., wheat king in 1947-48, qualified by winning first prize in the hard red spring wheat class. Last year's wheat King, R. P. Robbins, 53, of Shaunavon, Sask., was eliminated when he placed sixth in the hard red spring wheat.

Howard Roppel, 21, of Rockford, Alta., winner of the world wheat championship at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto earlier this month, was runner-up to Allsop in the hard red spring wheat.

Nominees Qualify At Belmont

HAVELOCK, Nov. 26 (ENS)—Two candidates will contest the office of reeve for the townships of Belmont and Methuen. They are Reeve W. E. Griffith and Norris Whitney, a member of the 1951 council, who was first elected as councillor in 1948, heading the polls at that time.

Mr. Griffith is the oldest veteran in the municipal life of this district, having tasted victory and defeat many times since he made his first bid for office in 1908.

Those who qualified for the council are George Newton, Robert Wrightly, Gardner Gawley, members of the 1951 council, Randall Quackenbush, who was an unsuccessful candidate in 1951, George Wilde and Burrell Keating. The school trustees were elected by acclamation as follows:

Area 1, E. J. Pollock, Clarence Pollock, Warden Quackenbush; Area 2, Carman Ellis, E. W. Van Steenburgh, Everett Toms.

Obituary

MRS. EDITH ANN HUXLEY

After a sudden seizure Mrs. Edith Ann Huxley, 317 McGill St., died Sunday. She was in her 78th year.

The former Edith Ann Wynne, Mrs. Huxley was born in Gobowen, Shropshire. She came to Canada 41 years ago.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Edith Wynne Gundy, Toronto, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. F. T. Dorrell (Amelia), Peterborough. Her husband was the late John Huxley.

OTTAWA FANS HERE

Homebound Ottawa fans didn't have to identify themselves in the Churchill restaurant Sunday evening. More than a hundred of them made their first appearance Friday evening on their way to Toronto. Scores of others arrived early Saturday morning. Nick Douros said there were more than a hundred altogether. They were carrying home with them the thrills of Saturday afternoon. "They were fine people" Mr. Douros commented.

JEAN CASADESUS PLAYS AT THE COLLEGIATE on Thursday night in the first program of this season's Community Concerts. Son of the world-famous Robert Casadesus, he has studied in his native France and in the United States. Now aged 24, Jean Casadesus has been on the professionl concert stage for four years and critics say that he is destined, in his own right, to a future as brilliant as his background.

Find Northern Saskatchewan Exceedingly Rich In Uranium

GOLDFIELDS, Sask. — (CP). —This one-time gold-rush centre, situated in the far north of Saskatchewan, may once again become a mining boom town. But it won't be the glitter of gold dust that attracts interest. This time uranium holds the spotlight.

Officials of the Saskatchewan Resources Department say that without undue optimism, responsible mining men are looking for goldfields to eclipse anything that gold once made it.

In fact, the rocky, forested region, on the north side of Lake Athabaska, bids fair to become an important world source of unanium—the precious radio-active material used in the development of atomic power.

Permanent Layout

A large, permanent mining layout has been established by the Federal Eldorado Mining Company on its extensive property in the area. Eldorado, after spending millions of dollars on exploration and development, will be in production next year.

It is also expected that soon after Eldorado begins production many other mines, comparatively nearby, will come into production. This summer it was definitely established that there are a number of possible mines in the region.

The Charlebois-Spreckly Lakes district in the north is the most recently discovered uranium area. Reported results of this area are sufifcfently encouraging to stimulate capital expenditure in the near future.

Big Concentrations

Dr. J. B. Maudsley, head of the University of Saskatchewan Geology Department, has said the Charlebois-Spreckly Lakes regions possess "phenomenal concentrations of uranium."

The area north of Lac la Ronge —which has a highway link with Prince Albert—has been the scene of a number of other radio-active finds but more work will be needed before commercial possibilities can be determined.

Out of all this has come a unique development. Plans have been drawn up for a model mining town to be appropriately named Uranium City.

The townsite, 10 miles from Goldfields, has been laid out and predictions have been made that —very soon—there will be 5,000 persons living there.

Uranium City will be in striking contrast to mining towns of the past. There will be no uncontrolled shack growth, without reference to a general town plan. Nor will there be any unsanitary near-slum district.

Instead, Uranium City will be carefully laid out with numerous modern conveniences.

Britain Rejects

Aides described his talk as mainly "inspirational — neither pessimistic nor optimistic."

As the man who has built up SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe) Eisenhower gave the chiefs of staff assembled in the onetime Mussolini stadium a report of "some progress here, some lagging there" in the drive for security.

The Atlantic Pact supreme commander declared that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations must pool sovereignty and "attempt the impossible" if there is to be any real security.

Eisenhower spoke to the military chiefs in advance of an appearance this afternoon (9:30 am EST) before the 12-nation top NATO council at which he is scheduled to tell them they must step up their defence effort if they are to ensure peace through strength.

Eisenhower told the secret session of the chiefs of staff—"As one old soldier to another"—that he had been "horrified," when he came to Europe last January, at the idea of welding a single army out of the different European military forces.

But, he declared, he learned that "it must be done." The problem of security is so great that no one nation can discharge its responsibility for security alone, he said.

America's 11 allies, it is learned today, already have rejected as economically ruinous a suggestion that they increase their rearmament programs 25 per cent. Most of them added that without swift and significant American assistance, they will not be able to meet their present three-year goals.

Their plans now call for an Allied army of 40 combat-ready divisions by the end of 1952 and between 70 and 80 divisions by the end of 1954, with commensurate increase in air strength.

Record Not Good

But Eisenhower's report to the council of foreign, defence and finance ministers — described as neither optimistic nor pessimistic —is said to have told the 12 nations that their rearmament record has been spotty and that achievements do not make as rosy a picture as some public statements by political leaders have indicated.

Eisenhower is said to indicate that the defence efforts of neither the United States nor its allies has been wholly satisfactory.

Hospital Guards Jailed 4 Years

QUEBEC, Nov. 26 (CP)—Two hospital guards convicted of manslaughter in the fatal beating of a mental patient were sentenced today to four-year terms in penitentiary.

Conrad Asselin, 32, and Emmanual Audet, 35, were convicted by a criminal assizes jury last Friday in the death of Arthur Pare, 54, April 5 last year.

Counsel for the two guards said he will appeal the jury's verdict and the sentence.

Witnesses told the jury during the trial that Asselin and Audet beat up the patient because he could not handle a floor rag properly. The physician who made an autopsy on Pare's body testified the patient suffered 27 external injuries and nine internal fractures. He attributed death of the patient to the beating.

Dollar Up

MONTREAL, Nov. 26—(CP)—The American dollar today opened at $1.05 5/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, up 3/32 from Saturday's close. That is, it took $1.04 5/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.92 1/16, up ¼ from Saturday.

Religion-Science Film Shown At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Nov. 26—(ENS)—"Hidden Treasures," a film in the sermon from science series was shown at the Baptist Mission on Saturday night. There was an attendance of about 45.

"Hidden Treasures" is a glimpse through the miscroscope into an otherwise unseen world of mystery and beauty. The miscroscope teaches of God's boundless concern for His creation.

Forest Service HasDualPurpose

VICTORIA, BC—(CP)—British Columbia forest service has come up with a plan that will protect its forest resources and still give the small logging operator a break.

Some time ago the province set up the forest management system, whereby forest interests took over large tracts of forest land. They guaraneed a sustained yield from the tracts by scientific logging.

The logging interests conducted selective logging which gave young trees a chance to grow to maturity.

Small loggers protested the plan worked against them. They were unable to meet the cost of sustained yield planning and claimed they were being frozen out by the big operators.

The forest service now has a plan which only 50 per cent of the province's 10,000,000 acres of forest land will be available for management licences.

The other 50 per cent will be divided into "public working circles" and will be managed by the forest service in the same way as they forest management districts.

Loggers will bid by open tender on the timber. They must cut at a rate and under conditions laid down by the forest service. The cut will be limited to the capacity of the area to grow a replacement crop. The area will thus become a sustained yield.

Planning now is under way on several working circles on the mainland coast and Vancouver Island.

Not Reaching Russians Would Cut UN Service

PARIS, Nov. 26 — (CP). — Canada told the Budgetary Committee of the United Nations today that the UN Information Department should cut its Russian-language services because the information is not getting through to the Russian people.

Maurice Bourget, Canadian member of the committee, said it has been learned that the UN Bulletin, a monthly magazine roundup of events, is not allowed into the Soviet Union.

Bourget, member of the Canadian House of Commons for Levis, added, however, that UN radio services in Russian should be continued because they are not being jammed as are other broadcasts from the West.

Two Will Run For Reeve In Otonabee

KEENE, Nov. 26 (Staff). — There will be an election for reeve, deputy reeve and council in Otonabee township a week from today.

For reeve, councillor Norman J. McConkey will be opposing the present reeve Richard R. Stewart.

H. R. Reid, a former reeve of the township was also nominated on Friday, but Mr. Reid did not qualify and it will be a two-man fight between Mr. Stewart and Mr. McConkey.

A former deputy reeve, Roy Spears will be opposing the present officer, D. N. McIntyre for the position of deputy reeve. Mr. Spears was also nominated for reeve, but withdrew his name from that slate and later qualified as a candidate for deputy reeve.

Four Run For Council

Four candidates will be contesting the three council seats. Two members of this year's council, P. J. Mather and William Chambers are in the field together with two newcomers, Charles Edwards and Gavin Shearer Jr.

While taxes in the eastern part of the township (east of the fifth concession) will be higher, due to the building of the Norwood High School, residents of the western part of Otonabee are in Peterborough High School area and their taxes will not be affected.

Only those who live in the Norwood High School Area will be paying a higher mill rate for the building of the new school.

Stock Prices Jump On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 26 (CP). — Strong mid-session support today pushed early afternoon stock market prices steadily higher. Industrials opened cautiously but bounced upward within the first hour to break a seven-day decline.

Papers, constructions, banks and miscellaneous industrials formed the market's strongest sections with gains ranging to more than a point.

Base metals held firmly to early gains. Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Quemont and Waite Amulet posted advances to about $1.50. Lower-priced issues showed a wide list of moderate gains.

Western oils strengthened. Calmont, Central-Leduc, Home Oil, Federated Petroleum, Jupiter, Royalite and Vulcan climbed steadily.

Senior golds showed six gains against two losses. Juniors, prospects and holding companies edged higher.

Resale Policy Said Preventing Unemployment

OTTAWA, Nov. 26 (CP).—Resale price maintenance practices help prevent unemployment, the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association said today, endorsing the argument against the Government's proposal to make these practices illegal.

The association, spokesman for the $580,000,000 electrical manufacturing industry in Canada, told Parliament's special committee on retail price-fixing that the practice whereby a manufacturer establishes the price at which his product will be sold to the public "tends to prevent peaks and valleys in the whole economic structure."

It "eliminates layoffs and stabilizes employment" and, the association's submission maintained, "if peaks and valleys could be controlled, depressions would be eliminated."

While helping to stabilize the industry and employment, resale price maintenance has also been of benefit to the consumer, the association maintained.

Gives Example

It cited the case of a manufacturer who sells a six-foot refrigerator for $299.75, not including excise tax. If the price of the refrigerator had followed the increase in the cost of food, it would not sell at $299.75, but at $710.40.

If it had followed clothing price increases, it would be selling at $608.26, and if it had followed labor index jumps, it would be selling at $860.00.

It was not true, said the association, that price maintenance discourages economic efficiency as maintained by the MacQuarrie commitee which recommended steps against resale price maintenance.

In fact, it forced a high degree of efficiency on the manufacturer in order to survive. This was proven by the fact that prices of price-maintained items were lower than those which were not.

Mrs. D. A. Patterson Former Resident, Dies

The funeral for Mrs. David A. Patterson, Hamilton, and formerly of Peterborough, who died suddenly Thursday, was held Saturday from the Comstock funeral home.

Mrs. Patterson, the former Jean Moore, was born and educated in Peterborough, daughter of the late Charles H. Moore and Charlotte Craig. From Peterborough, Mrs. Patterson moved to Ottawa and then to Hamilton where she has lived for many years. She was a member of the First United Church, Hamilton.

She leaves her husband David A. Patterson; two sons, Lloyd and Blair, both of Hamilton, and two sisters, Mrs. Bruce Hutchinson and Mrs. Frank Jobbitt, both of Peterborough. One daughter, Mrs. John Bennett (Eleanor) predeceased her.

Dr. D. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity United Church, conducted the funeral service.

Pallbearers were Roy Hutchinson, Frank Jobbitt, Ken Hutchinson, William Davidson, R. Craig, B. Hutchinson. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

To Lead Search

LONDON, Nov. 26—(Reuters)—Farmer Gilbert Harris is going to leave his goat farm in Warwickshire to lead a search for the lost city of Shabwa, once the fortress of the Queen of Sheba, the London Daily Mirror reports today. Harris, 40, a wartime signals officer in the Royal Air Force, claims he flew over the deserted city somewhere in Saudi Arabia while stationed in the Middle East.

Police Recover Car Before Reported Gone

LINDSAY, Nov. 26—A Lindsay provincial police constable recovered a stolen car Friday night 41 minutes before it was reported missing.

At 9.04 pm Friday Constable Stan Judson spotted a Buick car in a ditch nine miles west of Lindsay. The front seat was on fire and other motorists had stopped and were trying to pull the seat out of the car.

At 9.45 pm Paul Thibaudeau of Ottawa reported to the Lindsay police department that his car was taken from the front of the New Royal hotel at 7.45 pm.

When the Lindsay police department reported the theft to the OPP they were told that the car had been recovered.

Friday Club Plans Season

Twenty members attended the monthly business meeting of the Friday Night Club in the YMCA. Al Northcott acted master-at-arms during supper.

Club treasurer, Bill Bunker, gave the financial report. President Don Whittaker explained that the work of the club was handled by three committees: membership, program and projects. The chairmen of the committees Bert Paul, Charlie Bain and Bill King, outlined the work to be done for the coming year. Each club member was assigned to a committee.

The official club delegates to the YMCA convention in Cleveland, Ohio, last summer were Bill King and Charlie Bain. They gave an interesting and full account of the meetings and sessions which they attended at the convention.

Three Hurt As Auto Sideswiped Into Ditch

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 26—(ENS).—Four people escaped serious injury Saturday evening in an auto crash on Highway 45 two miles south of Norwood.

Ronald Smith, Port Hope, tried to pass another auto, driven by Alfred Hie of Westwood. The Smith car skidded on the pavement and sideswiped the Hie auto forcing it into the ditch, where it overturned.

Mrs. Hie and her two children, a son and a daughter, were thrown out through the roof of their car. The girl suffered a broken collarbone, and the boy required four stitches in his forehead.

Several stitches were needed to close a wound in Mrs. Hie's foot, and she suffered a bruised jaw and injured back.

Smith and his passenger, also of Port Hope, were unhurt and Smith's car was undamaged. The Hie car, a 1925 model, was a complete wreck.

Boats To Be Registered

LONDON, Nov. 26—(Reuters)—All privately owned small-craft in Britain—many of which played heroic parts at Dunkerque in 1940—are to be registered by the admiralty. In wartime they would be used as examination vessels for contraband control and similar examination duties.

Possessive Parents

LONDON, Nov. 26—(Reuters)—Possessive mothers who put difficulties in the way are often responsible for failure of young couples to marry, the British Marriage Society said today. In a report the society advised boys and girls to do their own choosing and then stand by their decision.

32 Die In Skirmishes

MANILA, Nov. 26 (AP).—Thirty-two persons were killed and three were wounded in weekend skirmishes between troops and Communist-led Huk rebels.

JUST ONE HOUR from front-line slit trenches the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment is operating its own super general store. It is located at a rest centre established by company commander Maj. J. F. Peterson of St. Thomas and formerly of Peterborough, and therefore known as "St. Peter's Paradise." Each day, combat conditions permitting, men of the regiment are taken to the rest centre where they can shower, shave, shampoo, read, write, play baseball, see movies and the odd live show, listen to recorded music or shop at the "General store." On the shelves are such articles as cameras, biscuits, tea, sardines, aspirin tablets, razor blades and playing cards to mention just a few, as well as cigarettes and tobacco. Super salesman behind the counter is Pte. Norm Woods of Verdun, Quebec. His spiel in this case is directed at Pte. Bill Corzier of Toronto.—(National Defence Photo)

OBITUARIES

ALBERT JAMES RADDON

A lifelong resident of Peterborough, Albert James Raddon, died at his residence, 254 London St., Saturday after a short illness. He was 83.

The late Mr. Raddon was born in Norwood and served for 37 years as an employee of the Trent Canal here before retiring in 1923.

He is survived by his wife, the former Sarah Albertha Haines; (Mrs. Pringle by a former marriage).

Mr. Raddon was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

RICHARD H. RUSKIN

The funeral service for Richard H. Ruskin, a clothing merchant in Peterborough for 29 years, was conducted Friday in Toronto at the Benjamin funeral home.

Mr. Ruskin, who lived at 1298 Monaghan Road, died Thursday night at his residence in his 64th year after an illness which had lasted since early spring. He was born in Russia, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ruskin.

He came to Canada in 1907, first settling in Winnipeg and then in Alberta. Later he came east to Toronto in 1919 where he operated a small merchandising business.

Mr. Ruskin came to Peterborough in 1922 and opened a small tailoring shop on Charlotte St., later moving to another larger store on Hunter St. In 1929 he moved to the Ruskin clothing store on Aylmer St.

Besides his wife, the former Ida Benenson, surviving are: three daughters, Mrs. Morton Golumbia (Bess), Mrs. Abraham Semel (Frances), and Mrs. Arnold Golumbia (Claire), all of Peterborough; one sister, Mrs. G. Altschuler, New Haven, Conn.; one brother, N. Ruskin, Winnipeg.

Burial was at the Dawe's Road cemetery.

ERNEST J. BONNEY

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 26—(ENS)—Ernest John Bonney, 83-year-old resident of this town for the past 40 years, died at his home, 260 Victoria St., on Friday.

Mr. Bonney had been confined to his bed for the past three years. His wife, the former Martha Oliver, predeceased him about five years ago.

Born in Percy township near the village of Warkworth, Mr. Bonney was the son of Thomas Bonney and Martha Marks of that community. He spent about half his lifetime in that district before moving to Campbellford where he worked as a carpenter. He was the last surviving member of his family, and the couple had no children. Surviving are three nephews and one niece: Richard Night of Norham; George Helson of Warkworth; Harry Helson of Ajax and Mrs. W. Warner of Hastings.

Mr. Bonney was for a number of years an elder of St. John's United church in Campbellford, where he was quite active in much work before his illness. He retired as elder a number of years ago. He was also a Past Noble Grand of the Oddfellows Lodge and received his 25-year jewel. For a number of years, he was also president of the "Egg Circle," the egg grading and marketing association of this district.

Funeral services were conducted today at 2 pm from the St. John's United Church, where Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith officiated. Pallbearers were all elders of the church. They were: Sterling Chappell, Henry McKelvie, Ernest Sloggett, P. B. Nelson, Howard Clark and T. J. Craighead. Flower bearers were all members of the Oddfellows Lodge of Campbellford.

Lindsay Architect John T. Allan Dies

The funeral service for John T. Allan, architect in Lindsay for 29 years, was conducted today at the Mackey funeral home in Lindsay. Mr. Allan died Thursday in Kingston after a long illness.

Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, 58 years ago, he graduated in architecture from the University of Aberdeen and later became a member of the MRAIC.

In 1914 he enlisted with the Gordon Highlanders and was severely wounded in France in 1916, spending some time in hospitals before discharged in 1919.

In 1922 Mr. Allan came to Canada and set up a practice in the Peterborough - Lindsay district. Among the buildings designed by him were: the Lindsay Canadian Legion building; the Mackey funeral home; William St. Baptist church.

He was a charter member of Branch 67, Canadian Legion.

Surviving are his wife, the former Gertrude Porter; three brothers, George, Charles, both of Lindsay, Norman of Gooderham; two sisters, Mrs. Bella Jaffray of Toronto and Mrs. Ira Brown (Jean) of Oliver, BC.

Burial was in Riverside cemetery, Lindsay.

'Hot Flashes" Stopped or strikingly relieved

in tests by doctors!

• If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life"—you may be suffering unnecessarily!

For, in tests by doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering—in case after case! Complete or striking relief.

Yes! Research has proved Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action ... has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is grand, too, for functional pains and "weak" feelings of menstrual periods. Get Lydia Pinkham's today!

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "first waves"!

Dragging Operations Continue For Body

MAGNETAWAN, Nov. 26 (CP). Dragging operations continued here today for the body of Mrs. Arthur Coombes, 42, missing from her home since early Sunday.

Her husband found footprints in the snow leading to the edge of the Magnetawan River.

Mrs. Coombes suffered a nervous collapse two years ago. Police have listed the case as presumed suicide.

Magnetawan is about 15 miles west of Burks Falls.

County Health Unit Urged By Bancroft H & S

BANCROFT, Nov. 26—(ENS)—Committee and delegates' reports filled the majority of the program at the meeting of Bancroft Public School Home and School Association on Thursday night.

The report of the school nurse, Mrs. Hilda Vardy, read by the principal, J. W. C. Hutton, showed that constant checking would be necessary to check the spread of impetigo and pediculosis in the school. This was shown from a recent 3-day check of the 347 pupils in the 10-room school. In an open discussion on the subject many members expressed the opinion that a county health unit for Hastings was necessary in order that a number of public health nurses could work full time in the schools of the county.

Mrs. Doreen Watson reported that the recent rummage sale netted a profit of $61.29 and Mrs. Louise Hutton reported a profit of $76.85 from the teachers' banquet catered to by the association. These were two special projects handled by the members in order to raise funds for the nursing program sponsored by the Home and School Association.

Short resumes of their impressions of the recent regional conference in Peterborough were given by the delegates, Mrs. C. White, Mrs. E. Bruce, Mrs. A. Hewitt, Mrs. C. A. Stringer, Mrs. A. Gaebel, Mrs. J. W. C. Hutton, Mrs. A. Loney, Mrs. G. Andrews and Mrs. J. N. Brown.

Plans for renovating the village public library were given to the meeting by Mrs. J. W. C. Hutton, secretary-treasurer of Bancroft Public Library. In a brief address she told how funds were obtained from the province, the county, the municipality and the members. She asked all to be active supporters of the organization and thus insure better reading material for their children.

The president, Mrs. J. N. Brown occupied the chair. Lunch was served by the social committee consisting of Mrs. Harold Watson, convener, assisted by Mrs. George Andrews, Mrs. J. N. Brown, Mrs. L. Freiburger and Mrs. A. Hewitt.

Need Prescription For Book

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—A new booklet on sex and marriage will be sold only by a doctor's prescription.

The book, "How to Improve Your Sexual Relations," by Dr. Edwin W. Hirsch, Chicago urologist, and the novel prescription rule are announced in an advertisement in the current issue of the Journal of American Medical Association.

The plan is to sell it through drugstores, or doctors may supply copies directly to patients seeking information.

The 64-page booklet is a frank, simple discussion of sex and sex matters, on the same subjects as in books of similar type.

Dr. Hirsch said the book is one a doctor can supply for patients, about to marry or unhappily married, who have questions about physical aspects of marriage.

"Although much has been done in recent years to break the conspiracy of silence concerning matters of sex in married life, there still are many who are abysmally ignorant or have been exposed to perilous misinformation regarding this complex subject," he said. "Sexual incompatibility is a contributing cause for the high divorce rate.

"Enabling those who need such education to obtain it in this convenient and private way will save time for both doctor and patient."

(The booklet, priced at $1, is published by the Zeco Publishing Company, Chicago).

What do you do with our Two Billion Dollars?

$2,085,187,091.60, to be exact.

That's what our 1,800,000 customers had on deposit at our 572 branches on October 31st, 1951 — the end of the 134th year of Canada's First Bank.

More than half of this money is made up of the savings of private individuals . . . hard-earned dollars that will give the depositor a backlog of money for future use. And, in B of M care, these two billion dollars are a powerful force working toward a better future for Canada and for all Canadians.

Where does this money go? Well, for instance.)

AT THE B of M's 1951 YEAR-END

$646,368,336.93 was on loan to scores of thousands of Canadians in every walk of life . . . to farmers, fishermen, lumbermen, and ranchers . . . to private citizens in all parts of the country . . . to business and industrial enterprises for every kind of production . . . to provincial and municipal governments and school districts. These loans stood at the highest year-end figure in the Bank's history, despite a conscientious effort to hold down non-defence lending in co-operation with the Government's anti-inflationary policy.

$976,950,829.78 was invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities having a ready market. These were carried at a figure not greater than their market value. In addition, the B of M had $151,223,535.10 in other securities, mainly short-term credits to industry.

$218,011,232.89 was held in cash in the B of M's vaults and on deposit with the Bank of Canada, ready to meet depositors' immediate needs for cash.

IN ALL, THE B of M HAS RESOURCES OF	$2,221,630,314.46
TO PAY ALL IT OWES TO DEPOSITORS AND OTHERS AMOUNTING TO . .	2,133,096,232.49
THE B of M'S RESOURCES, OVER AND ABOVE WHAT IS OWED, AMOUNT, THEREFORE, TO	$ 88,534,081.96

This figure of $88,534,081.96 is made up of money subscribed by the shareholders and, to some extent, of earnings which have from time to time been ploughed back into the business to broaden the Bank's services and to give added protection for the depositors.

1951 EARNINGS

After paying all overhead expenses, including staff salaries, cost-of-living bonuses and benefits, and after making provision for contingencies, and for depreciation of Bank premises, furniture and equipment, the B of M reports earnings for the twelve months ended October 31st, 1951, of $10,356,373.66

Provision for Federal Income Tax and Provincial Taxes	5,001,000.00
Leaving Net Earnings of	$ 5,355,373.66
THIS AMOUNT WAS DISTRIBUTED AS FOLLOWS:

Peterborough's Growth Third Fastest

According to the preliminary Dominion Census figures for Ontario cities, Peterborough has grown the third fastest in the decade ending this year. From 1941 to 1951 Peterborough's population grew 51 per cent. That figure alone indicates the large problems of accommodation and expansion with which the Council, the Board of Education, the Utilities Commission and other public services have had to cope. A place cannot grow as fast as that without having growing pains. It is to the credit of the city's elected and appointed officials, and the acceptance by the citizens of the city's new stature, that Peterborough has come through the decade so well—physically, socially and financially.

The two Ontario cities which grew proportionately bigger than Peterborough are Sarnia, with a present population of 34,420, an increase of 84 per cent. in the decade, and Oshawa, whose present population of 41,359 is an increase of 54 per cent. above the 1941 population. In both cities there have been exceptional reasons for the large increase, not altogether in keeping with solid, self-respecting growth.

Sarnia is sprawling blackly with gas, oil, ersatz rubber manufacturies and other such nose-curling industries. Peterborough has been more selective. Oshawa, daring to become larger than Peterborough (41,359 against 38,166) has committed the enormity of swallowing so much territory outside its normal city boundaries that it has about three times the area it had in 1941. This gobble took place a year ago. Suburbs and farms formerly counted separately by the census-takers are now lumped with Oshawa. Peterborough can dismiss Oshawa's pretensions; that place is merely a big lump on Highway 2 without character or life of its own. It is a blob to be got around (soon completely, when the dual-lane highway will circumvent the place) when travelling between distinctive, real cities like Montreal, Peterborough and Toronto.

Here is a sampling of the census-takers' findings on the population increases since 1941: Metropolitan Toronto 22%, Hamilton 25%, Brantford 14%, St. Catharines 25%, London 21%, St. Thomas 5%, Windsor 14%, Chatham 22%, Kitchener 26%, Guelph 17%, Galt 25%, Stratford 10%, Kingston 10%, Cornwall 19%, Ottawa 28%, North Bay 15%. The only sizable place to decrease in population since 1941 is Parry Sound, which went down 12% to 5,065. The figures are not compiled for Kirkland Lake yet; it is likely also to have suffered a decline.

Cars That Failed

One wonders whether the capitalistic industrial system of this continent is as effective and efficient as its supporters claim. Since the automobile industry was established in the United States fifty years ago 1,775 kinds of cars have been brought into the market but only 21 makes are presently being produced; in other words, 1,754 kinds of cars never made the grade. The companies failed, or they never amounted to anything anyway, or they were bought up by stronger automobile companies which in their turn failed. This sad record reveals a vast amount of wasted capital, wasted machinery, wasted tools, wasted effort and wasted publicity. It also indicates a vast amount of fly-by-night operations—such as the speculative sales of stock to hopeful Peterborough people to produce a wonder called the "Birmingham." One of these cars was actually put together.

Of the 21 kinds of cars now being produced in the United States (out of the 1,775 makes that have appeared on the market) only twelve were being manufactured forty years ago, and three of these are outgrowths of old names now almost forgotten. An American car market reporting company, which has been surveying the automobile scene since 1911, says that the survivors are Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Ford, Hudson, Packard, Oldsmobile, Studebaker and Willys-Overland. Of the other three, Nash succeeded Rambler, Chrysler succeeded Maxwell and Pontiac succeeded Oakland.

The "auto-biography" recalls car names once famous, now almost forgotten: Hupmobile (1908-41), Star (1922-28), Stanley Steamer (1896-1926), Stutz (1912-36), Pierce Arrow (1901-1938), Marmon (1903-33). Hundreds of car names are given which few people ever heard. There was even a car called the "Canada" produced in 1901. The only Canadian car listed is the McLaughlin, which was taken into the General Motors American system. Among the odd names flung up in the pre-1914 bubble of speculative manufacturers (using their lock, watch, plough, wagon or carriage factories, or even buildings and manufacturing machines which existed only in their imaginations) were Buzmobile, Buggycar, Zip, Onlicar, Rush, Fwick and even an 'Only.'

In the fifty years of the automobile industry on this continent, many car manufacturers have Steamobiled (1902) into the market, but few have met Success (1906).

Mr. Truman's Burdens

Many of the troubles of the United States Administration have been brought upon it by its friends, by Administration and department officials, and by bumbling in which all three have participated at one time or another. President Truman has accepted most of these burdens with defiant expressions of loyalty, but he proved especially sensitive to the announcement of the Internal Revenue Bureau scandals, prominent in the news during the past few weeks. These scandals could have been prevented by the Tax Division of the Justice Department.

The head of that division was a man named Theron Lamar Caudle, now dismissed because of "outside activities" incompatible with his duties. Prominent among these activities, it is generally assumed in the United States, was Mr. Caudle's repeated attempts to interfere with a St. Louis Federal Grand Jury investigation of tax fixing. He insisted that there was no need for a grand jury inquiry and that the tax fraud cases the jury wanted to study could be "expedited" through regular channels of the Justice and Treasury departments. Mr. Caudle was ably assisted in his attempts at interference by Ellis Slack, an assistant United States attorney-general, named by some investigators as even more active and effective than Mr. Caudle in hindering examination of tax fraud cases.

When dismissed, Mr. Caudle was heartbroken—vocally so. Before a press meeting at his home, he declared his innocence, his adoration of the President, and referred to his clean, clear conscience. He bemoaned lack of an opportunity to explain and the fact that he had no control over his destiny at all. Judging from text and photographs, it was a good performance, but it had no effect on Mr. Truman; Mr. Caudle was too great a burden, and he stayed out.

Some observers, perhaps many in the United States, may wonder just how much relief President Truman will get from the dismissal of Mr. Caudle. The new acting head of the division was named last week. His name is Ellis Slack.

Definitely Not The Nelson Touch

The story of F. W. Demara, who has been posing as Surgeon-Lieutenant Joseph C. Cyr in the Royal Canadian Navy, and who has cared for sick men, performed surgical operations and acquitted himself with credit, is a very curious one, and we shall be interested to hear the whole of it. However, such complex problems of impersonation are not quickly explained, and we may have to wait for some time. Meanwhile, we think that we speak for thousands of Canadians when we say that it is astonishing and shocking that a man with false personal papers could gain admission to the Navy, be granted the rank of Surgeon-Lieutenant, and perform the duties attaching thereto, without any more enquiry or trouble than was met with in the case of Demara. The R.C.N. does not intend to court-martial him; this is a wise decision, for the Navy would look foolish indeed when Demara explained how easy he found it to pass himself off as another man, and as a licensed physician and surgeon, in that service. Men who had been treated by Demara, and operated upon by him, would be especially interested in such a trial. In this instance the Navy has shown little of the Nelson touch.

Demara must be an uncommonly interesting fellow. He has been a member of a teaching order, the Christian Brothers, and he appears to have picked up enough medical knowledge to pass himself off as a qualified navy surgeon. We should like to know why he did so; it was certainly not greed for gold or the desire for an easy life which moved him. An explanation should be deeply interesting, though perhaps embarrassing for the Navy.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A scientist says that the red pepper is a close relative of the potato. A potato with a bad temper, perhaps?

A doctor, obviously in search of publicity, says that it is healthier to kiss a photograph of a girl than the girl herself. Carried to its logical conclusion, such a passion for health could lead to the complete depopulation of the world.

Inspector A. A. Witts of the Ontario Provincial Police says that drivers of automobiles must face the fact that they cause accidents, and that they can reduce the number of accidents if they choose. This is the simplest and most intelligent analysis of the traffic problem we have seen in years.

Musical Notes

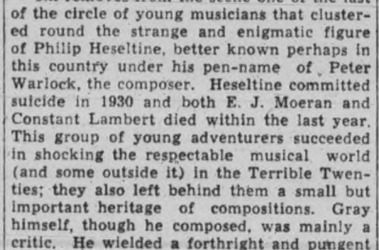
by PETER PIPER

IT seems that the notion of the Welsh being a people specially gifted with music is one more of those popular fallacies such as Lamb exposed in his essays, though Lamb, a self-confessed music-hater himself, would have been ill-qualified to treat it. The withering blast came from none other than Daniel Jones, one of Wales' leading composers. It is significant that few people have heard of Daniel Jones, and in fact after consulting several up-to-date books of reference I can find no mention of him. He may be an excellent composer, doomed to obscurity by a conspiracy of silence by the English: but this I find hard to believe, as the English are usually inclined to belittle composers only if they happen to be English. Besides, there is no law to stop the Welsh from extolling their own great men. Mr. Jones, instead of complaining of the neglect that he has suffered at the hands of the public confessed frankly the fatal weakness of the Welsh musical tradition, saying that the only national music the country had produced was its folk-songs and penillion singing (a peculiar form in which the voice supplies its own countermelody to a set air played on the harp). To this he might have added the hymn-tunes that are the natural expression of the fervid and mystical side of the Welsh temperament. This seems to Mr. Jones a slender basis for a modern art-music (as distinct from folk-music) of a distinctively Welsh character, though the Russians, to take but one example, had little else to go upon in the development of their national music. There are, however, some important differences. In the first place the nationalistic trend in music appears to be more or less played out. Even composers such as Vaughan Williams (in spite of his Welsh name a typically English product) have in more recent years toned down their rather self-conscious regionalism and advanced to a more universal idiom, while the younger generation have deliberately renounced the exploitation of folksiness.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE nationalistic revivals in various countries of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries were a revolt from German tutelage. It was a sign that countries whose musical metropolis had been Leipsig had signed, as it were, a declaration of musical independence. Inevitably mistakes were made, and excessive claims were made. But it was a necessary development. Now that the first flush of musical independence has worn away and is in some countries only a distant memory it is inevitable that a new synthesis of some sort or other should be attempted. Yet a regimentation such as existed before the nationalistic revolt is unlikely for a considerable period. America is as yet too immature and the old leaders, Germany, Italy and France too played out to resume the same place as heretofore. The Welsh musical revival mis-fired because it concerned itself overmuch with vocal music. The apparatus for a vigorous forward-looking musical life was lacking; orchestras, conservatories and so on either did not exist at all or else wilted from indifference and lack of funds. At the Swansea Festival this year, for instance, it was found necessary to import the London Philharmonic Orchestra for the occasion. Wales is known as the "land of song"—not as the "land of music"—a revealing difference.

✧ ✧ ✧



THE death of Cecil Gray at the age of fifty-six removes from the scene one of the last of the circle of young musicians that clustered round the strange and enigmatic figure of Philip Heseltine, better known perhaps in this country under his pen-name of Peter Warlock, the composer. Heseltine committed suicide in 1930 and both E. J. Moeran and Constant Lambert died within the last year. This group of young adventurers succeeded in shocking the respectable musical world (and some outside it) in the Terrible Twenties; they also left behind them a small but important heritage of compositions. Gray himself, though he composed, was mainly a critic. He wielded a forthright and pungent pen, and though I personally was antagonized by the somewhat dogmatic tone of his writings I had to admit that he left me in no doubt of his meaning. Hubert Foss regards him as "the most important and enduring music critic (save only Tovey) in Britain of the first half of the twentieth century". This is rather extravagant praise; Ernest Newman alone, to mention only one name, can be rated as more important, and his volumes on Wagner should give him enduring fame. However that may be it is undeniable that Gray exerted considerable influence in moulding musical opinion. More than anybody else except possibly Constant Lambert he was responsible for the acceptance by a large section of the musical public of Sibelius as the most important living composer, a view that is still confined to the Finnish and English-speaking worlds.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN interesting facet of Gray's early life is the fact that his musical education was to some extent directed by Dr. Healey Willan of Toronto. That was, of course, before Dr. Willan came to Canada, and it is just as well to realize that Dr. Willan had already earned for himself a considerable reputation in England before 1913, the date of his move to Canada. Unlike so many other gifted Europeans he decided to make Canada his home rather than a stopping place en route for the U.S.A.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE game of hunting up musical similarities has been assiduously, perhaps too assiduously played by certain clever young men in an effort to prove that one composer has been "influenced" by another. I am convinced that many of these parallel passages are due to no more or less than coincidence. One exception crosses my mind. The melody of O Canada, credited to C. Lavallee, is in reality an adaptation, and a pedestrian one at that, of the March of the Priests from Mozart's opera, The Magic Flute.

The musical quotation which I give is of insufficient length to prove my point (the whole whole thing would use up all my allocation of space) but it is at least sufficient to show a marked family likeness.

THE LAND OF PLENTY—HIGH

Mr. King A Hockey Player!

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE Canada-United States Committee on Education has shaped a complete program to spread information in each country about the life, history, and traditions of its neighbour — a program that should win wholehearted support on both sides of the border.

Barriers between countries are not always constructed of barbed wire and sentry posts. They may often develop out of ignorance of the common bonds existing among nations bordering on one another.

Despite a long period of friendly relations between the United States and Canada, a broad gulf of ignorance about the other country exists among both students and teachers from Mississippi to Manitoba. A recent survey conducted by the committee revealed that many American students knew very little about figures in Canadian history, some even thinking that W. L. Mackenzie King was a hockey player! A recent geography survey conducted by this newspaper showed that 98 per cent. of college students reached had "no notion" of Canada's population.

The six-point program of re-education offered by the committee suggests that American publishers be encouraged to issue more text books and other reading matter on Canadian life. Border cities might be urged to arrange for the exchange of pupils for short periods. Selected universities might be encouraged to sponsor conferences dealing with the mutual problems of Canada and the United States; and more American universities could be urged to invite Canadian professors to teach at Summer sessions.

Such a program would point the way to better understanding and co-operation between the peoples of the two countries, at a time when every type of unity in the Western World is of importance.

The Accident Rate Can Be Lowered

(MONTREAL STAR)

MANITOBA which shares with British Columbia the distinction of being miles ahead of any other province in the efficacy of its enforcement of safety laws and regulations governing traffic, has a still more advanced plan involving some sort of natural co-ordinating organization for the various existing provincial traffic codes.

The idea is excellent, but under existing conditions, quite impracticable. If safety codes and regulations throughout Canada were measurably nearer similarity and if the provinces were less sensitive to any suggestion of federal influence—not to say control—the Manitoba idea might have a chance of adoption. Certainly the motorist crossing several provincial boundaries on any extended trip would be safer himself and less of a public danger if he drove subject to a code of laws and regulations as nearly as possible in general use throughout the country and with which he was presumably familiar.

It would seem most likely, for instance, that any such plan would have to be based on some safety standard governing the issuing of licences. Manitoba and British Columbia, for example, insist that the would-be driver pass a written, oral and driving examination before he gets his permit to drive. The examinations are practical, reasonable and not beyond the capacity of anyone who has any right to be driving at all. Every chance is given the applicant to make good and the cost is nominal. No over-all co-ordinating organization would, one would think, look favorably on a licencing system that considers a two dollar bill the only necessary qualification to operate an automobile.

In addition to the law and regulations set forth clearly and with ample illustrations in the Manitoba Drivers' Handbook—by far the best thing of its kind we have ever seen—a safety point system exists that completely shows up the accident-prone driver. Traffic offenders are scored according to the seriousness of their offence. When eight points are marked up against them they either enrol in a driving improvement clinic or give up their licence. If the "refresher course" does not show betterment their licence is cancelled.

It will take time to show the full effect of the Manitoba safety system. At first it was disappointingly small but the figures are becoming better and better. The other provinces will in time come to see that the accident rate can be lowered, if their governments through the proper channels set about doing it.

NO SALE

The overnight millionaire wanted the best of everything. He went into a music shop and asked to see their most expensive violin for his son. The assistant brought out a beautiful Stradivarius, saying: "This is a 1730 Strad, priced at $80,000."

The millionaire hesitated, then said: "You say it made made in 1730 and worth all that money?"

"That's right."

"But tell me—is the company that made this fiddle still in business?"

"Of course not!" exclaimed the assistant in shocked tones."

"Then it's no good!" said the rich man definitely. "What would I do for spare parts?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgements which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them. (Deut. 5: 1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the sight of the Lord: that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest go in and possess the good land which the Lord sware unto thy fathers, to cast out all thine enemies from before thee, as the Lord hath spoken. (Deut. 6: 18, 19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer.

For all that do these things are an abomination unto the Lord: and because of these abominations the Lord thy God doth drive them out from before thee.

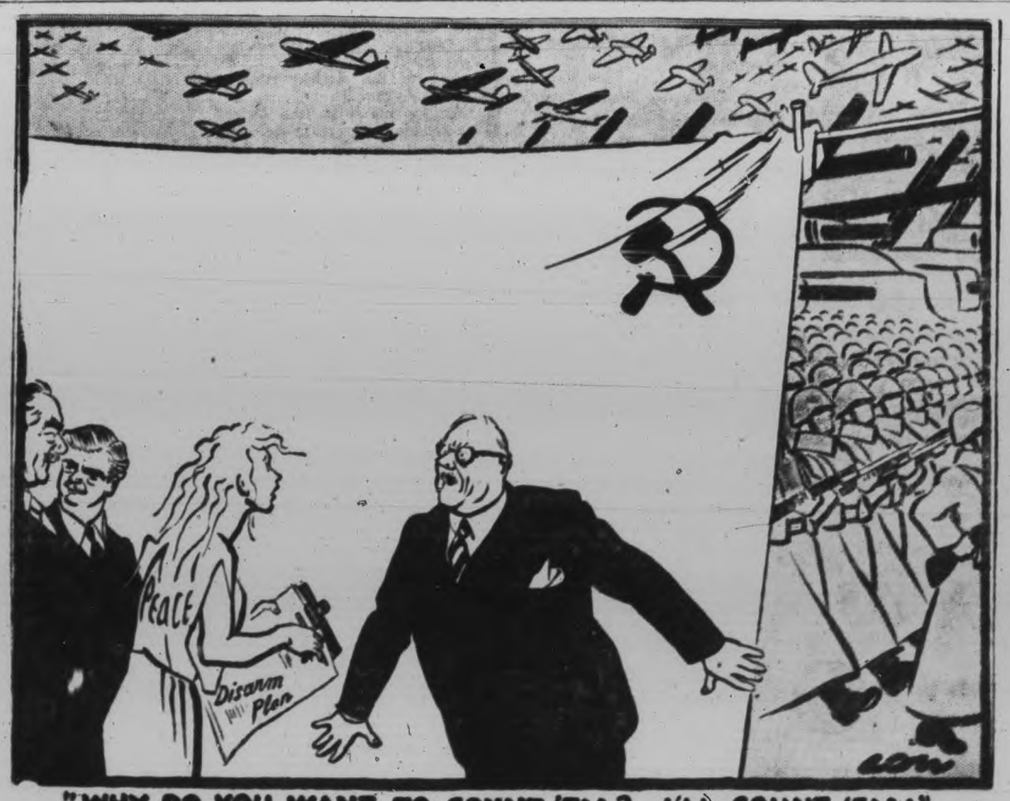
Thou shalt be perfect with the Lord thy God. (Deut. 18: 10-13.)

Exposed

(The Hamilton Spectator)

When it comes to a disarming approach, some of the gentle chisellers, right out of O. Henry's pages, possess a technique that may fool any person, even the shrewd man of business who resents nothing more than being mistaken for a soft touch.

It happened in New York, but it could happen anywhere. The telephone of the advertising executive rang, and the voice of the caller was soft, polite and friendly. "Hello, Hal," he began intimately and introducing himself as a native from their old home town in Illinois.



"You'll remember mother and dad, even if you don't remember me," the voice went on. "You heard about the old folks, I suppose? . . . Yes. They both passed on several months ago." The executive expressed his sympathy, though puzzled.

Such was the tenor of the conversation for two or three minutes, delivered with a quiet sincerity which was quite moving. Meanwhile the advertising man was turning his mind upside down trying to recall this fellow of their boyhood days who knew such a lot about the little town back in Illinois which touched the executive's past life.

Then the switch. Things hadn't been going any too well with the caller. No. He's been ill with tuberculosis and up at Saranac Lake for months. They discharged him just that week and told him he was well enough to do light work. He was lucky, though, and had a job to go to as a time clerk with a housing project in Long Island, but he needed a few dollars to tide him over until his first pay day. Would "Hal" let him have twenty until then? A cheque made out to cash and mailed to a given address would be a tremendous help, old timer.

"Hal" promised to do so. Then he began to do some thinking—also some checking. A long-distance talk with an elderly aunt out in Illinois, who knew just about everybody in the little town, tended to suggest that the caller was a phony. So did inquiries made of the construction company in Long Island.

But how did this soft-spoken chiseller get all the information concerning "Hal's" life? Then came the dawn. From Who's Who, of course. All of it was there.

West, East Agree On Cuts In UN Budget

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Nov. 26—(CP)—West and east are agreed on one thing at the United Nations' assembly: there must be some economies in the $46,000,000 annual budget.

Some western countries have been even tougher in the budgetary committee debate than Russia—which asked for a 25-per-cent cut in the estimate for 1952.

Norway suggested to secretary-general Trygve Lie that he reorganize the whole upper echelon of his staff and cut the number of his assistant secretaries-general from eight to three. Each assistant secretary-general gets an annual salary of $13,500 plus an allowance ranging from $7,000 to $11,500 at Lie's discretion.

Canadian delegate Maurice Bourget, Liberal member of parliament for Levis (Que.), hasn't been as tough as the Norwegians so far in the debate, expected to fine-comb the budget until mid-December. But he has called strongly for economies.

Canadian Boss

Another Canadian is running the whole committee show. He is T. A. (Tommy) Stone, Canada's minister to Sweden, whose first experience at a UN session was marked by election by acclamation to chairmanship of the budgetary committee. And Watson Sellar, Canada's auditor-general and chairman of the UN's board of auditors this year, has stood by in committee ready to answer any questions about the auditing of the budget.

Delegates are backed up in their shots at the budget by a special nine-man advisory committee which has suggested a $2,000,000 cut in 1952. It called for fewer special consultants, more economy in printing and a cut in the number of new posts planned.

Lie is fighting any reductions. He told the 60-member committee that the countries they represent are spending about $100,000,000,000 on armaments while the $46,000,000 UN budget is the only means of securing peace and economic and social development.

Another big fight is expected when the committee gets around the recommendations for changes in the annual assessments for the 60-members. A special 10-member committee on contributions has suggested that the United States contribution be cut from 38.92 per cent of the budget to 36.90 per cent, and the the Russian assessment be raised from 6.98 per cent to 9.85 per cent. The US payment last year was $16,568,244.

In the new proposed scale Canada's share would be raised from 3.30 to 3.35 per cent—which Canada is not expected to contest. Last year Canada's assessment was $1,4040,810.

April Celebration To Mark South Africa's Birthday

CAPETOWN — (CP) — Great plans have been completed for festivals marking the 300th anniversary next April of white settlement in South Africa.

Sports and pageants, music and drama, agriculture, industry and commerce are among the many aspects of the celebrations centred on a huge festival fair built on reclaimed land between Capetown and the sea.

The principal exhibition, from March 14 to April 5, portraying developments of the three centuries, will be staged in about 25 halls and on large outdoor spaces, some of which will hold pavilions containing exhibits from overseas.

A national day of thanksgiving, March 30, has been proclaimed for the opening of the main festival dates, with special services in all churches and at the festival stadium.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan on April 1 will proclaim the Cape's famous landmark, Table Mountain, as an historical monument and symbol of South Africa which he opens a new park on the slopes of the flat-topped peak.

Among many special performances is a display by 3,000 torchbearers on April 1 after they have brought a symbolic "flame of civilization" in stages from the four provinces of the union and from South-West Africa and Rhodesia.

Historic Landing

The landing of the original white settlers in 1652 will be reenacted on April 4. It was Commander Jan Van Riebeeck of the Dutch East India Company who brought the first settlers aboard his flagship, the Dromedaris. A model of the ship has been constructed for the festival ceremonies.

The Cape of Good Hope had been discovered long earlier, by the Portuguese Bartholomew Diaz in 1488, but no attempt at settlement was made until the Netherlands East India Company established a fort at the Cape in 1652 and occupied the adjacent lands. The Cape was formally ceded to the British crown in 1814.

The festival of sport will include national tournaments in athletics, cycling, swimming, baseball, women's hockey, bowls and polo, and a national regatta and motor and motorcycle races. The athletics tournament and swimming and cycling meets are Oympic games trials.

Morality Drive Said Making 25,000 Jobless

MONTREAL, Nov. 26 (CP) — Some 25,000 employees will be without work unless the morality campaign here eases, a night club owner said Sunday night.

John St. Jean, owner of the Gai Luron in the city's east-end, said, "If we are forced to keep the 2 am closing hour thousands—at least 25,000—employees will be without work."

The Gai Luron proprietor also said thieves broke into his cafe Sunday, and rolled a safe weighing 300 pounds from his office to a truck or car. The safe contained $2,037.

Since the raid on the city's largest barbotte den at Cote de Liesse 10 days ago, followed by the shutdown of five Montreal night clubs, St. Jean reports a 50 per cent cut in business.

He added:

"You know why Toronto does not get half as many tourists as Montreal? Well, if we keep going dry early in the morning, the tourists will bypass this city. To be even compared to Toronto is bad enough, perhaps it is even worse than the morality campaign."

Anyone want any Grey Cup tickets? A guy who asked that would be mobbed last Friday with folks offering a fist full of money for the pasteboards. There are lots of 'em available today, though slightly used. And the Grey Cup madness is o'er for another year. More than 27,000 cash customers saw quite a football game in Toronto's Varsity Stadium on Saturday and many, many thousands across the country listened in on the radio. A 21-14 win for Ottawa over Regina, the latter opening it up plenty in the fourth quarter to make it close, but Ottawa earning the victory. So, the grid game in Canada is finished for another year.

They didn't come any more tigerish in the fistic ring than Jack Dempsey. A big genial gent out of the gloved arena, the Manassa Mauler was a killer when the gong sounded. He climbed back into the ring—partly helped by scribes—to kayo Firpo and didn't know for minutes afterwards who won; he was unconscious himself when he put the South American away. Just fighting instinct. Getting old, he was taking a beating from Tunney in his last championship fight when he roused himself to knock Gene kicking and only a long count kept Tunney's crown for him. Greatest fighter of them all, that's Dempsey. He's coming here tomorrow eve for the first time as a ref.

The OHA Hath Spoken

OHA sub-committee says Bob Parnall may play for the Eagles this year but last Monday's 7-4 win for them has been thrown out. Seems they neglected to send in his certificate in time. It'll be replayed later, if necessary, and the gate split. OHA wouldn't grant Honey Tompkins a transfer from Petes to Eagles, saying the latter club had its four imports now and couldn't have any more. Both rulings were right, in our opinion, but they won't keep the two local senior "B" clubs from arguing bitterly. Tompkins says he won't play for the Petes, so he'll be out of puck action for a season—unless he can play intermediate for Lakefield or Lindsay.

* * * * * *

No hockey game listed for tonight in the arena. It was senior "B" night but this business of redrafting a schedule Sunday in Belleville left the Petes no time to advertise, so they're skipping this Monday. The Eagles are billed to play in Kingston this p.m. Wednesday sees Kingston at Belleville, and Friday has the Petes versus the Eagles here. That's the senior "B" schedule for the week, Frank Buckland of the OHA advises. He will draw up the new schedule—calling for five home and five away games each—within the next few days. All Queen's games, standing points, and scoring summaries have been tossed out, since they withdrew.

* * * * * *

All Quiet At The Arena

Each local senior club has its own side of the Tompkins' case. Red Crighton of the Eagles says the Petes held up Tompkins' application for a transfer until it was too late to get him in under the four import clause. Fred Scates of the Petes says: "No such thing. Our executive met to deal with the case and were informed that Tompkins and the Eagles were applying directly to the OHA for his transfer. So, we let it go at that, taking no further action." Thus, the argument waxes merrily (or bitterly) on. Eagles, we hear, are still hopeful of re-opening the case with the OHA and getting permission to use Honey on defence.

New Zealand Cheers Fine New Racehorse

AUCKLAND, NZ. — (CP) — New Zealand has produced a racehorse which sportsmen here believe may pile up a record comparable with any of the turf giants of the past.

Mainbrace, a chestnut horse, has won 17 races in a row, including two starts as a four-year-old this season. Since he was a two-year-old he has started 25 times, winning 23 races, with one second and one third. He won 15 races as a three-year-old.

The Australian and New Zealand record of consecutive wins is 19, held jointly by two famous champions of the past, Gloaming and Desert Gold. Mainbrace has already beaten the records of Bernborough, 15 wins in succession, and Par Lap, who had 14, and these two were the greatest racehorses of modern times in the two southern dominions.

His stake earnings to date total $86,950, but purses here don't compare with the North American or British tracks. His latest win was noteworthy in that he covered 1⅜ miles with slight leg injury.

The Republic of Eire has an area of 26,601 square miles, compared to 5,238 for Northern Ireland.

Ottawa Roughriders Break Hex To Finally Win Grey Cup 21-14

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Nov. 26 (CP). — Ottawa Rough Riders, whose habit of playing like chumps instead of champs in Grey Cup finals became almost a legend, today are Canadian football champions and holders, for one year at least, of the 42-year-old trophy. They broke the hex the hard way.

A blazing fourth-quarter club in the Big Four playoffs, they reversed the tactics Saturday against Saskatchewan Roughriders and practically handed the game to the westerners in the final seven minutes. Sensing disaster, they picked up their feet and went on to win 21-14.

Ahead 20-2 and well worth it, Ottawa developed a bad case of jitters and before anybody could spell Saskatchewan backwards, the alert and cup-hungry Roughies picked up two Ottawa fumbles and cracked over two converted touchdowns. They were still on fire but Ottawa rallied to put out the blaze and take command until the gun.

Ottawa had wrapped up the game with three converted majors and two singles against two first-quarter Saskatchewan singles when the old hex caught up with them. The Roughie surge brought the record-breaking crowd of 27,326 to its feet but Ottawa played out time with ground smashes deep into Saskaechewan territory.

Expected Flop

And during those anxious moments, hard-bitten Ottawa fans with memories of heart-breaking failures against the west in 1939, 1941 and 1948—and all in the dying stages of the games—were resigned to another flop.

Fans still recall the last-minute single Art Stevenson kicked for Winnipeg Blue Bombers to give the westerners an 8-7 victory over Ottawa. They remember, too, the placement Ches McCance kicked for the Bombers late in the 1941 game that converted a 16-15 dificit into a thrill-packed 18-16 victory.

And it still hurts Ottawa supporters when they think of that Nov. 27 game three years ago when Calgary Stampeders pulled the sleeper play and Pete Karpuk committed his famous skull when he failed to pick up a loose ball, allowing Calgary to set up its game-winning Stamp touchdown. Riders led 7-6 at the time—late in the final quarter. Karpuk redeemed himself Saturday as the game's outstanding ground-gainer.

Saturday's game was one to remember if only for the tense final minutes and the perfect football weather with the field dry and fast in comparison to recent years when snow and rain slopped down on unprotected Varsity Stadium field to create nightmarish conditions. This time, the well-ballyhooed tarpaulin protected the ground from a heavy rainfall two days previously.

It was a setting, almost forgotten, for the greatest sports spectacle Canada knows. The sun stayed out most of the day, making the stadium a symphony of color with cowboy-costumed western fans in the green and white Saskatchewan colors mingling with Ottawa supporters in red and white.

It started with a pre-game parade along downtown streets and had everything, including a nifty 30-yard kickoff by the Governor-General and the crowning at half-time of Miss Grey Cup a winner for the west in the person of Myrtle Bainbridge of Regina.

Ottawa trailed only in the first few minutes on singles from the toe of triple-threat quarter Glenn Dobbs whose initial boot travelled 77 yards, longest of the day.

Saskatchewan, which went into the game on the short end of 8-to-5 odds and ended with its eighth straight Grey Cup defeat, was given hope but the Roughies were deflated a few moments later when always-dangerous Howie Turner swept down the sidelines on a 69-yard dash to the Regina three. Benny MacDonnell, hard-plunging back, went over on the first try.

Took Command

Ottawa took command from then on, added a major in the second quarter when Saskatchewan's Mickey Maguire bungled on his own 25. Two plays later, quarter Tom O'Malley flipped a forward to outside Alton Baldwin on the Regina one and the import from Green Bay Packers pro team fell over the line.

The eastern champions added another touchdown in the third on a spectacular play by Karpuk, fleet-footed back who took a 43-yard pass from O'Malley on the dead run and with his back to the tosser streaked 20 yards into pay dirt.

All touchdowns were converted by Bob Gain import middle. Bruce Cummings, slick-haired kicker from Toronto Varsity in intercollegiate ranks, contributed two singles before the Ottawa bubble burst.

Fumbles by MacDonnell and Turner gave Roughies their chance and Dobbs sent Jack Nix across the Ottawa line with a long pass and sent Sully Glasser through a big hole in the eastern line from 10 yards out. It took the Roughies just six plays to get their two majors before they folded.

IT'S INCOMPLETE—Two Regina players, Red Ettinger (74) and R. Wright (3) go up in the air for the ball intended for Alton Baldwin, almost completely obscured. Bob Simpson (60) Ottawa end comes up on right during Saturday's Grey Cup game.

KICKS OFF—Governor-General Viscount Alexander kicks off to launch the 1951 Grey Cup classic between Ottawa and Regina. Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto, holds the ball while at left is Mayor Grant of Regina and Charlotte Whitton, Mayor of Ottawa.

MISS GREY CUP — She's never roped a steer nor harvested wheat but Myrtle Bainbridge, 17-year-old Regina student, looks mighty appealing under that Stetson. As Miss Saskatchewan Roughriders, she won out over seven other contestants for the Miss Grey Cup title and was crowned during half-time ceremonies at the game in Toronto Saturday.

Quinte Hawks Lead

With Queen's results dropped from the standing, since they withdrew, and an Eagles' win over Petes thrown out on a protest, the revised OHA senior "B" group standing to date is:

	P	W	L	Pts.
Belleville	4	3	1	6
Eagles	3	2	1	4
Petes	3	1	2	2
Kingston	2	0	2	0

Parnall Okay With Eagles But Game Thrown Out; "No" To Tompkins' Transfer

The sub-committee of the OHA at a Toronto weekend meeting, ruled that Bob Parnall belonged to the Peterborough Eagles, and could play with that club this season. However, because his signed certificate was not received by the OHA in time before he played for Eagles in their 7-4 Senior B win over the Petes here last Monday, that game was thrown out. It will be replayed, if it later affects the standing with the gate split between the clubs.

The Petes had protested Parnall on the grounds that he was living in Trenton and his nearest Senior B centre was Belleville. The Eagles claimed that he was their property from last season and his home was in Peterborough, though he was serving as an RCAF officer in Trenton Airport. The OHA sub-committee upheld the latter claim. However, last Monday's game will not go in the standing, since Parnall was not registered in time for it.

Turned Down

Honey Tompkins' application for a transfer from the Petes to the Eagles was turned down by the sub-committee on the grounds that the Eagles had four imports for this season now and could not have another. He will be allowed to get a release from the Peterborough Hockey Club — and this has been promised—but he is not presently eligible to join the Eagles. After a year's absence from hockey he will be a free agent and able to sign with any club.

Both local clubs had representatives at the Toronto meeting, and both Parnall and Tompkins were present to state their cases. The Eagles pointed out that they had lost Joe Rochetta for the season, through a serious injury, and had lost Jim Wilson—an import who has been transferred to Toronto on his job. The Petes claimed that Eagles had four imports now and were not entitled to any more, and they said that Tompkins had always been the Petes' property as a player and they were willing to play him this year.

"Case of Spite"

Manager Red Creighton of the Eagles later said it was a "case of spite by the Petes" in refusing to release Tompkins in time for him to become one of the Eagles' four imports for the season. "Tompkins applied in time to them for a release," Red stated, "and was promised one if he turned in his equipment. He did that but still couldn't get a release, though they now say they'll give him one. He does not want to play for them and, when I was with that club, we always granted a player's release if he asked for one."

Petes' officials say they are out to stop "raiding of our club" by the Eagles, and to make that team play according to the import rule. The OHA decrees that no Senior B club may have more than four imports a season. A player transferring from one Senior B club to another — even in the same city—is regarded as an import.

Jack Dempsey Special Referee

The rematch of Zorra and Lou Newman in the feature match of Tuesday's wrestling card at the Brock should prove a dandy.

The appointment of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, as special referee for the Newman-Zorra collision is good news to all concerned, with the exception of Newman, who relies to such a great extent on rough and questionable tactics. The firm and impartial officiating of the experienced Dempsey, figures to prevent a repetition of the rules in last week's bout, which was declared a draw.

The semi-final will feature the new Negro sensation, Bobo Brazil. Great things are predicted for this boy; in fact, many claim he is the coming champ. He will tackle Stan Mayslack.

The opening bout brings together Sonny Kurgis and a newcomer, the Greek mat star, Mike Paudosis.

A record-breaking crowd is expected to see this all-star card and the great Jack Dempsey in action.

Toronto Starts Clicking Chalks Up 2 Wins Over Canadiens, Bruins

By The Canadian Press

Conn Smythe must have shined that crystal ball pretty thoroughly before calling his Toronto Maple Leafs to break their Saturday night jinx and win over Montreal Canadiens during the weekend. Leafs not only routed the Habitants 4-2 in as rousing a game as has been seen at Toronto in many a year, but kept on rolling to flatten Boston Bruins 4-1 right in Boston Sunday night. The double victory hoisted Toronto to within five points of the league-leading Detroit Red Wings who managed to split their weekend fare with fifth-place Chicago Black Hawks. The Hawks pulled the big surprise Saturday night, drubbing the Wings 6-3 right in Detroit, only to bow before 12,208 Sunday home-town fans, their largest crowd of the new season.

In New York, the luckless Montreal crew dropped an exciting 2-1 decision to the last-place Rangers. The hard-hitting clash was marked by several traditional Blueshirt - Habitant brawls.

Leafs and Canadiens dished up the fastest and hardest-hitting game of the year for 14,580 fans. Maurice (Rocket) Richard put Canadiens one up at 1:20 of the first period but Tod Sloan made it 1-1 nine minutes later and Cal Gardner put the Leafs in front at 7:18 of the middle session. Elmer Lach evened it up at 2-2 after 27 seconds of play in the final period, but Teeder Kennedy came through with the winner at 7:59. Bob Silonger put the game on ice with the fourth Leaf goal.

Take Lead

In Boston Sunday, Toronto took a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Gardner and Howie Meeker. Boston came back briefly in the middle period as Ray Barry tallied. Max Bentley and Harry Watson scored one each in the final period.

In New York, Herb Dickenson and Ed Slowinski made it 2-0 for the Rangers before Richard scored the lone Montreal goal.

In Detroit, Gus Bodnar and Bill Mosienko gave the Hawks a 2-0 lead before Ted Lindsay was able to reply for the Wings in the first period exchange. Mosienko came up with his second goal and Jimmy Peters and Bep Guidolin added two more before Marty Pavelich got the second Detroit counter in the second period. Pete Babando scored the last Chicago marker.

The Wings had it all their way at Chicago Stadium. Black Jack Stewart opened the scoring for the Hawks, but Metro Prystai, Red Kelly, Glen Skov and Ted Lindsay scored to clinch the game for the league-leaders. Jimmy McFadden replied for Chicago's second goal, but Gordie Howe got that one back.

Lindsay Muskies Crush Comets

LINDSAY, Nov. 26.—Outclassing Cobourg Comets in every period, Lindsay Muskies took over first place in the OHA Intermediate "A" Lakeshore League with an 11-3 victory here.

Sixty Coombs paced the Muskies' attack with three goals and two assists and Vick Corley turned the hat trick. In the third period, Stew Hicks, Murray Davis and Bill Parker with one goal each and Bob Lewis with a pair, were the other Lindsay marksmen. Bus and Herb Cane and Ken Wilcox clicked for Cobourg.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Bill Mosienko, of Chicago Black Hawks, who scored two goals Saturday as his team toppled Detroit Red Wings 6-2.

Cal Gardner of Toronto Maple Leafs who scored once and figured in two other goals Sunday night as his team downed Boston Bruins 4-1.

Ew Slowinski of New York Rangers who scored what proved to be the winning goal Sunday night as his team edged Montreal Canadiens 2-1.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

The Montreal Canadiens' scoring twins—Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach—took a firmer hold on top spot during the weekend in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Richard picked up two goals and an assist and Lach got a goal and was credited with two assists bringing their totals to 20 points each.

The Rocket leads the roster in goal-getting—13—and Lach paces the assists column—16.

In sole possession of third spot is Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe who scored a goal Sunday night and figured in another, bringing his total to 18—10 goals and eight assists.

Hornets Lose To St. Louis

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets lost their second game of the season Sunday night dropping a 3-1 count to the St. Louis Flyers in an American Hockey League game.

The setback ended an undefeated string of nine games for the western division leaders who won seven and tied two. They have 15 victories.

In Saturday night tilts, the Hornets routed Syracuse 10-3, Hershey took Providence 4-1, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 6-4, and Cleveland handed Buffalo a 9-3 defeat.

At Buffalo, Knobby Warwick set the pace with two goals as the Bisons defeated Syracuse Warriors 6-1.

And at Providence, Ed Bruneteau's 25-foot backhand shot 76 seconds before the finish gave Indianapolis Capitals a 6-5 victory over Providence Reds.

30 Violent Weekend Deaths Reported In Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Eighteen persons killed in traffic accidents in Eastern Canada during the weekend brought the total of violent deaths in the area to 30.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed that drowning took four lives, poison two, falling tree limbs [illegible] and other causes, four. Sixteen persons were killed in Ontario, eight in Quebec and six in New Brunswick.

Two mysterious deaths in Ontario are believed to have been caused by poison, but no official verdict has been given. Dead are Viola Durham, 18, of Matheson, and Robert Ford, 17.

A second mysterious death, that of Mrs. Doris Kenyon, 46, of Hamilton, is also being investigated by police. Near Hamilton, at Freenan, police are holding one man after George Herman, a Polish immigrant, died of a kick in the stomach after an argument.

Three Drownings

Two Brothers, Murray Stewart, 7, and Grenville, 6, were drowned when they tried to play hockey on ice that was not thick enough. Joanne Ellis, 3, was drowned at Thornbury when she ventured too far out on the ice of a mill pond.

On the last day of the deer hunting season, Arthur Potvin, 26 was fatally wounded by another hunter who mistook him for a deer 20 miles south of his home at Sudbury.

John Cunningham, 67, retired farmer, was killed when struck by a truck 45 miles from Sault Ste. Marie. In another traffic accident near Bowmanville, Fred Ellis, 21, and Floyd Brough, 19, were killed when their automobile rolled over.

A car in which Mrs. Gladys Wilson, 27, of Hamilton, was riding went out of control and rolled over at a traffic circle. She was killed. Howard Pollock, 23, of Toronto, was killed when his car struck a safety island at Toronto. In a similar accident not far from Niagara Falls, John A. Bell, 33, of Tiverton, Ont., was killed.

Two men were killed by falling tree limbs, Folke Gustafson, 44, of Fort Frances at Sapawe, Ont., and Alex Zeilonka, 31, of Pembroke, at Algonquin Park.

In Quebec province, three persons were killed in an accident between an automobile and a freight train near Drummondville. Dead are Mrs. Ubald Leclerc, 45, of St. Cyrille de Wendover; her daughter, Berthe, 21, and her son, Roger, 15.

Head-On Crash

In a head-on crash between two cars across the river from Montreal, Miss C. Pinard, 19, of Montreal, was killed. Two cars struck the rear ends of two trucks killing two persons: Rejean Gilbert, 23, of Grande Baie at Chicoutimi, and Edouard Dube, 55, at Beloeil, 20 miles south of Montreal.

At Valleyfield Albert Builbault, 46, of Melocheville, was fatally injured when hit by a car. At Val Morin, Leo Juteau died of injuries suffered in a truck accident Friday that killed four other persons.

In New Brunswick, three members of a Newcastle Creek family were killed when their car had a blowout and landed upside down in a stream. Aubrey Straight, 36, his wife, 33, and his son, Rossland, 4, died in the crash.

The body of Rupert Eaton, 31, a fisherman from Fairhaven, Deer Island, who had been overdue since last Thursday, was washed ashore near Mace's Bay.

The body of a missing hunter was found near Bathurst. Raymond White, 24, died of exposure.

Canadians Win 6 Championships

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 — (CP) — Canadian exhibitors at the international grain and hay show Sunday won six championships in the small seed classes.

In the fescue grass seed event, D. W. Johnson, of Dawson Creek, BC, took first place.

Two Alberta men won championships in clover competition, E. W. Coxe, Grand Prairie, won the alsike clover competition and E. A. Levens, Spirit River, took the sweet clover prize.

In the crested wheat grass event, J. Rugg and Sons, of Elstow, Sask., took first place.

An entry from W. F. Hunter, Norval, Ont., won the timothy seed class. Myles A. MacMillan, of Dalkeith, Ont., was second, followed by Roy C. Chambers, Fenwick, Ont.; John Ragarty and Son, Alma, Ont.; R. T. Wright, Maryville, Mo.; Ray Lyons, Dutton, Ont.; Charles F. Goeschel, Stillwater, Minn., and Andrew Johnston, Renfrew.

Ken Davie, of Lardner, BC, won first prize for red clover. John Bracken, of Manotick, Ont., was third, followed by H. R. May and Sons, Lulu Islands, BC; John Hagarty and Son, Alma, Ont.; Murray W. Coverdale, Cayuga, Ont., and R. G. Cole and Son, Renfrew.

In the soft white spring wheat division no first prize was given. However, two Ontario exhibitors from Bells Corners placed second and third. H. Davidson won second prize with the Wallace Brothers receiving third.

3 Possible Successors If Ike Tries Politics

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—A top-level informant said Saturday Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's successor as Atlantic Pact army commander—if he quits to run for the US presidency in 1952—will be one of three top US generals. He named Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, now UN commander in Korea, as the most likely choice, but said Gen. Omar N. Bradley, head of the US joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Eisenhower's chief of staff, also are in the running.

4 Fliers Missing

TOKYO, Nov. 26 (AP)—Four of 15 crewmen of a twin-engined US navy patrol plane were missing after it plunged into the Sea of Japan Saturday night. Crash boats picked up 11 men.

Passenger Paralyzed In Car Accident

NORTH BAY, Nov. 26 (CP)—Leonard Weatherston, 36, of Preston and Guelph, Sunday night was in serious condition in hospital here after a highway accident early Sunday.

Doctors said he is suffering from a broken neck. The lower half of his body is paralyzed.

Police said Weatherston was a passenger in a small car driven by William Scott, of Ariss, a village near Guelph. The auto apparently flipped over on the highway when the steering gear locked.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity. controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

9 Accidents Injure 4 On Weekend

No Serious Injuries In Rash Of City Collisions

Four people received minor cuts and bruises in a total of nine motor vehicle accidents during the weekend on city streets.

One motorist, Gerald F. McGrath, 23, Euclid Ave., was taken into custody by police after he collided with a truck at 12.15 am Sunday on Park and King George Sts.

Today in police court, he pleaded guilty to two charges and was fined $52.50 for driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and $10 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Mrs. Jean Armstrong, RR 5 Peterborough, Saturday afternoon received a bruise on her forehead when her car skidded on a patch of ice at Monaghan and Concession Rds. The car went out of control and crashed through guard rails on the west side of the bridge.

The car was badly damaged particularly on the left side. Three sections of steel guard rail were broken off.

Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Snapped Off Pole

Betty Green, 16, RR 4 Peterborough, received a cut on her nose, and Jack Levington, 9, a cut on the forehead, when the car in which they were passengers went out of control at Park and Lansdowne Sts. and snapped off a telephone pole.

They were treated by Dr. William C. Wedlock and then allowed to go home.

The car was being driven by Robert D. Green, 24, Burnham St., who escaped injury. He told Constable Wilfred F. Perry that he was going south on Park at 6.10 pm Saturday and started to make a left turn onto Lansdowne. Somehow the steering jammed and the car mounted the southeast curb and snapped off a telephone pole.

The grill, radiator, hood, front bumper, fan and front axle were all damaged on the car.

A truck, driven by Charles Copping, Park St. N., and the car of Gerald F. McGrath, Euclid Ave., were in collision early Sunday morning at Park and King George Sts.

Copping was going south on Park St. and McGrath was driving west on King George St. The truck received $15 damage to the left rear fe[illegible]nd a $500 pinball machine [illegible]as carrying was demolished.

Driver Arrested

PCs Dennis Traynor and W. G. Scott arrested McGrath on charges of failing to stop at a stop sign and driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Icy pavements, shortly before noon Saturday, and for a couple of hours after, were responsible for several minor accidents.

At 10 am William George Wahl, Toronto, started to make a left turn onto George St. from Lansdowne St. when his car skidded and rammed into the left front fender of a car coming south on George St.

It was driven by Mabel L. Langstaff, Orillia.

Shortly afterwards, John Leask, Havelock, applied his brakes to obey the Park St. stoplight as he was driving west on Lansdowne St. His truck skidded on the icy surface and ran into the rear of a car at the intersection, driven by D. MacCallum, Rogers St.

The truck was undamaged but the trunk of MacCallum's car was stove in and the tail light broken.

Robert G. Watkins, Gilchrist St., pulled out from the south curb on McDonnel St. at 1.10 pm Saturday and collided with the right rear fender of an eastbound car driven by W. Blodgett, London St.

Neither driver saw the other in time. Watkins told Constable W. A. Scott that he didn't see the eastbound car because his rear window was steamed over.

The left front fender of Watkins' car was damaged and the right rear fender of Blodgett's.

Braked, Skidded

Robert McCormick, Armour Rd., skidded when he applied his brakes Saturday noon and slid into the car of Wilfred Finn, Park St., as Finn backed out of the A and P parking lot on King St.

The right bumper and left rear fender of Finn's car was damaged. McCormick's vehicle received a bent left front fender and the grill was bashed in.

Constable Eldon McDonald investigated.

The most freakish accident of the weekend was when the left rear wheel of the car driven by Edgar Miller, RR 8 Peterborough, flew off and struck another car further down the road.

The accident occurred at 5.20 pm Saturday as Miller was going south on Gilchrist St. The wheel ran down the road and struck the left front fender of Mrs. Genevieve Mann, Woodbine Ave.

The fender received slight damage.

Two cars were damaged considerably when they collided at the corner of Park and Lansdowne Streets at 2.15 Sunday afternoon.

Bumped Head

Mrs. Harold Brown, RR 2 Norwood, a passenger in one of the cars driven by Garnet Baptie, of RR 2 Norwood, bumped her forehead in the collision but apparently suffered no ill effects. She was just returning home from hospital where she had recovered from a brain haemorrhage.

The Baptie car was going west on Lansdowne St. when the accident occurred at Lansdowne and Park Streets.

Constable E. G. Patterson, of 589 Murray St., the driver of the other car involved, said he was coming north on Park St., and as he approached the intersection saw an oncoming westbound car.

He said he applied his brakes when he saw the car coming west was not going to stop before colliding with the left rear corner of Baptie's car.

Baptie told Constable W. A. Scott who investigated that he was talking to other people in his car and did not see the red light.

The front end of Patterson's car was damaged considerably.

Christmas Trees

The spirit of Christmas present is starting to make its presence known around the city. A truckload of Christmas trees was parked on Antrim St. near George St. this morning. And already, determined crowds of Christmas shoppers have started the annual pre-Christmas Saturday rushes.

Citizens Claim Pile Of Loot Police Recover

Most of the loot recovered by police Friday night when a gang of junior raffles were arrested in their club house on Perry St., has been claimed.

The detectives' office looked like a lady's aid rummage sale today.

Blankets, flashlights, lamps, tools and sundry assorted items are piled along the walls, with the names of the owners who have claimed them attached to the articles.

The cache was discovered by Constable Douglas Farthing Friday night, when he noticed two boys on bicycles. One had three blankets in the wire carrier. Constable Farthing followed the boys to their "clubhouse" where the stolen articles were stored.

Boys Arrested

Seven boys, all juveniles were arrested and police believe they have ended a series of complaints by car owners in the south end last week who reported that articles had been taken from parked cars.

In addition to 10 blankets valued at $10 each, four flashlights, telephone and flashlight batteries, a piece of rope, a flag mast and nickel fitting (taken from a boat hauled up for the winter on George St. wharf), two car door handles, a pair of goggles, a Coleman lamp, hammers, pliers, a plastic raincoat, and two railroad flares are among the recovered articles.

Several people who had not reported missing articles to police have called at the police station to claim their property after learning that the boys had been arrested.

There was also a case of soda pop in the boys' well stocked clubhouse. It is believed this solves the mystery of where cases of soft drinks were disappearing from a truck parked at the corner of George and Romaine streets overnight. The owner reported several cases missing during the summer.

Escapes Crash

A Florida man escaped injury early today when his station wagon got caught in the slush on Highway 28 and rolled over in the ditch, three miles south of the city. The driver was Murray M. Cook, Fort Lauderdale, who was coming toward Peterborough when the wheels of his station wagon caught in some slush by the side of the highway. The vehicle turned completely around, facing south, and nosed over in the east ditch. Damage was estimated at $350. OPP Constable Russell Pollard investigated.

3 Cut By Glass As Cars Collide Near Buckhorn

Three men—all passengers in a car driven by George Hutchinson, Harvey township—were cut by flying glass Saturday night in a two-car collision three miles north of Buckhorn.

Those who received facial cuts were Francis Hutchinson, Lindsay, brother of the driver; Albert Chase, RR 1 Peterborough, and Garnet Burns, RR 6 Peterborough.

The impact of the collision also knocked Chase out for nearly 10 minutes.

Hutchinson was driving north on the Lakehurst road when he met a southbound car, driven by Walter Kalley, 37, Queen St., Toronto. Both drivers swung to the right to avoid an accident but they came into sidewise collision.

A woman passenger in Kalley's car was shaken up but otherwise uninjured.

Damage is estimated at $200 to each car.

OPP Constable Ralph Tremills investigated. Saturday morning, two Ottawa motorists escaped injury when their car skidded backward into a tree, opposite the Kawartha Golf Club on Highway 28.

The driver was Mark P. Gillin, 25, Ottawa, and the passenger and owner was Constance Choquitte, Frank St., Ottawa.

Gillin was driving toward Peterborough. He started up a slight incline but the wheels could not get traction on the snow-packed highway and the car skidded backwards down the highway into a tree.

The trunk was caved in causing $150 damage.

Skidded Into Pole

Keith E. Longmuir, 22, Norwood, was treated for bruises and a general shaking up early today after his car skidded into a hydro pole on Highway 7 and broke it off.

The accident occurred on the highway, four miles west of Norwood. Longmuir started to pass another car. His car began to skid on the icy road and he nosed it back into the right lane of traffic.

But the back end of the car swung around causing it to skid sideways into the pole, the impact being on the left side of the driver's seat.

The whole left side of the vehicle was caved in. Damage was estimated at $150. Longmuir was treated by Dr. A. R. Atkinson, Norwood.

OPP Constable Harold Armstrong investigated.

Armouries Target For "Bomb"

Practice Exercise To Be Staged By Local Red Cross

The Peterborough armouries will be bombed Friday night, but the disaster section of the Peterborough Red Cross Society is prepared to meet the emergency. The bomb, not atomic, will be a direct hit and more than 15 Boy Scouts will be injured, but help will be rushed there immediately. There will be an assortment of injuries ranging from broken arms, legs, and collarbones, to serious and minor cuts and bruises, and shock.

In co-operation with the Red Cross, who are supervising the mock bombing, will be the St. John Ambulance's men's and women's sections. They will be treating the "patients" for first aid at the scene.

For those who need further treatment the Red Cross branch's network of emergency ambulances, a fleet of panel trucks, loaned by merchants, will rush the "victims" to an emergency hospital at Central school.

This is the annual disaster practice by the Red Cross branch and it will be viewed by representatives of the Red Cross from Toronto and district as well as the Peterborough Civil Defence Committee.

FROST VOTE 12,413

Premier Frost's majority in his own riding of Victoria was announced today at 9,501, complete for the 95 polls. Conservative total was 12,413 to 2,913 polled for Edward Harding, Liberal.

City Hall Trees Full Grown In Year 2,000

The sapling sugar maples that were selected for summer shade and decorative effect at the city hall block were planted as planned, by members of the city council Saturday morning.

The ten trees allotted one to each alderman, and although Mayor Swanston was left out of that arrangement, the absence of Aldermen Young and Dewart let His Worship in on the aborial formality. Parks Superintendent Armar Butcher had picked out a tree for himself and also a place over near the police station entrance.

The maples are now in their winter dormancy, and in their transfer to new soil they should begin to take root early in the spring.

Patfall

Only misadventure of the occasion was Ald. P. J. Anglesey's slip from the narrow footing of a ladder as he swung at the top of one of the protective stakes, to drive it through the frozen top layer of soil.

The members of this year's council were given a personal interest in the trees and their future budding and leaving, as they expand their boles and add length to their branches. By the year 2,000 these maples should be long past full growth, assuming that they all survive any attacking ills.

By that time the City Fathers who committed them to the earth with official dedication to that Peterborough of the future will be unknown to the passing crowds and possibly forgotten except in the records of the year that saw the completion of the city hall and formal opening of its doors.

MOOSE ANNIVERSARY

Twenty - seventh anniversary dinner of the Loyal Order of Moose, Peterborough Lodge 813, was held Saturday night at the YMCA. About 175 attended, and special guests were Mayor Max J. Swanston and Rabbi Joseph Mayer and their wives.

City Urged To Start Theatre Workshop, Train Own Directors, Actors, Stage Crews

"Start a theatre workshop and train your own directors, actors and stage crews" Arthur Clare of Ottawa, drama lecturer for Community Programs told an audience of 65 at the Public Library on Friday. The meeting of amateur drama workers was sponsored by the Peterborough Drama Festival Association, in conjunction with the Recreation Commission.

Mr. Clare outlined the facilities offered by Community Programs, a branch of the Ontario Department of Education. He spoke of the free, comprehensive library of plays and technical books. Most of the 2½-hour meeting was given over to questions and discussion, which Mr. Clare led in lively fashion. He spoke of the possibility of a producers' and acting course being held in the city.

Peter McCombe, chairman of the Drama Festival Association, introduced the speaker and referred to problems of amateur theatre which had emerged in the last few years. Alex Sinclair, Recreation Director, thanked Mr. Clare and thanks were extended to William Graff, Librarian, for the facilities of the Library.

136 More Have Vote In '52 City Elections

The 20,334 names on Peterborough's voters lists for 1952 are 136 more than the 1951 total.

There are 9,020 Public School owners and 4,128 Public tenants; and 1,993 Separate School Owners and 985 Separate tenants.

There are also 4,208 municipal franchise voters. These are the husbands and wives of property owners. The present list of voters names is being used in the present municipal elections.

Record Number Skate Saturday At Arena

Skaters made a new attendance record at the Civic Arena Saturday, a total of 1126 for the afternoon and evening.

During the afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock there were 493 of whom only a handful were adults Mr. Smillie said that crowd of youngsters was at least 475.

The evening skaters totalled 633 from 8 to 10.30 o'clock. Add the figure skaters between 5 and 7 p.m., and the count indicates the present popularity of the rink.

"It was a new peak attendance," Mr. Smillie said, "and although a bit crowded at night, I think everybody had a good time. The young people are certainly making use of the rink this season, and at that we had a fine skating season last winter."

Students Teach In City Schools

Students are teaching students this week in all of Peterborough's elementary schools, both public and separate, as the Peterborough Normal School students experience their first week of urban school teaching.

This week is only part of the new program which is designed to give the teachers-to-be more continuous teaching in both the rural and urban schools.

In previous years the students taught weekly half-hour lessons throughout the school year in the urban and rural schools. They also had two weeks continuous teaching in both types of schools, usually around Christmas and Easter holidays.

This year the orientation period was held in three Peterborough elementary schools during October, each student teaching only one half-hour lesson a week.

Three weeks ago the Normal students went into the rural schools for their first experience there.

They taught then in rural classrooms in schools nearest their homes, the custom followed in previous years.

This week is their first full week in an urban schoolroom, and it is also the first time that the students have not taught in urban schools nearest their homes during the week of urban teaching.

L. W. Copp, principal, explained that there is five more weeks of continuous teaching in urban schools and it is likely that some of these will be spent in the students' home towns or cities.

He added that the reason for all the students teaching in Peterborough this week is to allow the Normal School staff to see the quality of work being done.

Every elementary school in the city has Normal students this week as the 130 teachers-to-be are sent out in pairs, teaching alternately throughout the week under the supervision of the regular classroom teacher.

No schedule is definite yet for the other weeks of rural and urban teaching, but Mr. Copp said that the next week will probably be after the Christmas holidays.

The reason for more continuous weeks of teaching and less half-hour periods is to give the students a better conception of the weekly routines in both classrooms. It also allows more time for the students under the Normal School masters.

CHORAL GROUP AT CHURCH

Members of the PCVS choral group led in the service of song at the Murray Street Baptist church on Sunday evening. Sixty-five young ladies of the collegiate occupied the choir loft and were heard in three selections. They were directed by their leader, M. J. Curtis.

Only 1 Woman In 19 Names To Go On Ballot

With Ald. Hugh Waddell elected mayor for 1952 by acclamation Peterborough voters will go to the polls next Monday to elect five aldermen, five members of the board of education and one utilities commissioner.

Nine, all who were nominated, are contesting the seats for the city council. These include the four aldermen whose term of two years is expiring. The candidates for council are Patrick J. Anglesey, Wm. J. Beggs, Sidney J. Black, George P. Brock, Ernest C. Braund, John A. Dewart, H. Stanley Longhurst, Grenville B. Lathangue and T. Douglas Miller.

The six nominated for the five places on the board of education all qualified including three of the retiring members. Names on the ballot will be Stanley R. Adamson, G. Wilson Craw, Charles H. Huffman, Edmund Humphrey, Arthur Pitchford and Mrs. Anne Rowell.

Four are contesting the one vacancy on the utilities commission. These also include the retiring member. The four are Charles K. Hurst, Dr. E. R. Langley, James Juby and George A. Macdonald.

Farmer's Arm Caught In Chopping Mill

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 26. — (ENS)—A 30-year-old Downeyville farmer had his left hand amputated Saturday night after it was badly mangled in a chopping mill he was operating.

The farmer, Joseph Guiry, RR 1, Downeyville, was using the chopping mill Saturday afternoon on the farm of Gerald O'Neill, RR 1, Downeyville, when the accident occurred.

O'Neill tied a tourniquet above Guiry's left elbow and halted the flow of blood. Guiry was then rushed to Bobcaygeon, where Dr. B. E. Kelly ordered him taken to Lindsay's Ross Memorial hospital.

Guiry's hand, and part of his arm below the elbow were amputated. Today he is resting as well as can be expected.

Guiry's farm is about three miles from the O'Neill home.

Coin Collectors Plan To Organize Club

Coin collectors in the city are going to organize its first Numismatic Club in many years.

Some six coin enthusiasts gathered at the home of V. W. O'Connor on Bolivar St. and made plans to hold an organizing meeting Dec. 15 at the home of G. Benton, 534 Harvey St.

The purpose of the club is to interest more people in the hobby of collecting and studying coins.

Mr. O'Connor said there are many men and women in the city who are interested in the hobby but they are hampered by not knowing the identity of others who could help them in an interchange of knowledge.

The club will be affiliated with the Canadian Numismatic Association whose headquarters is in Ottawa.

Anyone interested is invited to join. Any information will be suplied by Mr. Benton at 20359.

Meters In Square Reap $3,072

Now officially termed "city square" the old market place contributed $3,072.51 from its meters in the three months of its operations. Presumably there is some expense to be assessed against the gross collections, to arrive at the net. Anway, it is income from city property that has been represented for a long time only by figures in the red. In other words, taxpayers were keeping up the market, although comparatively few of them ever bought anything there.

Parking meters along the street curbs have chalked up to their credit the grand total of $124,945.82. Add to that this recent sum of $3,072.51, and the aggregate is quite a nifty figure since May 1947.

Would Stop Licensed Guides Shooting Deer For Party

Two members of the executive of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, both Peterborough men, were returned by acclamation at a meeting of zone five in Orillia on Sunday.

Hugh V. Ploughman of 1273 Monaghan Rd. was re-elected zone president, and Campbell Rowatt of 400 Dublin St. will again fill the position of secretary-treasurer. Two vice-presidents, Jack Prentice of Toronto and George Weldon of Oshawa, were also elected.

At the annual meeting on Sunday several resolution were passed. One of them was to ask the Department of Lands and Forests to pass a law forbidding the firing of rifles by licensed guides during the hunting season. In this move, the federation wants to make sure that when a man goes hunting, he will do his own and not depend on a guide to do it for him.

Fourteen resolutions were approved from 33 clubs, representing 6,500 anglers and hunters in Southern Ontario. One of them was a resolution to have every member pay one dollar annually into the federation treasury.

Other resolutions were: The carrying of high-powered rifles, except during the deer season in regulated townships, be banned. The opening of the speckled trout season to be advanced to May 15 to coincide with the opening of the pickerel season. Toronto anglers want all hawks and owls put on the protected list.

Peterborough Fish and Game delegates want a gradual program of beautification of the Trent waterways, clearance of shrubs and dead timber on the shores, and sunken logs in the channels. Where new highways are driven through deep cuts, they want the loose soil planted or seeded to prevent erosion.

The Scotty Uren Trophy was donated by Blake Uren of Orillia in memory of his son, and will be presented to the club in Zone Five that makes the greatest contribution in any one year to conservation and propagation.

Starlet's Life As Twin A Tough One

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 26 (AP)—Lyn Wilde is a girl with all the obvious factors for film success. She has a beautiful face, a figure that is whistle-bait and she can sing, dance and act.

The only thing holding her back is her carbon copy.

That's her twin sister, Lee, who possesses the same attributes and abilities. The girls claim being a twin in show business is a living hell.

Individuality Out

"I hate being a twin," complained Lyn. "It's hard enough in this busy world to establish yourself as an individual. But when you're a twin, it's impossible."

Lyn is going as far as possible to dissociate herself professionally from her sister, who has retired from show business. The girls are blondes, but Lyn now is seeking her own career as a redhead.

The Wilde twins were under contract to M-G-M for several years, but their careers never progressed much farther than a few gag appearances.

"We did just about everything that twins could do," Lyn recalled.

Finally they ran out of angles. Toward the end, "we tried to establish our own identities. We wore our hair differently and didn't dress alike. But Louis B. Mayer just said 'what are you girls trying to prove?' That was the end of that."

The girls gave up the struggle three years ago. Both retired to become housewives. Lyn now has taken up her career again.

5 Die In Smashup

MONROE, Mich., Nov. 26 (AP)—Five persons were killed and a woman was critically injured in the smashup of two automobiles at a rural intersection in southwest Monroe county Sunday.

EIGHT PILOTS of 421 Red Indian fighter squadron returned to Canada from England Nov. 21. The squadron has been undergoing operational training in England with the RAF since January, 1951. The personnel are being returned to Canada by 426 Transport Squadron North Stars in four separate trips. At a Montreal railway station, from left to right, in the front row, are Flying Officers John Newsom of Rimbey, Alta., Lloyd Skaalen of Tofield, Alta., and Robert Wood of Lloydminster, Sask. In the back row, left to right, are Flight Lieutenant John Hicks of Ottawa, F/O John Greatrix of Peterborough, F/L "Hap" Day of Olds, Alta., F/L Howard Tetlock of Mazenod, Sask., F/O John Walton of Pilot, Man.

Three Killed Driving To Mass

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que., Nov. 26. (CP).—Three persons were killed and three others severely injured Sunday when their taxi-cab was rammed by a freight train at a Canadian National Railways level crossing at nearby St. Cyrille de Wendover.

Dead are: Mrs. Ubald Leclerc, 45, St. Cyrille; her 21-year-old daughter, Berthe and her 15-year-old son, Roger.

Another daughter, Claudette, was in hospital here with severe injuries. Brought here in the same ambulance were taxi-driver Robert Pepin, of St. Cyrille, and a friend of the Leclerc girls, Yolande Jutras of St. Zepherin.

All were en route to morning mass here in Pepin's cab when the vehicle stalled at the level crossing.

Staples Grower Wins First Place

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 — (CP) — William R. Beattie, of Staples, soybean king in 1948, Sunday won first place in the yellow soybean competition for region one and two, and thus again is in contention for the soybean championship of the international grain and hay show.

In the runner-up spot was R. H. Peck, of River Canard, Ont., followed by George E. Phillips, Muirkirk, Ont.; Donald D Gray, Owasso, Mich.; Daniel Clunis, Ridgetown, Ont.; Charles E. Nelson, Northfield, Minn.; and Jack Henry, Turnerville, Ont.

In the large yellow field peas class, Roy Goltz, of Falkenburg, Ont.—the only entry and last year's winner—was awarded first prize.

G. Stein, of Matheson, Ont., took first place in the small yellow field peas class, with James E. Briscoe, of Renfrew, Ont., winning runner-up honors.

Bernice M. Ladrick, of Grand Ford, ND, was third, and William Landsell, of Brampton, fourth.

Better Instrument

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania Sunday announced the development of what it terms a successor to the Geiger counter that is nearly 20 times more sensitive in the detection of many radio-active substances used in medical research.

Aides Worn Out Staying With Churchill

LONDON, Nov. 26 — (AP). — Winston Churchill wound up his first month as peacetime Prime Minister of Britain Sunday with the bustle and vigor of a freshman trying to make the varsity squad.

The man, who will be 77 on Friday, is running a taut ship of state. His ministers are pushed to keep up with him. The sprawling officialdom of Whitehall is in a state of alert.

There are strong indications that Churchill will not open his major attacks on Britain's problems until he visits Ottawa and Washington in January.

To give his ministers time to knock together new policies, Churchill is sending Parliament off on a long Christmas holiday despite the Labor Party's outcries. The recess will extend from December 7 to January 29.

Churchill's vigorous pace keeps five secretaries working in relays on the hop day and night. He lives in a ten-room apartment over his offices at 10 Downing Street. He likes to work late at night and early morning, often propped up in bed.

At present he is carrying the heavy burden of two offices, Prime Minister and Minister of Defence. There has been some suggestion that Churchill may turn the Defence Ministry over to a trusted aide after he gets a good picture of Britain's rearmament progress.

Die In Burning Trailer

MARTINSBURGH, W.Va., Nov. 26 (AP)—Five children died in the flames of their tiny trailer home here Saturday. Police said they were the children of 38-year-old Mrs. Helen Price, who was not at home.

Hope To Interest Canadians In British Fair

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The British Industries Fair, which opens May 5, is trying to attract more Canadian buyers than before with the aim of increasing sales of British goods in Canada.

It will be successful if the trend of recent years continues. In 1948, 398 Canadian buyers registered; in 1949, 424; in 1950, 480; and in 1950, 546. BIF is trying for a much steeper jump this year.

Approximately 3,000 UK manufacturers will show their products; the lighter industries at Earl's Court and Olympia in London, and the heavier groups, such as engineering and hardware, at Birmingham.

Only UK-manufactured products are shown, except for representative displays by Commonwealth governments.

Peculiarly enough, the BIF got its start as a result of and during the First World War. Cut off from accustomed imports from Germany and Austria, the British Board of Trade, in late 1914, held a series of small exhibitions throughout the country so that manufacturers could examine the types of foreign articles needed. This led to the first BIF in 1915, and the 1952 fair will be the 31st held.

Construction Prizes

The Canadian Construction Association for the second year will offer prizes in 1952 for theses on construction by graduating engineers.

A $50 prize will be given for the best thesis prepared by a senior student at each of the 10 Canadian Universities offering degree courses in engineering. Selection will be made by each university's dean of engineering.

The Practical Research Committee of the CCA will review the winning theses and will award a special prize of $100 if, in the committee's opinion, a thesis of outstanding merit is received.

Preference will be given to theses dealing with job-site construction problems. Awards will be made during the summer or early fall of 1952.

Leave Loot Behind

STRATFORD, Nov. 26 (CP)—Two men who rifled the showcases of a jewellery store Saturday night dropped two pillow cases filled with about $5,000 in loot when a patrolling policeman spotted them. Police Constable Lionel Rider took after them but they got away.

Half-Starved Family

JACKSON, Calif., Nov. 26 (AP)—A half-starved family of four—including a one-year-old baby—was brought to safety Sunday after being snowbound a week in a high Sierra cabin. All they had eaten since last Monday was a can of syrup and a few scraps of food left over by summer occupants. The syrup they doled out to the baby.

Fake Navy Doctor Deported To US

VICTORIA, BC, Nov. 26 (CP)—Ferdinand Demara Jr., the man who posed as a naval surgeon in the Royal Canadian Navy for eight months, was back in the United States Sunday. He was ordered deported by immigration authorities and crossed into the US at Blaine, Wash., Friday.

The deportation order was made after an inquiry board sat on Demara's case and decided his entry into Canada was illegal.

US immigration officials at Blaine said Demara informed them he was going to his home in Lawrence, Mass.

Minister, Wife Honored On Anniversary

ROSENEATH, Nov. 26 (ENS).—The Rev. R. C and Mrs. White, who are completing their eighth year in charge of the United Churches on Roseneath Circuit, received gifts and many messages of felicitation from local friends during the weekend as they were marking their 29th wedding anniversary on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. White were also entertained at a family dinner on Thursday evening at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heywood, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Preston, Toronto (the latter a sister of Mrs. White) also entertained at a family gathering in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. White were married November 25, 1922, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Shaw Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, by Rev. John Ensor. Both were former residents of Twillingate, Newfoundland, and their first charge was at Morton's Harbor, Newfoundland. They were later transferred to Nova Scotia and spent seven years on a charge at Pugwash, NS. They then transferred to a charge in Bermuda, and spent five years there before coming to Roseneath in the early summer of 1944.

Mr. and Mrs. White have two children, Mrs. Heywood of Toronto and Calvin of Orono.

CWL Holds Euchre

NORWOOD, Nov. 26 (ENS).—The Catholic Women's League held a successful euchre and dance in Westwood town hall on Friday evening. Music for dancing was supplied by Cameron's orchestra, Westwood. There were 18 tables of euchre played, winners being Mrs. Wm. Graham of Westwood; Mrs. Leonard Dunsford, Indian River, Jackie Kerr, Dick Kerr.

Big Customer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. — (CP)—Puerto Rico took the largest amount of any country out of Newfoundland fish exports in October. The central American republic took 31,056 quintals of the total of 63,467 quintals of bank and shore fish exported.

NEW YORK TRAIN WRECK — Two trains proceeding in the same direction in the railway tunnel below New York's Park Avenue collided and injurded 27 passengers. The trains came together oat a switch and bounced into either side of the tunnel.

Friends Honor Bride Elect

ROSENEATH, Nov. 26 (ENS).—Miss Jean Phillips, a December bride-elect, was guest of honor at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin, Roseneath, on Friday evening. About 50 young ladies of Roseneath and Fenella communities were present.

Mrs. Harold Mouncey was mistress of ceremonies and announced the following program numbers: Community singing with Geraldine Phillips at the piano; a quiz by Marjory Sandercock, a reading by Doreen Nichol, a piano solo by Geraldine Phillips, a humorous reading by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, community singing with Miss Roma Braithwaite at the piano. Mrs. Mervin Smith was the winner of a lucky chair prize. Mrs. Earl Waldie conducted a contest.

An address was read by Barbaro Sherwin and a large clothes basket gaily decorated and piled high with gifts was carried in by Mary Halstead and Carole McMillen. Miss Phillips thanked everyone.

Mis Philips will be married in December to Mr. Keith Crossen, Roseneath.

Charged With Murder

HAMILTON, Nov. 26—(AP)—Frank Kenyon, 41-year-old painter, was charged with murder after his wife was found dead in her home Saturday. Police reported earlier that the woman might have died with her head under a tap.

Asks Inquiry In Cobalt Vote

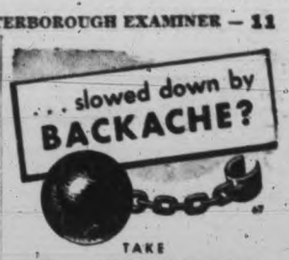
COBALT, Nov. 26 (CP)—Calvin H. Taylor, delegated CCF Ontario general election candidate in Temiskaming riding, Sunday said he has asked returning officer W. J. Evans, of New Liskeard, to investigate what he termed irregularities in the voting at a North Cobalt poll.

He charged personnel of the polling booth took the ballot box from the polling station and made a circuit of houses in the vicinity. He claimed six or seven persons marked their ballots on their own kitchen tables.

Mr. Taylor did not ask for a new election, but simply for an investigation under the Election Act.

Mr. Taylor, former member for the riding, polled 3,654 votes in the Nov. 22 election. He was defeated by A. R. Herbert, Progressive Conservative candidate, who polled 4,224 votes.

M. R. Gooderham Dies



TORONTO, Nov. 26 — (CP) — Melville Ross Gooderham, president of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company and an uncle of Dean Acheson, United States Secretary of State, died in hospital Saturday. He was a member of the board of governors of Ridley College in St. Catharines.

WHAT A DAY!

What a misery it can be on those days when you are feeling way below par. How slowly the hours drag by when you feel seedy and sluggish and seem to ache all over.

And how unnecessary it all is, very often. Most times that dull, logy feeling is the direct result of constipation and kidneys not working properly. You need something more than a simple laxative these times. You need Kruschen Salts. Millions the world over have learned the benefits of Kruschen . . . the salts that are like those in the waters of famous Mineral Springs. Acting in two ways at once, laxative and diuretic (for sluggish kidneys), Kruschen helps rid the body of waste matter. It goes right to the cause of that miserable, sickish feeling that constipation brings about.

Get some Kruschen today. Less than half a teaspoonful can make you feel better all day long.

There will be a question period following Dr. Petrie's address here.

Simplicity Key To Fashions In Latest Paris Designs

By MURIAL NARRAWAY.

LONDON, (CP).—Latest member of the French court of fashion to make a play for the British market is youthful fashion dictator Alwyn, who prefers to be called just that.

Alwyn brings to London lots of advice and four basically simple outfits that lend enchantment to most figures. He defends this simple approach by saying that women must learn to control their "little madnesses."

An impulsive desire for something gay, foolish and giddy with color must be confined to the "little bits" of nonsense he says—"the big bow at the neck, the little bright hat or the flower — but always the basic style must be correctly tailored."

Minimum Outfit

Alwyn, a friendly - faced Frenchman lists this "minimum" for the well-dressed woman—a black suit, a dark grey flanpel suit, a tailored shirt dress preferably in neutral tones, a cocktail dress in black silk and two evening gowns—one black, one white.

Shoes and handbags should be black, hats and the "little bits of nonsense" supplying the color interest.

Alwyn says there is one great difference between the English woman and the French woman —the waist. French women like to emphasize this by much seaming, stiff petershams, important belts and good girdles. English women prefer to leave the waist to nature.

Standard Models

Here are the four basic lines that Alwyn offers the English market:

A little black wool "all day" dress, with bell fullness to the skirt, a cross-over diagonal neckline, tiny belt and long narrow sleeve. A diagonal slash to the wide skirt and the corresponding curve to the neckline are emphasized by black velvet trimming and graduated buttons.

A tailored dress suitable for office work or smart afternoon wear, its narrow line set off by diagonal tiers rising from low on the skirt to the rever-cuff, diagonal neckline. Again the sleeve is long and narrow, cut in one with the bodice.

For special occasions a crinkled taffeta theatre dress in caramel with cap sleeves, its plunging neckline emphasized by one deep cuff. The straight line of the skirt is broken by a side panel of fullness that continues the flowing line of the waist-deep neckline.

For evening a billowing froth of tulle dotted with pearls. In several shades of coral and christened "tour d'argent," perhaps in honor of a famous Parisian restaurant, this strapless dress sweeps the floor and a full pointed apron front lends to its cloudy appeal.

"Strapless dresses must always be long," said Alwyn. "Otherwise they look like a chemise."

One final tip: Flowers must be real.

Joan Hickey Bride Of Arnold O'Heron

In St. Peter's Cathedral, Rev. F. A. Marroco officiated Saturday morning at the marriage of Joan Mary, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Hickey to Arnold Frederick O'Heron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O'Heron.

Yellow 'mums formed the setting at the altar, and the music was played by the organist Mrs. Rogert Aman. During the wedding Mr. A. De Noble sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria".

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Hickey, the bride chose a gown of brocaded faille fashioned with a peolum which formed a bustle back, and the very full skirt fell to a catherdal train, a fingertip veil fell from a Queen Anne headdress and she carried a white prayer books from which cascaded white 'mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Anne Overend maid of honor and Miss Anne O'Heron bridesmaid, attended the bride. They were dressed alike in frocks of holly green faille with scalloned necklines and full skirts, with cloche hats and mittens to match.

Michell O'Leary was groomsman and the ushers were Joseph Hickey and Maurice O'Heron.

The reception was held at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, when the bride's mother received in a gown of Edinburgh "Rose crepe and lace with black accessories and a corsage of Johann Hill roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of maroon crepe with black accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

For travelling the bride donned a dress of gold corded satin and Persian lamb coat with winter white accessories.

On their return to the city, Mr. and Mrs. O'Heron will live at 535 Douglas Avenue.

Monkman-Enborg Rites

In a beautiful setting of lighted tapers and giant white 'mums at the altar of George St. United Church Saturday evening Miss Lois Mae Enborg and Mr. Cyril Collins Monkman were united in a double ring marriage ceremony performed by the Rev. Arnold A. Matthews.

Miss Enborg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leslie Enborg of Toronto and was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister Mrs. Norman Dallin of Peterborough.

The grom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Monkman of Peterborough. He was attended by Mr. Norman Dallin and the ushers were George Enborg and Gerald Monkman.

Wedding music was played by the organist Mr. Charles Allen.

Chantilly lace fashioned over cream satin in a ballerina length gown was the bride's choice. Her veil of tulle illusion was caught into a lace cap and the flowers she carried were Amazon lilies. Mrs. Dallin's gown was of sapphire blue corded taffeta and she wore a matching cap and carried yellow roses.

The reception of guests took place at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother was gowned in grey faille and wore a hat of cerise velvet and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The groom's mother wore a gown of plum crepe with a matching hat and her corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Monkman left later on a honey moon in Quebec. The bride's going-away outfit was a salmon pink wool crepe dress and matching hat and her coat and accessories were black.

They will live on Wallis Drive on their return.

Graham-Parker Two-RingWedding

Pink and white chrysanthemums formed the setting in Trinity United Church, Omemee, on Saturday for the double ring wedding of Henrietta Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie parker and Donald Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, all of Omemee. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white brocaded bengaline made in princess style, with wing collar and a short length train. Her long veil was of nylon net, falling from a headdress of white feathers. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss June Parker, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was frocked in nile green taffeta made in off-the-shoulder effect with fitted bodice and full skirt, with matching mittens and yellow feathered hat and her bouquet was of yellow carnations.

Mr. Orland Crawford of Omemee was groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving in a gown of navy tricatina crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On a motor trip to Ottawa and eastern points, the bride wore a green tricatina crepe dress under a fitted green coat, with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham will live in Omemee.

EDITH CARLETON CHAPTER

Edith Carleton Chapter I.O.D.E. met at the home of Mrs. A. Miller, London St.

Business was conducted by recent, Miss Mary McRae and the meeting centred around final plans for the Christmas Tea being held December 8th.

Ticket sales were reported going well. Members are working on aprons to be sold at the tea and were reminded they should be finished and turned in by December 1st.

The regent reported that the Christmas cake to be drawn at the tea has been made and that tickets on it would be ready shortly and distributed for sale.

Miss Joan Stock reported eight parcels have been sent to eight elderly ladies in Alms homes in England for Christmas. She also distributed children's pyjamas to be made up and asked for the assistance of the members in completing this project before February.

Mrs. Roy Mounce served delicious refreshments after the meeting.

Elm Corners H & S Holds Good Dance

Approximately 200 people enjoyed the Old Tyme Square Dance held in Lakefield Memorial Hall Friday evening under auspices of Elm Corners Home and School Association. Square and round dances alternated to the music of Sid McCauley's orchestra. A grand march and chain added greatly to the evening's entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross won prizes in spot dances. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Carveth received prizes as finalists in an elimination dance.

The dance was arranged under the direction of Mrs. V. McCaw, program convener and her committee, with Mrs. R. Welbourne, social convener and her committee in charge of the refreshments.

Mrs. A. Gill, president, announced that as a result of the splendid response to the Association's first effort, a second dance is being arranged to take place early in the new year.

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT Canada

THIS advertisement was designed by The House of Seagram to tell the people of other lands about Canada and things exclusively Canadian.

Many people in Latin America, Asia, Europe and other parts of the world are not fully aware of the richness of Canada's natural resources, wild life, scenic beauty and cultural traditions. The more the peoples of other lands know about our country, the greater will be their interest in Canada and Canadian products.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Smart Girl Makes Hot Breads Her Reputation Builder

There is a royal road to a cooking reputation. One smart girl and I have what we call a "winking friendship". That's because when she serves her tea biscuits or corncake and every body is drooling over the very crumbs we wink at one another because that's all she knows how to make—yet.

We have an uproarious time keeping one jump ahead of discovery. Up until the time she was married last month she was a career girl—who now has to add cooking to her accomplishments.

One lucky break she has is that her adoring husband fancies himself as a meat cook—so she naively leaves the meat for his attention. It makes dinner rather late but who cares if it's fun?

Hot breads are economical and all the luck is on your side for even if a hotbread is not as light and delicate as it should be because it is hot and butter melts into it—what it lacks in lightness is obscured.

Kentucky Corn Cake

One egg, 1⅛ cups milk, ¼ cup sifted flour, 1¼ cups corn meal, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons soft shortening. Beat egg. Beat in with rotary beater milk, dry ingredients, soft shortening (bacon fat is good). Beat just until smooth. Pour into buttered hot square pan. Bake until just set. Serve piping hot with butter. Cut into squares. Keep hot in pan until served.

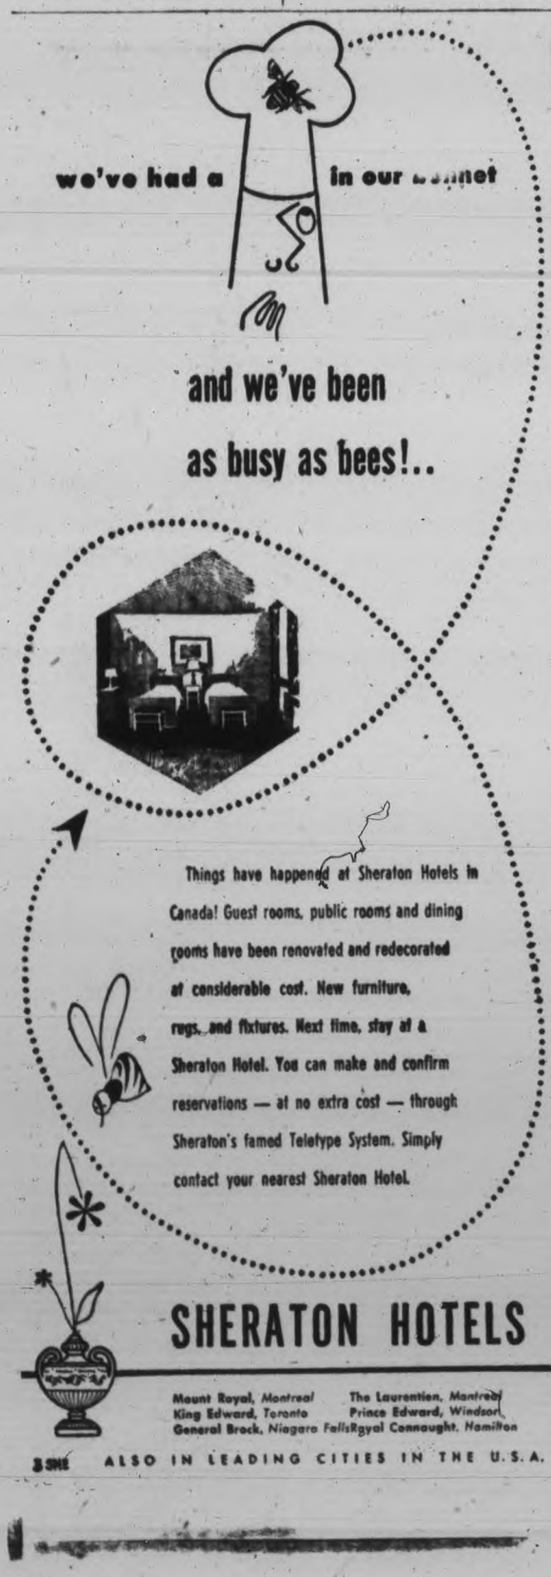
Hot Lemon Muffins

One half cup butter or margarine, ½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, whites and yolks separated, 1 cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon. Cream butter or margarine until soft and fluffy. Gradually add sugar, beating until well blended. Add egg yolks and beat well. Sift flour. Measure and sift with baking powder and salt. Add alternately with lemon juice to creamed mixture, mixing well after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and lemon rind. Fill small greased muffin tins ⅔ full. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned on top. Makes apporximately 1½ dozen muffins.

Nut Cranberry Bread

Two cups sifted cake flour, 1 cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each soda and salt, 1 beaten egg, juice and grated rind of 1 orange, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, boiling water, 1 cup chopped walnuts and 1 cup sliced raw cranberries. Sift flour, measure and sift with sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Stir in beaten egg. Put orange juice and rind with butter or margarine in a cup, add boiling water to make ¾ of a cup. Stir into flour mixture. Blend well. Add walnuts and cranberries. Blend well. Bake in greased loaf pan (8 x 4 x 2¼ inches) in moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr.) for 1 hour until done.

Apple Nut Loaf



One half cup shortening, 1 cup each brown sugar and raw finely chopped or ground unpeeled apples, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons sour milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup chopped nuts.

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, beating until light and fluffy. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add sour milk, apples and vanilla. Mix well. Sift flour. Measure and sift again with baking powder, soda and salt. Add with nuts to apple mixture. Mix well. Pour into greased loaf pan (8 x 4 x 2"). Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr) 1 hour or until done.

DOROTHY DIX

Time Will Be Found Great Helper In Easing Pain Of Broken Romance

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem concerns my younger sister, 21. Three years ago she wanted to marry Billy, but the family thought she was too young and since she wouldn't marry without their consent, the wedding was postponed. A few months later Billy married and Rita was almost physically ill with grief. As time went on she recovered somewhat, but has never regained her gay, fun-loving and friendly manner, which was formerly one of her outstanding characteristics. She is very popular, and while she does go out occasionally on dates, they seem to mean nothing to her. She seems to be cold toward everything and everyone. She claims she has no love for Billy now; in fact the only real interest she has is in church.

Dorothy Dix

Will she ever be her old self again, and is there anything I can do to bring her out of the shell into which she has retired?

EDITH

ANSWER: Rita has, with amazing gallantry and courage in one so young, solved much of her problem alone and time will complete the cure as far as one can ever be made. In finding her chief consolation in church, she is going to the best source possible. She is fortunate to have her faith, and to be surrounded by a loving family to lighten her trouble.

He Didn't Care Enough

I think you have no cause for self-reproach in having her postpone the marriage originally. If Billy really cared for her then, he would have waited the year or two necessary to get the unqualified approval of her family. His haste to marry someone else certainly does not indicate any part of the love and devotion Rita deserves.

There is really nothing you or any member of your family can do, over and above what you are already doing, to bring your sister more quickly out of her depression. Since she has lots of friends, and an active social life, she'll snap out of it to a degree. To hope that she will ever completely throw off the pain of Billy's desertion is expecting too much. But she will forget to the point where she will fall in love again (though probably not so deeply), and eventually will find another, more dependable man with whom she can establish a happy marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please say a few words that will influence a girl of 16 to be more tidy and clean about her person. The rest of her family are very neat and yet she sits around with nothing to do and won't even clean up her clothes. If someone else doesn't wash them for her, she'll wear them until they're ready to fall off. She is pretty, and thinks that's all she needs to get by in the world.

F. O. H.

ANSWER: The most beautiful girl in the world could never make or keep a friend if she neglected the cardinal rules of cleanliness. Your friend is going to find herself very much in the social background if she doesn't reform. She'll see downright homely girls who are well groomed and sparkling clean walk off with all the dates while she stays home and looks at her pretty face in the mirror. That's all the company she'll get.

Sixteen is the age when most girls drive their families frantic with almost too much personal fussiness. Someone better wake your little friend up to the realities of life. Doesn't she read the ads? These alone should make her realize how fast she is turning herself into a social liability.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 and have lots of boy friends, most of whom have cars. They are careful drivers but my parents say I'm too young to ride in cars with them. How old do you think I should be before I'm old enough to ride? My parents let me have dates otherwise, and all my friends are welcome at home.

C. C.

ANSWER: You should abide by your parents' decision about car riding. I don't blame them for being cautious about it. You may consider your friends good and careful drivers—and most teenagers are. Unfortunately, some of them are reckless the minute they get behind a wheel, and the accidents they cause reflect on the whole group of teenster drivers.

Rather than cause your parents needless worry, do as they say. Be grateful they are understanding about dating in general for you.

Versatility Pays On Stage Declares Virginia Sale

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Versatility in the entertainment world has been declining in recent seasons as stage, screeen and television have had to go in for type casting to produce the many programs needed for the divergent mediums. There remain only a few exponents of the craft of acting in its truest, individual form.

One such is Virginia Sale, a good looking woman whose face is far different from the homely features of her humorist brother, Chic Sale.

Virginia looks like a teen-age debutante off stage when she isn't playing character parts but she isn't a teen-ager. She is the mother of two 15-year-old twins, a girl and a boy, who are Ginny and Christopher Wren. Their father is Sam Wren, movie director.

During her college studies at the University of Illinois, Virginia said she went on a one-woman theatre tour because she needed money, "like most college students" to finish her education. She finished that tour by returning to her alma mater "for the first of my thousand and one 'farewell appearances'." The auditorium seating 2,500 was sold out within an hour after tickets were placed on sale.

Chatting with Miss Sale after one of her performances at New York's fashionable Town Hall, I asked why she had given up a lucrative career in motion pictures and radio to play one-night stands.

"Actually it wasn't my own choice," she said. "When I was in Hollywood playing character roles in films, I used to do parlor sketches to entertain my friends. Professional bookings stemmed from these impromptu shows, and I soon found myself unable to meet my film demands and still accept offers for stage shows. I became convinced that the real American theatre is still in the grass roots."

"Americana" Sketches

Miss Sale's "Americana" sketches, all of which she writes and stages herself, range from the voluble "school ma'am" that we knew in our childhood, to the tired hostess with a fixed smile who is bidding her guests a "cheerful" goodnight at three o'clock in the morning.

A pair of glasses, a few hats and wigs, and a couple of wrap-around costumes are all Miss Sale needs in the way of props. Her greatest assets are her Chameleon-like changes of expression, and an incredible variety of voices. Occasionally she emerges as the good looking girl she really is.

In her longest scene, a poignant dramatic sketch titled "Dakota Fever," she plays seven different characters in a story dramatized from letters written by Miss Sale's 85-year-old aunt, Anna M. Robings, relating how she gained a deep religious faith in her early pioneer hardships.

Miss Sale says she has succeeded in keeping her husband and two children and their professional careers separate.

"Our family pattern is a sort of four-way partnership," Miss Sale said. "Each member makes his own contribution to our mutual family life, but when it comes to show business, each goes along independent of the others.

"During the last two years, Sam has directed summer stock productions as well as his movie work. I've played leads and character roles. The children have done all sorts of jobs around the theatre, including acting, scene painting and hunting for props."

What's Right?

Your child returns from school when you have a guest, and starts to tell you something.

WRONG: Interrupt him to tell him to run outside and play.

RIGHT: Treat him as courteously as you would a guest, letting him talk a minute before you and your guest resume your conversation.

6—In Memoriam

DETLOR—In loving memory of Private Victor Detlor, who passed away November 26th, 1943.
Eight years have passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon our graves
May wither and decay,
But the love of him who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.
—Ever lovingly remembered by mother and father, sisters and brothers.

FERGUSON—In loving memory of Warren Ferguson, who passed away November 26, 1949.
Those whom we love, go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Ever remembered by Helen and Sid and family.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

—By Merrill Blosser

Call Fire Department To Conservative Rooms

LINDSAY, Nov. 26.—The Lindsay fire department rushed to the Progressive Conservative committee rooms Friday night. Residents in the same building smelled smoke.

There wasn't a fire. Party workers relaxing after a strenuous campaign had forgotten oil heater which had run out of fuel. The smoke was merely fumes given off by the heater.

Tones Put On Necking Display

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 26—(AP)—A public display of hugs and kisses by Franchot Tone and Barbara Payton has Hollywood wondering today whether their contemplated divorce will ever come to trial.

A night club press agent said Sunday he saw the film couple "necking" in full view of other patrons and apparently oblivious of the accompanying titters and smiles.

The Saturday night appearance was the couple's first since Tone filed suit for divorce a week ago. The two could not be reached for comment on whether the reconciliation would be permanent.

Tone earlier said the seven-week marriage broke up over Barbara's plans to make a picture with Tom Neal, husky actor who smashed Tone's face in a fight over Barbara Sept. 14. The actress denied this and said "I hope I'll never have to tell the real reason."

Freights Collide Five Killed

ORCHARD, Idaho, Nov. 26—(AP)—Five crew members were killed Sunday in the collision of two Union Pacific freight trains.

The westbound freight, moving slowly but with the pressure of 68 loaded coal cars behind it, slammed into the front of the halted east-bound train.

Oil from smashed Diesel tanks spewed over the tangled wreckage, stacked 30 feet high. It mingled with coal from tangled freight cars, and blazed briefly into a fire which charred beyond recognition the bodies of four of the victims.

Railroad officials said the dead men were Engineer Roy Hull, brakeman R. H. Reynolds and Fireman W. J. Love, on the westbound train, and Engineer I. J. Higgins and Foreman P. M. Walker, both on the east-bound freight. All were from Glenns Ferry, Idaho.

Five other crewmen escaped injury.

An investigation opened today to determine why the westbound failed to stop.

John A. Fenton

The Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant officiated Saturday at the requiem mass at Sacred Heart church for John Albert Fenton, 568 King George St. Mr. Fenton died in Toronto in his 78th year on Thursday after an illness of six weeks.

He came to Canada, to Peterborough, from Ireland when a boy and lived the remainder of his life in the city. His wife, the former Mary Ann Ryan, predeceased him some time ago.

The funeral was from the Duffus funeral home Saturday to Sacred Heart church for mass, then to St. Peter's cemetery where the graveside prayers were recited by Dr. Grant.

Pallbearers were: George Lamore, Emil Lamore, Fred Buller, John Buller, Stanley Roscoe and Fred LaRoche.

Michael Heffernan

Solemn high mass was celebrated Saturday by the Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald at Our Lady of Assumption Church, Otonabee Township, for Michael Heffernan. An Otonabee Township farmer all his life, Mr. Heffernan died at his residence Thursday.

Deacon for the high mass was the Rev. W. C. McCarney, assisted by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan.

Pallbearers were: John J. Heffernan, Francis Heffernan, George Carey, Stanley O'Neill, Gerrard Carey and James Doherty. The Rev. W. C. McCarney officiated at the graveside ceremony in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Lynda Mitchell Buried

The funeral for Lynda Dawne Mitchell, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell, 536 Douglas Ave., who died in hospital Thursday, was held Saturday at All Saints' Anglican Church.

Archdeacon C. W. Balfour conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Bill Bowler, Gary Billingsley, Jack Mortlock and Bob Gardner. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Six Candidates Run For Council

HAVELOCK, Nov. 26 (ENS).—There will only be an election for four members of council for the village of Havelock on December 3.

The following six candidates will be in the contest: B. A. Curtis, Bert Jewell (members of the 1951 council), Richard Sanderson, William Ketchen, Henry Ellis, and B. M. Bell.

Mr. Curtis has been a member of the council since 1947, while Mr. Jewell has served for two years. Mr. Sanderson first entered municipal affairs 30 years ago and during that time held office of reeve and councillor for several terms. Mr. Ketchen is also a veteran having served on the council of Belmont and Methuen townships. Mr. Ellis and Mr. Bell are making their first bid for municipal council.

E. J. Leeson was elected as reeve by acclamation owing to the withdrawal of the other two nominees, Reeve E. W. Seeney and W. E. Griffith.

The three vacancies on the public school board were filled by acclamation as follows: F. B. McKenzie, R. B. Sayers (re-elected), Oliver Pomeroy.

Another nomination meeting will be held—the date to be announced later—for the office of hydro commissioner. The polls will be open election day, Monday, December 3, from 9:30 am to 6:30 pm. An advance poll will be held in the council chamber on Saturday, December 1, from 12 o'clock noon until 9 pm.

Two Brothers Fined In LCA Offences

Two brothers, Jack and Michael McMahon, both of 5 Maniece Ave., pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor in police court today.

Jack McMahon, 27, pleaded guilty to having a bottle of bootleg wine when he was arrested on the River Road early Friday morning.

Magistrate W. R. Philp ordered him to pay $10 and $2.50 in costs or in default three months in jail.

With a prior conviction this year, under the liquor control act against him, Michael McMahon pleaded guilty to having possession of a bottle of liquor not obtained on his own permit. He was fined $200 and $2.50 costs but asked Magistrate Philp for a reformatory sentence.

The magistrate obliged, with a four month sentence at Ontario Reformatory with a recommendation he be sent to Mimico for alcoholic treatment.

Young's Point YPAC Holds Second Dance

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 26 — (ENS)—The second dance, sponsored by the YPAC was held in St. Aidan's Hall, Young's Point, Friday.

Music was under the direction of J. Jones, and Wilbert Abbott called the square dances. Throughout the evening bingo, dances, and lively folk dances added variety and were enjoyed by old and young alike. Prizes in the "mystery man" and "mystery lady" dance went to Melva Pearson and Norman McCall.

Throughout the evening refreshments were sold at the booth by members of the club.

Typhoon Casualties

MANILA, Nov. 26—(AP)—The typhoon death toll soared to 60 today as reports trickled in from remote provincial areas. Many more persons are believed missing. The typhoon, which cut across the Central Philippines Islands last Wednesday, was the strongest this year. It left 10,000 homeless. Estimates placed damage at more than $4,000,000.

Surprise Air Raid

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Everyone in New York City will participate in a surprise air raid drill this Wednesday or Thursday. It will be the first city-wide public participation drill during the current defence preparations.

Public Disturber

Charged with causing a public disturbance, Raymond Lester, 21, of 336 Reid St., pleaded not guilty in police court today. He was remanded until Tuesday on $100 bail.

Santa's Entry

ANCASTER, England—(CP)—The local Humane Society is urging parents to tell children that Santa Claus has "stopped" coming down the chimney and now comes through the door. The Society said children have been killed or injured in fires while trying to peer up the chimney.

THIS MINK COAT, worth $2,000, has been donated to help in the campaign to help Minden repair its community centre. The roof of the centre collapsed under the unexpected heavy snow which fell in the first week of November. Tickets will be sold on the coat in Peterborough and a large area as far north as Huntsville.

Mossadegh Wins Confidence Vote

TEHRAN, Nov. 26—(AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh won a unanimous vote of confidence in the Iranian Senate today, paving the way for national elections in the next two or three days.

The vote followed a similar ballot in the Majlis (Lower House) Sunday when Mossadegh persuaded the deputies to reverse their earlier decision to postpone the elections until Dec. 18.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi told reporters the government plans to start the election within two or three days.

The senators also put through a bill asking that the balloting be secret. Mossadegh said he personally favored secret voting but added that he gave the bill "half of one per cent of a chance" for ratification by the Majlis.

The outlawed Communist Tudeh party already is reported placing candidates in the field under falst party labels.

The aged Nationalist Faction premier won a 90-0 vote from the lower house Sunday after a tearful appeal for support. It was his first visit to parliament since his return from the United States.

Fifteen Majlis members abstained on the confidence vote. Twenty-four senators were absent from the voting today, but all 36 present voted with the government.

Tighten Controls

HONG KONG, Nov. 26 (AP)—Police have tightened traffic controls between this British Crown colony and Red China. Chinese are not permitted to enter the colony unless they have Communist permits authorizing their reentry into Red China. The restriction is aimed at freezing the colony's population, swollen from a pre-war 800,000 to more than 2,500,000.

Pays Fine of 50

Convicted of having liquor in a place other than his residence, Jack Beatty, 444 Driscoll Terrace, was fined $50 and $2.30 costs in police court today.

Beatty pleaded guilty to the charge and admitted he had been convicted of a drunk charge on September 15 of this year.

Refusing To Pay

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 — (AP) — Harry Lee, unofficial mayor of Chicago's Chinatown, Sunday said he has advised Chicago's 4,000 Chinese to refuse Red China demands for extortion money. The Reds have been demanding money from Chinese living in the United States for the safety of relatives living in China.

Peterborough Helps Minden Repair Arena

To help Minden raise $3,000 quickly to repair its community centre, people from Peterborough, Oshawa and as far north as Huntsville are rallying to support the small town's financial campaign.

The first heavy snowfall this year left the village of 650 buried deeply in financial difficulties. Under the weight of snow, part of the roof of the three-year-old pride of the village the community centre, collapsed. It had a $15,000 mortgage.

Only the roof over the ice arena fell, but the modern auditorium at the front of the building was left unprotected from the wintry blasts.

The result was hockey, skating, curling carnivals as well as the plays, weekly meetings, church shows, weekly dances and other entertainment, provided in the building, came to an abrupt standstill.

$25,000 To Repair

But the worst news came later when the estimated cost of repairing was placed at $25,000, which added to the mortgage already held by the Haliburton village, makes a $4,000 payment for the 650 people.

A meeting was held and the decision made to rebuild; immediately volunteers began to clear the wreckage and since then the community has been intent on rebuilding the home of the Minden Monarchs, who led their grouping in the OHA Intermediate "B" last season.

Assistance from other towns and cities, including Peterborough, will be in the sale of tickets on a mink coat, valued at more than $2,000. It was donated to help the cause.

The Minden community centre has a connection with Peterborough. Behind a $3,000 donation to help build the centre originally, was Kenneth Currie, a former president of the Peterborough Rotary Club. The donation was from the Minden club which was organized by the former Peterborough resident.

Again Mr. Currie is leading as chairman for the recreation committee appeal in Minden.

The centre was first financed by pledges of $15,000 from the citizens, a provincial grant of $10,000 and village-issued debentures amounting to $15,000. Since the centre opened in 1949, it has paid off debenture charges of $1,177 a year out of its profits.

W. H. Middleton

The funeral for William Herbert Middletown, Belleville and formerly of Peterborough, who died Tuesday was held Friday from the Comstock funeral home.

Mr. Middletown was born in Smith township, son of the late James Middleton and Elizabeth Younge. He was connected with the Peterborough public utilities for several years before he moved to Belleville. In Belleville he was employed by the HEPC for 25 years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

He leaves his wife, the former Isobell Davidson; one daughter, Mrs. Bruce McGregor (Helen), Oshawa; one sister, Miss Lottie Middleton and one brother, J. Albert Middleton, both of Peterborough.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the funeral service.

Pallbearers were Melville Deyell, George Middleton, Thomas Warren, Allie Watkins, Bruce McGregor, Harry Freeman. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid". Rapid satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Alberta Strikes It Rich

A 200 ft. spray shot into the air and a throaty roar echoed over the grainfield. Within minutes a crowd gathered to relish a familiar but stirring sight: Alberta's newest well was blowing up spitting blobs of crude oil for half a mile around.

In December Reader's Digest read how rampaging wells and eager people are signs of the times in booming Alberta, why this oil find is the most significant on the continent in the last 50 years, and why for Alberta the best is yet to come.

Hamilton Panthers Saturday took the eastern Canadian intermediate football title, defeating Royal Montreal Regiment 15-1 in a lopsided game that saw two Hamilton touchdowns called offsides.

The game was played under protest by the Montreal squad.

Hamilton big guns were Dutch Holland who got two majors and Joe McFarlane who got two singles. Glen Dawson scored one convert. In the third quarter, Mike Maruska of Montreal was tackled by a gang of Hamilton players for a safety touch, but the officials were at a loss to award the two points to any individual player. Maruska scored a single late in that quarter to save RMR from a shutout.

RMR coach Dave Peebles announced before the game that he was protesting the use of three Hamilton players, one of whom, Sam Scoccia, didn't play.

Johnny Russian, playing manager of Galt Terriers of the Intercounty Baseball League last season, has agreed to return next year. He is expected before Christmas to discuss team prospects.

Guy R. Smith, former hockey referee and one-time lacrosse player, died Saturday on a train on the way to Toronto. Born in Cornwall, he moved to Hamilton 30 years ago.

Pronto Don Saturday won the $25,000-added golden west trot handily before 12,271 grand circuit fans at Hollywood Park, Inglewood, Calif.

Driven by Bennie Schue, Pronto Don stepped off his 10th straight victory in world record time of 2:30 3-5 for the 1¼-mile trot.

Italians claimed first and second Sunday in the 1,933 Pan-American road race which ended at Suarez, Mexico. Americans took third and all but one of the next seven places. Pietro Taruffi, Italian ace, sent his low slung Ferrari across the finish line at 2:08 pm CST, a split second ahead of his countryman, Alberto Ascari, also in a Ferrari.

Twenty feet behind was Bill Sterling of El Paso, Tex., in a 1951 Chrysler.

Guelph Whips Marlies 8-4 In Surprise Win

By The Canadian Press.

Those pesky Guelph Biltmores added insult to injury Sunday when they convincingly downed Toronto Marlboros 8-4 at Toronto. The second-place New York Ranger farm club not only broke the Dukes' unbeaten streak of 16 games, but also pulled to within two points of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league leaders.

In handing St. Catharines Teepees a 7-3 setback Toronto St. Michael's hoisted themselves into third place, a full game ahead of fourth-place Galt Black Hawks, idle during the weekend.

Saturday night games saw Waterloo Hurricanes cling stubbornly to the circuit's seventh spot with a 5-3 win over eighth-place Barrie Flyers while Oshawa Generals kept out of the cellar with a 3-0 victory over trailing Windsor Spitfires. The Spits have won only two games this year in the 10-team loop.

In OHA senior play, Stratford Indians held on to second place with a 2-1 Saturday overtime win against fifth place Owen Sound Mercurys. Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen decisively beat off Sarnia Sailors' challenge for their third-place spot with an 11-4 victory.

One Point Behind

The Stratford showing puts them one point behind league-leading Hamilton while the Mercurys remain in a fifth-place tie with Brantford. Kitchener-Waterloo now holds third place by three big points.

Chuck Henderson and Andy Bathgate paced the Guelph club to its 6-4 junior win over Marlboros with two goals each. Ray Ross, Ken Laufman, also Guidolin and Dean Prentice notched the remaining counters.

Rookie Louis Bendo lit the red light three times for the Dukes. Danny Poland scored the other Toronto goal.

Ron Wallace with two goals and two assists, sparked the 7-3 St. Michael's victory over St. Catharines. Bill Lee collected a pair and singletons went to Bill Dineen, Jim Logan and Bill Knox. Bill Young scored twice for the losers with defenceman Pierre Pilote adding the other. Paul Oliver garnered two goals as his Waterloo Hurricanes dropped Barrie. Jerry Horton got the winning marker in the 5-3 victory and Booth Madder tallied the clincher. Charlie Broker scored the opening goal.

Minnie Menard, Doug Mohns and Larry Thibeault each scored once for the Barrie club.

Stars For Oshawa

Bob Shropshire, the Oshawa General's brilliant netminder, was the star of the 3-0 Oshawa win over last-place Windsor Spitfires. He turned back every thrust by the Border City club and looked especially good during a concerted second-period Windsor drive.

Bob Attersley, Leo O'Connor and Hervi De Jordy tallied the three Oshawa goals.

Dinny Flanagan scored with only 30 seconds left to play in overtime for Stratford's victory over Owen Sound in the OHA senior contest. Billy Flick had tied the game 1-1 midway through the second period after Johnny MacDonald had given the Mercurys a 1-0 lead earlier in the stanza.

Big Ed Stankiewicz, the league's leading scorer picked up six points on three goals and a trio of assists in the 11-4 Kitchener-Waterloo route of Sarnia. Jack Pernfuss and Art Hurst collected two goals each while Doug Verity, Maurice Levesque, Hugh Mair and Harry Psutka tallied singletons.

Bill Taylor scored twice for the losers. Leo Dodds and Ted Garvin got the others.

No games are scheduled in either OHA loop tonight. Tuesday St. Catharines plays at Guelph in the junior series while Stratford visits Brantford and Owen Sound plays host to Kitchener in the senior circuit.

Doesn't Expect War

Washington, Nov. 26 — (AP) — Mohammed Kamil Bey Abdul Rahim, Egypt's ambassador to the United States, said Sunday he did not believe there would be "real war between Britain and Egypt" because "our army is not equipped to fight Britain." The envoy discussed the current crisis between his country and Britain over the subject of Suez on the National Broadcasting Company's "Meet the Press" television program.

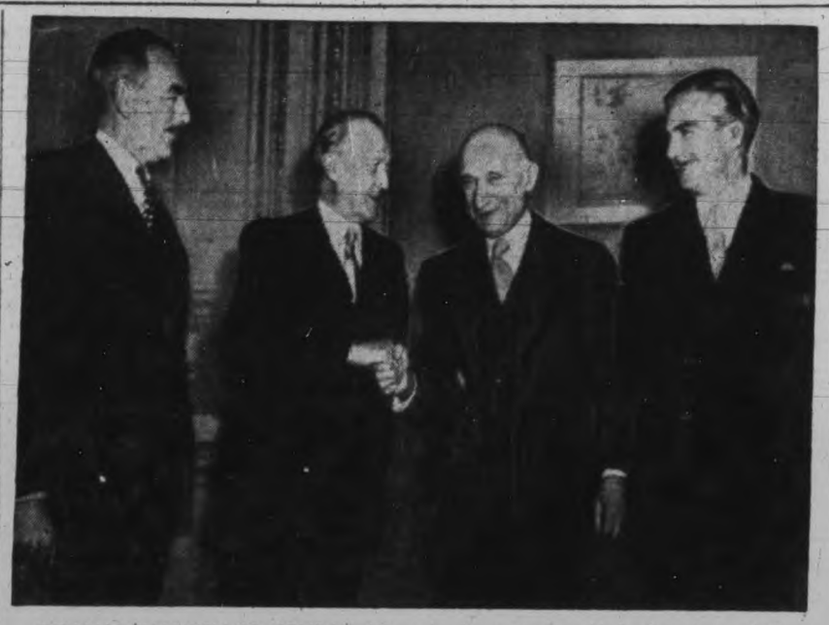
Returns Posthumous Award Charges Appeasement

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 26— (AP). — Captain Eugene R. Guild, retired, has returned to Washington a scroll accompanying the posthumous award of the Navy Cross to his son, Marine Lieut. John N. Guild.

Guild has been carrying on a one-man war against President Truman, for "appeasement and belly crawling in Korea."

"Those noble words on the scroll may be used only by those who earn the right," Guild wrote. "By one Marine speaking of another, by a Lincoln grieving for one of his soldiers. Your use of these words will heighten, not lessen, the anger of those who saw their sons die for a policy of fear and appeasement.



"You honor neither the words nor our son by using them. We return the scroll to you.

"May God forgive you; we cannot."

The letter was signed by Guild and his wife, Isabel.

The scroll said: "In grateful memory of John Ninian Guild, who died in the service of his country on 21st September, 1950, in Korea.'"

"He stands in the unbroken line of patriots who have dared to die that freedom might live, and grow, and increase its blessings. Freedom lives, and through it, he lives in a way that humbles the undertakings of most men."

First Japanese Ship Resumes Regular Trade

VANCOUVER, Nov. 26—(CP)—A sleek, new ship, flying the Japanese flag, came to Vancouver to signal a return of trade with Japan.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha's post-war passenger-freighter M. V. Heiyo Maru was tied up Saturday at its harbor berth, marking the resumption of a service halted by war 10 years ago.

She sailed into port with a general cargo, including a big load of Japanese oranges for the Christmas trade. She will return home with iron ore for the hungry blast furnaces of Japan.

Other pre-war ships from Japan have called at the port of Vancouver—the first coming here 11 months ago—but they were all tramp steamers with no regular runs.

The NYK ships operated for 40 years before the war on the Vancouver-Orient run.

Building Others

The Jeiyo Maru, along with other NYK ships now being built, will operate on a monthly schedule between Vancouver and Japan.

The once mighty NYK fleet had almost 100 ships in world trade when war was declared in 1941. By the end of the war the line was reduced to one ship, the 200-passenger M. V. Hikawa Maru. It was a hospital ship during the war.

It is expected the Kikawa Maru, now on the Japan-New York service, will return to the Vancouver run along with the new Aso Maru and the Eim Maru.

The biggest headache for Japanese shipping now is a manpower shortage.

Allied successes virtually stripped the country of all its experienced merchant seamen.

Hitler's Barracks Topnotch For Canadians

By DOUGLAS HOW.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN Germany, Nov. 26 — (CP) — Thanks to Hitler, Canadian soldiers have never lived in better barracks or surroundings than their new quarters in Germany.

The Fuehrer built them after 1933 in line with his prophecy that the Third Reich would live 1,000 years and on the theory that nothing was too good for the forces that would make his dream come true.

Canada has nothing like them. British officers say they haven't either. Canada built her wartime barracks to last for 15 years. Hitler built his to last far longer than that, and he built them superbly.

It is not only the quality of the buildings but the neatness and the character of the grounds themselves that have impressed the 27th Brigade soldiers who have inherited them from British occupation troops.

Fine Buildings

The buildings are large, handsome, four-storey grey structures of stone and cement with red-tile roofs. The main Canadian base is on the northeastern outskirts of Hannover but officers say the other quarters at various places over a general area of 40 to 50 miles are just as good and just as permanent.

At the Hannover base, where nearly half the 5,500 men will be garrisoned, there are about 25 of these buildings in a barracks area that even in wet, black November are trim and attractive.

Here and at other places British engineers and German civilians are rushing repairs and improvements which in some cases will only be finished short hours before the Canadians arrive. Allied bombs made this necessary in many cases.

Remained Intact

The H annover base, however, was relatively untouched. Its buildings stand as part of a pattern of playing fields, parade squares, trees, flower and rock gardens, hedges, paved and cobbled streets and tennis courts. The whole area is rimmed with a fence of stone and wood.

The barracks each hold about 250 men and currently bear the names of such British military luminaries as Wavell, Auchinleck, and Montgomery. The Canadians are thinking of adding some Crerars, McNaughtons and other retired greats of the army of yesterday.

The average room holds six single beds. The bed has three straw "biscuits" for a mattress, several blankets and white sheets. Each soldier gets a locker and has a trunk under his bed.

Never Better

One of the first Canadians into these quarters was L/Cpl. Donald Daley, of Fredericton, an overseas veteran, who came up with the general opinion that the Canadian soldier has never had things better.

Office working quarters are smart and would arouse the envy of officers and other ranks back home. The furniture is good—and included carpets. Along the red tiled corridors outside run strips of red carpet to reduce noise.

The camp includes a theatre, a number of NAAFI recreation and eating centres much better than veterans remember them, a miniature range, dancing facilities to which the soldiers can bring their girl friends at least once a week and buses go into Hannover nightly.

OTTAWA, Nov. 27. (CP)—The 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today urged the government to create a consumer's price control board "to free the whole economy from destrictive price practices." Percy Bengough, TLC president, said in a 5,000-word submission to Parliament's special committee on retail price-fixing that the government's proposal to amend combines laws to make resale price maintenance illegal is a "negative" way to deal with price restriction problems.

He suggested to the committee that it reserve decision on the government's proposal and instead recommend creation of the board, which would have power not only to deal with price maintenance but with consumer prices generally.

These were difficult days of inflation and "outrageous" prices and living costs, but Mr. Bengough doubted whether the government's scheme would help in any substantial way to eliminate "private alliances" which restrict the free flow of goods and services.

Positive Method

The Consumers Price Control Board would be a "positive" way of dealing with the problem, and would provide for a "sensible and immediate attack on rising consumer prices in all lines."

"Rather than say that a manufacturer may not make an arrangement to protect the price of his goods and thereby, presumably, his business, it would seem much more practical to suggest that the relationships between suppliers and distributors should be subject to broad social regulation, thereby providing for the protection of both along with the consumer."

Mr. Bengough said it was difficult to see just how elimination of price maintenance would benefit the consumer and the public. The committee should be vigilant lest amendments be made to the combines law which would concentrate distributive trades in the hands of a few very large establishments.

No Concrete Evidence

He observed that such a possibility was brought up before the MacQuarrie committee which had recommended elimination of resale price maintenance. Yet the McQuarrie report showed no "concrete evidence" of the "real influences in this regard and in the absence of such facts your committee is, in essence, acting in the dark."

There were instances, he said, where resale price maintenance aided in widening competition, and there was the possibility that elimination of price maintenance would tend to reduce this competition and be of real disadvantage to the consumer.

Iran Prepared To Sell Oil To Soviet Bloc

TEHRAN, Nov. 27 (Reuters)—Iran will sell her oil to the Soviet bloc if the West will not buy it, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's right-hand man, Hussein Fatemi, said today.

Fatemi accompanied Mossadegh on his unsuccessful trip to the United States to try to get oil contracts.

In a statement, Fatemi said Mossadegh is willing to make a personal appearance before the world court at The Hague when it hears Britain's case against Iran for nationalizing the formerly British-owned oilfields.

A petition challenging the competence of the court is being prepared here, he said.

The court has not yet given a decision on its competence to deal with the case, made out May 28, though it has ordered a freeze in nationalization until the issue is decided.

Fighting Breaks Out

Meanwhile, fighting broke out again today in Tehran's schools when 500 police pulled up in patrol wagons to arrest students suspected of taking part in Monday night's clashes which injured 100 persons.

Students poured out of the schools in thousands to grapple with the officers. Some of them shouted "down with Mossadegh" and others: "long live Mossadegh."

Total injured and arrested was not disclosed.

Monday night's fighting, which resulted in the resignation of Gen. Mansouri Mozayeni, Tehran's police chief, started when police struggled with Burbakhsh girls' high school students who struck in sympathy with seven girls expelled for Communist activities.

Alborz college boys joined the melee to rescue the girls who were doused from fire hoses.

Seek Two Men In Poisoning

MATHESON, Ont., Nov. 27 (CP)—Police today sought two construction workers believed to have supplied liquor to four teenagers prior to the death of two of the young persons in an old automobile near here Sunday.

They also checked the possibility the group visited a bootlegger in the nearby Kenogami-Ramore district.

Three men held as material witnesses in the death of Viola Durham, 18, and Robert Ford, 17, were released Monday after police took written statements from them. The men, all from this northern Ontario asbestos-mining district, are Howard MacIntyre, 28, Harold Dillman, 24, and Roy Pelletier, 25.

Barbara Smith, whose age was first reported as 14 but who said Monday she is 17, told police she and Miss Durham, Ford and another youth, Carlyle Wilson, were given liquor in a Ramore restaurant by two men who said they were employed in a construction project.

Wilson, ill from taking the substance blamed for the death of Miss Durham and Ford, is recovering.

Report Battered Ship Holds Own In Storm

HALIFAX, Nov. 27 (CP).—A United States trawler with 10 men aboard battered by a howling sou'easter, was "more than holding its own" today in the stormy Atlantic 90 miles southwest of here.

The storm which swept over the Maritimes Monday night and today snarled power and communication lines and toppled trees.

After the fleet of rescue ships had been launched messages from the trawler Mary Jane, earlier reported sinking, showed that her hand and machine bailing crew was gaining on the water pouring into her holds. The Canadian trawler St. Nicholas was standing by with dories lowered.

It was expected other rescue vessels from Halifax would reach the distressed ship in a few hours and attempt to tow her into Lunenburgh, NS, the nearest haven.

FRONT-LINE FORMULA—UN and Red negotiators have agreed on a formula for a cease-fire in Korea. The temporary line would be established immediately along the present battle line (black line on map). If the negotiators can settle other problems within a month, the line would become the middle of a permanent, 2.48-mile-wide demilitarized zone.

One US Plane Lost In Skirmish

Officers Don't Expect Any Let-Up Korean Air Warfare

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 27. —(AP)—Four Communist MIG-15 jets and a United States F-80 shooting star were shot down in two battles today in a fierce flare-up of the air war over northwestern Korea.

Four MIGS were damaged in Tuesday's double-barrelled action. The figures were reported by the US Fifth Air Force.

Ground fighting slowed almost to a standstill as truce negotiators agreed on a provisional cease-fire line across the Korean peninsula and plunged into work on the next item on the armistice agenda—supervision of a truce.

The provisional line will become the cease-fire mark if negotiators agree in 30 days—by Dec. 27—on terms of a full armistice.

Both side are free to keep up the ground, air and sea fighting during the 30-day period.

No Easing Up

It was considered a certainty that air and sea warfare would go on unabated. A lull was expected in ground action on the theory it would be wasteful of men and materials to take new ground and have to give it up almost immediately in the event of an armistice.

The American Shooting Star was knocked down in the first battle Tuesday—a skirmish between 16 MIGS and four of the slower Shooting Stars. Fifth Air Force said the pilot was killed. One MIG was damaged in that battle.

The four MIG kills came in the day's second fight, a clash between 19 US Sabre jets and 18 MIGS. One MIG was damaged.

Fifth Air Force said all Sabres returned safely.

Marked Decrease

There was a marked decrease in the number of close-support missions flown by Allied planes Tuesday. By noon, only one strike had been called for by the infantry.

The fifth Air Force Tuesday reported one of its most profitable daylight attacks against Communist rolling stock. Pilots reported eight locomotives and 45 rail cars destroyed or damaged.

Reds on the touchy western front Monday night set off a series of colored flares. The display led Allied officers to theorize that Communist troops might be celebrating the cease-fire agreement.

Far East naval headquarters in Korea said Communist shore batteries on the Kalma peninsula scored a direct hit Saturday on the American destroyer Hyman in Wonsan harbor. The announcement said there were no Allied casualties.

Reds Arrest Vice-Premier

LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP) — Moscow-trained Rudolf Slansky, one-time hatchet man of Czechoslovak Communism, has been fired as vice-premier and arrested for "activities against the state," Prague radio announced today.

The arrest was ordered by Communist president Klement Gottwald at the suggestion of Premier Antonin Zapotocky, the announcement revealed. It said "investigations into activities of subversive groups" brought out facts that convict Slansky.

Slansky was removed from his job as secretary-general of the Czechoslovak Communist party last September in a move tied by western observers to Moscow orders to Czech communists to tighten their ranks against inroads of "Titoism."

The Czech government shakeup was believed to have been linked with growing unrest in Czechoslovakia at the rising demands of the ruling Communists for greater production.

Order Ayrhart Pay $75 Fine

A charge of dangerous driving against Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford was dismissed in police court today. He was convicted of careless driving and fined $75 and $37.50 costs. The charge was laid against Mayor Ayrhart after a fatal accident on the boundary road between Dummer and Asphodel townships the evening of July 14. Mayor Ayrhart was involved in a collision with a truck driven by John M. Meincinger of RR 3, Indian River. Meincinger was killed in the crash. Evidence on the dangerous driving charge to which Mayor Ayrhart pleaded not guilty was heard November 14. Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment until today on one dangerous driving charge and also on a charge of careless driving in connection with the same accident.

E. A. Richardson, of Toronto, defended Mayor Ayrhart. The same evidence was used in both charges.

Gordon H. T. Farquharson represented Mayor Ayrhart for Mr. Richardson today and asked for the minimum penalty ($15 and $2.50 costs.)

"Your Worship should take into consideration that the accident occurred due to the speed of the dead man's truck. The tragic results should not be considered," argued Mr. Farquharson. "There are no circumstances calling for a heavier penalty."

Licence Suspended

In addition to the $75 fine and costs, Magistrate Philp suspended Mayor Ayrhart's driving licence four months. Mayor Ayrhart is currently living in Montreal.

In his judgment, Magistrate Philp said, "In my opinion, the two vehicles approached, if not entered the intersection at so nearly the same time that a collision was inevitable because both were proceeding without regard to the other."

Dealing with the crown's arguments regarding Mayor Ayrhart's driving that (1) he did not give the truck the right-of-way to which he was entitled; (2) that Mayor Ayrhart was travelling at an excessive rate of speed and (3) Mayor Ayrhart was not keeping a proper look out; Magistrate Philp said:

Drew Demanding Review Of Meyer Death Sentence

OTTAWA, Nov. 27. (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has demanded a review of the death sentence, later commuted to life imprisonment, imposed on German General Kurt Meyer for the murder of Canadian prisoners of war. "Either Kurt Meyer is guilty or he is not," Mr. Drew told the Commons Monday.

"If he is guilty, he should receive the punishment that goes with guilt of that kind. If he is not guilty, he should be freed."

He revived the controversial case on the basis of a dispatch by Douglas How, Canadian Press staff writer, reporting that he had come across Meyer on temporary parole in his mother's home in Offleben, Germany.

Meyer, serving a life sentence for war crimes arising from the death of 19 Canadian soldiers held prisoner in the Second World War, was transferred some weeks ago from New Brunswick's Dorchester Penitentiary to a British prison in West Germany.

No Easy Punishment

Mr. Drew protested that there should be no "easy" punishment for a man responsible for the death of Canadian troops.

He won support from George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley), who protested, as a veteran of the First World War, against "this rat" being permitted to go home for a weekend when Canadian mothers mourned their murdered sons.

Ralph Campney, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton, said Meyer remains under the control of the Canadian government so far as his sentence or permanent release is concerned. The department is inquiring into the rules governing the prison.

Wearing Eye Shields Against Acid Throwing

PORT SAID, Egypt, Nov. 27 — (CP).—British troops went about their duties in the troubled Suez Canal zone today wearing eye shields following Monday's attacks on Britons by acid-throwing Egyptian terrorists.

Several more incidents were reported during the day from various parts of the zone, centre of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty crisis.

Terrorists armed with Sten guns fired on British soldiers repairing three military telephone cables. The soldiers returned the fire and the terrorists fled. No one was injured.

At Ismailia, a British military spokesman said an Egyptian who attempted to remove a length of copper cable was killed by British guards near there today. This brought to 43 the number of Egyptians killed since the Anglo-Egyptian split Oct. 15. Nine British military personnel have lost their lives.

Police Quell Red Rioters

ROME, Nov. 27 (AP).—Communist demonstrations against the North Atlantic allies flared Monday night, but Italy's tough anti-Communist special police quickly smashed the riots.

Club-yielding "Celere"—trained to prevent Red riots—held 100 of the demonstrators in overnight detention.

The demonstrations broke out here and in other Italian cities and towns. Between 200 and 300 Reds, shouting Communist peace slogans and bitter charges against the NATO allies, demonstrated in five busy Roman squares. One was the Piazza Risorgimento, close to the Vatican.

The riots started just as the 12 NATO delegations, including foreign, defence, and finance ministers of the western allies, were emerging from the NATO council meeting in the Italian Forum.

The Celere in Rome had been put on the alert for days against such outbreaks and raced to the scenes in their scarlet jeeps. They broke up the demonstrations before any large-scale disturbance could develop.

Four Children Saved In Fire

NORTH BAY, Nov. 27 (CP) — Four young children late Monday were saved by a young North Bay railroader from their blazing home on Copeland Street.

Bert MacFarlane, 21-year-old Canadian Pacific Railways fireman, twice ran into the smoke-filled house to carry out the children—the oldest five years old—moments before their room was ablaze.

The fire started in the kitchen of a 1½-storey frame home while the mother, Mrs. Edmund Paulin, was shopping.

MacFarlane said he saw smoke and flame as he walked past the house.

"I happened to look in the front window from where I stood on the street and there were three little kids looking out the window," he said.

He ran in and brought them out, then returned to find a fourth child.

Hold Food Conference

LONDON, Nov. 27 (Reuters).—A closed meeting of 40 American and Canadian delegates with British government representatives on food distribution in the event of a third world war went into its second day today.

Peterborough Chinese Sent Ransom Racket Wires Demanding $5000, $2500

Families Being Held By Reds In China, Fear Only Start of Extortion Racket As Many As Three Demands Made On Some

The long arm of Communism reached out all the way from South China to Peterborough a few days ago when two Peterborough Chinese received "urgent" demands through their families in the Old Land for money to pay off fines to prevent arrests or torture. One man here received word last week that his wife is being held and they are demanding $20,000 Hong Kong), about $5,000 Canadian, to guarantee her safety. About the same time another Chinese in the city received a telegram in code. It contained an appeal for $10,000 Hong Kong.

What the Chinese here fear is that this is only the beginning in the extortion racket. Every day worried eyes scan the mail wondering if this time the finger will have been put on their dear ones.

(Editor's Note: This is an exclusive Examiner story, giving some of the details of the Communist extortion racket being operated in South China against Chinese living in Canada. All incidents have been closely checked with relatives of Chinese in Canada.)

Many in Canada have paid these assessments in an effort to ensure the safety of their families. But it has been proven that once a man pays, there is often an immediate demand for a second ransom. If one member of a family is released, another will be held as hostage. In some cases three or four in a family have been jailed. Other times when it has been realized the family purse has been drained dry those held in jail have been shot, as being of no more use.

Chose To Die

News arrived Monday of the death by suicide of a young married woman who felt it was the only way to end the terrible demands on the family. The original fine was 1,000,000,000 (one BILLION) dollars in Communist currency. While this is much lower in value than the Canadian dollar, it represents a sizeable amount. Somehow the family scraped the money together and paid the assessment. Within a short time a second fine was levied for 2,000,000,000 Communist dollars. They couldn't pay and rather than press her overseas relatives for never-ending funds, the woman chose to die.

Just a week before the same family received word of another suicide, where under similar pressure the victim chose death to hurting the family any more.

The wife of a well known Chinese here while not in jail is practically under house arrest. She is not allowed to go anywhere and no one dares to talk to her.

Liberals Lead Early Returns In Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 27 — Six Liberals had been elected and another was ahead in the only returns reported today in Newfoundland's provincial election.

The leading Liberal was Myles Murray in Ferryland, a seat won in 1949 by an Independent.

A storm which struck Nova Scotia Monday night hit the province today and as a result final counting will be delayed in at least two districts, Fogo and Fortune Bay-Hermitage.

Isaac Mercer was elected in Port de Grace and Health Minister J. R. Chalker in Harbor Grace, adding two more seats to the four Premier Smallwood's Liberals won by acclamation.

The Progressive Conservatives, meanwhile, protested the voting in at least two St. John's polls. They claimed the two polls were late opening Monday and that scores of voters had not been able to cast their ballots when the polls closed sharp at 8 pm.

Make No Statement

The party did not indicate what further action it planned in the matter.

Reverse Decision On Resale Price

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 (CP).—Parliament's special committee on resale price maintenance today voted 21 to 9 to reverse a decision taken Monday to investigate manufacturing costs and margins of profit on consumer goods that are price maintained and those which are not.

Committee chairman James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North) brought the issue to a head when he stated that the 10-man steering committee had discussed the decision in private late Monday and decided it is not feasible to make the investigation.

E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) charged that the government has made the committee only an "adding machine" and a "rubber stamp."

Two Proposals Presented To NATO

Try To Speed Up European Army

ROME, Nov. 27 (AP). —The United States and Belgium today introduced separate resolutions to the North Atlantic Council designed to speed up establishment of a European army.

Both resolutions were quickly referred to the NATO deputies, who will try to combine them into one plan to put before the council Wednesday.

Council chairman, L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said he thought the "margin between (the two plans) was not very great."

He described the plans as an effort to give a "push forward" to the move for the European army and for bringing in countries other than those belonging to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—presumably a reference to West Germany.

Other developments today included:

1. A private breakfast at which Gen. Eisenhower entertained Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain. Eisenhower appealed for British agreement to the appointment of an American naval commander for the North Atlantic and adoption of .30-calibre ammunition as the standard for the Atlantic armies' small arms.

Middle East Problem

2. A meeting of the big-three foreign and defence ministers to discuss the proposed Middle-East command. A qualified informant said they made some progress but that nothing concrete emerged from the meeting.

3. The council approved the report from the NATO chiefs of staff on stepping up the program for building a combat-ready force by the end of next year. Informed sources said the report calls for up to 40 divisions by the end of 1952, and up to 70 in a longer-range program by the end of 1954.

4. A report to the council on the military might of Russia and her satellites in which, among other things, it was said she is speeding her MIG-15 jet fighter to the air forces of her partners.

The report was compiled by Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters in Paris.

Gruenther's report was put before the council side by side with Eisenhower's estimate of the forces he needs to partially counterbalance the power of Russia and her followers.

Can't Be Dismissed

Informed sources say Shape believes Russia would have about 175 first-line divisions available at the beginning of the war, with probably quick expansion to 200 to 300 divisions. A Russian division, however, is only about one-half the size of a western division.

Gruenther reported that the Russian MIG jets—already well proven in Korean air battles — are speedily replacing piston-engined planes in satellite air forces.

The MIGs are powered with an engine adapted from the British Rolls Royce Nene, and Britain now are concentrating on jet engines with more power compressors.

Eisenhower was reported to be expecting to have 34 western divisions ready for combat by the end of 1952. This force would include six American divisions, seven British, eight French, six Italian, three from Norway and Denmark, and four from Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. The vanguard of a Canadian brigade is already in Europe.

Big 3 Ready To Discuss Cutting Arms

US Will Insist On Time Limit At Russ Conference

PARIS, Nov. 27. (CP)—The US, Britain and France are ready to meet Russia in a special committee to attempt to reconcile their proposed plans of world disarmament, a US spokesman said today.

Eight countries in the 60-nation U.N. political committee have lined up behind a resolution asking for this move to be taken in a bid to align the separate Eastern and Western peace plans.

The US spokesman said that while the Big Three were in broad agreement on the idea, the US reserved the right to suggest changes in the wording of the resolution.

Afghanistan, Indonesia, Egypt and Saudi Arabia, have declared their backing for the motion, originally sponsored Monday by Pakistan, Iraq and Syria. India also tentatively—but not formally—suggested a similar course of action Monday.

Take Initiative

The US took the initiative from the Russians Monday by approving the Arab-Asian proposal for the four-power conference under chairmanship of assembly president Padilla Nervo of Mexico.

The US move left it squarely up to Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to say whether Russia will participate. A "no" answer would be interpreted generally as unwillingness to go half-way in taking every proferred chance to restore world stability.

Vishinsky Monday told reporters he was thinking over the proposal—made by Pakistan, Iraq and Syria and supported by India.

Taking No Chances

A US move to limit any such private discussions appeared likely following US Asbassador Philip Jessup's speech Monday. Jessup said that the deputies of the big - four powers wrangled for more than three months in Paris this year without being able to agree on an acceptable agenda for such talks.

A French spokesman told reporters that his government was studying the Asian-Arab proposal with interest. He indicated France will favor it.

Discussion in the assembly's political committee continued today on the western proposal for a closely-supervised, step-by-step disarmament.

Also still to be discussed is the Russian disarmament plan, which calls for immediate prohibition of the atom bomb, one-third reduction in conventional armaments and a big-five disarmament conference. Vishinsky also has proposed the chief features of his program as amendments to the American plan.

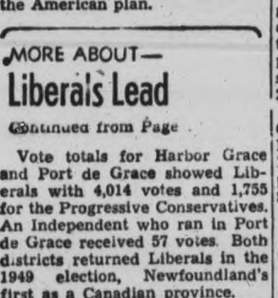
Vote totals for Harbor Grace and Port de Grace showed Liberals with 4,014 votes and 1,755 for the Progressive Conservatives. An Independent who ran in Port de Grace received 57 votes. Both districts returned Liberals in the 1949 election, Newfoundland's first as a Canadian province.

A burly policeman had to force the door of the counting room before the St. John's West counting could continue today.

Returning officers sealed the door and lock with sealing wax Monday night and found today that their key would not work.



Will Stand Trial

CORNWALL, Nov. 27 (CP). — Elias Meek, 21-year-old Harrison's Corners farmhand, was committed today to stand trial for the Sept. 28 murder of Mrs. Alice May Alguire, 29-year-old wife of Meek's employer. Magistrate P. C. Bergeron, committed Meek after testimony by 18 crown witnesses, called to testify about circumstances surrounding the knife and hammer slaying on the Alguire farm. Mrs. Alguire was mother of four children.

Pimmett Places 5th At Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP). — Six Canadian exhibitors Monday showed 12 animals in the breeding Shorthorn classes at the International Livestock Exposition but failed to win any honors.

In the junior yearling bull division S. G. Bennett of Georgetown, was fourth.

In the senior bull calves event, Grant Campbell of Moffat, Ont., was 11th and 19th.

M. H. Pimmett and Sons of Indian River, took fifth place in the senior yearling bull contest with Torrance Beardmore of Mono Mills, Ont., finishing eighth. Bennett also finished fourth in the two-year-old bull event.

Stock Prices Climb On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 27 —(CP)— Strong mid-season support today pushed early afternoon stock market prices steadily higher. Industrials opened firmly in continuation of Monday's sharp upswing.

Trading picked up slightly from the slow pace of recent sessions with increased demand for industrial leaders and low-priced mining issues. Eureka was a standout as more than 175,000 shares changed hands within the first three hours.

Consolidated Smelters jumped $3 while Hudson Bay and International Nickel added fractions. Ascot, Barvue, Chromium, East Sullivan, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou and United Asbestos strengthened.

Western oils eased from early gains. Calmont, Calvan Consolidated, Home Oil, Model Oils, Central Explorers, Scurry, Trans Empire and new British Dominions showed advances ranging to about 25 cents.

Senior golds climbed. Dome, Giant Yellowknife, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore, Malartic, Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves posted gains to about 50 cents. Secondary issues strengthened.

California Woman Run Over 12 Times

OCEANSIDE, Cal., Nov. 27 — (AP).—The coroner's office said at least 12 automobiles ran over a woman north of here on Highway 101 Sunday night before one finally stopped to report. Her body was battered and crushed. She was about 35.

Might Make Deal

Sponsors of the Asian-Arab proposal contended that by making the disarmament debate secret, delegates would not be talking for the world gallery and might get down to the trading necessary for an agreement.

Elsewhere in the assembly:

1. President Padilla Nervo called a meeting of the 14-country steering committee to put on the assembly agenda Russia's charge that the US is aiding opponents of pro-Soviet Communist regimes.
2. France introduced a resolution to the trusteeship committee, asking it to appeal to the security council for speedy admission of Italy to UN membership.

Three Canadians Capture Grain Crowns

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (CP)—The closest contest at the International Hay and Grain Show this year was in oats where Canadian entries predominated and which produced Canada's eighth consecutive oat crown.

Dr. G. P. McRostie, head of the field husbandry department of the Ontario Agriculture College at Guelph, said that the 42 samples exhibited in the region one class —which included all Canadian oat entries—were all "top quality."

Dr. McRostie, only Canadian among the five grain judges, said that any of the first six in the region one class would have been contenders for the oat championship—had they been eligible.

Gordon Moyer, of Elmworth, Alta., won the regional class and went on to win the championship —or "kings" as they are called here.

Other Canadian Grain kings crowned Monday were Albert Kessel, of Rosetown, Sask., who won the rye title, and Harry V. Holt, of Peace River, Alta., in the barley competition.

In addition, William R. Beattie, of Staples, took the reserve championship in soybeans for the second straight year. The soybean kingship went to Ben T. Gildersleeve, of Hudson, Ill.

Hard To Distinguish

Dr. McRostie said that the top six in the region one oats judging were so even that when 16 kernels were placed side by side and measured they didn't vary 1-16th of an inch.

Louis Wendell, of Neudorf, Sask., last year's oat king—and reserve champion at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair earlier this month—placed sixth in the region one contest.

This year's reserve champion is Clifton Metcalf, of Fairgrove, Mich., who was entered in region two. He is a brother of Harold who won the wheat crown Sunday for the United States. It was the first time Canada lost the wheat title in 22 years.

Monday's judging wound up the grain section of the show, although the hay judging still is to come.

Seven championships were decided. While Canada took the oats, barley and rye titles, the US won the corn, soybeans, flax and cowpeas.

Moyer won the oats crown with a victory variety weighing 48.9 pounds to the bushel.

Kessel took the rye title with a prolific variety. No reserve champion was named at the rye. Kessel is one of the few grain exhibitors to attend the show. In addition to his championship rye, he exhibited flax and barley and placed third in the flax competition.

Holt won the barley crown with a variety he tagged "Newal" which weighed 51.6 pounds to the bushel. The reserve champion is Spencer Dunham, of Caro, Mich.

Drew Demanding

Revival of the Meyer case took the parliamentary spotlight from a plodding, slow-moving throne-speech debate, in which a half-dozen members touched on a variety of subjects—old-age pensions, the cost of living, war veterans allowances, unemployment and a national flag for Canada.

Special Rule

Raising the issue on a question of privilege, Mr. Drew noted that Meyer was quoted as saying he had been released under a rule whereby prisoners are permitted to visit their homes from time to time.

The question now arose, Mr. Drew suggested, as to whether the Canadian government has given authority to Meyer to visit his home at regular intervals in this way.

Mr. Campney noted that the National Defence Act sets out that prisoners undergoing punishment within its provisions shall be dealt with in the same manner as other inmates in their place of imprisonment.

The department had made inquiries as to the rules at Werl prison in Germany, where Meyer now is being detained, and would issue the information as soon as it was obtained.

Mr. Drew said the circumstances of the Meyer case are "very harrowing" to many Canadian families. He was either guilty or he was not guilty. There should be "no intermediate stage."

Too Vague

He expressed surprise that the government had sent Meyer to a prison whose rules it did not know. If he was to get the same treatment as others, Mr. Drew wondered whether he would be released if the British government decided to grant a general amnesty to others imprisoned with him.

"Most certainly," if there was one man above all others who should be under appropriate restraint for life—if that is the penalty—it is the man who was responsible for the death of young Canadians, and most certainly there should be no easy treatment for a man who is guilty of that offence, and guilty under the circumstances that were accepted as evidence at the trial."

Mr. Cruickshank said that if Meyer was found guilty "of murdering Canadians, then by no stretch of the imagination, so far as I am concerned, should he be permitted to spend a weekend visiting his wife, anybody else's wife, or anyone else."

UE Protests Meyer's Liberty

First local group to comment publicly on the transfer to Germany and temporary release of Kurt Meyer, was Local 524, United Electrical Workers.

"We are shocked and angered to learn of the freedom granted to the Nazi butcher, Kurt Meyer," was the statement in a telegram to Defence Minister Brooke Claxton.

The union asks that Meyer be returned to a Canadian prison "where Canadians may be assured he will not be freed to commit further atrocities against mankind."

(A news dispatch Monday told of a Canadian Press reporter interviewing Meyer at the home of Meyer's mother in Offleben, Germany. The former SS leader, sentenced to life imprisonment for war crimes against Canadian soldiers, was given temporary leave to see his family under a system that allows war prisoners to go home from time to time.)

Statement

Said the UE's statement, in part:

"The actions of your government in arranging transfer of this criminal to his homeland, for freedom with his family, must be completely condemned as an outright insult to, and complete disregard for, the feelings of the Canadian parents whose sons were murdered in cold blood by this criminal."

The statement was drawn up Monday at a joint meeting of the stewards and executive.

Work Stoppage Loss Decrease

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Time loss through work stoppages arising from industrial disputes in Canada during October showed a marked decrease from the preceding month and was the lowest recorded since last May, the Labor Department reported today.

Preliminary figures in the department's monthly summary of strikes and lockouts, showed 28 strikes and lockouts in existence during October. They involved 6,388 workers with a time loss of 49,318 days, compared with 31 work stoppages in September with 8,637 workers involved and a time loss of 105,235 days.

In the corresponding month a year ago, there were 13,138 workers involved in 25 strikes and lockouts with a time loss of 30,766 days.

Four work stoppages accounted for more than 52 per cent of the total time lost during the month. These were hardware factory workers at Hamilton, aluminum plant workers at Shawinigan Falls, Que., paper and paper box factory workers at Vancouver, and shipyard workers at Esquimault, BC, and Victoria. The four strikers were responsible for a combined time loss of 26,000 days and involved a combined total of 2,142 workers.

MORE ABOUT—

Order Ayrhart

"There is no direct evidence of excessive speed as he entered the intersection. He might have slowed down to some degree."

Arthur Andrews, RR 1 Norwood, testified for the crown that Mayor Ayrhart had passed a car in which Andrews was riding less than 500 yards west of where the accident occurred at a speed of between 60 and 65 miles an hour.

Mayor Ayrhart testified he passed the car Andrews referred to at about 35 miles an hour and slowed down to between 15 and 20 miles an hour as he approached the intersection.

Dangerous Corner

As regards to his taking proper precautions, Magistrate Philp said he was satisfied from the testimony of independent witnesses that he had blown his horn a considerable distance back. From photos entered as exhibits and testimony of witnesses, the magistrate said it was evident the intersection was "a dangerous corner."

"I can't see how the accused could have taken much greater precautions. He did practically all he could at that place," the magistrate said.

"It is largely a question of his entering the intersection. Is he guilty because he did not yield the right-of-way? The fact may well be there was negligence on Meinsinger's part. There is not definite evidence as far as the accused is concerned.

"Furthermore in both dangerous and careless driving, we must have regard to the character of the accident and not the unfortunate results. It is very easy to regard the seriousness from the results, whereas it must be measured only from the point of view of the character of the driving. On all the evidence, having regard to the standard of negligence as required, I cannot find that degree of negligence that would warrant a conviction of dangerous driving," Magistrate Philp said.

"On the careless driving charge, there was undoubtedly that degree of negligence and the accused is found guilty."

Want Whitaker As Commissioner

TORONTO, Nov. 27—(CP)—A Toronto paper today suggested editorially that W. D. (Denny) Whitaker, of Hamilton, be named commissioner of Canadian football.

Whitaker, who was quarterback of the Hamilton Tigers of 1938 and 1939, won the DSO at Dieppe as a captain and a bar to the award as commander of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry in Northwest Europe.

Now 36, Whitaker is a radio station operator at Hamilton. He is commander of the 3rd Brigade of the Reserve Army.

The paper says his appointment "would eliminate any controversy between Montreal and Toronto" and "someone from Hamilton might be more acceptable" in the West.

Store Front Blown Out, 40 Injured

Montreal Explosion Knocks Pedestrians Off Feet On Street

MONTREAL, Nov. 27. (CP)— More than 40 persons were injured Monday when an explosion, swiftly following an outbreak of fire, ripped open the front of a midtown building and blew some of the injured to the sidewalk.

Pedestrians were knocked from their feet by the blast and showered with debris.

Ambulances took 24 persons to hospitals. Some were released after treatment for burns, cuts and shock.

An estimated dozen or more were treated at a drug store and a doctor's office nearby. Some had minor hurts. Others, including several hysterical women, were among those taken to hospital. A pregnant woman was injured and taken to hospital.

The blast occurred in the Koch printing-stationery shop on Bleury St., just off St. Catharine St. Other establishments are housed in the building, an old structure a few feet from one of the busiest intersections in Montreal.

Two Storeys Burn

The two upper storeys were gutted by the fire and collapsed to the ground floor, occupied by the Koch firm.

Monday night firemen were able to remove some of the debris from the front of the building. Although the interior had not been searched, rumors that two persons may have been trapped lacked confirmation. There were no reports of missing persons.

Cause of the fire was not immediately established. The explosion was believed set off by the buildup of smoke and fumes or when the fire reached an oil stove.

Fireman Lieut. Pat Ambrose, off duty, was walking nearby when he saw the fire. He rang in an alarm, then raced inside and helped three persons to escape.

Just as they reached the door the explosion heaved them to the sidewalk and debris piled upon them. They were taken to hospital.

Six injured women employees made their way up a side stairway to a second-storey balcony.

Equipment from a dozen fire stations and 10 ambulances were called out on the two-alarm fire. Thousands of spectators jammed the area, adding to traffic difficulties. The ambulances had to be driven along sidewalks.

Manvers Voters To Go To Polls December 3

BETHANY, Nov. 27—(ENS)—Manvers township citizens will go to the polls December 3 for a municipal election as a result of the nominations in Bethany on Friday.

Charles Chapman announced his retirement, following three years as reeve of the township. Nominated for reeve were Allan Beer of Bethany, the present deputy reeve; and Lewis McGill, Bethany. Mr. McGill served on the council several years ago.

Nominated for deputy reeve were three members serving on the present council: Robert Wright, Janetville; Earl Argue, Pontypool and Orme Miller, Pontypool.

Those nominated for councillors were Jack Payne, Pontypool, who has also had previous terms of service and three newcomers: Henry Jakeman, Bethany; Addison Scott, Bethany and Ralph Malcolm, Yelverton.

At the close of the nominations, Orme Miller withdrew from the deputy reeve competition and announced his intention of running for councillor again.

Offa Staples was acting chairman for the meeting.

Toronto Driver Jailed For Week

COBOURG, Nov. 27 —(ENS)—William Elliott of Toronto was sentenced Monday to seven days in jail on a charge of drunk driving and his license suspended for three months. The car he had been driving at the time was a borowed one.

Elliott was arrested October 6 by Provincial Constable C. Meadows. A partly used case of beer was in the trunk compartment and an unopened case on the back seat. Elliott explained he had drunk some of the beer in a Trenton hotel room the night before and was taking it and an unopened case back to Toronto. He had had a few drinks in Cobourg on the night of October 6, before police picked him up. Magistrate R. B. Baxter dismissed the charge of having liquor in an illegal place.

William Hoskin of Colborne, 23, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of stealing two bottles of wine from the truck of James Staples on Saturday night. Acting Chief H. Pearse and Constable E. Butler were in the police car just twenty feet away from him near the market square and observed him hunt through a box of groceries in the back of the truck and then extract the wine from the front. Hoskin was up on a similar charge some time ago, only on that occasion it was theft of beer. Police said that he had been drinking on Saturday night.

"As soon as he saw us he said, 'How much will the fine be?' "related Constable Pearse.

At the close of the constable's evidence, the magistrate asked Hoskin if there were any questions he wished to ask.

"Yes, how much will my fine be?" asked the accused.

He found out in due course,

John McEvoy, Cobourg charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency, was remanded out of custody to appear when called upon. He was charged last week after police went to his home to investigate a drinking party. His five year old daughter, frightened by the racket had gone to a neighbour's. McEvoy, who is a widower, was entertaining two other men. As a result of the affair, the child was taken to the Shelter of the Children's Aid Society in Port Hope. The court was informed that McEvoy was paying full maintenance of his daughter, who was now a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

Congregation Honors Couple Wed 50 Years

BETHANY: Nov. 27—(ENS)—Following Sunday evening service in the United Church, the congregation adjourned to the Sunday school room and entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Monk, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

The Rev. James Hampson voiced their congratulations and good wishes, mentioning the active part the bride and groom of 50 years ago had taken in all the organizations of the church. Mrs. Henry Jakeman read an address signed by the leaders of the various associations and Miss Eleanor Rowan presented Mr. and Mrs. Monk with an electric table lamp and bouquet of golden chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Monk expressed their sincere appreciation.

Bert Monk of Windsor, their eldest son, spoke on behalf of his brothers, saying they appreciated the evening's entertainment in honor of their parents.

A brief program included a duet by Harry Preston and Mrs. W. Fallis, "How Can I Leave Thee"; a piano instrumental by Miss Gladys Bigelow, "Flowers of Spring"; a reading by Miss Elsie Richardson, "Nearer To Thee," and a duet by Mrs. Harvey Fallis tnd Mrs. Preston Neals, "In The Garden of Tomorrow." Giving congratulatory speeches were Milton Weatherilt, George Waddell, Earl Weatherilt and Edgar Staples. Mr. Staples in his remarks stated he thought perhaps he was establishing a record. "It is not often that a school teacher has the privilege of attending a golden wedding anniversary of a pupil." Mr. Monk had spent his last year as a pupil of Fleetwood school under the tuition of Mr. Staples, who is now retired.

Mrs. Clarence Rowan and Miss Elsie Richardson poured tea and ladies of the congregation served the lunch.

A social hour was spent as everyone offered their personal congratulations and had the opportunity of meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Monk's four sons: Bertrand of Windsor, Harold of Detroit, Karl of Sarnia, Roy of Sunderland, who with their wives and families were home to join in the celebration, and who welcomed the opportunity to do a little reminiscing with many friends they had not seen for years.

Denies Act Hurting Russia

PARIS, Nov. 27—(AP)—The United States today denied Russian charges that the American Mutual Security Act constitutes aggression against the Soviet Union, and said its only aim was to aid refugees from behind the Iron Curtain.

The American reply was in a statement issude by members of the US delegation to the United Nations and members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee which considered the act.

The 14-country steering committee of the assembly was slated to decide later whether to recommend the Soviet charges for the general assembly agenda.

"The Soviet charges are based upon a distortion and misrepresentation of the provisions of the law," the statement said.

The act provides $100,000,000 for support of refugees from Red-dominated countries. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky charged this was an attempt to support traitors on Soviet soil and overthrow the Kremlin government.

Although the US delegation issued the denial, a spokesman said it would not oppose a thorough airing of the Russian allegations by the UN.

Burn Dead Cattle To Avoid Epidemic

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 27 (AP)—Carcasses of drowned cattle and horses burned on smoking pyres today as authorities worked to avert a threatened outbreak of disease in the flooded Po River delta.

Workmen towed the dead beasts to fires on high ground in the Polesine and Rovigo areas. Four cases of scarlet fever were reported there Monday.

Officials feared epidemics might break out as the result of damaged sewer systems and the thousands of animals drowned in the vast flood area.

Die From Burns

MELFORT, Sask., Nov. 27 (CP)—Mrs. Willard Smith and her five-year-old daughter, Ann, died in hospital here Sunday from burns suffered earlier in the day when fire destroyed their farm home. Mr. Smith and a three-year-old son, Alvin, are in serious condition in hospital.

Marie Finnie Elected Girls' Club President

BETHANY, Nov. 27—(ENS)—The Junior Homemakers' Club, "The Glad I Canners" sponsored by the Bethany branch of the Women's Institute, met at the home of Mrs. Mansell Finney on Saturday afternoon. This year's project is "The Supper Club" and through the year the girls will have the opportunity of studying nutrition and will prepare suitable supper dishes.

The following officers were elected: President, Marie Finney; secretary, Grace Bigelow; assistant secretary, Eleanor Rowan; treasurer, Joan Bristow; publicity convener, Janet Bigelow; club leaders, Mrs. Mansell Finney and Mrs. Clarence Page.

Mrs. Page gave an interesting talk on "Choosing Foods for Health" and a discussion among the members followed.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Marie Finney.

Pastor Fined

SOEST, Germany, Nov. 27 —(Reuters).—A former Evangelical pastor was fined about $48 by a German court Monday night for hitting a policeman and calling him a "servant of the occupation forces and footman of the British." Two years ago, former pastor, Adalbert Knees, was sentenced to a jail term by a British court for contempt of the occupation powers.

Kingston Mayor Of Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 27 —(ENS)—Wilbert A. Kingston was acclaimed mayor of Campbellford today, replacing J. E. Ayrhart, who has been mayor for the past four years.

Mayor Ayrhart said he was retiring from municipal politics because of the pressure of his business. Mr. Kingston has been a member of town council for four years, acting as senior councillor in this past year.

Reeve Ralph J. Locke was put in by acclamation for his third term as reeve of Campbellford.

There will be contests for the deputy-reeveship, public utilities commission, and the schoolboard, if all qualify who were nominated. Nominees have until 9 p.m. tonight to qualify.

Large Crowd

The nomination meeting, held in Campbelford's town hall, was attended by the largest crowd seen in recent years at nominations. About 250 people were there, compared to 50 last year. Chairman was town clerk J. F. McGregor.

Nominated for mayor were: Mr. Kingston, Mr. Ayrhart, D. R. Maybee, F. M. Rutherford.

Nominees for reeve: Ralph Locke, William Nicholas.

For deputy reeve: Oscar Mason, William Nicholas; for council (six to be elected): Lionel Jones, Peter Macmillan, Fred Bausch, Fred Rutherford, George H. Free, Isobel Claire Tatham, D. R. Maybee, David E. Ness, George Nicholas, Oscar Campbell, William R. Nicholas, Earl Haig, Paul G. O'Sullivan, Arthur F. Collette, Carl J. Maier, Walter Burgess, Wilbert Kingston.

For utilities commission (two to be elected): Howard Hogle, Gerald West, Archie J. Meyers, Dr. Lloyd Richardson, Walter Burgess; school board (three to be elected): Mrs. Helen Cowell, Francis Frederick, Dr. Ward A. Baker, Franklin Linton.

Seymour Twp. Council In By Acclamation

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 27 —(ENS)—Jack Billen was acclaimed reeve of Seymour township for his second straight year at the nomination meeting in Campbellford Monday afternoon.

In fact, the whole township council went in by acclamation, with one new member. Deputy-Reeve Ward Archer was returned, along with Councillors Samuel Diamond, and Earl Brunton. New council member is Kenneth Parr.

Freak Weather

CAPETOWN, Nov. 27 (Reuters)—Freak weather throughout South Africa during the last three days has disrupted road, rail, sea and air traffic and caused widespread damage to crops. Sixty-mile-an-hour gusts played havoc with shipping on the coast Monday. Inland heat, dust, hailstorms and heavy rain culminated in a fierce gale.

Municipal Contest

The acclamation which marked Alderman Hugh Waddell as Peterborough's next Mayor is evidence enough that his fellow-citizens want him as their chief magistrate. Some may regret that there is to be no election for this post, and certainly a mayoral contest gives special interest to the municipal elections. But a man cannot become mayor, with much hope of success in that office, until he has learned a good deal about the city's business. Aldermen who seek that honour usually let the fact be known, and after some preliminary work on the Council they either enter a mayoral contest, or they become mayor by acclamation. It is customary for every mayor to hold office for two years, receiving his second term by acclamation; this newspaper has expressed itself for some years as being of the opinion that a mayor who seeks office for more than two years should contest an election and not continue in office by acclamation.

* * *

Mr. Waddell has qualities which should make him an admirable mayor of Peterborough. He has served with distinction on the Council, and in financial matters especially he has shown an unusual grasp of the realities of civic government. This newspaper, in common with the people of Peterborough, is happy to see him rise to the highest honour which lies in the city's power to bestow. We shall not at this time comment on the term of office of Mayor Max J. Swanston, for the good reason that Mr. Swanston is still Mayor, and we have no intention of bidding him farewell until the last possible moment; we do not wish to do anything which encourages the idea that the election of a mayor for 1952 lessens the power of the mayor who was elected for 1951.

* * *

It is a matter for congratulation that all the men who were nominated for civic offices last Friday night have qualified, and will stand for election. Sometimes the array of men who are named at a nomination meeting dwindles pitifully before the day of voting. It is good to see that no man allowed his name to be put up who did not sincerely mean to follow through in the elections. That shows a firmness of purpose which is as welcome in civic as in provincial or dominion government.

* * *

We are glad that there will be a contest, and a good one, for the vacant positions on the Utilities Commission. We mean no disrespect to the gentlemen who have given long service on that board when we say that a commisson which is not refreshed by frequent elections tends to grow contented, and perfect content is not an attribute of democratic government. However good men of long service may be, new blood on a public board is always desirable. The contestants for the Utilities seats are men unusually well qualified for that work, and the city is to be congratulated on having men of this quality who offer themselves to the public weal.

* * *

It is significant that it was not easy to obtain nominations for the Board of Education. This Board makes heavy demands upon the time of its members. It is also a fact that, as the Board buys a wide variety of commodities within the city, many men do not wish to disqualify themselves for what may prove profitable business. At present only three members of the Board have had long experience on it; men and women who feel drawn toward service could not do better than prepare themselves, by study of the Board's work, for service on it.

Every year at this time we urge the necessity upon our readers of casting their votes in the municipal elections. Those who do not vote forfeit their right to complain of anything in the conduct of the city's business which they do not like. Peterborough's business is now big business, and we are all shareholders; shareholders who do not make their opinions known at the annual shareholder's election of officers are not looking after their own interest.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A rumour has it that Stalin is suffering from a hardening of the muscles of the heart. Keen students of the Bible will recall that one of the Pharaohs had a similar trouble, with similar consequences.

Surreptitious Attack On Our History

One of the strongest condemnations we have seen of the Dominion Government's campaign to get rid of the words 'Royal' and 'Dominion' has been made by a Labour executive, Mr. Eugene Forsey. It is reprinted elsewhere on this page. Mr. Forsey is research director of the Canadian Congress of Labour and a keen student of history and economics, as well as of labour relations. He speaks with the authority of a person who knows what he is talking about when he writes of the Government "depriving us of our history"; and he speaks from an inner position in high Labour councils of Canada.

The policy of eliminating the terms 'Royal' and 'Dominion' is resented by people all over the country, and not by a handful of aesthetes or die-hard true-blues. The policy goes deeper than the mere substitution of one word for another; it is an attack on our history and institutions, as the labour leader's letter shows.

"Where is it all going to stop? Are we going to wake up some morning and find ourselves citizens of the Republic of Canada? It looks like it. But I think there are a lot of people who don't want it. They object to the abolition of 'Royal' and 'Dominion'. They object to the end toward which all this seems to tend. They object most of all to having this sort of thing thrust upon them, without even a pretense of consultation or consent."

The gelding of Canada of her traditional titles may be, as Mr. Forsey thinks, the result of the propaganda of a few noisy chatterboxes. Whether or not this is so, the results are serious. The process should be stopped. There should be thousands of private protests like Mr. Forsey's pouring into Parliament and the press, and from organizations and municipalities which have a proper appreciation of our heritage and a respect for our future.

Coventry Singers On The Air

Last night The Examiner presented over station CHEX the second in the series of five broadcasts by the Coventry Singers which this newspaper is sponsoring this season. We are proud of these broadcasts and call them to the attention of any of our reads who have not been listening to them.

Singing is perhaps the most natural, and technically the hardest, of all forms of music-making. During the years that the group has been in existence, the Coventry Singers has developed individuality and technical skill; to the listener the music which the group sings sounds easy, and that is a tribute to the manner in which it is presented; musicians know how much adroitness and musicianship goes into such a madrigal program as was heard last night. Polyphonic music is delightful and easy to listen to, but it is no slight achievement to sing it unaccompanied and to maintain the balance of parts without which such music loses all meaning.

Peterborough is fortunate in having such a small choir. The church choirs have their regular work to do, and it absorbs virtually all their time and musical energy. It is good to have a choir which is free from specified duties, and which can introduce us to the pleasures of unfamiliar, great music. Later in its series of broadcasts the Coventry Singers will perform the carols which are appropriate to the Christmas season—a time of year at which music, always one of life's great delights, seems to take on a special charm.

Good News From Korea

At the very time when news reaches the people of this country that Canadian troops have been engaged in their heaviest fighting of the war in Korea comes the counterpoising information that an agreement has been reached on a cease-fire line. There is now definite hope that an armistice may be achieved by Christmas.

The heavy fighting over the week-end, when truce negotiators for the first time were making peace possible, is a wry reminder of the plight of the battle troops during the next thirty days. That is the time-limit during which an armistice must be adopted if the present truce plans are to come to anything. But during that time the war goes on. Men will continue to fire weapons and to be fired at; some will be wounded, others killed, on both sides, even though events may be moving to a cease-fire.

The period of waiting must be harrowing to the troops in the field still being called on to risk their lives, even though not a shot fired between now and an armistice, or a foot of ground gained or lost, will affect the settlement. In the name of humanity, cannot some way be improvised during the next month while final negotiations toward an armistice are taking place, to call a halt to slaughter?

During the last weeks in Holland before the last war ended, military activity on the fronts was limited almost completely to reconnaisance patrols and guard-mounting. Nothing moved, few shots were fired, the artillery was silent and offensive planes grounded. There was little useless loss of life or property. It is to be hoped that some sort of static condition can be obtained in Korea for the relief of the troops now, while they wait hopefully for an armistice.

Ostrich Feather Revives Industry

By JOHN WORRALL
(In Capetown)

THE fashion world's revival of interest in the ostrich feather has led to a rebirth of large-scale ostrich farming in South Africa. Once again the great Paris, London and New York fashion houses are using ostrich feathers, loveliest of all bird plumage, in their dress models. They are appearing in women's hats, while other more mundane uses are being found for them, such as the manufacture of household dusters.

Exports are going up, and capital is once again finding its way into the industry. The French Government recently approved a quota of £50,000 for the import of feathers.

❖ ❖ ❖

OSTRICH farming is one of South Africa's oldest pastoral industries. Until the end of World War One, when it was killed almost overnight by the dictates of fashion, it was worth several million pounds a year in exports.

The industry in South Africa dates from 1864, when, on a farm in the Cape Province, a few birds were hatched from the eggs of the wild ostrich. Within a year there were 80 domesticated birds, which increased to about 32,000 in 1875, 155,000 in 1891 and 232,000 in 1893. Capital poured in from Britain and by 1881 more than £8,000,000 had been invested in the industry.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE ostrich feather boom had begun. Exports were soon over the £1,000,000 mark and feathers were fetching higher prices than ever before on the world markets. In 1913 there were 1,000,000 birds mainly on farms round the sleepy little town of Oudtshoorn, Western Cape, and exports were worth £3,000,000.

It was in 1919 that the fashion world rejected the ostrich feather. In a few months this wealthy industry had crashed in ruins. Hundreds of ostrich farmers went bankrupt. Only those wise enough to invest some of their profits in balanced farming survived.

In 1930 the sale of ostrich feathers brought in only £42,478; in 1940 it had dropped to £16,945, and in 1943 sales were down to £13,595. In that year there were only 41,379 ostriches in South African farms and only 17,428 lbs. of feathers were exported.

BUT about 1946 the industry began to revive as women began to take to the ostrich feather once again. In that year the ostrich population increased to 60,241 and the value of feather exports rose to £197,942.

No figures are available for the past two or three years, but exports have recently leaped up. In nine sales in Port Elizabeth in 1949-50, £49,351 worth of feathers were sold. Some single shipments to New York have been worth as much as £4,000.

❖ ❖ ❖

OSTRICH farming is not a difficult business. You need good, well-watered lucerne pastures, some incubators, a few herd boys and a knowledge of the strange ways of the ostrich. Chicks are plucked for the first time after eight months, and after that every eight or nine months. Only the better quality feathers are clipped. The remains of the quills are left in the wings for about three months to dry out, and then are painlessly removed.

PLUCKING is a delicate operation and the birds need careful handling. They are brought into the paddock and caught with a hooked stick, then guided into a wooden shute or "plucking box". A long black cloth is pulled over their heads to quieten them. Plucking each bird takes about five minutes. An average weight of 21 lbs. of feathers is taken from each bird, the total value of which is about £5.

The young ostrich starts life after an incubation period of 42 days. After leaving the shell, the chick is very weak and remains delicate for the first three months of its life. In the wild state only about 25 per cent. survive.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE ostrich is a confirmed vegetarian, living on lucerne grass in captivity and in the wild state on plants, berries, seeds and other vegetation. It swallows pebbles and other hard objects to assist its digestion. Incidentally, this habit was used to good advantage in the old days of diamond mining in the Cape. Ostriches kept on the mines were bought by smugglers and slaughtered to obtain the small diamonds they had picked up wandering over the diamond-bearing ground.

The adult ostrich weighs about 200 lbs., and with that weight behind it, the vicious kick, which is its main method of defence, can be fatal. Ostriches have been known to kick a hole in a piece of corrugated iron. The adult bird can travel over the ground at about 30 miles an hour.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN spite of its elegant plumage the ostrich is at the bottom rung of the evolutionary ladder of the bird family. It is allied to the emu of Australia, the kiwi of New Zealand and the rhea of South Amercia.

Its feathers have been used for decoration for many centuries. The Pharaohs wore ostrich feather aprons. In the Middle Ages young brides wore ostrich feather circlets on their wrists. Knights in the 15th Century wore a bunch of ostrich feathers in their helmets. In the Stuart period men wore them dyed in many colours on their hats.

❖ ❖ ❖

THEY were an important part of women's elaborate coiffures in the 18th Century, while in the "Gay Nineties" the craze for these feathers reached its peak in the huge befeathered hats and feather boas worn in those days.

The ostrich has several by-products. When they grew too old for their feathers to have any value—10 or 12 years—they are slaughtered and their flesh made into biltong (dried meat). Today there is a growing demand for the skin, which is made into handbags and shoes.

Labour Leader's Condemnation
Throwing 'Dominion' Overboard

Ed. Note: The following letter printed in the Toronto Globe and Mail was written by Eugene Forsey, director of research for the Canadian Congress of Labour (C.C.L.).

I SEE the Government's merry game of depriving us of our history goes on apace. First it was the time-honoured heading, "Dominion Government" disappearing from the local telephone book. Then it was the "Royal Mail" becoming "obsolete" and making way for the "euphonious" and dignified "Canada Post." Now comes fresh attacks on "Dominion": the Dominion Lands Act becomes the Canada Lands Act, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the Canadian Bureau of Statistics; the Dominion Statistician, the Canadian Statistician, and we are told that it is official policy to eliminate "Dominion" and substitute "Canada" or "Canadian" wherever the opportunity occurs.

All this raises two questions. First, why? Second, where is it going to stop? Why is "Royal Mail" "obsolete"? (Incidentally, I notice it still appears on the postal trucks in Toronto. Has Toronto become a separate state? Or has the Government just run short of paint there? Or is it a case of "Valour will come and go"?) Is this country still a monarchy? If so, the mail is still "Royal." If the mail is no longer "Royal," what about the navy, the air force, the mint, the King's Regulations? Are these also to be disinfected one by one? Unless we are committed to proclaiming a republic, this jiggery-pokery is wholly indefensible. If we are committed to a republic, when was this change submitted to, let alone sanctioned by the Canadian people?

THERE might be a serious reason (though, in my judgement, a bad one) for jettisoning "Royal." For replacing "Dominion" by "Canadian" there is no reason that is worth the breath to utter it. The clatter about "Dominion" implying subordination to some other country is just rubbish. It is a fine old word, with a long and honourable history. The official French translation is the equally fine old word, "Puissance" ("Power"), which by no stretch of the imagination can be taken to imply subordination. "Dominion" was good enough for Macdonald, for the rest of the Fathers of Confederation, for Blake, Laurier, Borden, Meighen, Bennett, and, I think, even Mr. King. It was highly convenient for distinguishing between the central authority and its institutions and property, and the provinces and theirs. "Canadian" has a much broader, and for these purposes, less precise, meaning; much the same is true of "national", and "federal" is an importation.

The abolition of "Dominion" is going to have some ridiculous byproducts. "CBS" will mean either Canadian Bureau of Statistics" or "Columbia Broadcasting System." When the "Dominion Statistician" becomes the "Canadian Statistician" what happens to all the other statisticians in the country, who have been accumstomed to call themselves Canadian? Will the CBC have to change its "Dominion network" to "Canadian network"? If so, won't it get confused with the "Trans-Canada network"?

ON the face of it, the whole business is childish. What lies behind it? Is it an attempt to root out, little by little, familiar and distinctive terms which bind us to our past? If so, we should be told so, frankly; given the reasons, if any; and allowed to say whether we want it done or not. The most objectionable feature of the performance is its surreptitiousness. Apparently the Government hopes that if it is quiet and cautious enough, no one will notice what is happening until it is too late.

Where is it all going to stop? Are we going to wake up some morning and find ourselves citizens of the Republic of Canada? It looks like it. But I think there are a lot of people who don't want it. They object to the abolition of "Royal" and "Dominion." They object to the end toward which all this seems to tend. They object most of all to having this sort of thing thrust upon them, without even a pretense of consultation or consent. Some have already protested. I hope more will. I am convinced that what has been done so far is mainly the result of propaganda by a few noisy chatterboxes. Perhaps if the rest of us can make enough noise the thing will stop.

BE REASONABLE

"Darling," he asked, as he drew his beloved closer to him, "am I the only man you have ever loved?"

"William," she replied, somewhat testily, "before we go any further, I would like to ask you a few questions. You are aware that my father is a millionaire, aren't you?"

"Y-yes."

"You understand, no doubt, that when he dies his vast fortune will be left to me?"

"Y-yes."

"You know that I own half-a-million dollars worth of property?"

"Y-yes."

"That my diamonds are insured for two hundred thousand dollars?"

"Y-yes."

"Then, for goodness sake talk sense! What difference would it make if I had been kissed by a thousand men before I met you?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the Lord above all that were before him. And it came to pass, as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that he took to wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Zidonians, and went and served Baal, and worshipped him. (I Kings 16: 30, 31.)

❖ ❖ ❖

But there was none like unto Ahab, which did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord, whom Jezebel his wife stirred up. (I Kings 21: 25.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And Elijah the Tishbite, who was of the inhabitants of Gilead, said unto Ahab, As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word.

And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying, Arise, get thee to Zarephath, which belongeth to Zidon, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee . . . And it came to pass after these things, that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick; and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him.

And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sin to remembrance, and to slay my son? And he said unto her, Give me thy son. And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him up into a loft, where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed . . . And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived . . .

And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is truth. (I Kings 17: 1, 8, 9, 17-19, 22, 24.)

We're Risking Tragedy

(Financial Post)

Just outside Ingersoll, the other day, the editor of the weekly Tribune watched helplessly while a fine new home burned to the ground. Only a little distance away were the fire brigades of Ingersoll and Woodstock but local regulations prevented them going outside the limits of the respective municipalities, the protection of which is their primary concern. There may be sound reasons for such a policy, says the Tribune editor, "but it is a hard thing to stand by and watch a man's home go up in flames."

That is true and there are some other things that are hard to understand about this fire protection business. If this had been a big fire, where it would be necessary to attach hoses to local water supplies or for two brigades from different towns to work together, more dificulties might have been discovered. In a great many cases it would be found that equipment was not interchangeable, that the fire hose from one place would not fit the hydrants in another. Very often it would be useless for the reels from a neighbouring municipality to come to help.

In a survey made only a few years ago it was found that there are literally hundreds of different sizes of couplings used in Canadian fire-fighting equipment. Under pressure there has been some improvement since, but nothing like a real overhaul. This sort of thing limits most equipment to strictly local use. That means heavy and unnecessary fire losses in normal times. In a real emergency such as we would most certainly face if the country were bombed, one can imagine the tragic results.

Broadcasters Association Asks $2.50 Radio Licence Fee Abolished

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Abolition of the annual $2.50 licence fee on radio-receiving sets was urged today by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

The association, whose membership includes 104 of the 135 privately-owned radio stations in Canada, presented a 160,000-word brief to the Commons Radio Committee.

It recommended that:

1. The Department of Transport continue to licence and police the use of the broadcasting channel.

2. A reasonable number of channels be provided for the CBC's "subsidized government service."

3. All other physically usable channels be offered to Canadian citizens for "general non-subsidized use."

4. There be a complete elimination of the radio licence fee "which is a tax on knowledge, a tax on the right to listen and therefore a serious limitation on a very fundamental right."

5. "Non-subsidized, non-government licences of channels, have security of tenure subject to compliance with the general framework of the law of the land, including equitable expropriation where the public interest may require this."

Be Eliminated

6. There be eliminated "control of news and other programs over non-CBC stations by a government agency (CBC) as at present," and that radio be made subject only to the same laws as printed publications.

7. A separate regulatory body not connected with any broadcasting system be established to control radio and television in Canada.

8. Persons engaged in broadcasting and telecasting be given full opportunity to be heard by such a regulatory board on matters directly affecting them.

9. Properly qualified Canadian citizens be permitted to provide television service immediately in any area of Canada.

In the brief, the CAB criticized the radio and television recommendations of the Massey Commission on arts and sciences as "unwise and are not in the best interests of the public."

In asking that radio stations be made subject only to the laws of the land, as are newspapers and other publications, the Association said:

"There are today in Canada 135 privately-owned stations, and 19 government stations. The corporation which operates these latter 19 has absolute control of all other stations.

Different For Newspapers

"Yet no one would seriously suggest that there should be 19 daily newspapers owned and published by a government agency, or that that agency should have absolute licence control of all the other daily newspapers and power to limit and censor the advertising and editorial content of the other daily newspapers.

The power of regulation, said the brief, should be vested in a separate regulatory body not connected with a broadcasting system.

An appendix to the brief showed the results of a survey on the attitude of Canadians toward ownership and management of the radio industry. The survey showed that 59 per cent of the people favored all private ownership and operation of Canadian radio.

Another appendix said that listener surveys indicated that the programs of private stations are favored over those of the CBC.

On the use of live talent, the brief said that any person with reasonable talents or reasonable willingness to work finds no difficulty securing employment. But the CBC's monopoly on network broadcasts discouraged the development of Canadian talent.

In many cases it was not economically feasible for a private station to use live talent which could compete with the talent used on a network program.

"The only way to increase the use of talent is to afford greater facility for training, and to permit the privately-owned stations to form competitive networks," said the brief.

This would enable the private stations to spread the cost of live-talent programs across the country.

HOTEL BURNS—Two walls have fallen in showing fire still raging through the ruins of the Hotel Talbot at St. Thomas, Ont., which was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. Searchers were to begin today to look for the body of an elderly man believed buned. This graphic photo shows one corner of the hotel still standing. Damage was estimated at $300,000.

Water Pressure Helps Keep Oil Flowing

By GRAHAM TROTTER.

EDMONTON, Nov. 27 (CP). — Canada's biggest oil field is going to start drinking water to lengthen its life expectancy.

Water—millions of barrels of it—is needed to restore fast-dwindling pressure and keep oil moving to the surface in the Redwater field, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton.

At the current production rate, this pressure will dip about a year from now to the point where further operation would be against the best engineering practices. Unless something is done, the ultimate net recovery of oil from the field will be lowered substantially.

Average pressure at the bottom of Redwater wells in August, 1948—only six months after the rich field was discovered — was 1,050 pounds per square inch (PSI).

Now, after heavy production last summer when Redwater's output equalled or surpassed that of all other Alberta fields combined, the pressure is down to about 800 PSI. The danger point —allowing for a safety margin— is 600 PSI, estimated by government engineers to be about a year away.

Why the loss of pressure?

During its short life the Redwater field has produced some 33,000,000 barrels of oil. Nothing has been put back under the ground to fill this big gap. That's where the water will come in.

To keep pressure from falling below the danger or "saturation" point—when pressure of gas in solution in the oil stops bringing up any oil — it is planned to "flood" the sub-surface reaches of the field. The water would run under the oil pool through wells supplied from the North Saskatchewan River, which flows through the south end of the field.

If this water were injected by gravity flow it would likely mean many water wells would be needed. The number of injection wells could be reduced by pumping the water down.

The loss of pressure at Redwater appears small but when considered over a big area—the field is some 20 miles long by 2½ miles wide—it can mean millions of barrels of oil.

Proven Reserves

Proven reserves of the Redwater field have been estimated at 1,200,000,000 barrels of oil. The amount that can be recovered by drilling is about 700,000,000 barrels. This is considered a good percentage because all the oil in an oil field is never completely drained off.

With every withdrawal of 140,000 barrels of oil there is a drop of one pound in pressure. Government engineers say it is reasonable to expect that the pressure maintenance scheme could raise the ultimate oil recovery from the field by as much as 10 per cent.

This means that about 120,000,000 more barrels of oil would be recovered with pressure maintenance. This would be a great saving since a barrel of Redwater crude oil is worth $2.46 today at the well.

The water flooding scheme would be carried out by the operators, with technical assistance from the government. The operators have about 900 producing wells in the field. The average cost of bringing a Redwater well into production is $55,000.

Likes English Plan

TORONTO, Nov. 27—(CP)—J. Alex Edmison, assistant to the principal of Queen's University, Monday night said Canadians should be able to pay court fines by the instalment plan, just as persons do in England. "Thousands of people go to jail here because they are not able to pay their fines," he said in an address to the Toronto Board of Trade. "This shouldn't happen in a democratic country. We want a system similar to England's where fines can be paid by instalments."

To Be Director

WINDSOR, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Next Jan. 1 an Ottawa woman will take on the job of directing Windsor's unique YMCA-YWCA. The two organizations operate in the same building under joint direction. Olive Zeron, whose appointment as joint executive secretary becomes effective at the first of the New Year, was introduced at a dinenr meeting of the two organizations. Officials said they believed she will be the first woman to hold such a position.

Santa Claus Parade

BANCROFT, Nov. 27—(ENS)—Cecil Wiggins, president of Bancroft Lions Club, announced today that the annual Santa Claus parade would be held in Bancroft on Dec. 15. As usual there will be a monster parade, complete with music, floats, clowns and Santa himself, free movies and candies for the youngsters. In recent years this event has drawn a crowd of five or six thousand from the trading area within a 35-mile radius of the town.

CNIB Conference

TORONTO, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Ontario field secretaries of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind today opened their annual conference here. Blind themselves, the group is responsible for organizing and directing the help for Ontario's 5,500 blind people. The work of the conference is to play extension of existing services already available for the blind.

Caused Disturbance

Charged with causing a public disturbance, Raymond Lester, 21, of 336 Reid St., pleaded not guilty in police court Monday morning. He was remanded until today on $100 bail.

When court reconvened at 2:15 Lester had changed his mind. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days.

Fined For Intoxication

Harry Yeotes, 30, of 446 Gordon Ave., was convicted of being intoxicated in a public place by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Monday afternoon. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail.

Peel County Repeals Temperance Act

BRAMPTON, Nov. 27—(CP)—Peel county voted Monday to repeal the Canada Temperance Act.

Thus it comes under provisions of the Ontario Liquor Control Act.

Returns from 77 of the 84 polls were: For revocation of the Canada Temperance Act, 9,119; against, 6,553.

Officials said liquor stores and brewers' warehouses can be opened immediately in Toronto Township, Toronto Gore Township, Streetsville and Port Credit.

The rest of the county immediately to the west and northwest of Toronto is under local municipal option and another vote will be required before liquor outlets can be established elsewhere.

Under the Canada Temperance Act it is illegal to sell beer or liquor, to keep them for sale, or to transport them into the county for personal use. But the Act contains no provision for prohibiting drinking in public places or prosecuting for drunkenness.

The CTA came into force in Peel County early in 1915. An effort to have it evoked in 1947 was defeated by 557 votes.

Within a few months of the 1947 vote, the provincial government passed an amendment to the Liquor Control Act which made it inactive in areas—the counties of Peel, Perth, Huron and Manitoulin Island—where the older CTA applied.

Now only Huron and Perth remain under the CTA.

Postpone Proposal

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Completing examination of proposed amendments to the Dominion Elections Act a House committee today decided to postpone indefinitely a proposal to grant full voting privileges to Doukhobors. The committee also voted down a proposal to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years. The Elections Act amendments will shortly be debated in the House of Commons.

Red Mitchell's fast-stepping junior hockeyists from Lindsay clash with Johnny Godfrey's local Oddfellows here tomorrow night. An 8.30 OHA touch in Civic Arena, first meeting of these teams this season. Lindsay is icing another strong junior squad, having a hook-up with Ed Shore's AHL-ers and having a draw from the ex-Oshawa junior club. They'll extend the classy Triple Links plenty, as they did in some memorable melees last semester, but the IOOF crew beat 'em out then and figure they can again. Sure to be a dandy puck duel, and it should draw a hefty crowd.

* * * * * *

Scribe Carver said re penalties in the last senior "B" game in Belleville: "Vern Goyer drew a misconduct for pecking at Referee Reason in protest against Moher's sentence, and it looked a bit borderline at that. But the fact remains the gentleman in the white sweater is the boss, and there's nothing much a player can do about it." That's for sure, and we're always surprised when a player—even if burned up—loses his head and pushes or touches a ref after being penalized. He's just asking for a misconduct to be tacked on the original sentence. It's strictly stupidity on his part, and it hurts his team, too.

* * * * * *

Those Four Imports

Since announcing that Honey Tompkins' transfer to Eagles was turned down by the OHA on the grounds that he would have been a fifth import, various fans have asked us what four imports the Eagles have. They are Goalie Milne, Buck Legrow, George Brabin and Jim Wilson, though the latter has since been released to take a job in Toronto. But no replacement is allowed for him. Lally Lalonde also was released by Eagles to play hockey in Hull. Three other newcomers to the Eagles aren't rated as imports, since they didn't play hockey last winter. They are Moon Wootton and Russ Slater of Owen Sound, who came here to play lacrosse, and George Brydges. He hails from down Cornwall way, didn't play last season, and arrived here last summer and obtained work.

* * * * * *

Coach Ned Vitarelli of the Eagles tells us that he had planned to get back into puck play himself, provided the team had obtained Tompkins. The pair would have teamed up on defence. "I'm getting in shape," Ned said, "and I may play yet, though that's not sure at all. If I think I can help the defence, I'll take a turn out there again, but I realize I'm over the hill as a player. Tompkins could have helped us a lot as a defenceman and maybe he'll be out there yet." Both of these veterans are former star forwards who dropped back to defence as they slowed up a bit. Ned and Godfrey formed a starry defence duo for Legion several years ago when they won the provincial title.

Schedule Set Again

Frank Buckland of the OHA has redrafted the schedule for the senior "B" puckists of this group, and it's listed tonight, as far as local clubs go. Next game for Petes and Eagles is here Friday against each other. Each team plays host to each of the other clubs five times from the schedule's start Nov. 9 till the windup Feb. 29. Golly, that's leap year, isn't it? Playoffs then with winner in provincial playdowns. As mentioned yesterday, Queen's games were thrown out—as well as that protest—insofar as standings and summaries are concerned. Some of the puckists who fattened their batting averages against the lowly Queen's will have to start all over, and in stiffer competition.

* * * * * *

By yanking out a 9-7 win at home last eve o'er Eagles, Kingston climbed into a third-place tie with Petes, just two points back of the Eagles. And could climb higher tomorrow with a win in Belleville. They also served notice that they're no setups for any squad in the circuit, having come a long way fast in their revamping after losing a flock of smart hockeyists, who were banned with the Nylons. They're gradually adding some canny players, with what they had at the start of the season, and we suppose they now can have the pick of the defunct Queen's crew. Ned Vitarelli's pack are full of fight and are shaking down into a real contending club, so it should mean some stiff fights between these teams. With the Petes potent, too, and Belleville certainly no soft touch, fans will view many a hot senior "B" joust in the next couple of months. If injuries don't ruin some club's chances.

Kingston Edges the Eagles 9-7 In Senior "B" Tilt To Get Into Third-Place Tie

KINGSTON, Nov. 27.—Finishing strong here last year before a thousand fans in the Memorial Centre, Kingston SAC yanked out a 9-7 OHA senior "B" triumph over Peterborough Eagles in a fine puck fixture. After an even first period in which each side scored three goals, the Eagles flew for a 4-2 margin in the middle chapter to lead the game 7-5. But Kingston battled back to tally four without a return in the third, Peterborough penalties hurting, to tie it up and go on to win. Play was rugged but with not many penalties handed out. The win ties Kingston for third place with the Petes, a game back of the second-place Eagles.

Kingston drew first blood when Catlin got through to count from McGregor, but Eagles evened it within a minute as Greenlaw scored in close from Freddy Mortimer and Stewart. After McGregor put Kingston up, aided by Catlin and Larmer, Eagles went in front. Greenlaw, who went good, tallied again, Doug Mortimer and dependable Reg Stewart helping, and then Vitarelli notched a nice one from Hill and Fred Mortimer. However, McGregor sewed it up near the close from Catlin and Goodfellow in a fast rush. Both goalies pulled some fine saves in fast going.

Had An Edge

Eagles hit hard in the second, tallying two quickies, Hill from Vitarelli, and then Fred Mortimer, assisted on good combination by Stewart and Greenlaw. Kingston roared back for a pair, Murray from Aitken and Goodfellow, followed by Larmer from McGregor and Catlin. Eagles had enough left to take a two-goal lead later, Fred Mortimer — a star throughout—getting in with Stewart and Legrow to blink the light, and Hill swooshing in for a dandy from Vitarelli. This period was a little rougher, and still quite fast.

Kingston puckists tied the score early in the third with a hard, sustained drive. Larmer sparkled on a nifty with tricky Joe Catlin, and Aitken followed it up smartly on Murray's good pass. They fought furiously then up and down, with the winning goal going at 7.56 to Wagar on Bender's pass. With Eagles up the ice and battling bitterly to even the count again, Wagar clinched matters later on with a tally, aided by White. Teams:

Eagles: Goal, Milne; defence, Munroe and Montgomery; centre, Hill; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, D. Mortimer, Wooton, F. Mortimer, R. Stewart, Greenlaw, Parnall; Legrow and Brabin.

Kingston: Goal, Anderson; defence, Bender and S. Stewart; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; alternates, McGregor, Larmer, Wagar, Goodfellow, Watt, Catlin, White and Tinker.

Referee, L. Lecompte; linesman, A. Casterton.

Jubilant Ottawa Fans Greet Rough Riders With Ovation

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 (CP).—Jubilant Ottawa fans Monday greeted their victorious Roughriders with a tremendous ovation as the Grey Cup winners rode through town in triumph.

A six-inch snowfall lent color to the scene as the motorcade bearing the Riders moved through the main streets and Ottawa fans lined the sidelines four or five deep. Thousands of school children were given extra time off to witness the celebration.

At Confederation Square, where a special stand had been set up for presentation of the Cup, the crowd almost got out of hand until Mayor Charlotte Whitton made a personal appeal to Ottawans to behave themselves.

The Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, who was delayed by the bad driving weather, made a stalwart plunge behind the interference of four policemen to get to the stand at all.

When he finally made it, he presented the Grey Cup to Bill Stanton and Don Loney, co-captains of the Ottawa team, with brief remarks:

"I was there," he said, "and it certainly was a wonderful game.

"This," he added, passing the huge mug to the captains, "was a terrific thing to win."

Carry Coffin

The mile-long parade had included trucks carrying effigies of the hapless Regina players, and one carried a coffin to denote the downfall of the western champs.

After the presentation, the crowd took over. They screamed for Pete Karpuk, a hero of the game, and the little backfielder was raised shoulder high by his teammates. In succession, the other members of the team got the same treatment.

In the House of Commons two Liberal members broke the rules to extend congratulations to the Roughriders.

Jean Richard (L-Ottawa East) said he wished to congralulate the Roughriders on their victory.

He got no further when Speaker Ross Macdonald reminded him that the Commons had unanimously decided last year against permitting members to congratulate home teams on their victories.

Mr. Richard said his remarks were simply a preface to a question. He wanted to know if the government now would consider erecting a sports stadium in Ottawa, such as recommended by the Massey Commission on arts and science, where future Grey Cup games could be played.

"You have had your last one," interjected Bill Wylie (SC, Medicine Hat), a Regina supporter.

Works Minister Fournier said he hadn't given the matter of a sports stadium much thought. Then, amid shouts of order, he said he was elated when he heard that Ottawa had won the Grey Cup.

The question of a stadium would be brought to the attention of the cabinet.

"When a decision is reached, it will be announced," he said.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bill Fry, "father" of the first Canadian east-west intermediate football final, Monday announced at Toronto that the big game will be held Saturday in Hamilton's Civic Stadium instead of at Toronto.

Hamilton Panthers were originally scheduled to meet the west's St. Boniface-Norwood Legionnaires at suburban East York Stadium, but a last-minute request from Hamilton brought about the change.

Fans who bought tickets for the game at Toronto's East York Stadium can either get their money back or use the tickets in Hamilton.

Boston Bruins Monday night announced the loan of veteran wing Vic Lynn and option of rookie centre Ray Barry to make room for three youngsters up from their Hershey, Pa., American Hockey League farm club.

Lynn goes to Providence in the AHL, while Barry returns to Hershey. The new arrivals from Hershey are centre Dave Creighton, wing Jack McIntyre and defenceman Jim Morrison.

It became official Monday: Stanford versus Illinois in the 38th renewal of the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

Unbeaten Illinois, with only a scoreless tie with Ohio State to blemish its nine game season, was chosen in Chicago Monday by unanimous vote of big ten faculty representatives. Once - beaten Stanford, which bowed to California, 20-7, in the season final Saturday, was chosen by similar process later in the day by the coast conference.

At Chicago, the United States Professional Golfers' Association on Monday received a bid from the Canadian PGA for an international match between the top 10 stars of each country at Montreal in 1952. Patterned after the British-US Ryder Cup matches the event would be sponsored and financed by John J. Hopkins of New York and Montreal, president of an electric boat firm.

The PGA's executive committee took the offer under advisement.

At Toronto, Lee Grattan Bars, owned by Neil McLean of Port Elgin, Ont., and Miller Grattan, owned by B. Klaus of Kenmore, NY, divided fifth-race honors on Monday at the trots at Toronto's Dufferin Park.

In the first heat Miller Grattan won in a driving finish over the pacemaker, Lee Grattan Bars. In the final heat Lee Grattan Bars won handily over Amos Pointer. The latter finished second. Miller Grattan made a break in the middle and lost out completely in this heat.

Lady Bynger Of NY Rangers Edgar Laprade Trades Biffs As NHL Pokes On Upswing

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP). — Hockey's stock exchange has turned bullish—and even that former Lady Bynger, Edgar Laprade of New York Rangers, has got into the act.

Laprade, noted for his clean play in six seasons with the Rangers, turned Tiger the other night and engaged in his first fistic duel on the Madison Square Garden ice against 205-pound Gus Kyle of Boston Bruins.

Obviously Kyle, a former Ranger, never expected the gentle Fort William player to throw a punch because he had never witnessed such an event before. The right cross landed high on Kyle's cheek and snapped his head back.

"I do not care to be high-sticked," Laprade said. "I was provoked—not once, but twice. The first time I was in a face-off, and he came charging at me with his elbows. I never liked Kyle, even when he was a teammate."

Reminded that ensuing penalty might ruin his chances of regaining the Lady Byng Trophy, plus the $1,000 which goes with it, Laprade shrugged:

"Who can think about the Lady Byng Trophy where there is a stick in your face?"

Laprade took issue with Sid Abel, Detroit Red Wing's captain, who had observed recently that big-league hockey was becoming tame.

Less Boarding

"It is as rough as ever," Laprade said, "except that there is less checking into the boards. Who wants that?"

Since Abel raised his complaint Montreal's Maurice Richard flattened Toronto's Bill Juzda with one punch. And there have been other four-star scraps in every other National Hockey League game. The players have taken to rating the fighters.

In the top bracket are Harry Watson and Fernie Flaman of Toronto, Jack Stewart of Chicago, Jack Evans of New York, Gordie Howe of Detroit and Richard. In the lighter class are such tigers as Bill Ezinicki of Boston and Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

Lindsay himself doesn't think Richard belongs.

"He hasn't picked on my man (Gordie Howe) in four years," says terrible Ted. "Or ever since Gordie did a paint job on his face."

Two Young Skaters Avert Derailment

CORMACK, Nov. 27 —(CP)— Two young boys skating on a pond near a trestle averted possible derailment of a transcontinental CPR passenger train Saturday.

Cormack is about 140 miles west of Sudbury.

Lawrence Gionette, 13, and Kari Koiste, 11, spotted a six-inch break in one of the rails after a freight train passed.

One rail was twisted by the freight's wheels and spikes were torn up, loosening a piece of track.

The boys knew a passenger train was due, and raced to a nearby station. Officials flagged down the train until repairs were made.

JACK DEMPSEY, above, will referee tonight's main event at the Brock between Zorra and Lou Newman. There will be plenty of action in this match, especially with Dempsey as the third man in the ring. The semi-final brings together the new Negro sensation, Bobo Brazil against Stan Mayslack. The opener pits Sonny Kurgis against Mike Padousis. A record crowd is anticipated.

Next week's schedule: St. George's 12 vs. Legion 11; Glens 1 vs. Legion 2; SOE 5 vs. Legion 8; Fire Hall 13 vs. Fire Hall 15; Red Patch 10 vs. Moose 9; LOL 14 vs. Orphans 16; Legion 6 vs. Quakers 7; Legion 4 vs. 2nd Armour 3.

Last week's results: Legion 11 lost 8-9 to Legion 8 but won the second 13-9. SOE won the first 12-5 but dropped the second to St. George's 12 by an 18-3 score. Moose 9 lost to LOL 14 by 7-12 and 6-10. The 2nd Armour beat Orphans 16 by 12-4 with Orphans taking the next one 14-8. Fire Hall 13 split with Legion 4, winning 12-8 and 8-11. Legion 2 are threatening for first place after two wins over Quakers 7. Glens 1 got two wins from Legion 6 by 15-5 and 10-9. Fire Hall 15 divided with Red Patch 10 by 6-20 and 18-7, the first loss for Fire Hall this season.

Two late cards show Legion 6 winning two from 2nd Armour 13-5 and 15-6. Legion 4 split with Quakers 7, losing 7-15 and winning 10-9. Legion 6 defaulted to Legion 11. The delayed game between Orphans 6 and St. George's 12 saw the latter win 16-3 and 18-8. All games have been caught up but Legion 6 vs. Red Patch 10 and it was slated for last Saturday. Skips and vices are to see that names of players are on cards for each game. Not many days left to sell draw tickets.

Chevrefils, Stoddard Tied For AHL Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP). — Rookie Real Chevrefils of Hershey and veteran Jack Stoddard of Providence are tied for the lead in the American Hockey League's scoring race today.

Chevrefils, the leader a week ago, has scord 13 goals and 14 assists for 27 points. Stoddard has 11 goals and 16 assists. Chevrefils also is tied with Cleveland's Steve Wochy for the lead in goal-getting.

Buddy O'Connor of Cincinnati is the league's top playmaker with 19 assists.

Goalie Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh is the loop's leading net-minder. Mayer has allowed 40 goals in 19 games for a 2.11 average. Emil Francis of Cincinnati has posted the most shutouts—two. Defenceman Pete Durham of Indianapolis is the league's most-penalized player with 77 minutes in the coop.

Richard, Lach Top Scorers But Canadiens In 3rd Place

MONTREAL, Nov. 27. (CP)—Two Montreal Canadiens remain close as book pages atop the National Hockey League's individual scoring list, but the script tells a different story for the team. Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach have completed more than a month in a first-place deadlock and continue to lead in the sniping and assists divisions, respectively.

The Habitants, however, are not doing so well, precariously dangling in third position.

Richard and Lach picked up two goals and two assists apiece last week to bring their total to 20 points. Richard has scored the highest number of goals—13. His closest rival for that honor is Detroit's Gordie Howe with 10.

Greatest Helper

Lach remains Richard's greatest helper, having set up the most plays in the league this season. His 16 assists are six better than the total of Sid Abel, veteran Detroit Red Wings captain.

Detroit holds a comfortable five-point lead over Toronto Maple Leafs in the team standings. The motor city squad won 12 games, lost three and tied five for a total of 29 points.

Toronto's Al Rollins leads the goal-tenders. In 20 games he has allowed 32 pucks past him for a 1.60 goals-against average Close behind him is Detroit's Terry Sawchuk with a 1.85 average. Sawchuk has scored more shutouts than any other netminder—four.

Boston's Gus Kyle and New York's Jack Evans are the most penalized players with 43 minutes called against them. Montreal's 215 minutes in penalties are 26 higher than Toronto's total, while Rangers play the most gentlemanly, having lost only 153 minutes for infractions.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The late Eddie Gerard, formerly a noted Ottawa hockey star, accepted terms 27 years ago today to become the first coach of the newly - formed Montreal Maroons entry in the National Hockey League. The Maroons retired from the league in 1938, having won the Stanley Cup in 1926 and 1935.

US-Canada Golf Series Suggested

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP).—An international golf series between the United States and Canada is being discussed at the annual convention of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The rivalry, patterned after the British-US Ryder Cup matches but on a four-ball basis rather than a two-ball Scotch foursome, was proposed Monday by John J. Hopkins of New York and Montreal.

His offer was presented by Ken Murray, Canadian PGA president.

Hopkins is an honorary director of the Canadian PGA. He is president of Electric Boat Company which recently was awarded a government contract to build an atomic submarine.

Hopkins offered to give each member of the two teams $500 for each annual match and provide transportation to the site of the tournament. He offered to underwrite these costs for three consecutive years.

Each team would be made up of 10 players. Hopkins said that Canada would reserve the right to draft players from anywhere in the British Empire.

The purpose of the series, Hopkins said, would be to further "good fellowship, better understanding and high level sporting relationships between Canada and the United States."

Man Incapable Of Making Will

KICTHENER, Nov. 27—(CP)—Psychiatrist Dr. A. L. Mackinnon Monday told a court that the late Alexander Bauman was not capable of making a will.

Dr. Mackinnon, on the staff of Guelph's Homewood Sanatorium, said the 80-year-old father of Waterloo Mayor Vernon Bauman was suffering from hardening of the arteries which in turn produced a condition of mental confusion. He died last April.

Two of Bauman's sons and a daughter are contesting the will which left all of his possessions, worth between $8,000 and $4,000, to another daughter, Mrs. Helen Taylor. The contestants are Mayor Bauman, his brother, Wilfred, and their sister, Mrs. Laura Snider.

The three allege undue influence and fraud in seeking to nullify the will, while they also claim Mrs. Taylor received $7,500 from her father after he went to live with her last January.

Mrs. Taylor in turn says her brothers and sister received their share of the estate before her father died in April. His will was dated Jan. 16.

Man Seeks Work To Pay Off Swindle

COBOURG, Nov. 7—(ENS)—Robert Underwood, up for sentence on a charge of obtaining $450 by false pretenses from Arthur Nash was further remanded. Efforts are being made to see if he can obtain employment in order to repay Nash. Underwood came over from England last April.

Gerald Newton of Peterborough was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol.

Newton ran into a car driven by William Jackson of Cobourg, right in front of the police office on the night of November 11. Constable E. Butler testified that Newton was under the impression he was in Lindsay instead of Coborough when police asked him routine questions to determine to what extent he was under the influence of liquor.

Demand Investigation

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Three of Ontario's big cities — Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton— will join in a demand that the Ontario government investigate the milk industry in the province including the province's own Milk Board. The demand arises out of the board's decision to boost the ceiling on a quart of milk in the province from 19 cents to 22 cents, effective Dec. 1.

Search Ruins For Body

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 27—(CP)—Search for the body of Fergus James Ferguson, 73-year-old resident of the Hotel Talbot, unreported since fire destroyed the hotel block in a $300,000 Sunday morning blaze, will start this morning. Inspector Ray J. Simmons, of the Ontario Fire Marshall's Department, Toronto, arrived in St. Thomas Monday night and immediately opened an investigation.

Cancer Research Grant

MONTREAL, Nov. 27—(CP)—McGill University today received a grant of $10,000 from the Damon Runyon Fund for Cancer Research. The money will be used in the university's department of experimental research, headed by Dr. D. R. Webster.

Defer Action

OTTAWA, Nov. 27—(CP)—The CBC board of governors announced Monday that, at the request of the applicant, it has deferred action on an application for transfer of control in station CKLB at Oshawa to A. J. Dixon from A. H. Collins. The deferment was made at a meeting last week.

Immigrants Held Up

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Shortage of shipping is still a bottleneck in the movement of immigrants to Canada, the Immigration Branch said Monday in a partliamentary return. The shortage is holding back immigrants from Britain and from all European countries in varying degrees except the Mediterranean countries.

Controversy Flares Anew Over Claxton Speech Announcing 4 New Airfields

OTTAWA, Nov. 27. (CP)—The controversy over Canadian financing of four or five airfields in Europe, as announced at Rotterdam last week by Defence Minister Claxton, came up in the Commons again Monday. Prime Minister St. Laurent quoted in full an explanatory story issued by The Canadian Press at Toronto. It said the figure of $100,000,000, at first attributed to Mr. Claxton as the cost of the fields, was an estimate made by its overseas correspondent, Douglas How.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who originally brought the matter up last Wednesday, said the figure was incidental. The report stood except for the figure and the fact remained Canada was to foot the bill for airfields—and for barracks which had not been mentioned by the Prime Minister.

His original question of privilege—whether parliament was to get such policy announcements first hand or in press dispatches from abroad—had not been adequately dealt with by the Prime Minister.

Mr. St. Laurent, after quoting The Canadian Press story, said perhaps the lesson that could be learned from it was the statements even by ministers of the crown might be regarded as being as accurate as the expanded or backgrounded reports published by news agencies.

Reasonable Explanation

Mr. Drew said the way The Canadian Press had explained the $100,000,000 attribution, considering the way press dispatches are compiled and considering the way in which the government makes information available to the press, would be considered a "perfectly reasonable explanation."

The cost of the airfields was incidental. The fact remained Canada was going to foot the bill. Previous to the airfields announcements at Rotterdam, Mr. Claxton had announced at The Hague that Canada was going to build barracks near Soest, Germany, at a cost of $5,000,000 or $10,000,000.

Reports from Germany said Canadian troops now there already had "luxury" barracks built by the Nazis. Surely these barracks could be put to no better use than to house Canadian troops.

No one was questioning Canada's fulfillment of her North Atlantic Treaty obligations. But there were questions which should be discussed by the House such as whether it not be better to have some of the European powers build barracks while Canada provided arms.

Denied Policy

The Prime Minister had told the House last week regarding the airfields that "no such policy has been decided on by the government."

Mr. St. Laurent replied that he was letting the matter stand on the record. As for the barracks these were to be built by Germans and that was no announcement of Canadian government policy.

It was not the policy of the Canadian government to announce what was to be done by the Germans. It was the policy of the government to say what Canada was going to do and that had been done.

Mr. Drew asked if that were the case, then was Mr. Claxton "speaking for the Germans" when he made the announcement about the barracks.

The Prime Minister replied that the leader of the opposition could "background" the matter any way he wanted "and I hope he is no less successful than The Canadian Press."

Later, in the throne-speech debate L. Philippe Picard (L-Bellechasse) said he is one of those who believes government statements of policy should be announced in parliament and not "outside of this country."

"I think," he said, "that sooner or later, and the sooner the better, we should have a statement from the Minister of National Defence on the general defence policies of the country, not something piecemeal or a statement made outside of the country."

Film On Making Of Pottery Shown To Rotary

A film on the pottery industry took the place of a speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon meeting Monday.

A short resume of the history of this industry was given by Rotarian Harold Deeth as an introduction to the film. He explained that pottery manufacture had started when cavemen decided that they wanted dishes to eat on. From then its manufacture had developed with civilization.

Rotarian Rob Roy operated the projector for the showing.

Dr. R. A. Kelly thanked Mr. Deeth for making the film showing possible.

The following Rotarian visitors and guests were introduced by Tom Lillico: Bill Morrison, Belleville; Newt Ashton, Napanee; Oliver Dalrymple, Stirling; Gill Windsor, Haliburton; H. R. Currie, Haliburton; M. Currie, Montreal; Ross McNaughton, Montreal; Harry Quarmby, Guelph; the Rev. A. A. Mathews, Peterborough.

Blamed In Death

HULL, Que., Nov. 27—(CP)—A coroner's jury Monday night found Rheal Bertrand, 37, of Ottawa, "criminally responsible" for the Nov. 10 death of his 55-year-old wife. Police immediately announced he will be charged with murder. Mrs. Bertrand was burned to death in a cabin which Bertrand, a laundry worker who practiced psychology at night, rented for a hunting trip near the village of Lake Ste. Marie, Que., 70 miles north of here.

WHERE SIX DIED— Two airmen guard the twisted wreckage of an RCAF aircraft in which six died in a crash on fog-shrouded Mount Bruno 25 miles southeast of Montreal on Friday. One man survived the crash. The aircraft plowed headlong into the heavily-wooded mountain 13 minutes after takeoff from nearby St. Hubert air base.

Cobourg Mayor Back In Office

COBOURG, Nov. 27—(ENS)—Eleven are in the race for town council. The offices of mayor, reeve and deputy-reeve were filled by acclamation.

Re-elected mayor by acclamation is John D. Burnett. George Galbraith was acclaimed reeve, moving up to that position from deputy-reeve. John Erskine, who was in the 1951 council, was elected deputy reeve.

Running for council are Tom Guthrie, Douglas Glenn, Otto Curtis, Harold Richardson, Ernest Cooper, Charles Johnston, Howard Sauve and Cedric Smith. Six are to be elected. Three are running for public utilities commissioner, Robert Love, Maurice Booth and Don Markle. Elected to public school board by acclamation were Mrs. Kathleen Spooner, east ward; Harvey Brent, centre ward and Hubert Cooey, west ward.

Not Operating Radio Man Fined Anyway

COBOURG, Nov. 27—(ENS)—"It was in the hospital and my wife was away visiting Scotland and we forgot about getting the radio license. I tried once to get one at the post office but they were out of stock," said John Grieve in protesting a charge of operating his radio without a license.

"Anyway, I wasn't operating it. I had the wires disconnected and the inspector never tried the radio to see if it would work," said Grieve.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter pointed out that the Act also read that a license was required to possess a radio and imposed a fine of $3 and costs.

Fair Board To Consider Market Shift

May Move Market From Open Air To Exhibition Building

Directors of Peterborough Exhibition will discuss tonight a proposal to transfer the farm produce market from the windy, open air block on George St. to Morrow Park.

President Norman McConkey, Don Milburn, John Kitney and G. A. Gillespie of the Exhibition Board, discussed market accommodation with Mayor Swanston and some of the members of the council Monday afternoon.

"The first thing I have to do," Mr. Gillespie said today, "is to report this proposed move to Morrow Park Trust. I think we will get their assent, as the market is in the interest of agriculture, and that was the main purpose in the deed of the Park."

Want Shelter

Market vendors have been specially interested in obtaining some sheltered place for the Christmas time Saturdays. The first suggestion was a move to the board of works garage on Townsend St. Difficulties of heating and renovating the floor arose in that consideration, and conversations turned to Morrow Park.

Mr. Gillespie said that problems to make the main building at the Exhibition grounds suitable were heating and toilet accommodation. Sewer connection can be readily put in at the southwest corner of the old drill hall of the war years.

It appears to be recognized that if this switch is accomplished the occupation will extend beyond the Christmas season through the winter, and will be of indefinite duration.

The present steps sequent to the Monday discussions at city hall are the interview today with Morrow Trust, and a report to the directors of the Exhibition tonight.

Thief Robbing Milk Bottles

An early-morning thief is at work in the north-west corner of the city, stealing money from milk bottles before milkmen make their rounds.

Several west end residents have reported as much as $2.50 being stolen from a milk bottle left outside overnight, during the last week.

Today, Police Chief John Thompson warned against leaving such large amounts in milk bottles until after the thefts are solved and the culprit is arrested.

Monday, two pounds of butter were reported stolen after they had been left on a verandah.

Police investigating the milk bottle thefts believe the thief took advantage of Monday morning's snowfall. Faint tracks were found leading to and from the homes where money had been taken but the snowstorm had filled them in and it was not possible to tell whether they were those of a man or a boy.

CHARLES LAMB

Charles Lamb Elected Lindsay Mayor

LINDSAY, Nov. 27 —Charles Lamb will serve his 10th term as mayor of Lindsay in 1952. Mayor Lamb was elected by acclamation at the municipal nominations held in Lindsay town hall Monday night.

The present mayor was elected to office in 1942. He has served in this office every yeag since with the exeception of 1949 when he was defeated at the polls by Col. R. I. Moore.

The offices of reeve and deputy-reeve were also filled by acclamation. Richard Butler was elected by acclamation to serve his sixth term as reeve. He has also served seven years as a councillor and one year as deputy-reeve.

A. E. Hick was also elected by acclamation to serve his first term as deputy-reeve. Mr. Hick has served on the council for six years.

19 Nominations

There were 19 nominations for the six council seats. The 1951 councillors were all nominated. They are Frank Spear, H. J. Williamson, Vincent Coty, John L. Baker; Lloyd Furrows, and Harry Pierce. The remaining men nominated are: C. E. Ferguson, Dan McQuarrie, George Pollock, Clayton Grills, William Hussey, Alex McKessock, James McQuarrie, L. A. Wainman, Lloyd Davis, William Jardine, Al Gardner, William Stevens and Patrick Garvey.

Early today Lindsay town hall officials reported that only three nominees had qualiffed. They are H. J. Williamson, C. E. Ferguson and John L. Baker.

The three members nominated for the public school board are all expected to get in by acclamation. Donald McQuarrie was elected by acclamation for the south ward and Walter Peel by acclamation for the north ward.

Two men were nominated for the east ward — Edgar Patterson and Reginald Vickery, but Mr. Vickery is not exepected to run.

Maurice Collins was elected by acclamation for the water board and A. T. Claxton and J. G. Baldwin by acclamation for the hydro board.

Local Scots Celebrate St. Andrew's Day

Peterborough's Scots will celebrate St. Andrew's Day Saturday, Dec. 1, in the Legion Hall with a buffet supper and dance.

The program will be opened by Peterborough Pipe Band playing "My Home," and also at the intermission with medleys of pipe music. The grand march will take place at 9 o'clock with a seven-piece orchestra providing the music of "Bonnie Dundee." The executive has arranged many door prizes for this occasion of honoring Scotland's patron saint.

Spent $6,000 Twp. Roads County Claim

Committee Denies Statement Of Reeve W. Griffith

The county roads committee claim that this year $6,000 was spent on construction and maintenance in Belmont - Methuen township. Overhead costs boost the total to $7,400, they claim.

The committee's statement was in reply to Reeve W. E. Griffith, Belmont-Methuen, who said the township paid $3,211 into the county roads system but got back only $1,000 worth of work on the Cordova road.

Mr. Griffith made this charge Friday afternoon at the Belmont-Methuen nomination meeting. He said that the township was not getting its fair share of work done.

Better Off

"I contend we would be better off out of the county roads system," he said. "It's certainly worth looking into."

He was supported on this by Ross Barrons, former reeve of the township.

Ross Barrons, a former reeve, said that if the township put $3,211 into the system and received only $1,000 in work done, he would back Mr. Griffith 100 per cent in any move to withdraw from the system.

But the county roads committee described Mr. Griffith's figures as misleading.

Here are their figures for county road purposes, as compiled by Jack Kean, county engineer and road superintendent:

Maintenance $4,300 — including wages, of workmen—sanding of the 13-mile road, snow clearing $300, weed cutting $130, grading with motor grader $1,300, dust-laying with calcium chloride $1,300, and gravel patching during the spring breakup $850.

Construction $1,700 — cutting down hills and filling in hollows and work on a half-mile section of the road, just west of the village of Cordova.

$1,400 Overhead

Overhead $1,400 — Belmont-Methuen share of maintaining the new county garage heating system (a new oil burner furnace and insulation for garage costing $3,600); share of county engineer's and secretary's salaries; and other administrative items such as unemployment insurance office supplies.

Mr. Kean said that the $7,400 spent in Belmont-Methuen for county purposes was a conservative figure. He conceded that if the township did the work itself its overhead costs would be less than the county, but he estimated it would have to raise another $4,500 at least on the road levy.

3 City Accidents Damage Slight

Three accidents on city streets Monday resulted in only minor damage to the vehicles involved. There were no injuries.

As he was about to turn north on George St., from Lansdowne St., Gordon Bales, Ontario St., Havelock, slid into a car driven by Rodger Shadgett, 473 King St., who was going south on George St., and was just starting to turn left on to Lansdowne St.

Constable Ed. Patterson investigated and reported the left front fender of Bales' car was damaged and the left rear fender and bumper of the Shadgett car were also damaged.

A car driven by William G. Phillips, 372 Mark St., wound up on a lawn at 335 Reid St., at 11 o'clock Monday morning, after skidding into the rear of a car driven by Thomas Ashby, 300 Dalhousie St.

Ashby was driving south on Reid St., and pulled to the right side of the street and stopped behind a parked truck to allow northbound traffic to pass.

Phillips told Constable William A. Scott who investigated that he saw the Ashby car stop in front of him and applied his brakes but slid on the hard packed snow, and struck the right rear fender of Ashby's car. The left front fender of Phillips' car was also damaged.

Frightened Horse

A frightened bread wagon horse, backed into a car at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets Monday afternoon, damaging the fender and headlight of a car driven by John Franks, 762 Water St.

Albert Rowley, 617 Union St., was driving the horse west on Hunter St., and had just started to turn left to go south on Aylmer St., when the horse became frightened at oncoming traffic and backed into the car which had stopped behind the wagon. Constable William A. Scott investigated.

Reeve, Council Returned By Acclamation No Vote In North Monaghan

There will be no election this year in North Monaghan township. Reeve Willard G. Waterman and the 1951 council and school boards were all returned by acclamation Monday night at the nomination meeting held in the county council chambers. It is the first time in the seven years he has been in municipal office that Mr. Waterman has not had to fight an election.

He is now beginning his second year as reeve of North Monaghan after defeating Melville Johnston at the polls in 1951. He ended the 12-year reign of Mr. Johnston.

In 1948 he was defeated in his bid for the reeveship and before that he was a township councillor and deputy reeve.

The four 1951 councillors were also returned for another year. Three of them are veterans: Archibald Patterson, Walter Brown and Lloyd Whittington. Fred Stenson was elected to council for the first time last year.

Similarly, there will be no changes on the two high school area boards:

School Area No. 1 (two vacancies): Charles Ross and Eric Johnston.

Not up for election till next year: Eric Horton, Herbert Hewitt and Elwood Thompson.

School Area No. 2 (two vacancies): Henry Batten and George Whitfield.

Not up for election till next year: Courtland Lillico, Clarence Laing and Elwood Johnston.

Fire Protection

Fire protection and prospects of building a school to accommodate children living in school area No. 1 were both discussed.

Mr. Waterman told the 25 electors who turned out for the meeting that up until last year there had been "a very good arrangement" with the city fire department. The township paid so much for each fire that the city equipment went to, but this arrangement ended at the beginning of 1951.

"Right now council is at a loss," said Mr. Wightman. "We don't know what to do. We have a small municipality and not a large assessment. It's up to the ratepayers to decide.

Councillor Fred Stenson gave some statistics on Smith township's experience in looking after their own fire protection.

Smith's pumper, in the suburban area of the township, cost $11,857 on which the government gave a subsidy of 10 per cent the first year and 25 per cent the next. This left a balance of $7,700 to be paid off by 10-year debentures.

Firemen get 75 cents an hour for practices and $1 an hour when actually fighting fires. Salaries this year will run to nearly $700 with another $200 for the chief who is in charge of the equipment.

On top of these expenditures there is $229 fire insurance, $70 workmen's compensation and $1,000 for storing the pumper and equipment in a garage.

Seven Mills

All this is on an assessment of $278,600 in that area, said Mr. Stenson. About seven mills will be required to look after the cost, including the payment on debentures.

Mr. Stenson said he thought all the city equipment couldn't put out a barn fire but it could save a house, and because of that the township should have some more adequate fire protection.

The government will not subsidize a municipality that has fire equipment for homes but neglects barns and other property, he said.

Mr. Waterman predicted a two-mill increase in the county road rate next year. This was caused by unforseen expenditures this year: higher wages to county employees, expensive repair bills for the crusher and two four-wheeled trucks.

To meet this a supplementary money bylaw for $20,000 was approved at the last meeting of county council.

Apart from some badly-needed work on Sherbrooke St. there was no money spent on construction in North Monaghan this year, said Mr. Waterman. He found the amount of gravel put on the roads by the county as "disappointing" but he hoped for more in 1952.

North Monaghan had put some 3,200 yards of gravel on its roads. Council had intended to do some construction work on Alexandra Ave., but were held back by lack of co-operation from a resident, said Mr. Waterman.

Clean Roadsides

The reeve also said that some of the brush must be cleaned out on township roads, as well as some cordwood. This would make the roads easier to snowplow in winter.

"Out of every tax dollar collected in the township we are paying 47 cents for the school levy," said Mr. Waterman. "Twenty-five cents is for public schools and 22 cents for high schools."

In city schools during the last seven years the percentage of the total tax rate required for public schools has dropped from 26.4 per cent to 21.9 per cent.

"Are we being penalized in rural areas so far as grants are concerned?" asked Mr. Waterman.

George Whitfield said there are now 62 pupils attending the two schools in School Area No. 2. The buildings are in good condition, have been recently decorated and wired for electricity, and both are insulated.

During the year no money was borrowed, the levy was six mills, and the board is budgeting for a surplus.

Send To City

Ernest Horton, chairman of School Area No. 1, said that the best arrangement for that area was not to build a new school but continue sending pupils to the city. Provision for this was made at the time the city annexed sections of North Monaghan.

After the 1948 annexation there were only 40 children in the area but the number has now increased to 129—101 grade school pupils and 20 kindergarten pupils.

Cost per day for each pupil has risen from 55 cents in 1950 to 73 cents in 1951, said Mr. Horton. The jump was sharp he said, but on the other hand the Board of Education had not charged what they could have done in 1950.

If the board already owned their own building the cost per day might be lower, said Mr. Horton, but if they build one now the cost will probably be higher. It would require at least $100,000 to build a school, he estimated.

Bruce Johnston, township clerk, said the tax roll for 1951 had increased from $24,677 to $30,034. About $3,000 of this was from additional assessment and business assessment.

Defence School Begins 14-Night Course

The executive of the Peterborough Organization for Civil Defence will attend this evening the civil defence school, a 14-night course conducted at Central School. The general topic for the next three nights will be on civil defence organization.

The school, which is held every Tuesday evening, is under the direction of Dr. Harold Worton, Department of Health, and Murray Metcalfe, assistant city engineer.

Organization

Tonight Dr. Worton will lecture on organization, civil defence service and headquarters service, followed by Mr. Metcalfe speaking on natural disaster and the rule of army. Films of the Winnipeg flood will be shown.

Many Services

Next Tuesday's course will include talks on the wardens, fire, police, health and medical services, and a film, "V for Volunteers."

On December 11 the three courses on organization included in the 14-night general course will finish with discussions on ambulance, utilities, engineers, welfare service and high explosive missiles. The film that night will be "A Voice Will Be Heard," on the Syracuse, New York, civil defence in action.

3 Harvey Men Run For Reeve

BUCKHORN, Nov. 27—(ENS)—A three-way fight for the position of reeve resulted from Harvey township nomination meeting in Buckhorn Monday.

Reeve Charles Flynn, 1951 reeve, is facing challenges from J. G. Elliott and Thomas Gordon. All three men have qualified.

Seats on the township council were filled by acclamation when two men withdrew their names.

Nominated were Charles Johnson, Ken Junkin, Ken Hunt, Gordon Hunt, Thomas Gordon and James Irwin.

Thomas Gordon withdrew to run for reeve and Gordon Hunt withdrew his name. Gordon Hunt is a cousin of Ken Hunt.

The election, which will choose the reeve, will be held Monday, Dec. 3, in the township's four polling centres.

Peterborough Lock Shifts To Short Week, Fourth Industry Affected

Lack of Sales Throughout Lock Industry Says General Manager, "Things Are Tough" In 3 Other City Plants

A fourth Peterborough company has been forced to reduce its work week and another is on the verge as a decline in retail sales has slowed production, in some places practically to a standstill. Robert Maybee, vice-president and general manager of the Peterborough Lock Co. Ltd., announced today that the factory is working a four-day week, beginning this week. The factory will be shut down each Monday. Only two departments, the polishing and the brass foundry workers, were working besides a few other employees on special jobs.

More than 135 workers have been affected by the short week while in the past six weeks there has been a gradual layoff of 25 employees.

Mr. Maybee explained that the lack of sales "which is general in the industry, not the Peterborough Lock Company alone," has caused the one-day shutdown.

May Improve

"We haven't determined how long it will last but we hope for an upcome sometime in the spring," he answered when asked how long the short time work would last.

Mr. Maybee explained that the decision for a four-day week or further layoffs was made in favor of the short week to spread the work across the board.

"It's the fair way to handle this, otherwise some might be hurt."

The Peterborough Lock slowdown comes two weeks after the CGE announced that a decline in sales had forced a layoff of employees in one department, some in other departments and shifting employees from a slack department to a busier one.

No Change

J. E. Girven, works manager, said today that there is "no change from a week or so ago." The gradual shifting of employees, to provide work without laying off workers, is still continuing. These changes are made according to seniority.

"There will be some people moved off certain jobs in the coming week," said Mr. Girven.

In the past few months the CGE has seen a gradual decline in the sale of refrigerators, washing machines, electric ironers and other home appliances operated by motors. This has affected the small motor divisions of the company.

David Leether, manager of the Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Company, the first to feel the change in buying on the retail market, said today that a few employees were laid off on the weekend.

"If things don't improve, we'll have to tighten up further," he said.

Pretty Flat

Except for several small orders, conditions at the carpet company were described as "pretty flat" by the mill manager.

John H. Vernor, executive vice-president and general manager of the Western Clock Company, said that conditions there are "just about the same" as two months ago.

More than three months ago the employees began to work short weeks when the decline in sales of certain makes of clocks was felt. The slow period, the second since the depression of the 1930's for the Peterborough branch, is still continuing without any indication when it will end.

The Dominion Woollens and Worsteds is reported by manager C. B. Merrett, having "difficulty working the first shift, 7 am until 5 pm at full time."

He explained that "it's touch and go" as far as work on the first shift is concerned while the other shifts have been reduced.

"We're still on a five-day week but things are tough."

Women's Group "At Home" To Candidates

The members of the Women's Study Group on Civic Affairs will be "at home" this evening to the candidates for city council, Board of Education and Utilities Commission.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning, who will be chairman, said this morning that this meeting at the city hall "will provide opportunity for us all to know something about those who expect us to vote for them."

Help New Residents.

It should be a help to new residents, particularly those who are civic minded, and even people who have been longer here may wish to see the candidates and to hear them speak.

"We believe that all the candidates are coming tonight," Mrs. Fanning said. "It is a friendly occasion. We are calling on Mayor Swanston and Dr. Ralph Honey as chairman of the Board of Education, and we shall ask Mayor-elect Waddell to speak to us."

"This is a public meeting for men and women, and we are hoping to have no empty seats at 8 o'clock."

Cassius W. Beal Dies In Toronto

Brother of Henry L. Beal, 317 Frederick Ave., Cassius Woodhouse Beal, 22 Selby St., Toronto, died Sunday at the Toronto General Hospital. He was 84.

A former resident of Peterborough, Mr. Beal comes from an old Peterborough family. He was a manufacturer's agent.

Besides his brother surviving is his wife, the former Violet Devitt.

The body is resting at the A. W. Miles funeral chapel, 30 St. Clair Ave., West, for service today at 8 pm. Burial will be in Hespeler, Ontario, on Wednesday afternoon.

Grant and Mrs. Bert Cowan.

Sorority News

XI IOTA CHAPTER

XI Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Gray, Port Hope Highway. President Mrs. Donald Anderson presided for the business session.

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, was the guest speaker and gave a very enlightening and informative talk concerning the work of her organization. She stated she had found in her experience in this vocation that the quality essential in a home where the most important job of all is that of raising children is "unconditional love." Maturity and adulthood lacking the ability to cope with life's problems presented, she thought, the majority of domestic differences.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. M. Caccavalla.

Following a most interesting discussion in which Miss Young answered questions, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

ALPHA THETA CHAPTER

The regular meeting of Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was conducted by president Mrs. E. McWilliam in the YWCA Green Room Monday evening.

Final plans for the Bib 'N' Tucker Ball on Friday evening, December 7th, at the Empress Hotel were made. Mrs. J. Taylor is convening a buffet supper to be served at the dance.

It was arranged to have Albert Marson, talented Negro tenor, as featured artist at a cultural concert in February. Mrs. Iris Sorensen will be assisted by a convener from the XI Iota Chapter in this joint presentation.

Assignment for this meeting was "Happiness through control of self and environment" and was prepared by Marion Knowles. She specifically pointed out "awareness of blessings" and named small things of everyday life that bring happiness. Interesting discussion on this topic was led by director Mrs. K. Strasser.

Miss Doreen Gliders and Mrs. J. Taylor were hostesses for refreshments after the meeting.

Irene Hutchinson Bride Of Lewis J. Staples

In the parsonage of Bethany United Church on Saturday the Rev. James Hampson solemnized the marriage of Irene Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weston Hutchinson, to Lewis John Staples, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Staples, all of Bethany.

The bride chose a gown of pale blue faille with lace insets and wore a navy hat and accessories, with a corsage of red roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Doris Sinclair, wore pink crepe with black hat and accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Joseph Staples was his brother's groomsman.

A reception was held for about 50 guests at the bride's home. Mrs. Hutchinson received wearing a gown of navy faille with black hat and accessories and a corsage of pink roses and baby 'mums. The groom's mother was wearing a green crepe dress with matching accessories and corsage of yellow roses. Guests from a distance were from Aurora, Oshawa, Long Branch, Reaboro, Millbrook and Toronto.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip through Western Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a navy crepe dress and coat with matching accessories.

They will live on the groom's farm, north of Bethany.

O'Brien-Crough

A profusion of pink and white 'mums decorating the Immaculate Conception Church on Saturday was the setting for the wedding of Thelma Yvonne Crough and Vincent Anthony O'Brien. The Rev. Joseph Sullivan performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

The bride is daughter of Mrs. Clarence Crough, RR 7, Peterborough, and the late Mr. Crough. She was given in marriage by her brother, Fergus Crough, and attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Crough.

Her gown was of white bridal satin fashioned on princess lines with a slight train, and sleeves ending in points over the hands. Silk illusion veiling fell to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls and brilliants and she carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid's frock was of royal blue silk velvet made on classic lines with bouffant skirt and the fitted bodice with a set-in front of pleated velvet. She wore a matching velvet coronet and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Brien, RR 9, Peterborough, was attended by his brother, Frank O'Brien.

Following a wedding dinner served at the bride's home the couple left for Toronto and points west. For travelling the bride wore a black suit with wine accessories and a wine topcoat.

They will live at RR 9, Peterborough.

Peterborough Chinese Sent

A neighbor stopped to chat one day recently for a few moments and in a matter of hours had to appear before the Communist authorities for questioning as a suspect. This woman's only crime is that she had a little money in the bank and a little property. Prior to the new regime, she had been respected and well thought of in the community.

No End To It

Some time ago another Ontario Chinese received and paid a ransom demand of $5,000 for his family's safety. Within a short period a second urgent plea for help came to the tune of $9,000. He paid that and in a short time received a third for $12,000. After the third payment he refused to throw away any more money and his wife and two sons remain under arrest, and so far as he knows, still alive.

This extortion scheme is no small, isolated effort to obtain dollars. The racket is being worked from Vancouver to Halifax and hundreds in Toronto have already received demands, many of which have been paid more than once. A New York Times story at the weekend said United States authorities estimate the total demanded there, if paid, would reach many millions of dollars.

Another family struggled in China to meet the first fine and were soon faced with a second. By dint of much pressure, a member of the family in Canada borrowed from all his friends and sent enough to secure promise of safety. In a short time, a third demand was received and since there was no money left, one of the family was thrown into jail.

A former Peterborough man was ordered to pay a fine which he either couldn't or wouldn't. He was arrested, his hands bound behind him and tied to a pole or stake out in the burning sun. Finally the family scraped enough together to pay his ransom and he was released.

Overlook No Detail

One Chinese who purchased property on a visit home brought the deed to Canada with him. He recently received notice that he must re-register the deed for $300 Hong Kong. If he refuses to pay, all the family and relatives will be dispossessed and he will lose the property. So he will pay.

Methodical Looting

Verified reports from different sections in south China indicate that the Red authorities follow a similar pattern. In many places it has been the custom to approach houses and demand to go through to see the possibilities for billeting troops.

Once inside, they take away anything that catches their fancy from furniture to clothes. They always ask "how many in the family," and say "this is enough for you." The average person is left with one outfit of clothes for winter and one for summer. Those escaping have reported it is impossible to get replacements from government authorities. The same holds true of agricultural implements.

Escaping Chinese have brought reports to Canada of a system used to get army recruits. The Reds will visit some high school and tell the students it is necessary to sign a document in connection with their education. Most of them have signed before they learn they are signing army enlistment papers. The odd one growing suspicious and hesitating, is yanked out of line and subjected to questioning for hours. Then he is likely punished and ends up in the army.

Big Business

In San Francisco at the weekend, documentary evidence of extortion demands running to almost $100,000 was produced by 60 victims. Chinatown leaders declare that this is only a drop in the huge demands being made.

The editor of a Chinese paper there asked for proof of extortion so an appeal could be sent to the UN. Sixty came forward. He reported that most victims were unwilling to give proof for fear of endangering relatives who are at the mercy of the Reds.

Most of the Cantonese in Canada and the US come from three areas about the same distance from Canton City as Peterborough is from Toronto. These three areas are Chungsan, Toishan and Hoiping.

In an Associated Press story Monday, the Nationalist News Agency reported from Formosa that in a single south China town 5,000 families are being held hostage by the Reds for ransom by their overseas relatives. The Agency identified this town as Chungsan, birthplace of Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Republic of China. It is 70 miles from Canton City.

Both there and in nearby Toishan, the Agency said that many committed suicide rather than write relatives for money. The story asserted that 500-600 Communist officials had been assigned to the two towns to press the ransom racket.

THE NEW "SWING COAT" is of popular grey flannel. It's full skirted and tiny waisted. The saucer-shaped tortoiseshell buttons to the waistline are accessory news, as the lining, which features black and white rainfigures on a dark aqua background. The sleeves are straight, with two-inch tailored cuffs.

Auxiliary Holds Annual Bazaar

BANCROFT, Nov. 27 (ENS) — The Evening Auxiliary of the Women's Association held its annual bazaar Saturday afternoon in the basement of St. Paul's United Church, Bancroft.

The first vice-president, Mrs. C. A. Eddy, was hostess in the absence of the president, Mrs. E. Mather.

On every table were Christmas decorations. Mrs. J. N. Brown, Mrs. F. Hibbard, and Mrs. J. Vardy were in charge of the fancy work table which featured aprons, tea towels, dainty ribboned cushions, crocheted articles and novelties.

The home-baking table offered jellied salads in addition to pies, cakes, bread, rolls and cookies. Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. P. Labarge and Mrs. S. Burgess were assistants at this table.

Two girls' groups of the church, the Explorers and the CGIT, with their leaders, Mrs. Renals and Mrs. A. W. Smith, had separate tables at which they sold their handiwork.

The tea table was presided over by Mrs. A. Towle, assisting were Mrs. K. Cutler, Mrs. H. Watson, Mrs. G. French, Mrs. H. Vance and Mrs. G. Hayton.

A popular feature each year is the post office and Mrs. E. C. Ellerbeck and Mrs. G. Andrews were soon sold out of parcels. Window and door sprays of evergreen decorated for the Christmas season and made by Mrs. Glen French, were attractive additions to the bazaar tables.

DOROTHY DIX

Withdrawn Child's Attitude Largely Due To Domination

DEAR MISS DIX: I have four children, three of whom have the same ambitions and personalities. They like to work and get ahead are able to get along with everyone and each other. The fourth, a girl of 14, is only interested in church, is afraid to go ahead with anything, afraid of criticism and crawls into a shell. She does not have dates yet. Her father thinks we should put a stop to all church doings and make her get out into something else. I'm on the fence.

Dorothy Dix

I think no harm can come of church, and I'm afraid if we take the other angle she may go all out in other directions. Her father is very dominant and she resents his hard ruling and resents me for staying with him. The other children have adjusted themselves to it.

DOT

ANSWER: Your husband has been lucky in making you and three of his children conform to his domineering ways; he apparently has found his Waterloo in the youngest child. Church to her provides security and refuge from the tyranny and uncertainty she has at home. Her father undoubtedly realizes this too; hence his desire to get her away from the one place that represents peace to her.

Parents Failing Her

The adolescent years are difficult ones for an impressionable child. The youngster needs loving guidance through this period, and your daughter does not have that security. Her parents are failing her at a time when she needs them most. Won't her father listen to reason and be more understanding with her? She does seem to be working out her own destiny with amazing clarity, but if she must depend entirely on her own resources, she will eventually erect a barrier between herself and family that will never be broken down. Don't let this happen, for your own sake and your daughter's. Don't make her give up church activities, but try gently to divert her attention into other channels, too. Her fear of criticism and of new undertakings is nothing but fear of her father applied to her outside life. If you can, by any means, convince your husband of the harm being done to his daughter, he may change. Talks with the clergyman of your church, and with the child's teachers may also prove helpful.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The parents of my boy friend are putting him through college. He has two more years to go. We want to get married as soon as possible because we miss each other so much. I know we are young (I am 18, he is 20). I make $30 a week and would like to know how we can get married and be together while he finishes college.

N. J.

ANSWER: It is extermely difficult for a young man to get through college and maintain a home at the same time. In recent years many boys have done it, but they were being aided by the government and were older than your friend. I would advise you to wait until your young man has finished school. With a life time ahead of you, don't jeopardize your own happiness or his chances for an education by marrying now. His parents probably have an opinion in the matter, too, and as they are making the sacrifice to see that he gets a college degree, they should be consulted about your problem, too. If you begin married life by defying the wishes of others, you're making a very wrong start.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it considered bad taste for a wife to engage in social activities that exclude her husband?

ANSWER: There are certain activities that must be pursued by the wife alone, and rather than being in bad taste it is almost obligatory for her to join them. Women's clubs are doing marvelous work today with youth problems and civic improvement. Most meetings of this type are held during the day so they seldom interfere with the household routine as it concerns the husband.

Such activities as dances, or parties which couples usually attend together, are another point. Unless the group is made up of very close friends, and her husband has a good reason for not attending, the wife should stay away, too.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canadian Turnips Shipped In Carload Lots To States

Discovered in the bottom of a rut—a fellow-traveller named Mary Moore. It's because I liked mashed turnips with brown gravey.

I was surprised to hear Pete say at dinner time "We always have turnips when we have sliced cold roast beef, Mum." Maybe we do, but I wasn't aware I had fallen into a habit, so I took a turn in my turnip tactics.

It seems too that United States markets purchase our turnips by the carload and pay pretty fair prices for them while we here at home have a tendency to scorn the earthy rutabaga. I like them best mashed fifty-fifty with potatoes—under a steaming blanket of rich brown gravy.

Mashed Turnips and Potatoes

Cook equal quantities of turnips and potatoes together in a small amount of boiling salted water. Drain thoroughly; mash. Save the cooking liquid for use in soup or gravy. Add butter and a little cream or rich milk, salt and pepper.

Turnip Strips With Parsley

Two cups turnip strips, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespooon minced onion, ½ tablespoon minced parsley, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Cut turnips into stick or cubes. Cook until just tender in boiling salted water. Drain and heat in butter to which has been added the onion, parsley and lemon juice. Serve at once. Serves 4.

Turnips In Cheese Sauce

One medium turnip, 2 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup grated cheese.

Peel turnip, cut in slices and boil for 15 minutes in boiling salted water. Make a white sauce with fat, flour, milk, salt and pepper. Pour over turnips, sprinkle grated cheese on top. Bake 350 deg. Fahr. for 10-20 minutes.

Turnip And Cabbage Salad

One quarter of a cup cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 cup shredded raw turnip, ½ cup diced apple, ¼ cup each raisins and chopped peanuts (optional). Combine salad dressing and lemon juice. Toss ingredients lightly, just before serving.

✧ ✧ ✧

All of us know that raw turnip strips are delicious and are especially attractive when served crisp and raw with carrot and celery sticks. Served and eaten raw you obtain the maximum amount of ascorbic acid which is vitamin C. Turnip is one of our most economical sources of vitamin C, but some of it is lost in cooking. Tomatoes yield vitamin C too, but most of the vitamin C content is in the citrus fruits we import from the south so get on the turnip trek to health. Try this.

Turnip and Lettuce Salad or Winter Health Salad

Two cups torn lettuce, ½ cup finely diced celery, ½ cup shredded raw turnip, ¼ cup French dressing. Prepare vegetables immediately before serving. Add dressing. Toss lightly. A very simple way to make French dressing is as follows; ¼ teaspoon each salt, paprika, sugar, one tablespoon pure vinegar or lemon juice, four tablespoons pure olive oil or salad oil. Shake in a covered jar just before using.

Hospital Matron Tells Of Work At Moose Factory

TORONTO (CP)—White people can learn much about friendliness and gratitude from Indians and Eskimos, said Miss Ella M. Roulston, matron of the new Indian hospital at Moose Factory, James Bay.

"They always have a smile for you and react happily to any little kindness you show them, especially the children," said Miss Roulston, a recent visitor to Toronto.

They are a very devout people, too, she said. "They take their religion seriously, observe Sunday, for instance, far more strictly than do most Christians."

The hospital in the northerly outpost, 700 miles north of Toronto, is one of the most northern of its kind in Canada. It was built primarily for the James Bay and Hudson Bay districts. It is under the department of national health and welfare. Indian services and located on an island about three miles from Moosonee.

About 85 per cent of the patients are tubercular. "The death rate among the Indians is very high, so we feel we have a great service to render in this field," Miss Roulston said.

Before going to her present post a year ago last October, she was assistant superintendent at the Scott Memorial hospital, Seaforth, Ont. Previously she was in charge of rehabilitation at St. Hyacinthe, Que. D.V.A. hospital, also a supervisor at the Royal Edward Laurentian hotel, St. Agathe Des Monts, Que.

The "Nimble Needles" Girls' Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Drope.

Fourteen girls took each others measurements and were checked by their leader, Mrs. F. Stephens. Patterns and style materials were discussed. The next meeting will be on Wednesday in the Harwood Community Hall, when Miss Jean Noble, home economist, Department of Agriculture, will be present.

Mrs. Martin Kennear, of Oak Lake, Manitoba, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young.

Mrs. Wm. Baker, who has been in Toronto for the past two weeks, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chadwick have gone to Florida for the winter months. They expect to be away until sometime in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burrison and Carmen have gone to Florida for two weeks' vacation. This is their annual vacation in the south.

Harwood school Christmas tree is scheduled for Dec. 20 in the Community Hall, Harwood. Mr. and Mrs. Burrison are bringing decorations from the palm groves in Florida for the concert.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly of Warkworth visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy White and family on Friday.

Miss Dawson, junior teacher in Harwood school, was taken to Cobourg General hospital Friday, with influenza, and is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O'Connell and Mrs. A. Sandercock visited Mrs. Trotter in Port Hope recently.

Mrs. Hazel Manley spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Wallace, in Gore's Landing.

The Christmas meeting of the Harwood branch of the Women's Institute will be Thursday, Dec. 6, at the home of Mrs. Donald Heriott.

Service To Blind Needs Expanding

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—Need for expanding services for the blind was stressed Monday by A. N. Magill, Ontario superintendent of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, speaking at the annual conference of Ontario field secretaries.

Organizing work has been done, he said, and every blind person now receives help from the CNIB. Expansion is now the problem, and it is a problem of finance due to the increased costs of the same services.

"We must seek to make life fuller and more complete for the blind person," said Mr. Magill.

Col. E. A. Baker, managing director of the institute, said the blind in Canada were fortunate, and that only a small percentage of blind persons live in countries with any organization to aid them. Canadians must be interested in helping the blind in other countries, he added, and mentioned the training of three field workers from Trinidad who have now opened the first school for the blind in the West Indies.

Results of a three-year program to help pre-school blind children were reported by Miss J. Whitelaw.

The field secretaries meeting here are responsible for organizing and directing help to the province's 5,500 blind.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

What's Right?

You are wondering if, when introducing a man and woman, it makes any difference which name you speak first.

WRONG: Decide that it doesn't.

RIGHT: Speak the woman's name first, so that you are presenting the man to the woman.

MOVIE COLUMN

Dennis Day Proves Smart In Business

By BOB THOMAS.

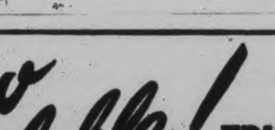
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 27 (AP).—Eugene Denis McNulty, better known as Dennis Day, portrays a dimwitted character on the Jack Benny radio show. If Day is dumb many another show business personality would like to have the same brand of ignorance.

Here are some examples of Day's dumbness:

After years of biding his time, he landed himself a fat movie contract with 20th Century-Fox and is the only Fox player who has television rights.

He just signed a TV contract with NBC after bidding by that network and CBS.

Day, who talks like a normal human being and not the breathless, half-baked character he plays on the radio, indicated that he does not believe in rushing into things. He has had many movie offers, but not until a couple of years ago did he sign up for one picture a year at Fox. The deal kept him a free agent for TV, while most other movie contract players were prohibited from the new medium.



To Play Murderer

The tenor is at present working in "the Girl Next Door," and will play a whimsical axe murderer in his next film. He has another film to follow that one, and so his TV show may not make its debut until the fall of 1952.

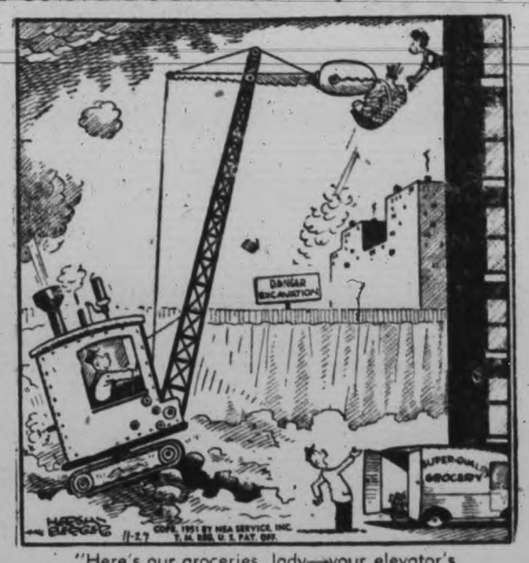
Day indicated that he would concentrate on getting good writing for his TV show. "The trouble with a lot of the writing on TV today is that the writers are still thinking in terms of radio technique. Fortunately there are a lot of new young writers coming who realize that TV depends on sight, not gags."

His own radio program is off the air and he said he might be giving up radio altogether.

"Jack (Benny) may drop his air show after this season," he reported. "Jack was very happy with his last TV show and thinks he has found the format that will work for him in TV. And I think he is right. He was playing the real Jack Benny and people loved him."

Then $17.00 an ounce!

Ninety-three years ago, Queen's University, Kingston, gave a medal to its first graduate in chemistry. The medal was made of aluminum—which then cost $17.00 an ounce.



Today aluminum costs only slightly over one cent an ounce.

The price has been brought down by mass production in huge plants using the electrolytic process discovered twenty-eight years after the Queen's medal was presented.

By developing some of Canada's waterpower, previously running to waste, Alcan has succeeded in making this country the world's most efficient producer of aluminum, giving employment to many thousands of Canadians and through exports of "packaged power" aiding Canadians in acquiring the imports needed here. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

6—In Memoriam

BARRETT—In loving memory of Mrs. Arthur Barrett, who passed away Nov. 27, 1944.
Past her suffering, past her pain
Cease to weep for tears are vain,
She who suffered is at rest,
Gone to heaven with the blest.
—Ever sadly missed, Mr. Arthur Barrett.

HEIGH—In fondest memory of a loving husband and father, Norman Heigh, who passed away Nov. 27, 1947.
Today recalls sad memories,
Of our dear one gone to rest,
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain.
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Always remembered by his wife and family.

IRELAND—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. George Ireland, who passed away three years ago today.
You are not forgotten, Mother,
Nor ever will you be,
As long as life and memory lasts
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by daughter Myrtle and family.

MURRAY—In loving memory of Mrs. M. J. Murray, who passed away November 27, 1944.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear mother
Just seven years ago today.
—Ever remembered by daughters Gladys and Helen and sons-in-law.

WATKISS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Florence Watkiss, who passed away November 27, 1948.
For her, life more abundant,
For us, a guiding star.
—Ever sadly missed by Gladys, Bill and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. William T. Smith wish to thank all the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us, sent flowers and cards and expressed their sympathy in the sad bereavement of our dear mother.—William, Roy and Raymond Smith.

Bureaucracy Language Bothers Quebec MP

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) told the Commons Monday there are three languages in Canada—English, French, and the language of bureaucracy.

And things really get bad, he said, when "we have a translation from English into the language of bureaucracy." Nobody understands it.

When he referred to the constituents of his county or his conconstituency he meant, in French "les electeurs de mon comte." Everyone understood that language when speaking French.

But Parliament's Hansard French translation persisted in using the words "les commettants de ma circonstription." It was ridiculous.

Mr. Pouliot said he wanted his speeches to be translated into the French language and not into the language of bureaucracy.

Mrs. S. Hoolihan

Funeral for the late Mrs. Samuel Hoolihan of 473 Donegal Street, who died at her residence on Saturday following a prolonged illness, was held on Monday from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral. Requiem mass was said by the Rev. John Hickey and pallbearers were Frederick and Albert Barrett, Lewis and Jack LeBarr, Alphonse and Arthur Conlin. The Rev. Ray Garvey said graveside prayers, and burial was at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Terrorists Set Wire Snares For British

By ALEX VALENTINE.

PORT SAID, Egypt, Nov. 27 — (Reuters). — Terrorists have strung copper wire across roads in the troubled Suez Canal zone, presumably to snare and behead British motorcycle dispatch riders a British spokesman said Monday.

There were no reports whether the boobytraps caught anyone. But they are typical of the series of incidents—from shooting affrays to mere pinpricks—between Egyptians and Britons ever since the Cairo Government announced it wants to push British garrisons from the canal zone.

Egyptian terrorists fired six shots at a British soldier ambushed today while repairing a severed telephone cable on the outskirts of Ismailia, Suez Canal zone trouble centre. He was severely wounded. The rest of the party returned fire, but the gunmen escaped.

Corporal Wounded

A British corporal was shot and wounded Sunday on the road north of Suez by Egyptians in a fast-moving civilian car.

Snipers exchanged shots during the night with sentries at a headquarters in the suburbs of Ismailia.

Other incidents reported Monday included the throwing of a bomb at a British major in a truck at Port Tewfiq, opposite Suez, and another at three Suez Canal company pilots in another car near Moascar. Both bombs missed their targets.

Egyptian police again were in control of Ismailia, terror town from which the last British families were evacuated during the weekend to avoid incidents.

'Die Fledermaus' Here On Film

Harry Yudin is bringing to the Centre Theatre Thursday, Dec. 13, the gay and melodius operetta "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss. This filming is in technicolor, and as reported by the Sunday Mirror, "is one of the best comedy importations, studded with Strauss waltzes and beautiful spectacle and for a climax, an elaborate ball." "It captures all the brightness of costumes of late 18th century Vienna."

One of the most tuneful numbers is the Fledermaus waltz, long a favorite with those who know and love the music of Strauss. The booking by Mr. Yudin is especially for those who have been following the grand opera series which he has offered at the Centre.

The most recent was Verdi's "Il Trovatore" for which Mr. Yudin received many expressions of appreciation.

Page Gordon Powell When Going Fishing

R. R. Powell, director of sales for the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, is an old Peterborough boy and and there came to the Examiner's attention today a letter he wrote to Clair Jarvis, head consul commander of the Canadian Woodmen of the World.

Apparently the Morrison Hotel knows how to go after conventions. It does not wait like so many hotels in Canada for conventions to come to them. Mr. Powell in his letter tells of all the advantages of the Morrison "located in the very heart of Chicago's downtown financial, retail and theatrical districts. He ends his letter by saying complimentary suites are also available to your officers. His postscript tells of the wonderful fishing in the Peterborough area and sure his brother in Peterobrough will look after him, for he knows all the better fishing holes in that part of the country. The brother is Gordon Powell, manager of Lowe Brothers store on George St.

Deported Teacher Heads For Toronto

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP) — A Canadian school teacher and his paramour, ordered deported Nov. 15, will leave Chicago for Toronto today.

They are Alfred P. Greene, 39, former Toronto high school teacher, and Mrs. Beatrice Reason, 32, who had been living with Greene at St. Louis, Mo., since shortly after their disappearance from Toronto Aug. 9, 1950.

At the deportation hearing in Chicago, Greene said he left his wife and four children because it was hard to support them on his $60-a-week salary.

Canadian Corps Assoc. Fight Freeing Meyer

TORONTO, Nov. 27 — (CP) — The executive of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Corps Association said Monday night in a resolution that the release of Kurt Meyer, German war criminal, "under any circumstances," would be a direct insult to present or past members of the Canadian armed forces.

A Canadian Press dispatch Sunday from Germany said Meyer has been permitted to visit his home at Offleben, Germany, while serving a life sentence for crimes against Canadian soldiers during the Second World War.

NORMAN WILSON

Norman Wilson Acclaimed Reeve For 8th Term

APSLEY, Nov. 27. — (ENS)— Norman Wilson, Apsley, has been acclaimed Reeve of Burleigh-Anstruther for his eighth consecutive term.

At the nomination meeting on Friday Mr. Wilson and Norman Bolton, who opposed Mr. Wilson last year, both qualified for the Reeve election this year. A third nomination, Percy Thompson, of Woodview, was withdrawn.

Since then Mr. Bolton, who is a member of the School Board for SS No. 3, South Burleigh has withdrawn, allowing Mr. Wilson another term as Reeve.

If there had been an election this year, it would have been the second time in 11 years of municipal politics that Reeve Wilson had been opposed. Mr. Bolton tried to unseat Mr. Wilson last year for the first time, but was defeated by one vote.

Years On Council

Mr. Wilson's political record includes four terms as councillor, seven years as Reeve, and in 1950 was elected Warden of the county.

Mr. Wilson's acclamation results in an election for the four vacancies on the Burleigh-Anstruther council only. Five men, Albert Bolton, Earl Trotter, Gordon Lean, Sidney McCauley, and Douglas Dunford, have qualified for election.

The one position on the Burleigh-Anstruther-Chandos School Board was filled by Donald Fowler, Mount Julian, by acclamation.

Election day is December 10.

School Children Clear Rooms In 30 Seconds

The children of Prince of Wales annex, all of whose rooms are on the ground floor, paraded from the building in a fire test in 30 seconds.

This unannounced test was reported to the Council by Fire Chief George Smith. Next in speed of orderly exit from their buildings were:

Attendance at those schools is: Prince of Wales annex, 230; Grove, 214; Queen Elizabeth, 108; St. Anne's, 197.

Attendance, in brackets, and recessional time for the other schools in Chief Smith's list were:

Collegiate (1,265), 120 seconds; Prince of Wales (700), 126; Confederation (490), 90; Central (460), 69; St. Peter's (394), 65; Immaculate Conception (206), 60; Park Hill (135), 120; Queen Mary (724), 110; King George (613), 150; King Edward (485), 95; Queen Alexandra (384), 65; St. Mary's (297), 50; Sacred Heart (220), 63; St. John's (210), 50; May's (163), 66; Normal (130), 130; St. Alphonsus, N. Monaghan (240), 63.

OBITUARIES

JOHN W. VAN VOLKENBURG

John Wesley Van Volkenburg died Nov. 18 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lewis Briggs, near Cordova. Funeral service was held Nov. 21 in St. Andrew's United Church in Marmora, the Rev. A. J. Thaxter of Cordova officiating.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Van Volkenburg, he was born in Seymour township in 1873, and spent most of his life in the Cordova district in farming and lumbering.

Surviving are his widow, the former Sarah Ann Reid, five daughters, Mrs. Lewis Briggs (Alice) of Cordova, Mrs. William Magee (Theda) of Oshawa, Mrs. Charles Holland (Gladys) of Oshawa, Mrs. Jack Hele (Vera of Oshawa, Mrs. William Norton (Nora) of Rochester, NY, and three sons, Harry of Oshawa, Alex of Marmora township, and John of Marmora.

There are one sister, Mrs. Lydia Cooney of Belleville, 14 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Lewis Briggs, William Magee, William Norton, Charles Holland, Jack Hele and Milo Van Volkenburg. Burial was in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

LANSLEY B. HARTLEY

Lansley B. Hartley, 83, of 507 Stewart St., died on Monday in hospital following a prolonged illness. He was born in Hornings Mills, Ont., son of the late William Hartley and Catherine Murray, and has lived in Peterborough for the past 35 years. Previous to that he lived in Bethany.

He leaves his wife, the former Christina Barkwill, a daughter, Mrs. William Wight (Catherine) and a son, Murray, all of this city. A sister, Mrs. P. Hogan, lives in Barrie.

Mr. Hartley was employed in the carpenter shop of the Canadian General Electric for 25 years. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and a 25-year member of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Funeral service at the Kaye funeral home Thursday, Nov. 29 at 2 p.m., will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Purser, curate of St. John's Anglican Church. Burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Wm. T. Smith

Funeral service for Mrs. William T. Smith of South Monaghan, the former Jane Donaldson, was held last Tuesday at her home, the Rev. T. H. Heustin and the Rev. Walter Marshall officiating.

She is survived by three sons, William, Roy and Raymond, of South Monaghan, three sisters, Mrs. James Savigny of Peterborough, Mrs. Violet Farley of Toronto, Christine of South Monaghan, and one brother Joseph of South Monaghan.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Centreville Presbyterian church.

Pallbearers were John and Fred Steinkrauss, Emery and Carl Smith, Stewart Donaldson and Donald Dickson. Flowerbearers were Frank Lackey, Frank Farley, George Dean, Earl Porteous, Leo Martin, Stewart Darling, Norman Willan, Mac Bradshaw.

Burial was in Centreville cemetery.

4,000 Make War Claims

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 (CP) — Some 4,000 Canadians have made war claims to the government against the Japanese, including 1,750 former prisoners of war and 125 former civilian internees.

The claims total about $2,625,000, nicluding $2,000,000 for former prisoners of war and $625,000 for former civilian internees of the Japanese. None of the claims have yet been paid, Secretary of State Bradley said Monday.

In a parliamentary return in reply to questions by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) Mr. Bradley said there is no authority to make interim payments "but this matter is under active consideration."

Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former finance minister and now chief justice of Nova Scotia, has been appointed advisory commissioner to make recommendations to the government as to what classes of claims shall be paid in full and what classes paid in part or disallowed. He gets no compensation for this job.

The government custodian controls approximately $3,425,000 formerly owned by Japanese enemies. When the Japanese peace treaty is ratified these assets will be at the disposal of the Canadian government.

Mrs. Mary Quinn

MARMORA, Nov. 27—(ENS)— Requiem mass for Mrs. Mary Quinn was celebrated at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, on Monday morning by her nephew, the Rev. Wilfred L. Ferrion of Railton. The Rev. J. A. O'Neill was in the sanctuary. Burial took place in Sacred Heart cemetery, the pallbearers being George Forestell, Ed O'Connor, Irwin McCoy, Everett Barrons, Bernard Moloney and John McAvoy.

In her 80th year, Mrs. Quinn was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frances Gallagher, pioneer residents of Marmora township. All her life was spent in that township. Her death occurred after two weeks' illness at the home of her brother, Daniel Gallagher, in the same township. She was a member of Sacred Heart Church, Marmora.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. William Oulton and Mrs. A. Coulter, of Toronto, besides one brother, Daniel, with whom she resided after the death of her husband four years ago.

ANCIENT CANALS

The oldest irrigation canal system in the world is that of the rivers in Western Pakistan, flowing to the Indus.

Hit Bicyclists, Not Guilty Of Carelessness

A charge of careless driving against Herbert Thompson, 187 Antrim St., was dismissed in police court Monday afternoon.

Thompson pleaded not guilty to the charge which was laid October 15, after Thompson struck two boys riding bicycles along the east side of Monaghan Rd., near Hawley St.

The boys: Paul Sinclair, 16, of 509 Braidwood Ave., and Larry Ferguson, 13, of 485 Braidwood Ave., were both slightly injured in the accident.

Skid Mark

Constable Arthur Beardsmore who investigated, testified there were skid marks 19 feet six inches from the south side of Hawley St., to the point of impact. He said the skid marks continued for another 15 feet nine inches from where the car appeared to have struck the bicycles.

Thompson told the court he had not seen the boys until they were about 20 feet in front of him because it was foggy the evening of the accident. He said he applied his brakes and tried to swerve enough to miss them but didn't quite make it and struck them a glancing blow.

Defence counsel J. C. N. Currelly, said "the accused took all possible precautions. There were no lights on the back of the bicycles and there are no grounds for conviction."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw argued that Thompson had time to pull over enough to avoid hitting the boys and that therefore a careless driving conviction was warranted.

In dismissing the charge, Magistrate W. R. Philp said there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

CLAXTON VISITS RCAF BASE IN ENGLAND — A recent visitor to the newly-formed No. 1 RCAF Fighter Wing at North Luffenham, in England, was Defence Minister Brooke Claxton who attended the ceremonies of handing over the former RAF station to the RCAF. Following the ceremonies, Mr. Claxton took time out to visit with members of 410 Cougar Squadron, who arrived at North Luffenham a few days before, three of who are shown here, left to right: Flying Officer Robin Morris, of St. Catharines, Ont.; F/O Leonard Bentham, of Riverside, Ont.; F/O Garth Cinammon, of Saskatoon, Sask., and Mr. Claxton.—National Defence Photo.

Winter Fishing Begins In Manitoba

By WILF CHISLETT

WINNIPEG, Nov. 27—(CP)—By tractor train, railway, truck and aircraft, thousands of pounds of fish are moving from Manitoba's frozen lakes as the 1951 winter season gets under way.

For the last three weeks commercial fishermen using gill nets have been dragging in 13 species of fish, including the aristocratic Winnipeg Goldeye, expensive whitefish and a money-maker called saugers.

With the fish come millions of potential United States dollars.

Since 1885, when the steamer Lady Ellen first cast nets in Lake Winnipige, 90 per cent of the province's fish catch has gone to American consumers. With no restricting tariffs, with high prices and strong demand, Manitoba freshwater fishermen have found American markets wide open.

Production of fish in Manitoba averages 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds a year with an all-time record of 40,000,000 pounds. In the 1949-50 season production was more than 29,000,000 pounds with a market value of almost $5,000,000. Figures for last season have not been released.

Prospects for the 1951-52 season are excellent and may establish a record. Fisheries officials estimate 7,500,000 pounds of fish were taken from Manitoba lakes and rivers in the six-week fall season alone.

Business Growing

Principal waters fished are Lakes Winnipeg, Winnipegosis and Manitoba. Northern Manitoba contains 60-odd smaller lakes, many of them fished commercially for the first time last year.

Fishermen have to contend with a host of obstacles that make the business risky. There are parasites, especially the whitefish worm, which lower grades and profits. A sudden freeze-up on the lakes this fall smashed boats and nets and endangered lives.

There is always the possibility of overstocked markets. The federal government's fisheries prices support board had to step in and buy surplus fish two years ago when markets were glutted.

Further development of the northern fisheries has been limited by the inaccessability of lakes. It has been suggested that the provincial government build and operate filleting plants but so far this has been refused.

Planes Often Used

Aircraft are used extensively. High prices for fresh fish and the need for faster marketing slowly is making obsolete other forms of transportation.

Some companies have found aircraft hauling cheaper in the long run because they don't have to maintain isolated winter camps. The use of planes jumped when railway freight rates on fish were hiked 40 per cent in 1949.

United States markets also absorb 90 per cent of the catch from Canada's newest fishing territory, Northern Alberta and Great Slave Lake.

Large-scale fishing in the district, first opened seven years ago, now brings in nearly $2,500,000 a year. Whitefish and lake trout are the main catch.

The Saskatchewan government operates its own filleting plants but has been criticized for an amendment to the Fisheries Act. The amendment makes marketing compulsory through the government's agency on all lakes where 70 per cent of fishermen sign leases agreeing to the plan.

Quebec, Montreal Uniting In Drive Against Gambling

QUEBEC, Nov. 27 — (CP). — Premier Duplessis announced on Monday that Quebec Government and Montreal authorities will join forces in a drive against gambling and liquor-law violations in Montreal.

The Premier said, after a two-hour conference with J. O. Asselin, chairman of Montreal's executive committee, that a basis of co-operation has been agreed upon.

The Premier did not say specifically that the agreement concerned gambling and liquor. He used the term abuses.

"I am happy that Montreal authorities wish to co-operate to make the abuses cease," he said. "This co-operation will be accomplished by measures it is not appropriate to reveal now so as not to give information to those who commit abuses."

Other Measures

Premier Duplessis added that if the measures agreed on today proved insufficient, other steps would be taken.

He said the government's aim was to end all abuses. While numerous salutary reforms had been achieved, the government intended to make what further improvement was humanly possible.

Premier Duplessis also announced a plan, outlined in Montreal's municipal Bill to be studied by the Legislature next week, for a special commission on metropolitan problems.

The commission will study the question of distributing part of the cost of public services, at present, borne by the City of Montreal alone, among neighboring municipalities which benefit as well.

The commission, operating on a $100,000 budget, will also study the problem arising from the fact some municipalities adjoining Montreal have territory jutting into the city area.

Find Difficulty

The Premier said one of the difficulties of this situation was that the Montreal police sometimes uprooted law violators in Montreal territory only to find that the violators took refuge in the territory of an adjoining town almost surrounded by areas under the control of Montreal.

He said the commission would consider whether such islands of outside territory jutting into Montreal should be annexed by Montreal or if any other steps should be taken.

Premier Duplessis announced that the Montreal Bill containing the study commission proposal would come before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly, Tuesday, December 4.

Canada To Get Sulphur Supply From US

MONTREAL, Nov. 27 (CP). — Arrangements have been worked out for sulphur supplies from the United States to maintain Canadian newsprint production as least for the first quarter of 1952, Canada's newsprint director announced Monday. No reduction during that period is contemplated.

R. M. Fowler, director of the pulp and paper division, Department of Defence Production, said in a statement that 1952, particularly the first six months, appears the most critical for sulphur supplies.

Mr. Fowler said much of Canada's defence effort is "closely related to the defence program of the United States, and a major part of US requirements of newsprint and chemical pulps comes from Canada."

On Similar Basis

"US officials in charge of sulphur allocations have agreed to supply sulphur to Canada on a similar basis to US industry in the first quarter of 1952. In addition they were able to make certain changes in the traditional pattern of sulphur shipments to provide for rail deliveries to Canadian mills in the winter and early spring months. It is expected that the same treatment will be given Canada in the second quarter of 1952, but this will be subject to review about Feb. 15.

"However with the best performance on conservation by Canadian mills new supplies of sulphur in the first half of 1952 will be insufficient to meet the needs of capacity production of newsprint and pulp in Canada."

Fishing Boats Collide, Eight Rescued

VANCOUVER, Nov. 27 (CP)—Eight persons, including a baby, were rescued Monday from the stormy waters of the Gulf of Georgia after a collision of two fishing boats near Thetis Island.

When the seiner Winnifred, owned by Samuel Fleck, collided with a 32-foot gillnetter, eight men, women and children were tossed into the icy water.

Fleck, whose boat was not badly damaged, launched a skiff and rescued a mother and her baby and other members of the gillnetter.

Mrs. Elmer Elex of Galiano Island supported her 11-month-old child with one arm in the water while she clung to the bow of the rescue boat with the other. Her son, Ernie, 3, was kept afloat by air which gathered in the back of his raincoat.

Another fisherman, Satoshi Araki, 30, of Vancouver, is missing and believed drowned. His shrimp boat was found near the mouth of the Fraser River.

No Request For Aid

OTTAWA, Nov. 27—(CP)—No requests for relief in flood-ravaged areas of Italy have reached the Canadian government, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday in the Commons. He was replying to Earl Catherwood (PC, Haldimand).

Samples Civilization Eskimo Loves Hot-Dogs

WINDSOR, Nov. 27 (CP). — Vernon Williams is a four-year-old Eskimo boy. Until two weeks ago he had never seen a large building, any animal other than a dog or even the most simple bridge.

But he's been in Windsor for two days and he has liked every minute of it. He likes the food and the buildings and is fascinated by the movies.

Confronted by a milk-wagon horse, he patted its nose and asked: "Is that the milk man?"

He says, "I like potatoes, hot-dogs, ham and turkey and I like to look at the trains."

Vernon's parents came from Point Barrow, Alaska, far inside the Arctic Circle. His parents died and he was adopted by Mrs. Fanny Williams, a United States public health nurse who is doctor and druggist to 850 Indians on an island off the Alaska coast.

Mrs. Williams and her adopted boy are visiting friends here.

Two Asphyxiated

MONTREAL, Nov. 27—(CP)—Mrs. O. Beaudry, 39, and her 18-month-old niece, Micheline Allard, Monday night were found asphyxiated in the former's east-end home. Carbon monoxide fumes escaping from an overheated gas burner were reported the cause of the mishap.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Court Dismisses Charge Of Drunk Driving

A charge of drunk driving against Edmund Dionne, 8 Edgewater St., was dismissed in police court Monday afternoon.

Dionne pleaded not guilty to the charge which was laid November 10, after a car, said to have been driven by Dionne, was involved in an accident with a taxi driven by Ed Sullivan, 482 Hamilton St.

Sullivan testified that the car came north on Aylmer St., and swung east on Hunter St., nicking his back fender as he was stopped at Hunter and Aylmer for the red light.

Dionne stopped about a half a block from the scene of the accident and Sullivan said when he went up to the car, Dionne didn't show much interest in the accident.

When asked who was going to pay for the damage, Sullivan said Dionne replied that he didn't know. "I said I was going to phone the police," Sullivan said, "and he jumped in his car and drove away."

Arrested In Home

Dionne was arrested later at his home by acting patrol sergeant Gordon Trennum, who testified that at the time Dionne was arrested at 6.30 that evening, he smelled strongly of some alcoholic beverage and "was none too steady on his feet." The accident occurred about 5.30 pm.

Dionne was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, who argued that under the circumstances, there was no evidence Dionne was drunk at the time of the accident.

Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed the charge.

Yukoslavia Lays Charge

PARIS, Nov. 27—(AP)—Yugoslavia Monday spelled out in a 21,000-word document charges that Russia and her satellites are waging an "all-round and open aggressive pressure" to destroy Marshal Tito's government. She asked that the United Nations use its moral pressure to set up mixed commissions to settle increasingly serious frontier incidents.

Tired Running Gives Up To FBI

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The FBI Monday announced the surrender of one of its 10 top fugitives, sought for 16 years for bank robbery.

The announcement said the fugitive, Meyer Dembin, described as a New York East Side "tough guy" walked into the US District Attorney's office in that city Monday morning and gave himself up.

When FBI agents arrived at the office to take him into custody, he was quoted as saying: "I surrendered because I was tired of running away from the FBI."

Dembin, now 39, was 23 years old when he is alleged to have taken part in the $19,779.15 robbery of the First National Bank of Sparkill, NY, on Feb. 1, 1935.

Four men took part in that holdup, walking in with revolvers and a shotgun to loot the vault shortly after the bank opened for business.

Three participants were subsequently captured. Dembin managed to elude a wide hunt for him in the underworld of cities stretching from New York to San Francisco.

Refrigerator Fire

NORWOOD, Nov. 27 (ENS) — Thick smoke in Basil Tucker's grocery store Sunday night drew the attention of George Millett and Gordon Manley as they returned from church. They telephoned the fire department, who found the motor of Mr. Tucker's refrigerator burning.

Hope To Save Pet

ROCHESTER, NY, Nov. 27 — (AP).—Medical science and loving care were used unsparingly today in a fight to save the life of a pet Japanese deer—an expectant mother—who was felled by a hunter's bullet. One neighborhood youngster slept with "Lambie" last night to keep her warm and calm. She's had penicillin, tetanus shots and blood transfusion. "Lambie's" fawn is expected about Christmas Day.

Alnwick Acclaims Reeve, Council, Board

ROSENEATH, Nov. 27 (ENS)—The reeve, the council and the school trustees for Alnwick township were returned by acclamation Monday at the nomination meeting in the town hall at Roseneath.

Municipal officials for 1952 will be: Reeve, Fred Broadworth; councillars, Earl Braithwaite, James Thompson, Edwin McCleary and Harold Taylor; school trustees, Ross McCracken, Frank Adams, Lloyd Parker. Other school trustees, Harold Davidson and James Timlin, both have another year to serve.

Rubber Destroyed

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP). — A five-alarm fire burned $250,000 worth of crude rubber belonging to the federal government and did $50,000 damage to a city-owned warehouse Monday. About 20 families in the neighborhood of the warehouse, near the Brooklyn end of Manhattan bridge, were forced to leave their homes as the blaze threatened nearby buildings.

Doesn't Want Plane

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27 — (AP). — Mrs. Joseph Wullich wants the man who left an airplane in her back yard to take it away. The plane landed Saturday and its pilot, carrying a rifle, walked away without so much as a good-morning to Mrs. Wullich. She learned later that he explained to a neighbor he was here on a hunting trip and became lost.

Gale Lashes Maritimes

HALIFAX, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Rain and strong winds lashed most of Nova Scotia Monday, causing power failures in many centres and disruption of telephone and telegraph services. At Halifax, where the winds reached gale velocity, power failures left many homes in temporary darkness.

MP's Would Like Pensions Paid Canadians At 65 Years

OTTAWA, Nov. 27—(CP)—Two members—one a Liberal and the other a CCF—said Monday in the Commons that government pensions should be paid to Canadians at age 65 instead of 70.

The suggestion was made by Leon Crestohl (L, Montreal Cartier) and Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) during debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

The discussion also touched on a Social Credit motion of non-confidence in the government. The motion, moved earlier in the debate, criticized the government for "failing" to increase war veterans' allowances.

Mr. Crestohl said two measures aimed at providing security for the aged were passed by parliament this year. Under one, pensions of $40 a month will be paid to all 70 and over, regardless of means. Under the second, the federal government will share the cost of similar pensions to those between 65 and 69 who can prove their need of assistance.

Would Drop Test

The means test, he said, should be removed for those in the 65-69 age group. There were some people 70 and over who would not apply for a pension because they did not need it. On the other hand, there were people 65 and over who needed a pension but would not apply for it because of the means test.

The two groups would balance one another. It would not cost much more to make the pensions available to all at age 65.

Mr. Knowles supported Mr. Crestohl's demands and then went on to urge that the government increase at this session war veterans' allowances, paid to veterans prematurely aged by war service.

He supported demands that the allowances be increased to $50 a month from $40 for single veterans and to $100 from $70 for married veterans.

Margaret Aiken Top Speaker Durham County

MILLBROOK, Nov. 27 (ENS)—At the Durham County Junior Farmers' public speaking contest, held at their banquet and dance in Newcastle on Friday evening, Margaret Aiken, 19, of Millbrook, was the winner. She spoke on "Epidemics."

The Massey-Harris Company presented her with a book, "Harvest Triumphant," as her award.

Margaret will speak in the Provincial Junior Farmers' public speaking contest on January 8 in the King Edward Hotel in Toronto.

Other speakers Friday evening in Newcsatle included: Hazel White, of Campbellford, speaking on "Water"; Mary Boyer, of Blackstock, whose subject was "Measurements of Time"; and Milford White, of Campbellcroft, who chose to speak on "Why Conserve?"

Ross Medcalfe, of Bowmanville, led a sing-song and gave two piano solos.

Ray Challice, of Bethany, the president, acted as chairman.

Those attending the banquet and dance from Millbrook as well as Margaret Aiken were Henrietta Wood, Irene Trick, Bruce Ingham, Jr., and Earl Morton.

ANCIENT PAPER—William C. Barrie, R.R. 7, Galt, examines what is considered the rarest issue in his collection of old newspapers and periodicals. It is the centenary issue of the Quebec Gazette of 1864. The Barrie collection came from a 5½-ton collection of old reading matter he inherited some years ago.

Canadian Squadron Based In Town Of Pied Piper

By DOUGLAS HOW

HAMELIN, Germany, Nov. 27 (CP)—The Canadians have arrived in the Pied Piper's town and found that the piper is far from dead. The tourist trade has brought him back to life.

They've found, too, that this city of 50,000, nestling in the valley of the Weser River with rolling hills nearby, is the sort of place that fits right into the background of legend and folklore about the lean and magic man who rid Hamelin of its rats in 1284 and then, unrewarded for his achievement, rid it of its children too.

The 27th Brigade's engineer squadron under Maj. R. W. (Sammy) Potts, DSO, 29, of Saskatoon, is based right in the city in large, permanent German barracks shared by British engineers. The rural countryside nearby is such that, all in all, it is admirable area for engineer training—as well as for catching up on childhood memories.

Next summer the Canadians will be able to watch a daily re-enactment of the ancient legend, with a piper, dressed in keeping with his assignment, luring away children dressed as rats one day and children dressed as children the next.

For Hamelin tumbled some years ago to the fact that ancient legend can be converted into tourist trade and now people come many miles to see this medieval pageant in streets which still bear the medieval touch.

Quiet Main Street

Along the narrow main street—where legend has perpetually forbidden music and drums because this is the way the children allegedly vanished — there are buildings of great charm and age, their windows filled with goods at prices which Canadians would consider generally most pleasant to the pocketbook.

One building is a museum, hundreds of years old. Another is the Rattenfangerhaus, oldest building in Hamelin and reputed to be the house where the Rattenfanger or rat-catcher slept on the eve of his memorable deed.

The Rattenfangerhause was originally built in the 1200s and rebuilt around 1600 and for 36 years it has been an inn, a quaint and pleasing place where you can buy for 75 cents a steak dinner that would cost three times that in Montreal.

As for the authenticity of the piper legend, A. Kropp, the proprietor of the Rattenfangerhaus, says it is true that a man rid Hamelin of its rats in 1284 but that the children angle is pure fiction.

Today in Hamelin there are many children and many, many rats. Hamelin is, in fact, probably the only place in the world where the rat is a prized commodity. They make them in candy, in cookies, in wood and sell them all over town as tourist's souvenirs.

Canadians Find Yesterdays Alive In Germany

By DOUGLAS HOW

WITH THE CANADIANS IN GERMANY, Nov. 27—(CP)—The Canadians are marking out new military frontiers over here. A tough old seadog named Ginger and little German girls reminded them of that on the way in.

They met Ginger off Dover in the thick of a November night. Ginger is a North Sea pilot who brought several Canadian officers out to board the troopship.

He runs a small motorcraft and she came out of the wall of darkness and pins of light that were Dover at night and bobbed frantically far below the soldiers at the rail.

A young soldier shouted down, "what place is this?"

Ginger looked, up a solid British face, a solid British accent. "Dover," he snorted.

"Never heard of it," shouted the young, young soldier.

"You would 'ave," cried Ginger, "if you'd been around in '41."

He went about his work, coaching the tossing craft against the lowered ladder, a hard and violent thing to do, and the men got off the launch at last and Ginger—by then an indelible, cussing character—went away across the heaving seas and his farewell words were right out of the heart and lexicon of England.

"Cheerio, mites," he bellowed, "all the best."

And it came suddenly to someone at the rails that one of the strange facts about this movement of Canadians into Germany is that for the first time they are bypassing the motherland of Britain on the way.

Same Curious Children

The little girls were at Bentheim, first stop inside Germany. The train stopped there and the soldiers leaned out the windows and watched some Germans load machinery on a flatcar. The workmen ignored them.

Slowly a number of children began to gather. They watched the German workmen and then, almost imperceptibly, they strayed nearer the train so that, in time, 10 children were leaning against a rail a few feet from the soldiers.

They were quiet and they didn't talk to the soldiers nor did they seem to watch them though they were face to face. It was a strange thing. The children were there because of the train and the soldiers, but they talked among themselves and acted as though the soldiers were not there at all.

Then as the train rolled away, they looked up but only two of the children waved and they were very young. They were so young that they would not even be as old as the new peace.

It came to someone then that though this is the first time the Canadian army has gone into Germany the easy way, the yesterdays live on.

Senate Approves Pension Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 27—(CP)—The Senate Monday night approved the principle of Canada's new plan of $40-a-month pensions for all at 70—but with one dissenting voice.

The dissenter was 79-year-old Senator William Duff (L, Nova Scotia), hearty former Nova Scotia fish merchant and shipowner who himself will be eligible for the universal pension when it goes into effect in January.

He said Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader who explained the bill, did not say where the money would be raised. Senator Robertson said this question already had been dealt with, but he would be glad to explain further later.

The bill, which already has been given the unanimous approval of the Commons, now goes to a Senate committee for detailed study.

Senator Robertson also replied to previous criticisms that thrift in Canada was outmoded. Increased investments in bonds, savings accounts and annuities showed that was not the case.

The $40-a-month pension was not intended to provide complete retirement for the aged. It was a base on which adequate security for old age could be built.

Plans Not Completed For Grants To Colleges

OTTAWA, Nov. 27 — (CP) — Arrangements have not yet been completed for payment of $7,000,000 in grants to Canadian universities as authorized by the government, the Finance Department said Monday. The grants were proposed after the Massey Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences recommended more aid for Canadian universities.

The Finance Department was replying to a question in the Commons by Pierre Gauthier (L, Portneuf).

Gambling Cleanup

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Juvenile roadside gamblers—youngsters between 13 and 16 years old—who bet on homemade "roulette" wheels and "wheels or fortune", in Singapore's busy streets and crowded alleyways are being cleaned up by the police.

TAX TREATIES—The US and Canada put into effect yesterday two supplementary tax treaties dealing with double taxation and evasion of income and estate levies. Acting Secretary of State James E. Webb, left, signs for the US while Canadian Minister W. D. Mathews signs for his country at the State Department in Washington.
